

BEAUTIFUL GOWNS AT NEWPORT TENNIS

Large Crowd From Summer Colony and Many Foreign Visitors See Games.

MRS. HAGGIN ENTERTAINS

Dinner at Arleigh Is Followed by Dancing in a Tent on the Lawn.

NEWPORT, Aug. 18.—Notwithstanding a hard shower and threatening weather this morning there was a record crowd from Narragansett Pier, Jamestown and other nearby resorts at the opening of the national tennis tournament at the Casino. Among their foreign visitors who saw the contests were: Ambassador and Mme. Bakmetoff and A. Lyssakovsky of the Russian Embassy; Daniel von Haimhausen and Baron Horst von Lersner of the German Embassy; Don Juan Riano and the Count and Countess...

As usual there was a beautiful display of gowns worn by the women in attendance. Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt wore a gown of white crepe trimmed by a Japanese sash and a corset hat. Mrs. Robert Goelet wore a gown of old blue silk with yellow flecks and a large drooping hat.

Mrs. Fish in Champagne Linen. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish wore a gown of champagne linen prettily embroidered and her small hat was trimmed with pink tulle.

Mrs. George H. Warren had an attractive gown of blue and white striped chiffon and her leghorn hat was trimmed with garden flowers and black velvet.

Mrs. Arthur Curtis James wore a white linen suit banded with lace and had a small white hat trimmed with scarlet poppies.

Mrs. E. Hayward Perry appeared in a suit of pink tulle with a black hat trimmed with green.

The dinner dance given to-night at Arleigh, the summer home of Mrs. James B. Haggin, was one of the largest and most brilliant of the season. Mrs. Haggin had 117 guests for dinner, and 150 or more were present for the dancing.

Mrs. Haggin's Dinner Guest. Mrs. Haggin numbered among her dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Gould Jennings, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Barton, Mrs. Robert H. W. Taylor, Mrs. Henry Hitt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. R. Horace Gallatin, Mr. and Mrs. Paulding Foedick, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart...

Mrs. Forsyth Wickes, Mrs. Henry S. Redmond, Miss Gabrielle Warren, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, Miss Marie Tallor, Mrs. J. Lee Teller, Miss Laura Swan, Mrs. E. Stevens, Miss Elsie Stevens, Mrs. Richard Stevens, Miss Mimi Scott, Miss Louise B. Scott, Miss Elizabeth Rogers, Miss Mildred Rives, Mrs. Odriehs, Miss Cecelia J. May, Mrs. Peter D. Martin, Miss Helena V. Fish, Miss Mabel Gerry, Miss Rose B. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Carter, Mrs. Alexander S. Brown, Mrs. Margaret F. Andrews, Mrs. J. Fred Pierson, Jr., Miss Edith Deacon, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Eustis, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Perrin, Mr. and Mrs. William Woodard, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Stevens, and Mrs. George W. Kent and Mrs. Major C. Creighton Webb.

Bar Harbor Women Win Relay. The Northeast Harbor men defeated the Bar Harbor men in the relay race breaking the old record of 1 minute 41-5 seconds and putting the mark at 1 minute 4-9-10 seconds. On the Bar Harbor team were: William Wright, Capt. E. B. Cox, Bryant Myers and J. W. Baker. The Northeast Harbor team was composed of H. M. Hosenbruch, Capt. D. Watson, C. M. Madiera and E. C. Madiera.

The swimming race for girls under 16 in the bay was won by Miss Adeline Townsend. The women's diving competition was won by Miss Frances Mears with Miss Charlotte Baylis second and Miss Adeline Townsend third.

The swimming race for boys under 16 Francis Parkman of Northeast Harbor won, with Gilman Stewart of Bar Harbor second.

In the girls' tub race Miss Elizabeth Moffat of Northeast Harbor won, Miss Hannah Wright being second.

In the musical buoys contest Howard Dean won and Blair Thaw was second.

Antia Sturges won the women's swimming race, with Katherine Arnold of Northeast Harbor second place.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Livingston, who are spending the summer at Belfast, arrived in an automobile. J. W. Harriman returned from New York. Dr. and Mrs. Preston Satterwhite and Dr. Chapman, who arrived from Newport on their yacht last night, will return to Newport on Saturday night. Their son, George Harris, Jr., is expected later.

MANY FROM PIER AT NEWPORT. Cottagers Motor Over to View the Tennis Matches.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, Aug. 18.—A number of the cottagers motored to Newport today for the tennis tournament. Among those who attended were Rowland Hazard, Miss Catherine Britton, H. A. McKinney, the Misses Gertrude and Beatrice de Coppet, Mrs. William Lee, Jr., Miss Marguerite Goodrich, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gattling and Miss Rosalind Gattling.

Registered at the Casino are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cameron of Toronto, Mrs. Harold Brown and Miss Hazel Brown of New York and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Anderson of Philadelphia.

Miss Elizabeth Hanan, who was visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Hanan at Shore Acres, has returned to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Calhoun, John C. Calhoun, Jr. and J. F. Gattling of New York are among arrivals at the Imperial. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graves called to the Pier to-day on the yacht Emma.

LENOX GARDEN CLUB MEETS. Paper on Pine and Evergreen Blight Heard at Wheatfield.

LENOX, Mass., Aug. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Edna de Heredia entertained the Lenox Garden Club this afternoon at Wheatfield. Dr. W. Gilman Thompson read a paper on the blight which is attacking white pine and evergreens. The next meeting will be on September 9, with Mrs. Giraud Foster. Then Miss Maryann Coffin of New York will read a paper on "The Succession of Fennell."

Mrs. George Winthrop Folson entertained at luncheon at Sunnyridge for Mrs. Gardner M. Lane of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Frothingham gave a dinner entertainment at Overlee.

Joseph G. Cannon and John G. Dwight, who have been motoring in Vermont, arrived to-night at the Maplewood, Pittsfield. Mr. and Mrs. Harris Fahnestock have issued invitations for a ball at East-over on August 30. Mr. and Mrs. William E. S. Griswold, who were on a motor trip to New York to visit Roger Griswold, returned to Wyndhurst to-night.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Dixey returned to Tanglewood on Saturday night on a three weeks trip in the White Mountains and on the North Shore. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell and Mr. and Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge at Magnolia, Mass.

Capt. and Mrs. A. Mallo-Mola of Italy, who were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Crownshield, started to-day for the White Mountains. Robert W. Goelet, who was at the Curtis Hotel during his visit to Lenox, has gone to Newport. Dr. Thomas Hiddle and Miss Emily Hiddle have gone to New York.

Scene From "When Dreams Come True"

The figures are those of Joseph Santley and Marie Flynn.

tained at luncheon at Sunnyridge for Mrs. Gardner M. Lane of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Frothingham gave a dinner entertainment at Overlee.

Joseph G. Cannon and John G. Dwight, who have been motoring in Vermont, arrived to-night at the Maplewood, Pittsfield. Mr. and Mrs. Harris Fahnestock have issued invitations for a ball at East-over on August 30. Mr. and Mrs. William E. S. Griswold, who were on a motor trip to New York to visit Roger Griswold, returned to Wyndhurst to-night.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Dixey returned to Tanglewood on Saturday night on a three weeks trip in the White Mountains and on the North Shore. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell and Mr. and Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge at Magnolia, Mass.

Capt. and Mrs. A. Mallo-Mola of Italy, who were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Crownshield, started to-day for the White Mountains. Robert W. Goelet, who was at the Curtis Hotel during his visit to Lenox, has gone to Newport. Dr. Thomas Hiddle and Miss Emily Hiddle have gone to New York.

The Lenox Horticultural Society has engaged Harry Allen of Frederick Vanderbill's estate at Hyde Park and Walter Angus of Chapinville, Conn., to preside on the awards at the garden flower show which opens on Wednesday.

Mrs. J. B. Francis Herreshoff and Miss Helen Erskine, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mead and Mr. and Mrs. Wilton J. Lambert, who were at the Hotel Aspinwall, started for the White Mountains.

BAR HARBOR WOMEN WIN RELAY. The Northeast Harbor men defeated the Bar Harbor men in the relay race breaking the old record of 1 minute 41-5 seconds and putting the mark at 1 minute 4-9-10 seconds.

The swimming race for girls under 16 in the bay was won by Miss Adeline Townsend. The women's diving competition was won by Miss Frances Mears with Miss Charlotte Baylis second and Miss Adeline Townsend third.

The swimming race for boys under 16 Francis Parkman of Northeast Harbor won, with Gilman Stewart of Bar Harbor second.

In the girls' tub race Miss Elizabeth Moffat of Northeast Harbor won, Miss Hannah Wright being second.

In the musical buoys contest Howard Dean won and Blair Thaw was second.

Antia Sturges won the women's swimming race, with Katherine Arnold of Northeast Harbor second place.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Livingston, who are spending the summer at Belfast, arrived in an automobile. J. W. Harriman returned from New York. Dr. and Mrs. Preston Satterwhite and Dr. Chapman, who arrived from Newport on their yacht last night, will return to Newport on Saturday night. Their son, George Harris, Jr., is expected later.

MANY FROM PIER AT NEWPORT. Cottagers Motor Over to View the Tennis Matches.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, Aug. 18.—A number of the cottagers motored to Newport today for the tennis tournament. Among those who attended were Rowland Hazard, Miss Catherine Britton, H. A. McKinney, the Misses Gertrude and Beatrice de Coppet, Mrs. William Lee, Jr., Miss Marguerite Goodrich, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gattling and Miss Rosalind Gattling.

Registered at the Casino are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cameron of Toronto, Mrs. Harold Brown and Miss Hazel Brown of New York and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Anderson of Philadelphia.

Miss Elizabeth Hanan, who was visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Hanan at Shore Acres, has returned to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Calhoun, John C. Calhoun, Jr. and J. F. Gattling of New York are among arrivals at the Imperial. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graves called to the Pier to-day on the yacht Emma.

LENOX GARDEN CLUB MEETS. Paper on Pine and Evergreen Blight Heard at Wheatfield.

LENOX, Mass., Aug. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Edna de Heredia entertained the Lenox Garden Club this afternoon at Wheatfield. Dr. W. Gilman Thompson read a paper on the blight which is attacking white pine and evergreens. The next meeting will be on September 9, with Mrs. Giraud Foster. Then Miss Maryann Coffin of New York will read a paper on "The Succession of Fennell."

Mrs. George Winthrop Folson entertained at luncheon at Sunnyridge for Mrs. Gardner M. Lane of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Frothingham gave a dinner entertainment at Overlee.

Joseph G. Cannon and John G. Dwight, who have been motoring in Vermont, arrived to-night at the Maplewood, Pittsfield. Mr. and Mrs. Harris Fahnestock have issued invitations for a ball at East-over on August 30. Mr. and Mrs. William E. S. Griswold, who were on a motor trip to New York to visit Roger Griswold, returned to Wyndhurst to-night.

"WHEN DREAMS COME TRUE" IS LAUGHABLE

Mirth is Almost Wholly the Result of Players' Bodily Efforts.

MAY VOKES IS VERY ACTIVE

Joseph Santley Does Not Dance Much, but His Bang Shows Up Well.

"When Dreams Come True,"—At the Lyric Theatre.

A. Saller. Thomas Alben Hermann. Otto Herder. Saranoff. Mrs. Hopkins-Davis-Story. Ann Mooney. Hercules Strong. Edward Garvie. Kean Hedges. Joseph Santley. Beth. Marie Flynn. Mrs. William Smith. Amelia Summer-Mermaid. Mrs. George. Clyde Hunnewell. James K. Hedges. Fraser Coulter. Denny. Donald Macdonald. Matilda. May Vokes.

Philip Bartholomae is the author of a popular farce which put many performances in this city to its credit and is now beloved in the theatres devoted to the kind of showman drama known as "the stock." This was "Over Night," which possessed the same youthful freshness of humor and perception of life to be found in college dramas. It happened that "Little Miss Brown," which followed, was less direct in motive and its appeal to public suffrage was therefore less potent.

There is a new farce by this persistent playwright impending, while last night his first effort in the hybrid field of farce with music served to open the Lyric Theatre. The production was new to the audience, which laughed and applauded, although Chicago took "When Dreams Come True" to its heart of hearts last spring.

Funmakers in the Cast. Mr. Bartholomae had Silvio Hein at his elbow to supply the rhythms for the accompaniment of his lyrics, and there were well tried funmakers occupied in the publication of the author's humor. May Vokes was one of them, and Joseph Santley was another. Then Marie Flynn, the ebullient Anna Wheaton, who not only strives to please, but figuratively takes off her coat to the task; Amelia Summer-Mermaid, who has not lost the friendship of the public even in her varied dimensions; Fraser Coulter, a veteran, and a company altogether equal to the problem which the author had posed for them, appeared in "When Dreams Come True."

Like all the world of musical farce the theme of the one now under consideration deals with love. There is an extravagant American hero who is discovered homebound in the steerage of the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

There are such stirring ingredients in the later va-et-vient of the affair as he enters the play. He is a very comfortable fellow, but he is a lovely face among the list of first cabin passengers and there is at least inspiration for melody to be found in this.

tirely there was nothing quite so distinguished as his sensitive forelock. It rose and fell, it curled and grew rigid with the fragrance of the perfume of the Panache of Henry of Navarre. And it was something of an achievement to place himself even from a hirsute point of view in such an exalted class. Yet nobody could deny that Mr. Santley possesses a wonderfully emotional bang. It would be just as futile to say that the audience at the Lyric Theatre last night did not laugh long and loud at the quickly succeeding episodes in "When Dreams Come True."

IN THE VARIETY THEATRES. New Faces on the Programmes in the Popular Houses.

Bernard Granville, modestly described as the Apollo of vaudeville, was a newcomer at the Fifth Avenue Theatre yesterday afternoon. Mr. Granville is indeed an accomplished performer without any particular discussion as to his claims to the championship of pulchritude in vaudeville. He is an excellent dancer, with the not common quality of grace as well as agility and originality in his steps. Then he sings well for an actor in his field. There have been times in the past when it seemed as if Mr. Granville might make a specialty of dancing, were it not for his evident conviction that come what may he cannot fail to please. He was liked by his new public, and for that matter so will Callaghan and Walter Law, Jack Gardner, Barrett and Stanton, Spencer and Williams, Moore and Elliott, Carmen Arcell and the other features of the long programme. Critical applause of Hoffman and his company came during the present Theatre yesterday to act in "The Open Door." Then Victor Moore was there to his humorous monologues and Emma Callaghan sang her usual song, the obligato, Leo Carillo, who imitates the San Francisco Chinese in spite of his Spanish name; Hyman Adler, John and Mae Burke, Riesen and Gores and the Three Escadros were also applauded with hot weather enthusiasm.

The New Brighton Theatre has Edgy Showalter to sing arias from "La Traviata" and more very grand operas at the performances during the present week. Also Eugene O'Rourke, Bud Fisher and Pauline Welsh and the Brads delighted the audiences yesterday.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT IN NEW PLAY.

"Shameen Dhu" Proves a Good Vehicle for His Talents. SARATOGA, Aug. 18.—Chauncey Olcott opened his second season as a star under the direction of Henry Miller at the Broadway Theatre here to-night, presenting "Shameen Dhu," a new play, a new Irish comedy by Rida Johnson Young called "Shameen Dhu." This title, which is Gaelic for "Black Jamie," is the name of an unknown poet in the town of Kinnegor, Ireland, who uses the name of a nom de plume to hide his own, Dare O'Donoghue.

The new play seems to fit Mr. Olcott to better advantage than anything he has had in years. His supporting cast includes David Glassford, Arthur Maitland, John G. Sparks, John Sheehan, Maurice Drew, Frederick Roberts, Walter Colligan, Constance Molinoux, Beth Lambert, Jennie Lamont and Maribel Seymour.

OLD PLAYS AND NEW ACTORS.

"The Confession" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Are Seen Again. There were two new members of the stock company at the Academy of Music yesterday afternoon when "The Confession" was played there. They were William Leppé, the new leading man, and Ethel Terry, who has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

The Manhattan Opera House gave its public yesterday afternoon the revival of a play which may scarcely be said to have left the stage for any period since it was taken first from the pages of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has been popular for several years, deals with the inviolate secrecy of the confession.

HOW PANKHURSTISM RETARDS SUFFRAGE

Mrs. Catt Not in Sympathy With the Methods of London Militants.

GOVERNMENT RIDICULOUS

She Tells of Punishments That Swell the Ranks of Bomb Throwers.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Suffrage Alliance, returned yesterday on the Minneapolis from a three weeks tour in Europe, during which she presided over the international convention at Budapest. She was accompanied by Miss Mary Garrett Hay, chairman of the Woman Suffrage party, who spent six weeks with her in England. Neither was especially interested in Mrs. Pankhurst's projected visit to this country.

"I certainly should not entertain Mrs. Pankhurst, though nobody who is familiar with suffrage matters questions her motives," said Mrs. Catt. "But I do not agree with her policy. I think it has injured suffrage in England and here, not among suffragists of course, but among the masses. People have a natural aversion for bombs. And the spectacular things the militants have done have given them undue importance as far as the solid work of the movement is concerned. Paying a shilling makes you a militant for life, but there are 1,000,000 women paying annual dues in non-militant organizations."

The non-militant organization that interested her most was the Tax Resistance League, which has an enormous influence in England just now. I went to the sale of the Duchess of Bedford's curios, on which she had refused to pay taxes. A member of the league made a speech on the lines of no taxation without representation which had a familiar Fourth of July sound. It was expressly stated that this was the Duchess's manner of protesting against militancy, though I fancy we should have considered it rather militant here.

Government Helping Cause. "It is not through their castle burning and bomb throwing that the militants have helped suffrage in England, but through their utterly ridiculous things that the Government has done in trying to punish them. These utterly senseless policies have driven many people into the ranks of the militants who would never have gone there."

For instance, when they first began to breed trouble and stir up mischief, the Government stopped their paper and took the printer to court. Every class that had an 'em' instantly took alarm and the trade unions and syndicalists came to the militants. A committee of 100 signed to an audience of 50,000 in Trafalgar Square, demanding the ancient right of free speech. People forgot all about what the militants had done.

"But the cat and mouse bill is the most foolish measure that even an English Cabinet ever conceived. Why, I heard a woman editor who two years ago lost her position for anti-militantism speaking on a platform against that measure. Forcible feeding had brought the medical associations out in protest."

It was so revolting that it simply could not go on, and the cat and mouse bill was invented to save the Government's face. So now the women are put in prison for meeting to riot and then let out to incite riot. It is a cruel and unchristian policy. We have had something to say about export facto laws in this country—laws made to fit a crime after it has happened.

How to Treat Hunger Strikers. The Cabinet should provide food for the militants if the strike continues forty days and convicted, and then let them eat or not as they will. But the members of the Cabinet fear that the first death would so inflame all England that their own lives would be in danger. If militancy is on the increase, Mrs. Pankhurst says, it is because the English Government is a more effective militant maker than Mrs. Pankhurst herself.

"Miss Hay and I stopped to hear Sylvia Pankhurst speak in Trafalgar Square when she called for a 'United Front' with the Government. The crowd started with a rush and as we stepped into a doorway we heard a woman scream. A young man who had been walking toward us expostulated with the policeman who held her and he too was arrested."

"We heard his name and watched his case. He said he had not been at the meeting, but had simply tried to help a woman who was being ill-treated. The judge gave him a year and told him to go and no business to be walking along Whitehall. He is a cat and mouse militant, and nobody knows how many were influenced by his experience."

"It is hard for Americans to understand that though power has been wrested from the King, he is a mere figurehead much of it has been by the aid of the Minister and the Cabinet. There is a serious feeling in England against this autocratic power of the Cabinet that is being so plainly shown in the suffrage question."

Notes of the Social World. Mr. and Mrs. George S. Brewster have returned from their camp on Spitzberg Lake in the Adirondacks and are at the St. Regis.

Mrs. Morgan J. O'Brien, who is passing the summer at her country place in Good Ground, L. I., will give a luncheon there to-day. Her guests will include several members of the Southampton summer colony.

Mrs. James D. Lyon of Pittsburg, who had been in Southampton, L. I., for a brief visit, is at the St. Regis. She will return to her country place in Watch Hill, R. I., where she is passing the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wright Harriman and Miss Miriam Harriman, who have been at Bar Harbor, Me., for several weeks, will go to Bernardsville, N. J., for the autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis Morris are at Bretton Woods for several weeks stay. Mrs. Bryan K. Stevens, who has been passing the early part of the summer in Europe, has returned and is at the Gotham for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, who are passing the summer in Roxbury, N. Y., are at a hotel for a brief visit.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Valentine, who have been passing the greater part of the season at Southampton, L. I., will start this week on a yachting cruise.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thorne, Jr., who are at York Harbor, Me., for the season, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Cheney, Mrs. Thorne's mother, is visiting her daughter.

DIED. CARROLL MCCOMBS,