

MILITANTS PLACE 15 "BOMBS" IN DAY

English Suffragettes' Weapons Mostly Harmless, Others Badly Arranged.

PAPER IS AGAIN ON SALE

The "suffragette" Reappears in Milder Language—Christabel Pankhurst at Helm.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun. London, May 16.—Fifteen "bombs" were placed by suffragettes in London and other places yesterday, but most of them were harmless. About half a dozen were capable of doing serious damage, but their fuses were quenched or the mechanism was awry.

Thirteen women were arrested at Clitheroe as a condition of preparing to carry out a strike to destroy the tracks of the Midland Railway. They were arrested on the railway tracks with tools which it is believed they were about to use in the suffragette cause. The men were remanded for further investigation. Three women were surprised on the Midland Railway tracks at Beeston, but they escaped by running away.

At Dublin yesterday three women were charged to pay fines and damages for having smashed the windows of the United Irish League Building and those at the house of John Dillon, M. P. Mr. Dillon, who was one of the witnesses against them, testified that the defendants counsel tried to get him to admit that militancy was identical with political rebellion. Mr. Dillon could not be caught in that trap, however, and remarked that "militancy is disgraceful, but rebellion is not disgraceful." He added with apparent pride that the last time he was in that court he was a prisoner.

The Women's Social and Political Union having had to choose between an infamous suffragette or none, decided on the former, and an attenuated issue of a milk and water character appeared yesterday under today's date.

The newspapers report a dissension among the militant leaders, some holding that they have gone too far and antagonized the public and now call for a truce and milder methods. Miss Christabel Pankhurst is obstinately opposed to this compromise and declares the fight must continue and militant methods must be employed until the cause is won or the movement crushed. It is said that the others are as afraid of her as they will not risk persistent opposition.

The Daily Herald, a new labor organ, says this morning that the Foreign Office will make a formal demand today for the extradition from France of Miss Christabel Pankhurst, the militant suffragette, who has been in that country since she was indicted on a charge of malicious damage to property.

According to the Standard a demand for her extradition was made some time ago, but was refused on "insufficient grounds." Further representations, it says, have been made by the Foreign Office as a result of which it is unlikely that she will be allowed to remain in London in France.

Mr. Anna Shaw, addressing the non-militants in London yesterday said that if France in England is the chief obstacle to the success of the woman suffrage movement and that the American opponents of woman suffrage are pointing to it as proof of woman's irresponsibility.

WONDER AT FOGLESS LONDON.

Fifty San Francisco Boys Surprised at Night of Metropolis.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun. London, May 16.—London impressed fifty cadets of the Columbia Park Boys Club of San Francisco, who reached the city today with wonder. They were amazed at first at not finding the grimy metropolis enveloped in a fog which they thought was a perennial aspect of the city. The sight of normal streets also caused considerable surprise to the juvenile visitors who had believed all their lives that the city was composed of squalid streets and dirty alleys.

"I don't believe London has the pollution it is thought to have," was the comment of one of the lads.

The boys will stop at the Soldiers' Home, Buckingham Gate, during their sojourn and they will have an opportunity of seeing everything of interest in the city. A luncheon at the Guildhall is part of the programme arranged for their entertainment.

GABRIELLE RAY SEEKS DIVORCE.

Actress Files London Petition for Restoration of Rights.

London, May 16.—Miss Gabrielle Ray, the theatrical star who in private life is Mrs. E. J. Loder, today filed a court petition for the restoration of her civil rights and the annulment of her marriage and petition for divorce. It is understood that she is a divorcee.

Miss Loder, who married Gabrielle Ray on March 1, 1912, after she had suffered a nervous collapse which left her unable to appear at the theatre, is a grandchild of the late Sir Robert Loder and the wife of Major Loder, owner of the 1912 Derby winner, Spearheart. The Loders amassed a fortune in the wool trade in Russia, and the baronetcy was one of the public honors conferred by Queen Victoria in 1887.

'LITTLE MINISTER' TO BE MADE INTO OPERA

Alice Nielsen Hopes Libretto From J. M. Barrie's Play Will Be Heard Here.

TO BE SUNG IN ENGLISH

Shirley Kellogg's Fiance Is A. Decourville, Assistant Director of Hippodrome.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun. London, May 16.—Alice Nielsen, who will appear in the "Secret of Suzanne" at its opening performance at Covent Garden, says all arrangements have been completed for Wolff Ferrar to make J. M. Barrie's "Little Minister" into an opera. She expects that it will be finished in a year, and its title will be "Lady Bobby." The libretto that will be produced at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. If this cannot be arranged she intends to produce it herself, as she will not only sing the leading part but will be the owner of the opera, which she considers will be one of the most important aids to the popularization of grand opera in English.

Another young American singer, Frances Rooder, a daughter of Gus Rooder, a well known New York newspaper man, will make her debut at Covent Garden on May 22. She will appear as Muzetta in "La Boheme" with Melba and Zuechi in the big part. She has studied for the last three years in Paris under Jean de Reszke and has signed a three year contract to sing at Nice, beginning in November.

It was learned today that Shirley Kellogg, the variety star who announced yesterday her intention of retiring from the stage to get married, is engaged to Albert Decourville, assistant managing director of the Hippodrome. Mr. Decourville was largely responsible for the engagement of Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw to appear on the stage of that theatre.

Miss Kellogg says she is going to live in London. "I never want to leave it," she said. "It is the loveliest place in the world. I am very glad to quit the stage, for I am tired of it and bored by the theatre for a time."

MRS. BORWICK AGAIN IN COURT.

American Woman Now Implicated in Clothing Firm's Suit.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun. London, May 16.—Mrs. Mary Mason Borwick, daughter of L. C. Hasell of New York, who recently announced that she was about to bring suit for divorce against her husband, George Borwick, has today brought against Mr. Borwick, his fair to achieve a record for litigation in the high courts here.

In addition to the suit against her husband, which is on the list for an early hearing before a special jury and which her husband intends to fight, and the suit for slander which she instituted against her husband's lawyer in January last, she has commenced a new suit brought against Mr. Borwick by Messrs. Debenham, a West End firm of women's outfitters.

Mrs. Borwick, before she returned to New York, ordered from that firm a sumptuous supply of clothing and instructed the firm to send the bill to her husband. This the firm did and the husband refused to pay, whereupon a suit was brought against him.

TO END BAGDAD R. R. QUARREL.

British and Turkish Governments Arrange Satisfactory Settlement.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun. BUDAPEST, May 16.—The negotiations between the British and Turkish Governments regarding the proposed Bagdad Railway from Konig, in Asia Minor, to the Persian gulf are approaching a solution and it is believed here that the arrangement suggested will be entirely satisfactory to the German Government and the German financiers under whose auspices the line is to be constructed.

For many years this has been a subject of sharp controversy between England and Germany, but it is now expected that the concessions made by the Germans interested in the project will settle the old dispute and that the Germans will receive satisfactory compensation.

An official communication in the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung says: "The course of the Anglo-Turkish negotiations hitherto has justified the assumption that the result will be accepted as a satisfactory solution by Germany." Before the German Government and German interests can, however, assent to a further exchange of views is necessary, in the course of which German interests will be adequately safeguarded and correspondingly valuable compensations will be secured for any further German concessions.

TAKES 'CRESPUS' OFF GARRICK'S BOARDS

Chicago Man Wins First Part of Fight Against Dr. de Rothschild.

MR. BOURCHIER OUSTED

Salter Hansen Employs Force of Detectives to Obtain Possession of Theatre.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun. London, May 16.—Salter Hansen, the Chicago theatrical man, obtained today an injunction against Dr. Henri de Rothschild, the author of "Crepuscu" and Arthur Bouchier to prevent the production of the play at the Garrick Theatre, as had been arranged, but he had to resort to physical violence to oust Mr. Bouchier from the theatre and take possession of it himself.

Mr. Hansen obtained temporary rights to the theatre by the court decision and immediately removed the notices announcing the production of "Crepuscu" and the name of Mr. Bouchier, and closed the front of the house with bills bearing the name of Salter Hansen. He will soon announce the production of a new play.

Mr. Hansen said late to-night that he received a telephone call from his manager at the Garrick box office asking him to come to the theatre. On arriving the manager told him that some of Bouchier's folk were in possession and the question was how to dislodge them. The facts were that William Burchell, an agent of Bouchier, and eleven other men were in occupation of Bouchier's private room and refused to quit. Hansen's contract stipulates that he must not use the room, but there is nothing in the contract to indicate that Bouchier can continue to occupy it. The whole building was locked up and all the lights were out.

Hansen and his manager protested that Bouchier's men had no legal or other right to be on the premises, but they refused to budge. Hansen then applied to the police to remove the intruders out, but the police declined to interfere, saying they had no legal right to eject the occupants of the theatre.

The Chicago man thereupon appealed to a private detective agency, which supplied him with the services of several former policemen. They again went to the theatre and demanded its evacuation. Burchell refused, whereupon the detectives burst down the door with an iron bar and dashed into the place. The occupants resisted the efforts of the Hansen aids to put them out and a fierce struggle followed, in which Hansen himself took a hand and his knuckles were all out. Bouchier's men were finally overpowered and hustled into the street.

Mr. Hansen says Bouchier undoubtedly felt that possession was nine tenths of the law and that he would be able to defy the injunction by retaining possession of the theatre.

On arriving at the Savoy Hotel after the fight Mr. Hansen had a bad fright. He dived into his pockets to get his "Crepuscu" contracts and place them in the hotel safe and found they were gone. "My God," he cried, "I have lost $7,500." This was the amount he had advanced to Mr. Bouchier for the lease of the theatre. He frantically hailed a taxicab and hastened back to the theatre, where he found the contracts, which in the scuffle had dropped out of his pocket.

Mr. Hansen, who asserts that he bought the American and English rights of the play direct from the author, and charges Mr. Bouchier with trying to prevent him from producing it in the Garrick, told The Sun correspondent that he could not say at this moment whether or not "Crepuscu" would be produced, but if it were produced it would be under his management. Porters were then busy removing Mr. Bouchier's scenery and Mr. Hansen declared himself very happy.

The Sun correspondent learns that Dr. de Rothschild and Mr. Bouchier will endeavor tomorrow to have the injunction obtained against them by Mr. Hansen dissolved. They will go to Epston to see Judge Bucknill who granted it, and will make the charge that it was granted under a misapprehension. Dr. de Rothschild intends to sue Mr. Hansen for the return of $15,000, which the author of "Crepuscu" asserts he advanced for the purpose of financing him in London.

ALLIES AGAINST EACH OTHER.

Report Serbia Wants All Parts of Macedonia She Occupies.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun. London, May 16.—Indications of the last few days of dissension among the Balkan allies are now being seriously emphasized.

The Balkan League, as originally organized for the sole purpose of making war upon Turkey, has long existed in mutual distrust is growing daily among the four nations composing it. Serbia is credited with the intention of presenting to the Sofia Government a demand that the agreement entered into before the war was declared be revised on the ground that the results of the campaign are altogether different from what she had expected. Serbia asserts that she is entitled to hold all the parts of Macedonia now occupied by her troops, including the territory claimed by Bulgaria.

The relations between the four nations are extremely strained, but it seems that the trouble is due to the military commanders in the field rather than to the attitude of the Cabinets. The hope of peace apparently rests almost wholly with Russia, which was appointed by the Balkan league's agreement as arbiter in the event of differences between them.

Bulgaria and Greece continue to be at daggers drawn. The latest reports from Salonica say that great numbers of Bulgarian troops are advancing westward, threatening the Greeks.

POWER FOR ITALIAN CATHOLICS.

Party Will Be Increased to 100 Members by Elections.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun. ROME, May 16.—According to official calculations, the Catholic party, which is composed of only fifteen members, will be increased in the next election to more than a hundred. This is due to universal suffrage, which the Socialists so eagerly demanded and finally secured, believing it a great victory for them.

PRUSSIAN DIET ELECTIONS.

Only Activity in Districts Where Socialists Hope to Win.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun. BUDAPEST, May 16.—There is comparatively slight interest in today's election of members of the Prussian Diet, as the existing electoral system is regarded as a farce. A certain amount of activity was evidenced, however, in a few districts where the Socialists hope to capture a seat or the Centrists and Conservatives hope to defeat the Socialists.

The election was for the choice of electors who on June 2 elect representatives to the Diet. The Socialists elected sufficient representatives to insure their holding their present six seats and adding one or possibly two more.

Dr. Liebknecht, who represents the Kaiser's royal borough in the Reichstag, is assured of a seat in the Diet. There is little change in the representation of the Conservatives or Centrists. The Radicals captured two or three seats.

The vote showed a considerable increase of the Socialist strength, which, however, will affect them little under the three class system.

UNIONISTS ASSAIL HOME RULE.

Threaten to Take Over Entire Government of Ulster.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun. LONDON, May 16.—An enthusiastic anti-home rule demonstration was held today at Belfast.

Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Ulster Unionists, declared that Ulster would adhere to the solemn covenant which it adopted last autumn. He said that since the Unionists of the province never ceased to urge the Government to carry their resolution into effect, they would exhaust every constitutional means to avoid the necessity of resorting to force. But if they were driven to a policy of resistance those who drove them would be responsible. He urged the loyalists to go and be ready. The leaders would select the most appropriate methods and if necessary they would take over themselves the entire government of Ulster.
