

WARRANT OUT FOR MISSING TREASURER

Smith Is Finally Charged With Looting Roseville Trust Company.

DETECTIVES ON TRAIL

Man Is Thought to Be on Way to Boston to Flee Country.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 16.—William Odell, president of the Roseville Trust Company, the doors of which were closed Thursday when State bank examiners discovered a shortage of about $200,000 in the bank's funds, went to the First Criminal Court at 11 o'clock to-night and swore out a complaint charging Raymond E. Smith, the missing treasurer, with having embezzled $50,000 on October 22, 1912, and subsequent dates.

Mr. Odell told the court clerk, Richard Rooney, who took the complaint, that the amount of the bank funds with which Smith had made away with was greater than the figure set forth in the complaint. The $50,000, he said, was sufficient for the purposes of arrest, however, and the main concern of the bank's officials at this time was to get Smith under lock and key.

A warrant was issued and sent to Police Headquarters here. Fifteen minutes later Lieutenant Detective Cordano and Detective Keogh, accompanied by Mr. Odell, started in a touring car to arrest Smith. It was said that he was going to Greenlawn L. I. where Smith is supposed to be stopping at the house of a Mrs. Kattendahl.

May Flee to Europe.

At Headquarters it was reported that the detectives of the National Surety Company, who discovered Smith's whereabouts, learned earlier in the evening that he intended to go to Boston, where he hoped to be aboard a ship bound for some foreign port.

Clifford F. MacEvoy, who had about $18,000 on deposit in the bank and as the largest depositor was made chairman of the depository committee, spent the day looking over the bank's paper with the State examiners. What he learned of the bank's affairs and the methods of business employed by the officers led him to make this remark:

"The officers and directors have grossly mismanaged the funds and neglected their duties, and as far as I have been able to learn they are quite responsible for the shortage of funds as Smith himself. And I have every reason to believe that we shall be able to hold them responsible."

Among the directors and officers are men of considerable wealth. Two or three of them, Mr. MacEvoy said, would be able to make up the loss and not be much embarrassed at that.

Although there has been no indication that any of these men might attempt to dispose of his assets, counsel for the depository is taking measures to forestall any such attempt. It is expected that Smith will get a court order restraining the directors from taking such action.

Don't Shirk Responsibility. As a matter of fact there is nothing to show that any of the bank's directors or officers want to shirk responsibility.

A hasty summary of the assets has revealed the presence of a lot of worthless paper, but enough cash and convertible assets to make payment of all the liabilities. The chances are, however, that the depository will ultimately get dollar for dollar because the other 35 per cent will have to be made up by the men who, through negligence, permitted loans to be made to a man who, Mr. MacEvoy told today, is not a stockholder, the $25,000 which had been taken from one of the bank's stockholders. His name has been withheld. A short time after the loan was made the man went into bankruptcy. His financial record is a disgraceful one. The $25,000 was advanced him, Mr. MacEvoy said.

Mr. MacEvoy in a statement to-day gave Smith a clean bill of character. He said that he had no objection to any intentional dishonesty or misappropriation of funds and remarked positively that he did not get any of the $200,000 or more which the depository are out.

Smith, said Mr. MacEvoy, "is a frank, open, likable fellow. Personally I thought him a good banker. To my positive knowledge he attended to business constantly and led a well ordered and not extravagant life."

There are others in Newark who do not agree with Mr. MacEvoy regarding Smith's habits. The town is full of more or less vague rumors about racing automobiles, champagne dinners and the things that go with them. It is expected that Smith will turn up to-morrow to face the music and tell his own story.

YONKERS FAIR MONEY GONE.

Lights Are Shut Off When Bills Are Unpaid.

YONKERS, N. Y., Aug. 16.—The Greater New York Fair and Exposition in the Empire City Park here closed to-night on account of financial difficulties. The 25,000 electric lights were turned off because the exposition company failed to pay the Yonkers Electric Light and Power Company for power. Seven or eight thousand people arrived at the grounds on crowded trolley cars to-night only to find the gates closed and park dark and deserted. Disappointment was vented in general.

The fair opened two weeks ago to run throughout the month. The attendance from the outset has been small and the expense heavy. For several days the venture has been known to be headed for the rocks. It struck to-night when the lighting company submitted its ultimatum of pay up or lights out. The money was not forthcoming and the lights were turned off. All the telephones in the offices and exposition buildings also have been shut off for non-payment of rental.

Investigation of the report that Yonkers had been flooded with bad checks disclosed to-night that a large number of checks drawn by the exposition company on local and New York banks had been returned marked "No funds." B. E. Ames, general superintendent of the exposition company, said that this was due to an oversight. The company had overdrawn its account by mistake, he said, and the situation will be promptly remedied. "No one will lose a cent," he asserted.

R. M. Williams, general manager of the fair, and John A. Murkin, publicity man, could not be found to-night to answer queries as to whether the fair will reopen. The exposition company leased the grounds from James Butler of Yonkers for five years with the privilege of renewing for a like period. Mr. Ames now says Mr. Butler's agents have made the lease and accuses him of "doing everything he can to ruin the fair."

The company has spent $250,000 remodeling old buildings, erecting new ones and enlarging the grand stand. The expense of the fair to date are said to have approximated $50,000, and the aggregate attendance has not been over 5,000.

Arnold, Constable & Co.

FOUNDED 1827

A REMARKABLE SALE OF Made Up Carpet Rugs

One-Third Under Regular Prices

A Special New Lot of 500—Just Made Up

In odd sizes of best Wilton, Velvet, Brussels, and Axminster Carpets, in choice patterns and colorings adaptable to all requirements.

The approximate sizes and prices are as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Size, Value, Size, Value. Rows include 4.6x 7.6, 6.0x 7.6, 6.9x 8.5, 6.0x 11.3, 8.3x 11.0, 9.0x 12.0, 9.9x 13.0, 10.6x 14.0.

450 Pieces Best English and Domestic Brussels, Velvet and Axminster Carpets. All standard makes and qualities, from our regular stock, for every class of furnishings.

Formerly $1.65, $1.75 and $2.00 yard. Now 1.00, 1.10, 1.25, 1.35 Yard.

NOTE—Goods purchased now will be delivered when required and charged in October bill.

Broadway & 9th Street

SLAIN WOMAN'S HUSBAND IS HELD

Giordano Identifies Body, but Gets Tangled in His Story.

Neighbors Say Couple Quarrelled, and the Wife Threatened to Leave Home.

Four persons made affidavit yesterday that the body of the woman who was found murdered near Spuyten Duyvil last Sunday night was Mrs. Salvatrice Giordano, wife of the man charged with the crime.

The husband of the woman was arrested, charged with being a suspicious person, but although the police learned several facts pointing to a possible motive for the murder they are a long way from having substantial evidence against Giordano.

The man who was picked out of the Hudson River early Friday morning and who is also held on suspicion is suffering from pneumonia and mentally deranged. He is in the hospital at the Washington Heights Hospital.

Giordano was taken to the morgue Friday night, and went into hysterics when he viewed the body of the murdered woman. He said he was sure it was that of his wife, later he said it wasn't, and the detectives were satisfied that he had made a mistake. He was allowed to go, but yesterday morning Detectives Hawley, Caputo and Haggerty called upon Giordano at his home in the Bronx.

Smith, said Mr. MacEvoy, "is a frank, open, likable fellow. Personally I thought him a good banker. To my positive knowledge he attended to business constantly and led a well ordered and not extravagant life."

There are others in Newark who do not agree with Mr. MacEvoy regarding Smith's habits. The town is full of more or less vague rumors about racing automobiles, champagne dinners and the things that go with them. It is expected that Smith will turn up to-morrow to face the music and tell his own story.

The officers and directors of the Roseville Trust Company refused to be interviewed to-day.

YONKERS FAIR MONEY GONE. Lights Are Shut Off When Bills Are Unpaid.

YONKERS, N. Y., Aug. 16.—The Greater New York Fair and Exposition in the Empire City Park here closed to-night on account of financial difficulties.

The 25,000 electric lights were turned off because the exposition company failed to pay the Yonkers Electric Light and Power Company for power.

Seven or eight thousand people arrived at the grounds on crowded trolley cars to-night only to find the gates closed and park dark and deserted.

Disappointment was vented in general. The fair opened two weeks ago to run throughout the month.

The attendance from the outset has been small and the expense heavy. For several days the venture has been known to be headed for the rocks.

It struck to-night when the lighting company submitted its ultimatum of pay up or lights out. The money was not forthcoming and the lights were turned off.

All the telephones in the offices and exposition buildings also have been shut off for non-payment of rental.

Investigation of the report that Yonkers had been flooded with bad checks disclosed to-night that a large number of checks drawn by the exposition company on local and New York banks had been returned marked "No funds."

B. E. Ames, general superintendent of the exposition company, said that this was due to an oversight. The company had overdrawn its account by mistake, he said, and the situation will be promptly remedied.

"No one will lose a cent," he asserted. R. M. Williams, general manager of the fair, and John A. Murkin, publicity man, could not be found to-night to answer queries as to whether the fair will reopen.

The exposition company leased the grounds from James Butler of Yonkers for five years with the privilege of renewing for a like period. Mr. Ames now says Mr. Butler's agents have made the lease and accuses him of "doing everything he can to ruin the fair."

The company has spent $250,000 remodeling old buildings, erecting new ones and enlarging the grand stand. The expense of the fair to date are said to have approximated $50,000, and the aggregate attendance has not been over 5,000.

DANIELS GIVES WAR TROPHY TO IDAHO

Says President Wilson's Earliest Ambition Was to Enter Annapolis.

BATTLESHIP LEADS FLEET Percentage in Gunnery and Engineering Was Ninety-five.

NEWPORT, Aug. 16.—Preparedness to act in the time of war and emergency was the fact that Secretary of the Navy Daniels impressed to-day in his speech aboard the battleship Idaho when he presented to that ship the trophy and pennant for battle efficiency for the last year.

It is the man who keeps himself in fine physical condition that is the victor when the day calls for endurance, said the Secretary. The man who is going to get ready is sure to fall down when opportunity knocks at his door. The necessity of always being ready is appreciated more I think by men of the navy than by men in any other calling or profession.

Secretary Daniels congratulated Capt. George W. Kline, commanding the Idaho, and also Capt. William L. Howard, who was present and who was in command when the ship won the competition. Then he said:

"I come to bring you the greetings, the thanks and the appreciation of the distinguished Commander-in-Chief of the Navy, President Woodrow Wilson. He directs me to present his congratulations and felicitations and his thanks to the victor and the other ships which made excellent records. His letter addressed to Capt. Howard is as follows:

"THE WHITE HOUSE, Aug. 9, 1913. My dear Captain: As Commander-in-Chief of the Navy I am pleased to inform you that the U. S. S. Idaho while under your command in competition with all other battleships of our navy received the highest combined final merit in gunnery and engineering for the year ending June 30, 1913.

"It gives me especial pleasure to award this trophy to you and I cannot too highly praise the earnest and efficient manner in which you have won this honor. You have performed the duty assigned. The winning of this pennant is not a matter of choice, but the result of coordinate and earnest endeavor on the part of yourself and your ship's company. Sincerely yours, Woodrow Wilson."

The Secretary and his party went from the Dolphin to the battleship Idaho just before noon and he was received with all the honor due his rank by Capt. George W. Kline, Rear Admiral Badger, commander in chief of the fleet, his division commanders and the officers from the naval stations here were also present.

Trophy to the Utah. With due ceremony the Secretary presented to the officers and crew of the Idaho the battle efficiency pennant, this ship having made a percentage of nearly 95. Later the party went to the Utah, where the pennant and trophy for steam engineering efficiency in this type of war craft, the destroyer Beale, Lieut. Edward C. S. Parker commanding, was presented to the crew. Present in the later function were Ambassador and Mme. Bakmeteff, the boat having been named after Mme. Bakmeteff's father, the late Edward F. Beale.

To-night Secretary Daniels and his party dined with Rear Admiral and Mrs. Cameron McH. Winslow at their home here. During the conference between the Secretary and Admiral Badger to-day it was decided to start the Atlantic fleet on its Mediterranean cruise on October 25. The itinerary, which will be worked out by Admiral Badger, will be made so as to bring the ships back to their home navy yards in time for the Christmas holidays.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 16.—William Odell, president of the Roseville Trust Company, the doors of which were closed Thursday when State bank examiners discovered a shortage of about $200,000 in the bank's funds, went to the First Criminal Court at 11 o'clock to-night and swore out a complaint charging Raymond E. Smith, the missing treasurer, with having embezzled $50,000 on October 22, 1912, and subsequent dates.

Mr. Odell told the court clerk, Richard Rooney, who took the complaint, that the amount of the bank funds with which Smith had made away with was greater than the figure set forth in the complaint. The $50,000, he said, was sufficient for the purposes of arrest, however, and the main concern of the bank's officials at this time was to get Smith under lock and key.

A warrant was issued and sent to Police Headquarters here. Fifteen minutes later Lieutenant Detective Cordano and Detective Keogh, accompanied by Mr. Odell, started in a touring car to arrest Smith. It was said that he was going to Greenlawn L. I. where Smith is supposed to be stopping at the house of a Mrs. Kattendahl.

May Flee to Europe. At Headquarters it was reported that the detectives of the National Surety Company, who discovered Smith's whereabouts, learned earlier in the evening that he intended to go to Boston, where he hoped to be aboard a ship bound for some foreign port.

Clifford F. MacEvoy, who had about $18,000 on deposit in the bank and as the largest depositor was made chairman of the depository committee, spent the day looking over the bank's paper with the State examiners. What he learned of the bank's affairs and the methods of business employed by the officers led him to make this remark:

"The officers and directors have grossly mismanaged the funds and neglected their duties, and as far as I have been able to learn they are quite responsible for the shortage of funds as Smith himself. And I have every reason to believe that we shall be able to hold them responsible."

Among the directors and officers are men of considerable wealth. Two or three of them, Mr. MacEvoy said, would be able to make up the loss and not be much embarrassed at that.

Although there has been no indication that any of these men might attempt to dispose of his assets, counsel for the depository is taking measures to forestall any such attempt. It is expected that Smith will get a court order restraining the directors from taking such action.

Don't Shirk Responsibility. As a matter of fact there is nothing to show that any of the bank's directors or officers want to shirk responsibility.

A hasty summary of the assets has revealed the presence of a lot of worthless paper, but enough cash and convertible assets to make payment of all the liabilities. The chances are, however, that the depository will ultimately get dollar for dollar because the other 35 per cent will have to be made up by the men who, through negligence, permitted loans to be made to a man who, Mr. MacEvoy told today, is not a stockholder, the $25,000 which had been taken from one of the bank's stockholders. His name has been withheld. A short time after the loan was made the man went into bankruptcy. His financial record is a disgraceful one. The $25,000 was advanced him, Mr. MacEvoy said.

Mr. MacEvoy in a statement to-day gave Smith a clean bill of character. He said that he had no objection to any intentional dishonesty or misappropriation of funds and remarked positively that he did not get any of the $200,000 or more which the depository are out.

Smith, said Mr. MacEvoy, "is a frank, open, likable fellow. Personally I thought him a good banker. To my positive knowledge he attended to business constantly and led a well ordered and not extravagant life."

PRINCE OUT OF RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Withdraws From Contest in New Jersey for the Sake of Party Harmony.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 16.—Ex-Senator John D. Prince, who has been an active candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, announced to-day that he had decided to withdraw from the contest in the interest of harmony. He suggested that the best interest of the Republican party would be served by the nomination of ex-Gov. Edward C. Stokes.

Mr. Stokes has not actually consented to become a candidate, although he has made no objections to the circulation of petitions in his behalf in almost every section of the State.

In his statement of withdrawal Dr. Prince points out that he has been urged by many friends to seek the gubernatorial nomination. He says:

"I have reached the conclusion that I shall not be a co-worker at this time, both in the interest of harmony and because it seems to me that the future welfare of the State is dependent upon Republican success in the coming election. The chaotic conditions which prevail at present are, to my mind, in a large measure traceable to the unsetting of the Republican party from administrative affairs in New Jersey."

Mr. Stokes did not support President Taft in the campaign of last year, a fact which has militated against him in the minds of many old line Republicans. On the other hand, he has had the good fortune to have gained for him certain elements of strength among the followers of the Bull Moose.

CAMPDEN, Aug. 16.—Edmund B. Osborne made four speeches here to-day in which he advocated municipal ownership of public utilities and said that his opponent for the gubernatorial nomination was opposed to this plank. Mr. Osborne said in part:

"This is the home of David Baird, one of the so-called overlords of the Republican party in New Jersey. The continued control of the Republican party by men like Mr. Baird and ex-Gov. Murphy is the main cause of the wreck of the party and the reason why it is impossible for progressives and Republicans to get together."

"My point of view toward politics and government is directly opposite that of Mr. Baird and ex-Gov. Murphy and men of their type. I believe that the first concern of the Government must be for the prosperity and happiness of the people who do the work of the country."

"I would give no privileges or franchises whatsoever for any public utility. I would have every municipality supply its own people, at cost, with gas, electric light and trolley service, as nearly all now do with water supply and sewerage."

"I therefore propose in my platform a law allowing each municipality by majority vote to take over and operate any public utility."

Mrs. Spencer Trask Is Worried. LAKE GEORGE, N. Y., Aug. 16.—The condition of Mrs. Spencer Trask, who is seriously ill at Trinita, her home here, took a turn for the worse to-day and she suffered from weakness of the heart until the symptoms became alarming. Unless Mrs. Trask shows improvement before morning Dr. Glenworth R. Butler, who is now in New York, will be summoned.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 16.—William Odell, president of the Roseville Trust Company, the doors of which were closed Thursday when State bank examiners discovered a shortage of about $200,000 in the bank's funds, went to the First Criminal Court at 11 o'clock to-night and swore out a complaint charging Raymond E. Smith, the missing treasurer, with having embezzled $50,000 on October 22, 1912, and subsequent dates.

Mr. Odell told the court clerk, Richard Rooney, who took the complaint, that the amount of the bank funds with which Smith had made away with was greater than the figure set forth in the complaint. The $50,000, he said, was sufficient for the purposes of arrest, however, and the main concern of the bank's officials at this time was to get Smith under lock and key.

A warrant was issued and sent to Police Headquarters here. Fifteen minutes later Lieutenant Detective Cordano and Detective Keogh, accompanied by Mr. Odell, started in a touring car to arrest Smith. It was said that he was going to Greenlawn L. I. where Smith is supposed to be stopping at the house of a Mrs. Kattendahl.

May Flee to Europe. At Headquarters it was reported that the detectives of the National Surety Company, who discovered Smith's whereabouts, learned earlier in the evening that he intended to go to Boston, where he hoped to be aboard a ship bound for some foreign port.

Clifford F. MacEvoy, who had about $18,000 on deposit in the bank and as the largest depositor was made chairman of the depository committee, spent the day looking over the bank's paper with the State examiners. What he learned of the bank's affairs and the methods of business employed by the officers led him to make this remark:

"The officers and directors have grossly mismanaged the funds and neglected their duties, and as far as I have been able to learn they are quite responsible for the shortage of funds as Smith himself. And I have every reason to believe that we shall be able to hold them responsible."

Among the directors and officers are men of considerable wealth. Two or three of them, Mr. MacEvoy said, would be able to make up the loss and not be much embarrassed at that.

Although there has been no indication that any of these men might attempt to dispose of his assets, counsel for the depository is taking measures to forestall any such attempt. It is expected that Smith will get a court order restraining the directors from taking such action.

Don't Shirk Responsibility. As a matter of fact there is nothing to show that any of the bank's directors or officers want to shirk responsibility.

A hasty summary of the assets has revealed the presence of a lot of worthless paper, but enough cash and convertible assets to make payment of all the liabilities. The chances are, however, that the depository will ultimately get dollar for dollar because the other 35 per cent will have to be made up by the men who, through negligence, permitted loans to be made to a man who, Mr. MacEvoy told today, is not a stockholder, the $25,000 which had been taken from one of the bank's stockholders. His name has been withheld. A short time after the loan was made the man went into bankruptcy. His financial record is a disgraceful one. The $25,000 was advanced him, Mr. MacEvoy said.

Mr. MacEvoy in a statement to-day gave Smith a clean bill of character. He said that he had no objection to any intentional dishonesty or misappropriation of funds and remarked positively that he did not get any of the $200,000 or more which the depository are out.

"Everybody's Going to THE BIG STORE"

Our Furniture Values Are Supreme

And Our Furniture Business in This Midsummer Sale Proves That the Public Appreciates This Fact

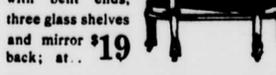

Compare these pieces and prices with others anywhere and you will understand why we are doing the best business in town.

$35 Circassian Walnut Dresser—48 inches high; 24x30 French plate mirror; top measure 22 1/2 inches; at $22.50

Chiffoniers—to match above; at $22

$28 Golden Oak Crystal Closets—40 inches wide and 5 ft. 6 in. high; with bent ends, three glass shelves and mirror $19

$21 Solid Mahogany Tables—suitable for library or living room; as illustrated; 42 inches long and 26 inches wide; scroll legs and heavy columns; one drawer; at $15.75

$32.50 Three-Piece Suites—loose cushion seats which can be removed and the suite used without cushions; veneer seat and bright mahogany color; at $22.50

$11 Simple Sliding Couches—operated by a foot lever at the end, making a perfectly level bed when opened. The angle iron frame fitted with a Romeink fabric; 5 ft. 11 in. long and 3 ft. 11 in. wide; at $7.75

$30 Seven-Piece Dining Room Suits—consists of round oak extension table with claw feet, 6 ft. when extended, and six genuine leather slip seat chairs—all well made and fit $19.75

$26 Brass Bedsteads—as illustrated; 2-inch post with 30 filling rods; square top rod. Bright or satin finish; all $18.50

$17.50 Brass Bed Outfits—as illustrated; 2-inch post brass bedstead with ten filling rods; bright or satin finish. Ten-year Romeink spring. Combination soft-top mattress. All regular sizes $10 at $15.75

$23.50 Figured Reversible Velour Portieres at $13.50

An exceptionally fine collection in the following color combinations: Nile and Rose Red and Green Olive and Red Olive and Brown $10 saved on each pair of portieres.

For Other Important Sales See Our Large Advertisement in Today's World, American and Herald

The Big Store GREENHUT-SIGEL COOPER Co. Sixth Avenue J. B. GREENHUT, Pres. 15th to 16th Streets

$75 Three-Piece Leather Suites—as illustrated; exceptional value; frame finished in rich mahogany color; at $54

$32.50 Saddle Wood Seat Dining Chairs—in either turned oak or Early English finish; well made, neat and comfortable; also suitable for use in offices or living rooms; at $1.65

$7 White Enamel Chiffoniers—5 large drawers, with wooden knobs; a good, wide, roomy chiffonier; at $5.50

$13.50 Brags Bedsteads—two-inch posts with heavy filling rods; a new and pleasing design; can be had in all regular sizes and in bright $8.75 or satin finish; at $8.75

$6 Golden Oak Chiffoniers—a better chiffonier than the average at this price; 5 drawers; all wood trimmings; near gal- lery back; at $4.25

$32.50 Three-Piece Suites—loose cushion seats which can be removed and the suite used without cushions; veneer seat and bright mahogany color; at $22.50

$11 Simple Sliding Couches—operated by a foot lever at the end, making a perfectly level bed when opened. The angle iron frame fitted with a Romeink fabric; 5 ft. 11 in. long and 3 ft. 11 in. wide; at $7.75

$30 Seven-Piece Dining Room Suits—consists of round oak extension table with claw feet, 6 ft. when extended, and six genuine leather slip seat chairs—all well made and fit $19.75

$26 Brass Bedsteads—as illustrated; 2-inch post with 30 filling rods; square top rod. Bright or satin finish; all $18.50

$17.50 Brass Bed Outfits—as illustrated; 2-inch post brass bedstead with ten filling rods; bright or satin finish. Ten-year Romeink spring. Combination soft-top mattress. All regular sizes $10 at $15.75

$23.50 Figured Reversible Velour Portieres at $13.50

For Other Important Sales See Our Large Advertisement in Today's World, American and Herald

The Big Store GREENHUT-SIGEL COOPER Co. Sixth Avenue J. B. GREENHUT, Pres. 15th to 16th Streets

Double Green Trading Stamps Before 12 o'Clock—Single Stamps Thereafter