

WAR PANIC GENERAL IN EUROPEAN MARKETS

Heavy Unloading of Securities in London From the Continental Bourses.

CONSOLS DROP TO 72 15-16

Financiers in Berlin Look to Tomorrow With the Gravest Fears.

Special Cable Despatches to The Sun.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—A war panic reigned in the City of London for some time to-day on a continuance of heavy unloading from Paris, Berlin and Vienna. Weak accounts were closed out. The wholesale depression spread to all departments. Bargain hunters caused a half hearted rally, but the close was very nervous.

Consols, which hitherto have shown a remarkable resistance, broke sharply at one time and were freely offered at 72 15-16, which is a new low record. Favorites on the London, Paris and Berlin bourses, such as Canadian Pacific, slumped heavily. There was excited and heavy selling from Berlin in the Canadian Pacific securities, which lost 14 points this week.

American opened badly. This department was besieged with sellers. Prices were quoted at wide margins and closed with few exceptions at the lowest point. Louisville and Nashville led 4 1/2, Chesapeake and Ohio 3 1/2, Reading 2, Southern Pacific 2 1/2, Steel 2 1/2, and others 1 to 2 points.

A bank rate of 5 per cent. is talked for next week. The foreign market was acutely nervous.

Rumors of an American loan to Turkey were widely discussed, but there are no details of any such transaction. Many believe the report is true.

Leading bankers on the Paris and Berlin bourses are forming syndicates to support the markets. The bourses in these capitals were demoralized to-day.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—In addition to the probable rupture of the peace negotiations between Italy and Turkey, disquieting reports to the effect that Austria was mobilizing part of her forces to prevent the invasion of the sanjak of Novi-Bazar caused a collapse of prices on the bourse to-day. The depression was more acute than on previous days. Renten after trying to keep at 88 closed at 87 francs 85 centimes, 70 centimes below the previous closing, but recovered to 88.07 after the bourse dealings.

Foreign funds continued agitated. Serbians lost 3 points, Turks 2 1/2, Italians 1 1/2 and Russians 2.15 to 3.50. The Bank of Paris lost about 60 and the Union Parisienne the same, while the Credit Lyonnais dropped 18. French and Spanish railways added a dozen points to the previous losses.

The weakness in the New York market yesterday was attributable to Continental sales, notably to Berlin realizations on Canadian Pacific. There was a collapse in copper here, Rio Tinto losing 100 Russian industrials dropped heavily.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—This was a black day on the Berlin and Frankfurt bourses on which provincial stockholders dumped imperative selling orders. The big Hansa Shipping Company's shares fell 20 points and the big banks lost 1 to 4 points. German consols dropped another half point to-day. Russian banks fell 4 to 6, Russian consols 1/2, and Canadian Pacific's 1/2.

Representatives of the banks held a conference at noon, but could see no way for united action. One bank representative is reported to have stated that it was hopeless to attempt to check the panic-stricken sellers. Those present at the conference agreed to try to quiet their clients.

The Government is seriously concerned over the situation and representatives of several banks were called in conference at the Foreign Office. A new and disturbing factor has arisen under the fear that Russia will shut off the exportation of grain. Rye jumped 7 and wheat 4 marks per ton, still further aggravating the problem of high food prices.

Monday is looked forward to with grave concern.

WHAT'S BEHIND THE PANIC?

Paris Financial Paper Says It Is Not Justified.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The Financial News questions whether the foreign political situation justifies the present panic on the bourse. It is no exaggeration to refer to the condition of to-day and yesterday as a panic. Such a frenzy, the paper says, could be understood a year ago when France was within two inches of war with Germany, but now the French and German interests are the same and it is almost inexplicable.

The depression in prices may be estimated at from 5 to 20 per cent. on the securities quoted on the bourse. This has been provoked by realization of about $300,000,000 of flowing securities while the entire amount of French securities is estimated at $200,000,000,000. Hence because something more than 1 per cent. of the holders of securities were compelled to realize the whole amount has disproportionately depreciated.

The paper has information from which it believes that the peace negotiations between Italy and Turkey have not been broken off, but on the contrary will soon be concluded. It adds that a Paris bank refused a loan of $1,000,000 to the Serbian National Bank.

Many financiers say the inflation of Russian industrials is an active factor in the depression. These metallurgical companies have had an enormous advance in a year. For example, Maltzoff has advanced from 2,440 to 6,000 francs, Branks from 480 to 583, Toula from 507 to 1,119, Hartmann from 690 to 827, Taganrog from 380 to 415, Donetz from 830 to 870, and the Proviens from 1,700 to 3,300. This rise was not justified by increased dividends.

BIG DROP IN C. P. R. STOCK

Small Holders in Montreal Are Hazed

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—A panic occurred on the Montreal Stock Exchange to-day, caused by the news of the depression on European bourses in consequence of the Balkan trouble and holders of C. P. R. stock were hard hit.

The galleries of the exchange were crowded with excited speculators who saw the accumulations of years swept away in a few seconds. C. P. R. stock broke 2 1/2, the lowest quotation to-day being 25 1/2, as against 27 1/2, which was the previous lowest for the week.

The day was very bad for those carrying stocks on small margins and their number just now in Montreal is unusually great. The tightness of money at the banks owing to the grain movements prevented them from giving much assistance. Many people were holding on to their C. P. R. stock for the purpose of realizing the melon promised by the new stock issue and their losses are as yet hard to estimate.

Sir Rodolphe Forget and Gordon Strathy, vice-chairman of the exchange, did something to stem the panic by buying largely, but a black Monday is certain, as there will be much calling of fresh margins. The rise of prices on Monday depends largely on how Wall Street acts. Sir Rodolphe Forget told THE SUN correspondent he had seen greater breaks on the Montreal market, but never one with so many people involved in the trouble.

THREE SHOT IN SALOON ROW.

One Is Thought Dying and Proprietor Is Arrested.

As the result of the use to which John Roth, a saloon keeper at 763 First avenue near Forty-third street, put a magazine gun in defending his barroom from attack by a crowd of young men about 10:30 o'clock last night Frank Parker, 19 years old, a butcher, of 351 East Fifty-eighth street, is said to be dying in the Flower Hospital with a bullet in his right breast.

A crowd of young men went to the saloon and after having several drinks refused to pay for them. Roth insisted on cash and the visitors began a rough attack on the bar. Mirrors and windows were smashed, the back bar was wrecked and the saloon put out of business generally.

John Schaefer, 24 years old, of 442 First avenue, and his brother, Joseph Schaefer, a sailor on the United States ship Arkansas, were injured in the fracas, but not seriously.

When he realized that but little would be left of his place Roth went behind his magazine gun. He admitted later that he fired two shots.

Policeman Walter Carroll of the East Fifty-first street police station heard the rapid firing and ran to the saloon. The crowd escaped before he got there, but the policeman found Parker lying on the floor unconscious in a pool of blood and had him sent to the Flower Hospital. Roth was arrested.

It was reported at the hospital last night that Parker said on regaining consciousness that he didn't know who shot him.

Shortly after the saloon row James McDonough, 20 years old, a driver, of 648 Second avenue, was taken to Bellevue Hospital by two young men. He had a pistol shot wound in the neck and said that he got it at Forty-second street and First avenue. He claimed that he hadn't the slightest idea how or why he was shot. His wound was not serious.

Ten minutes later John Flynn, 18 years old, a plumber's helper, of 791 Second avenue, walked into Bellevue with a girl and said that while he was in the neighborhood of First avenue and Forty-third street a bullet struck him in the left shoulder.

NOT MONEY, WILSON BUTTONS.

But Parade Crowd Scrambles for Shower From Window Ledge.

An office boy with a handful of Wilson campaign buttons and a few criminal intentions climbed on a window ledge of the Fifth Avenue Building yesterday while the Columbus Day parade of Italians was marching noisily uptown. Presently the boy emptied the hat.

The buttons cascaded on the heads of sidewalk observers five stories below. Straightway the parade was forgotten in a scramble. Police Inspector Dwyer saw the shower. The fifth story, from which they came, contains the offices of the Democratic National Committee.

Said Inspector Dwyer to Traffic Policeman Martin Walsh: "Jump up there and tell 'em that whoever throws any more money out of that window will be arrested. Get everybody's name."

Walsh eventually encountered Col. John I. Martin, sergeant-at-arms of the Democratic National Committee. Col. Martin was a veteran of political conventions before Policeman Walsh was born. "What are your views on the visit of the fleet to this harbor?" inquired Col. Martin.

The policeman made it quite plain that he was not interested in the fleet. He wound up with: "You can't make a monkey of me."

"You have already made one of yourself," replied Col. Martin. "Now that you have done your duty, please depart."

$1,800 IN BILLS FOUND ON HER.

Woman Taken to Bellevue Suffering From Hallucinations.

A woman describing herself as Annie E. Crider, 49 years old, was taken from 411 Fourth avenue by Dr. Krida to Bellevue Hospital yesterday suffering from alcoholism and hallucinations. People in the house had asked Policeman Wengerman to relieve them of the woman's company because she had a habit of slipping down to the street half clad.

The patient had in her possession $1,800 in bills and $4,000 worth of jewelry. Letters were found in her room addressed to Frank A. De Wint, Warwick Hotel, Atlantic City, N. J., and "Mrs. F. De Wint, 410 South Broad street, Philadelphia."

The woman said she left Philadelphia four months ago with De Wint, who had assisted her in the settlement of an uncle's estate. She reached Atlantic City, where she had, and two weeks ago accompanied him to the Fourth avenue house. She said she was engaged to marry him. A card was found in the woman's room indicating that De Wint represented Lloyd & Co., brokers, Philadelphia.

SLAYER SHOT FOR REVENGE.

Victim, Wounded Fatally, Doesn't Know Who 'Got Him.'

Thomas Lynch, 24 years old, of 624 Greenwich street was taken to Bellevue Hospital last night suffering from a bullet wound in the left leg and another under the heart. He said he was shot in front of 510 East Thirteenth street and didn't know who "got him." He is not expected to live.

According to the story which the physicians and police got from him by piecemeal he once shot and killed a man and was acquitted. He said he believed he had been followed by somebody who took refuge in a hallway and took a shot at him just for revenge.

Lynch was found lying on the sidewalk and apparently the gunman or gunmen were nowhere in sight when the police reached him. He was taken to the hospital by Policeman Lawlor of the Fifth street station.

Gives Library to Academy.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—Prof. Salomon Reinach has presented a set of the Loeb classical library to the Academy of Inscriptions.

Speaking of the lack of rolling stock owned by the railroads Mr. Davies said this was due in part to the fact that these companies were not encouraged by the present tendency of legislation in the United States to supply themselves with adequate equipment.

A heated discussion followed Prof. J. M. Farraday, the English theatrical manager, is going over on the Mauretania to see the production of "The Merry Wives" in New York. He will also try to secure some of the present American successes for London. Mr. Farraday quipped the report that he does not hold a very high opinion of American actors, on the contrary, he has the greatest admiration for them.

Daniel Guggenheim and his wife and daughter are also on the Mauretania. Mr. Guggenheim spoke hopefully of the copper market, which he said was so satisfactory that the only trouble was to keep prices normal and produce a supply equal to the enormous demand.

Mrs. Thora Strong Ronalds joined the train at Euston station. Her husband was there and spoke to his daughter, but not to his wife.

Archaeological Congress in Rome Hear of Boni's Discoveries.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.

ROME, Oct. 12.—Prof. Boni this forenoon explained and illustrated his discoveries of the last twelve years in the Forum to the members of the Archaeological Congress. He displayed a reconstruction of one of the twelve elevators which he found and which was built in 50 B. C. It consists of a wooden platform and pulleys which were worked by a captain in the subterranean corridors of the Forum.

In the afternoon Prof. Boni illustrated the excavations at the Palatine which the members of the congress attended. Prof. Frothingham of the section of classical history explained conclusively and proved his own theory that the so-called arch of Constantine was erected in the third century on the triumph of Domitian. It was subsequently restored and redecorated by Constantine in commemoration of his victory at the Milvian Bridge. Prof. Frothingham had been specially made by the Government to enable Prof. Frothingham to prove that the arch had not been erected originally by Constantine. A heated discussion followed Prof. Frothingham's address, but his theory was not shaken and the professor was applauded and congratulated.

M. Blanos, a Greek delegate to the congress, who is an inspector of monuments, authorized the correspondent of THE SUN to deny the report that the stability of the Parthenon at Athens is threatened. He says it is in no danger and that repairs are unnecessary.

FIND MRS. CHASE IN ASYLUM.

Friends Fight for Former New York Teacher's Release.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 12.—Following the appeals of friends who have raised a fund in her behalf, Mrs. Dora Chase, wife of Edward M. Chase, a prominent merchant, is to be examined on Monday by two well known mental experts from Boston to determine her mental condition. Mrs. Chase was committed to the State Hospital for the Insane at Concord two weeks ago. In statements to her friends Mrs. Chase has declared that she was wrongly placed in the hospital.

Before Mrs. Chase's marriage she was a school teacher in New York. She is now president of the Ladies Hebrew Benevolent Society of this city. Her husband on August 30 filed a divorce libel in the Superior Court here charging his wife with extreme cruelty, which he said was injurious to his health. The hospital committee papers two weeks ago were signed by two physicians of this city.

When the suit for divorce was filed Mrs. Chase was in New York and returned to Manchester, believing she would be reconciled to her husband. Her friends said to-day that Mrs. Chase displayed two weeks ago and that they did not hear of her whereabouts for several days. Learning finally that she was at Concord two members of the Ladies Hebrew Benevolent Society visited her and the society then sent out its appeal for assistance.

Mrs. Chase has said that she did not know who was to be committed until she was taken to the door of the hospital. She had been told she was going on a visit to see her children.

A brother of Mrs. Chase has come here from New York to assist in the steps to secure her freedom. The Chasees have four children.

CAVALRYMAN STOPS RUNAWAY.

Frank Quigley, Who Has Carnegie Medal, Catches Wild Team.

As Frank Quigley of Squadron A and five other cavalrymen were jogging up Lenox avenue on their mounts yesterday afternoon they heard a crash and looking back saw that a Lexington and Lenox avenue car had sidwiped a Park & Tiford wagon, pitching John Shaughnessy, its driver, to the street and starting the team off on the run.

Quigley turned and spurred in pursuit at breakneck speed. Between 123d and 122d street he caught up with the runaways. As he leaped far out to catch the bridle his own horse shied and unseated him, but he managed to cling to the animal's neck and a few yards further on reached out again and got a grip on the bridle. With a terrific jerk that would have thrown a less experienced horseman he stopped the team and took it back to Shaughnessy.

Quigley is 21 years old and lives at 304 West 128th street. He once received a Carnegie live ever's medal for rescuing Mrs. Mary O'Connor and her thirteen-year-old daughter Annie from a burning building.

ENGLAND ENSHROUDED IN THICK PEASOUP FOG

Week End Liners Delayed and Locomotion Generally Is Hampered.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—A fog of varying density has enshrouded England for thirty-six hours. All shipping in the Mersey at Liverpool was held up and locomotion in London was very difficult. This caused the boat train for the Mauretania to be delayed in getting away from Euston station. This was a fortunate thing for Jacob Labe of Philadelphia, who arrived at Harwich from the Continent this morning. The train to London was delayed, but a fast automobile carried Mr. Labe across London and he arrived at Euston station just in time to catch the last section of the Mauretania train.

Among other passengers on the Mauretania is Julien T. Davies, the New York lawyer, who has had two months shooting in Scotland. Mr. Davies said political matters in the United States were all shaping toward Gov. Wilson as the next President. English and American business men, Mr. Davies said, think the United States is nearing a commercial and industrial boom and that this will set in once the country is free of the present political turmoil. The temporary check to the development of this boom, due to the war in the Balkans, will soon disappear.

Speaking of the lack of rolling stock owned by the railroads Mr. Davies said this was due in part to the fact that these companies were not encouraged by the present tendency of legislation in the United States to supply themselves with adequate equipment.
