

COUNTY DOCTORS TO DISCUSS FRIEDMANN Censors to Take Up Remedy and Members of the Institute. MAY NOT ACT DECISIVELY Action of Board of Health in Stopping Operations Awaited.

The censors of the County Medical Society feel that it is their duty, both to the public and to the medical profession, to take action against the Friedmann tuberculosis censors and the physicians who until recently were administering it in New York. Many members say that the society has remained quiet too long and to fulfill its obligations to the community it should devote an evening at least to the discussion of Friedmann's remedy and his associates.

CONGRESS MAY CUT ITALIAN IMMIGRATION Dillingham Bill to Be Reintroduced Without the Literacy Test. PERCENTAGE BASIS USED Would Reduce Southern and Eastern Europe Influx 130,000 a Year.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The immigration bill vetoed by President Taft will be reintroduced in the Senate tomorrow, substantially in the form it passed Congress last year, except that the literacy test will be omitted. Senator Dillingham of Vermont, who was chairman of the Senate Committee on Immigration in the last Congress, will introduce the bill.

Senator Dillingham based on the immigration experience of the last ten years the total immigration from southern and eastern Europe would be reduced about 130,000 annually and the number of aliens coming from northern and western Europe might be increased two-thirds.

The heaviest reduction would fall on Austria-Hungary, Italy, Greece and Turkey. In a statement, Senator Dillingham explains the probable effect of the measure. He says: "The average annual immigration from Austria-Hungary during the past ten years has been approximately 220,000, but future immigration from that country would be limited to about 134,500, while Greece would be limited to 10,000 as compared with an average of about 20,000 in recent years.

Germany has furnished an average of 35,000 immigrants in recent years and under the proposed law 25,000 to the United Kingdom could send about 25,000 but has sent an average of 96,000 in the past ten years. In the cases of France, Belgium, Switzerland, Netherlands and the Scandinavian countries the margin is not so large but it is not believed the law would in any way affect immigration from such countries.

It seems certain that the proposed law would curtail European immigration considerably and restrict it to a greater extent than the literacy test which the commission recommended as the most feasible single means of bringing about the desired slowing down in the influx of unskilled laborers from Europe. The effect of the literacy test is largely conjectural, but the method of restriction now suggested by Senator Dillingham would confine the influx from any one country within certain definite limits.

KEEFE WANTS NEW LAW. Retiring Commissioner Says Aliens Enter Too Easily.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Daniel J. Keefe, who retired yesterday from the office of Commissioner-General of Immigration, issued a statement to-day in which he took occasion to comment on the alleged defects of the immigration laws. He declared that they were inadequate in preventing undesirable immigration and pointed out that most of the aliens now arriving flock to the cities.

Mr. Keefe said the Dillingham-Burnett bill, vetoed by President Taft, was "an excellent measure" considering particularly its literacy feature. Mr. Keefe is a Republican and was appointed by President Roosevelt. He served for four years and six months as the head of the immigration service. President Wilson accepted Mr. Keefe's resignation and nominated A. J. Cananetti of Sacramento, Cal., to succeed him. Said Mr. Keefe to-day: "The present immigration law has but little effect in reducing or checking the great influx of aliens. The fact is, it merely excludes any except those who are afflicted with serious mental or physical defects. Indeed if it were not for the few debarred on these grounds and the occasional cases of moral, anarchistic, or criminal or immoral persons, the effect of the law would be almost negligible. Notwithstanding the mandatory provisions of the law it has been difficult in the past to deport even when the aliens are mentally or physically defective."
