

TREE'S NEW PLAY LAMENTABLY DULL

Appears in London in Drama Founded on Hungarian Story.

NO ACTION OR INTEREST

Intrigue, Christianity and South Sea Islands Mingled Together.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun. LONDON, March 24.—Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree reappeared at His Majesty's Theatre to-night in "The Happy Island" by J. B. Fagan.

After the great success of "Drake" there were high hopes of another big hit, but the audience and the critics were bitterly disappointed.

There is only one part and that is "Arden." He plays the part of a society "waster" named Arden, who loves and is loved by the wife of Andrew Remington, a rich financier.

The last two acts of the three in the play are taken up by Tree in preaching elementary Christianity to the men who are going down in the mine.

There is an accident, two natives are killed and Arden, who has become a Christian, as at the beginning he pretended to be, leads the natives in a revolt against Remington, who arrives at the island in a British cruiser.

Arden is killed in a fight between the natives and the bluejackets.

Phyllis Neilson Terry has an unsympathetic part as Mrs. Remington and Norman McKinnel has a poor role as Remington.

LONDON, March 24.—The question of the action of drawing Wilson in with the American Government support from the American bankers interested in the six Power loan to China came up in the House of Commons today and the members were surprised when informed that the Government had no official announcement of this change of front on the part of the American Government.

Mr. Acland, the Parliamentary Under Secretary, speaking on behalf of his department in reply to questions, said that as recently as March 3 the American Minister at Pekin, who was acting under instructions from his Government, had joined the other diplomatic representatives of the Powers in presenting proposals to China in regard to the loan.

Report Djavid Pasha Gives Up to Servians Near Kavala.

Special Cable Despatches to The Sun. SOFIA, March 24.—The bombardment of Adrianople was renewed on all sides today, the idea being to secure its immediate reduction.

London, March 25.—There is nothing new in the Austro-Montenegrin situation except that doubts are still expressed in some quarters, notwithstanding the statements from Vienna and Cotinje, that any ultimatum has been sent by the dual monarchy to the Balkan State.

The reports in regard to the general situation are also conflicting. The situation seems to be the same as it was twenty-four hours ago.

With 15,000 Turkish troops, it is reported to have surrendered to the Servians on the banks of the Skumbi River, which empties into the Adriatic Sea a short distance south of Kavala on the Albanian coast.

Djavid Pasha has had a remarkable career during the Balkan war. He has been killed at least three times, once by his own officers when he was attempting to escape from Monastir in the garb of a private.

Another Injured When 800 Rebels Attack Cananea Garrison.

The town is a mining camp forty miles south of Naco, Ariz., and is the home of the Greene Cananea Copper Company, now owned principally by the Cole-Ryan interests in New York.

Few American women and children remained in the town today when the rebels made the attack, but many American men remained there.

The rebels who had been hurried out in the last few days in autos, after the destruction of the railroad by rebels, the rebel attack began early in the morning and was met by a defensive fire from the 300 Federal troops.

The rebels, who had 800 men, got closer and closer until this afternoon the fighting was in the principal streets of the town.

Friends Seek Release of Miss Zella Emerson, American.

LONDON, March 24.—Friends today urged Home Secretary McKenna to release Miss Zella Emerson, the American suffragette, who is alleged to be in a precarious condition in Holloway jail because of forcible feeding.

Miss Emerson, whose mother is a wealthy American, was the intimate companion of Miss Sylvia Pankhurst and was arrested with the daughter of the militant leader twice last month.

Miss Emerson declared a hunger strike when she was ordered to prison for two months for window smashing.

Before dawn today a house under construction in Beckenham, a suburb of London, was fired by suffragettes. The flames were extinguished by a policeman who disturbed the incendiaries while at their nefarious work.

The Sandwich golf links, scene of many championship matches in Kent, were raided by another band of militants and the greens destroyed.

MANCHESTER, England, March 24.—The suffragettes locked and chained the doors of a hall where the Labor party's annual conference was in session here today.

The hungry delegates starting to luncheon found themselves prisoners. It was necessary to file the huge chains.
