

ALL LAKEWOOD TAKES TO SLEIGHTS AND SLEDS

Snow spoiled skating, but not the fun of Christmas week. Invitations are out for two balls and the country club dance.

Lakewood, Dec. 28.—Commencing Monday the Christmas crowds started to flock to the hotels and boarding houses were filled. The big snow that preceded Christmas day merely had the effect of keeping the crowds off the streets and causing them to seek their amusements indoors.

The heavy snowfall actually disposed of the chance of skating, but it brought out the sleighs for miles about, and the jingle of bells has come to be a continuous sound both by night and day.

Another amusement taken up has been wagganing. The only hills are on Clifton avenue, but it has become an unusual sight to see a crowd of grownups borrow some youngsters' sleds and go skidding down the hills or hook on the back of a wagon with all the enjoyment of the children.

Aside from outdoor sport there have also been the usual round of Christmas entertainments and preparations for New Year festivities. Invitations have been issued for the balls at the Lakewood and at the Country Club dance New Year's eve. These three big dances are always popular and attended by throngs of the winter residents and hotel patrons.

A dance was given by Mrs. E. M. Horne at the Country Club during the week. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Whitney, Dr. Irwin H. Hancock, Mrs. Gerard Romaine, the Misses Romaine, S. F. Skidmore, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walker, Mrs. H. O. L. Walker, Oliver Walker, Mrs. E. M. Baldwin, Mrs. E. M. Baldwin, Jr., Miss Marian Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw, Miss Augusta DeForest, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Pack, Arthur Pack, Hubert B. Bassett, N. D. Havelly, Miss Schwartz, Miss Lillian Baldwin, Miss Horne, Miss Elsa Horne, Irwin H. Hancock, Jr.

Much interest was aroused during the week by the announcement that the Eastern Association of Foresters will here next week as the guests of Charles Latham Pack at the Country Club. The foresters will meet here two days and practically all the experts of prominence in the East will be present.

Mr. and Mrs. William Agnew Paton and David Paton entertained at luncheon at the Country Club on Sunday. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Beckwith, Thayer Jackson, Rear Admiral Cassin, H. J. Fisher, Miss Marian Smith and E. F. Baldwin, Jr.

Another informal tea was given Friday at the home of Miss Parrish at her cottage. Those who called were Miss Vanderhoef, Mrs. Burdette Clark, H. Laurence Sheldon, Mrs. F. A. Downer and Mrs. David I. Schwartz.

Miss Mary Breese Fuller of Smith College has been spending the Christmas holidays with her mother, Mrs. H. E. Fuller, at her Sixth street cottage.

Mrs. Charles Latham Pack is entertaining her brother, Henry Hatch of Cleveland, over the holidays, entertained over the week end the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Bowen of Constantinople and Miss Harriet Spinning of South Orange.

A luncheon was given this afternoon at the Country Club by Mrs. Gerard Romaine in honor of Mrs. George Fales Baker.

Preparations have been completed for the holding of the midwinter musicale, which will be held January 31 and March 3. Artists of talent have been secured for both of these dates and the committee is preparing to open the subscription list.

Bishop Thomas of Wyoming is a patron of the Woodland Villa, where he is visiting his mother, who is spending the winter there at the hotels include: Laurel House—Mrs. Robert Jamison, Miss Martha Jamison, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Jamison, Mrs. Merinder, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Kenneally, Miss Kenneally, Mrs. Charles Douglas, Mrs. E. E. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Paulding, Mrs. J. G. Buckley, Mr. and Mrs. James Fossenden, Edmund J. Curry, E. Percy Clark.

NOTES OF MUSIC EVENTS

orchestrating involved in the production of this unique program is entirely due to Mr. Schudler, who during the last six months has devoted himself almost exclusively to making these rare works available and to the special training of his chorus.

The board of directors of the Schola Cantorum announces a lecture to be given on January 3 at the Hotel Plaza by W. J. Henderson. The subject of the lecture, "The Infancy of Opera," was selected to present the first subscription concert on January 8 of the MacDowell Chorus of the Schola Cantorum.

The Philharmonic Society of New York in Carnegie Hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock will open the fourth concert of its twenty-second season with the new Strauss's symphony No. VII. In a major Josef Lhevinne, the Russian pianist, just arrived from abroad, will be the Philharmonic soloist, playing the most popular concerto in his repertoire—the Tschai-kowsky's in B-flat major. Last Sunday's programme includes further Strauss's tone poem "Phaeton," Rossini's overture "William Tell," and Liszt's symphonic poem "Les Preludes." For the Philharmonic concert of Thursday evening and Friday afternoon, January 2 and 3, at Carnegie Hall, the program consists of works which make thematic use of negro melodies. Dvorak's symphony "From the New World," and Tchaikovsky's rhapsodie dance, "Hamelin," dedicated by the composer to Carl Stebeck, founder of the Norfolk, Conn. festival.

Mendelssohn's popular oratorio, "Elijah," given as a sacred opera, will be sung at the Broadway Theatre this afternoon and evening at 7 o'clock. The soloists include a number of young chorists and special orchestra, one hundred, with the principal parts taken by Mme. Hortense D'Arbilly, dramatic soprano, and Bernard Fogos, baritone. The other important singers will be Eva Vera, mezzo soprano, Miss Louise Rogers, soprano, Katherine Lee, lyric soprano, Antonietta Barnett and A. Novich, tenors.

Boston has had the pleasing sensation of having discovered a lost conductor of extraordinary worth. This is Mr. Otto Truck, the assistant conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra, who through the illness of Dr. Muck, a sufferer from tonsillitis, has been called to conduct the concert during the past week. Truck was recognized as the successor of Alwin Schroeder in the Boston and also as assistant conductor to take Dr. Muck's place in case the latter was at any time incapacitated. Although but 28 years old, he has given some very remarkable performances. The feeling is that the young man has a very remarkable future before him. Dr. Muck, however, is about recovered from his illness and will conduct as usual the January concert of the orchestra in New York on Thursday evening, January 9, and Saturday afternoon, January 10. Madame Matzenauer will be the soloist Thursday evening and Miss Farrar Saturday afternoon.

A weekly publication in this city announced recently that Mr. John McCormack would be pleased to include in his regular programme, or give as encores at his Carnegie Hall concert next Sunday evening, January 5, the three songs selected from his repertoire which seemed most in keeping with the theme of the "Snow-Breasted Pearl." "I Hear You Calling Me" and "Mother Madeline" were the former with which Mr. McCormack captivated the patrons of the Manhattan Hotel. The latter two songs were the ones which Queen Mary of England requested the tenor to sing at the big charity concert in Albert Hall last October. The programme, in addition to a liberal group of fresh songs, will include "The Snow-Breasted Pearl," "I Hear You Calling Me," "Mother Madeline," "An Alma Amorsosa," by Mozart, "The Roi de la Danse," and the finale of the third act of "La Boheme."

Under the patronage of prominent society leaders, headed by Countess Annie Esch, John McCormack, the Irish tenor, will give his third annual New York recital in Carnegie Hall Sunday evening, January 5. Besides songs by Mozart and Schubert and several original songs of his own, including "The Snow-Breasted Pearl," "I Hear You Calling Me," and "Mother Madeline," he will sing a group of songs by the modern school of Gaelic poets and composers which have never been sung on any concert stage. Prominent members of the Friendly Society of St. Patrick's, Knights of Columbus, Gaelic Society, American Irish Historical Society and American Daughters of Ireland are interesting themselves in making the coming concert a success.

George Harris, tenor, will give his annual song recital at the new Eolian Hall Wednesday evening, January 5. Mr. Harris will sing songs by Mozart, Schubert, Schumann, Cesar Franck, Berlioz, Debussy, Hugo Wolf, Marshall Remondino, Carlisle Palmer, Morris Clark, Marlon Bauer and Mary Turner Sauter.

The second subscription concert of the Russian Symphony Society, Moderns, will take place on Thursday evening, January 16, at Eolian Hall. The concert will mark the anniversary of the tenth season of the society's activities. The principal number on this occasion will be Rimsky-Korsakov's masterpiece, "The Thousand Nights and a Night," the same work with which the Russian Symphony Orchestra and Modest Atschuler, the conductor, introduced themselves to the American public at the initial concert on the same evening, January 7, 1904, at Cooper Union.

Dictating to the Phonograph. From the Phonographic World. One of many instances of the usefulness of the phonograph in connection with court reporting comes from Seattle, Wash., via the Tacoma Tribune. That newspaper tells how two reporters, W. L. Fenstermaker and H. C. Palmer, relieved the long and tiring work of one hour and by the aid of phonographs kept three typewriters busy taking from 150 to 175 pages a day.

It is to be assumed that the reporting was done in the intermediary between the reporter and the typewriter. The plan of dictating notes in use all over the country and any one taking the trouble to go round to the south side of the Capitol in Washington may see Fred Irland and others of the reporting corps talking into the phonograph after taking down in shorthand the more or less enlightening remarks of the solons of the nation.

As a matter of information too it might be said that no matter how large the number of talk in Congress, and it runs pretty high some days, it appears in the Congressional Record rarely, the following morning. It is not that the Record is practically the only daily publication for which the reporting is done in shorthand.

Man of Regular Habits. From the Somerville Journal. Whyte is from a man of regular habits. Brownie couldn't be more so. You can see him going into the saloon across the street every morning at precisely a clock.

SLEIGHING ENJOYED AT VIRGINIA HOT SPRINGS

Coasting and Skating Also Made Christmas This Year the Merrier. A CHRISTMAS NIGHT DANCE. Newcomers to the Resort Keep Social Affairs Very Active.

Hot Springs, Va., Dec. 28. Four inches of snow, with excellent sleighing, gave the Virginia Hot Springs an old-fashioned, snowy Christmas. Visitors made the most of the opportunity for winter sports, and the days have been merry with sleighing and coasting parties, while the outdoor skating rink has increased in popularity each day.

Stores of visitors from Northern cities gathered here for the week, and the homestead on Christmas Day was bright with Yule logs and greens, while at the dance in the evening the couples filled the ballroom. Among the newly-arrived dancers, including Mr. Fred L. Richards and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Stubbs of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hermance of Princeton, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Cooper of Rochester, and others. There was considerable holiday entertaining among the cottagers, with Christmas trees and egg nog, without which no Southern Christmas is complete. Mr. and Mrs. Clendinning J. Ryan of New York, who are occupying The Pillars, had with them Michael Jenkins Kernan of New York. There was a Christmas party at the Tinker villa, which Mr. and Mrs. George Guntan are occupying.

Samuel N. Hinkley came from New York to spend Christmas with his mother, Mrs. H. N. Hinkley, and his brother, Julian Hinkley, at the Homestead, and other New Yorkers here are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur G. Fisk, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Paine, Mrs. John C. Haver-meyer, Dr. J. E. O'Donoghue, and Miss Frances O. Donohue, Mrs. E. W. Sling, Charles P. Sling, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bamber.

Henry Albert of New York, who had planned a business Christmas Day at Fasselhorn Farm, gave it up at the last moment and spent the time, together with many villagers and guests, at the Homestead in fighting a fire which broke out in the waiters' quarters shortly before noon. An unextinguished stove was said to have ignited the flames, and when the alarm first sounded many thought it was the Homestead which was on fire. The quarters are separated from the hotel, but the station, and as there is an excellent fire fighting apparatus, the fire was controlled in twenty minutes time, and more damage was done by water than by flames.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bamber of New York, who spent Christmas here and did the traditional mountain climbing, started a night or two ago for Palm Beach and other Southern resorts. Other visitors now are Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lovell, Miss Lovell and Lane Howell of Madison, N. J.; Mrs. C. K. Arnold and Mrs. Milton Herold of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Thorne and Miss Thorne of Tacoma, Edward Kerr of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Abren of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Carr of Baltimore, Mrs. P. P. Lyman of Kansas City and S. C. Johnson of Tacoma, Wis.

James Barrett, instructor in chemistry and physics at the Lawrenceville school, is here until after New Year's and Miss Masters and Miss W. Masters are here during the closing few days of their school at Double Ferry. The poor children among the mountain whites have missed the generosity of this year of Mrs. John Wansmaker, who frequently spends Christmas here and always remembers them with a tree and quantities of practical gifts. They are still talking of the one she gave them last year, and all the children given them by Mrs. Seth Barton French the year before, when she opened Barton Lodge to them for a Christmas frolic. There has, however, been much individual giving among the guests.

Bright, clear weather of a moderate temperature has prevailed, and before the snow temporarily spoiled golf performance, the winter players daily. An improvement now going on in the course is the blasting of the rocks from the "graveyard," which will be trapped instead, to the joy of the three hundred odd golfers yearly who would break their clubs at this hole after getting into a bad lie. Many dishes which have been lost are also being filled in and other general improvements being made.

First Woman Voter in Colorado. From the American Club Woman. The first woman to cast a vote in Colorado, Mrs. Eva Carroll, is naturally an ardent suffragist. She is a woman of great personality, with large black hair and a quantity of raven black hair. She associates with men of affairs and large undertakings. She has travelled all over the world and is broad understanding and keen judgment. She is fond of children and deeply interested in all welfare work. Her own advice to all is "Go West, young person, go West."

She believes the Western man is more liberal than the Eastern prototype, but explains that this is because many New York are more resolute than in the West, and also in the West the life is so full and free that the little things of life do not count as they do in the East. For many years Mrs. Carroll has been actively engaged in mining in the West, so she should know whereof she speaks. She was the first to build a cyanide mill in triple rock, doing this alone and in the face of considerable opposition. She spends a portion of her time in Salt Lake each year and is much interested in all the civic and industrial problems of the day.

Mrs. Carroll believes that women are as capable of doing the world's work as men, and sometimes do it better, yet she does not think it necessary for a woman to sacrifice her children or her home to accomplish these things.

Every Second Girl Marries. From the Boston Globe. Practically one out of every two girls studying in Wellesley College subsequently marries. The number of children born to former Wellesley students in thirty-seven years is little less than one for each marriage.

Statistics just gathered for the first time after a year or two of diligent searching the country over prove these figures. To complete the task it was necessary to carry the inquiry into numerous foreign lands. Since it was founded in 1875, by the late Henry Fowler Duntan, 9,291 women have studied in Wellesley College, although only about half this number managed to receive degrees as bachelors of art. Of the 9,291, 4,645 have married and they have had 109,000 children—2018 sons and 1,091 daughters.

Unhappily the little island of Jersey has been entrusted by the profit of its cows in modern days, potato raising and fruit culture have faded, but it is the solid, continuous profit of the cattle that has made the island rich. So fondly do they tend their cows, and so frugal are they of waste in treading pastures, says One Dumb Animal, that they actually tether their animals, and the children or indoor servants shift them at noon, noon and night.

So fondly do they tend their cows, and so frugal are they of waste in treading pastures, says One Dumb Animal, that they actually tether their animals, and the children or indoor servants shift them at noon, noon and night. The Jersey cow is their pride and joy, and they are so fond of their cows that they actually tether their animals, and the children or indoor servants shift them at noon, noon and night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Kent Bolton, who are great friends of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Steere, are at the Breakers with them, where they were among the first guests to arrive for the opening Tuesday. They have taken a suite for the season and had been here for a fortnight visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hobart C. Chaffield-Taylor, who are domiciled for the winter at Wave Crest, one of the hotel cottages on the ocean front. Mr. Chaffield-Taylor came down early to make progress with a book he is writing before the opening of the social season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund M. Brelsford have returned to the Bayvons after several months of travel. Their daughters, Miss Frederika and Miss Mildred Brelsford, are with them for the winter, but Miss Margaret Brelsford is at school in Sigmund, Va., and will not be here. Mr. James H. McFarlane is again at Lockside for the winter season. He has been in England all summer. Mr. and Mrs. Rev. Dr. Cragin are occupying Rev. Dr. Cragin as usual and to-morrow will hold the first of their Sunday afternoon receptions, which have always been a feature of the social seasons here.

The Rev. Charles Temple and the Misses Lucia and Julia Temple, his daughters, returned for the winter a fortnight ago after having spent the summer in northern New York and are at their villa on Lake Worth. Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Root are at their winter home, the Oleaners, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tipton Reese have returned and are at a new villa they had built for them during the summer on Ocean avenue in Bradley Park. On the opposite end of the property adjacent to the Beach Club, facing Lake Worth, John Bradley, who was the backer of Dr. Cook in the Arctic, has built a winter villa next to that which his brother Edward built last winter.

Mrs. A. E. Longley and Miss Lennox of Providence have engaged accommodations at the Royal Poinciana after an absence of a year. They spent last winter abroad. Among the others who have recently made bookings for long stays here are Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Karner, Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Quimby, Mr. and Mrs. William Ziegler, Mr. and Mrs. St. John Wood, Walter S.
