CRANE BACK WITH STAGE PLANS.

Veteran Actor to Appear in 'New Henrietta.' Health Improved.

William H. Crane, the actor who has been recuperating in Kissingen with his wife, returned last night by the White Star liner Baltic, declaring that he felt in better shape than he had in years.

He will appear in a revision of 'The Henrietta,' called 'The New Henrietta,' written by Winchell Smith and Victor Mapes. The play has been brought up to date, Mr. Crane said.

While in England Mr. Crane was asked by theatrical firms to take part of a 'strong English character,' but declined to do so because he said he was incapable, as an old time American, of imitating the English method of speech.

He disputes the declaration of some other actors that there was a dearth of good plays in England. He said there were some particularly good plays there and that they were chiefly of American make.

FORBES-ROBERTSONS ARRIVE.

Here for Farewell Tour That Will Last Until Spring.

Sir, Johnstone Forbes-Robertson and Lady Forbes-Robertson (Gertrude Elliott) arrived yesterday for their 'farewell tour' of the United States and Canada. They will appear first at the new Shubert Theatre in Forty-fourth street on Thursday in 'Hamlet.'

The actor asserted that his tour, which will last until spring, was really a farewell tour, that there had been a tremendous advance in theatrical art and in the life of America since he first came to New York with Mary Anderson twenty-five years ago.

His dramatic work will appear in eight plays: 'Hamlet,' 'Mice and Men,' 'The Light That Failed,' 'Bernard Shaw's 'Caesar and Cleopatra,' 'The Merchant of Venice,' 'Othello,' 'The Taming of the Shrew,' 'The Merry Wives of Windsor,' 'The Sacrifice of Judas.'

Sir Johnstone and Lady Forbes-Robertson occupied the last night at the guests of E. H. Sothorn and Julia Marlowe in the Manhattan Opera House at the performance of 'Much Ado About Nothing.' They visited Mr. Sothorn and Miss Marlowe on the stage at the end of the play.

$1,000,000 IN ART COMES HERE.

Louis Halston Brings Valuable Paintings on the Mauretania.

Louis Halston, art dealer, who arrived yesterday by the Cunarder Mauretania, brought a collection of very valuable paintings with him. The others, about 100, are coming over by other liners.

Mr. Halston said that one of the paintings, 'Romney,' which arrived with him, is worth $100,000 and the whole collection was valued at more than a million dollars. The paintings will be exhibited here.

MEDAL FROM MRS. SPEYER.

To Be Given for the Best Cared for Police Saddle Horse.

Mrs. James Speyer, president of the New York Woman's League for Animals, has offered a gold medal for the best cared for saddle horse in the Police Department. She hopes to foster kindly feeling toward the horses used by the mounted police.

The medal will be presented early in December. There are 432 saddle horses in the Police Department. Mrs. Speyer's committee consists of Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. C. C. Cuyler, Police Inspectors Thomas Myers and John O'Brien, T. Harry Shanton, superintendent of the Veterinary Bureau, and George F. H. Wright. Physical condition will count 50 per cent., training 40 and saddle, harness and adjustments 10.

MEN ANTIS MEET.

Will Begin Statewide Move Against Votes for Women.

The first meeting of the New York State Men's Association for Opposed to Political Suffrage for Women was held last night in Acme Hall, Seventh avenue and Ninth street, Brooklyn. Everett P. Wheeler, John A. Tamm, Miss Caroline Rowe and Miss Alice Hill Childers were the speakers.

John C. Kelley, vice-chairman of the association, said after the meeting that he expected to see a large number of men at the meeting of the State to be financed by Herbert L. Satterlee.

Mr. Satterlee said last night that he was compelled to make a contribution to an anti-suffrage campaign.

"I am opposed to woman suffrage," he said, "but that I am financing an anti-suffrage campaign is an exaggeration. I am simply a member of the executive committee of the Men's Anti-Suffrage League."

ALIMONY CLUB CONCERT IN JAIL.

Skolnik, Accused of Dogging, Will Plead for Imprisoned Husbands.

Gregor Skolnik, concertmaster of the Chicago Opera Company, who is locked in Ludlow street jail with his wife, will give a concert this Sunday morning at 11 A. M. This was announced yesterday by Sheriff Harburger. Skolnik was locked up on Friday on the affidavit of his wife, Mrs. Clara Skolnik, who claims that he is about to leave for Chicago for an opera engagement all winter and that she couldn't collect any alimony in a suit she had brought for separation unless he was compelled to give a bond.

As Skolnik took his violin to Ludlow street with him the Sheriff persuaded him to agree to entertain the other twenty-two members of the Alimony Club to-morrow.

Notes of the Social World.

The wedding of Miss Laura Pelton Hazard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hazard, to Frederic Rhineland Brown of this city will take place at noon in St. John's Church, Park Rockaway. A wedding breakfast will follow at Meadow Hill, the country place of the bride. The country place of the bride is in the town of Rockaway, N. Y. The bride will leave on the 11:09 train from the Pennsylvania station and will return after the reception and breakfast. A polo match for the Cupit cup will be played on the grounds of the Rockaway Hunting Club immediately after the reception.

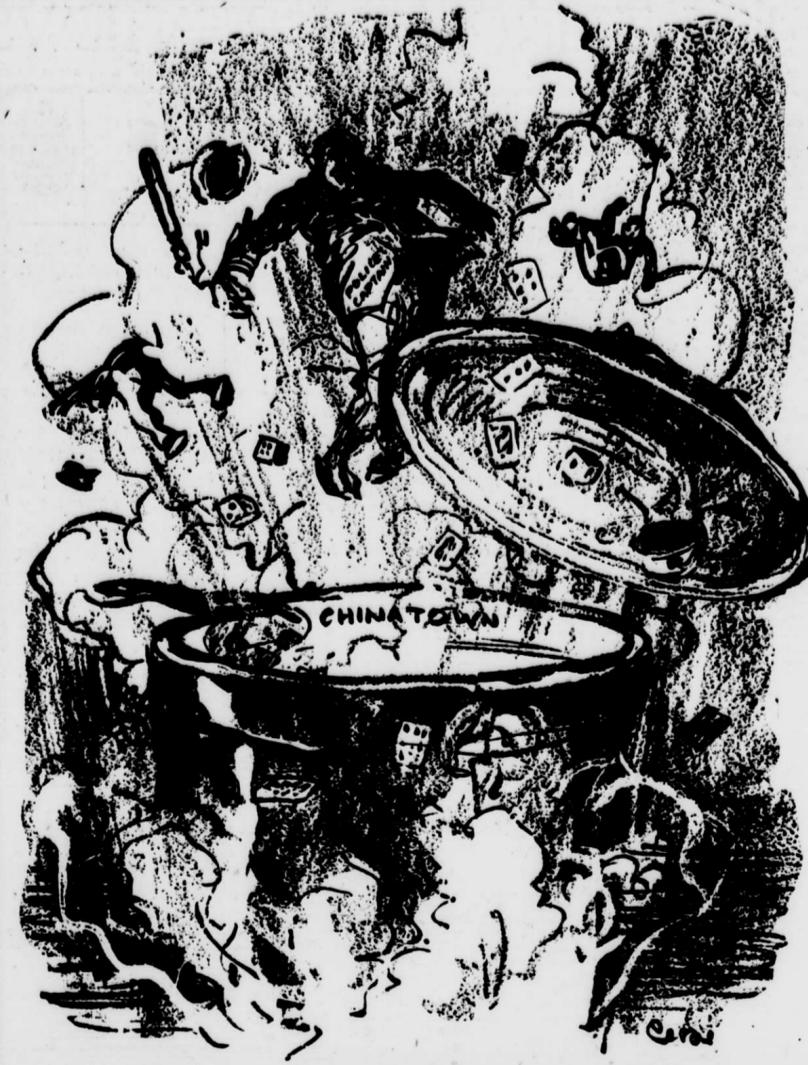

In Christ Church, Greenwich, Conn., today Miss Madeleine Hayward Smith, daughter of Dock Commissioner R. A. C. Smith and Mrs. Smith, will be married to Irving Williams Day of this city. After the ceremony there will be a reception at the home of Mrs. Smith. Guests from New York will leave by a special train from the Grand Central Station at 10:55.

Mrs. Charles Tompkins Crocker gave a dinner last night at the St. Regis for her daughter and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Irwin, who are here from California for a brief visit.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Maitland Alexander, who have been passing the summer at their country place in Bar Harbor, are at the St. Regis before going to their home in Florida.

Mrs. Frederick Nelson, who passed the greater part of the summer in Europe, has returned here in the Plaza. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Helen Nelson, who was abroad during the summer, returned yesterday on the Mauretania and will be playing on the Mauretania and in the Plaza.

OSCAR DEFIES METROPOLITAN. Ready to Give Opera at 14th Manhattan in November.

Although Oscar Hammerstein has not made up his mind definitely it is believed that there will be a season of two or three weeks of opera by his new American Grand Opera Company at his Manhattan Grand Opera House in November. This will be no preliminary season of three weeks, as the Metropolitan Opera House has been booked in the Manhattan Opera House without Mr. Hammerstein's consent.

The Chicago Grand Opera Company is looking for two dates in November, but Hammerstein declined to give his consent.

The contract between the Metropolitan Opera Company and Mr. Hammerstein provided that the Manhattan Opera House was not to be used for grand opera for five years.

"I will give grand opera on November 10 as I promised," said Oscar Hammerstein yesterday. "It may be I will give it on the roof garden over the Victoria Theatre, but that isn't probable, and I feel sure that the Metropolitan company does not want to close its books. Besides, its charter provides that it should not buy good will, but it bought mine and did nothing with it. Now I'll have it back."

Plays and Players. 'Miss Caprice' is the new name for the musical comedy now playing at the Casino as 'Lieber Augustin.' The prize of $50 offered for the name was won by Miss Freda Tencer of 928 Southview Boulevard. This is said to be the first time that the title of a theatrical production has been changed during its run.

FORD FUNERAL TO-DAY.

Irish Societies Will Pay Last Honor to Dead Leader.

Patrick Ford, one of the leaders of the Irish home rule movement, who died on Tuesday, will be buried this morning from St. John's Church, Clermont avenue, Brooklyn. The service, which will be in charge of the Rev. P. Cunniffe, will begin at 10 o'clock.

The pallbearers will be John D. Crimmins, Michael J. Ryan, president of the Irish League, Thomas D. Fitzpatrick of Boston, Michael J. Gordon, national secretary of the United Irish League; James S. Clarkson, formerly Surveyor of the Port of New York, Thomas Addie Emmet, grand nephew of Robert Emmet; Patrick Egan, formerly United States Minister to Chile, and Capt. Edward O'Meara, Condon. Representatives of most of the Irish American societies will be present.

Bishop McFall will attend the service, but has been ill lately and will not be the celebrant. He will be in charge of the funeral at St. Brendan's church, expressing his regret at Patrick Ford's death and praising him for his labors in behalf of Ireland.

HARRY G. PELISSIER DEAD.

Founder of 'Follies' Troupe and Well Known Entertainer.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Harry Gabriel Pellissier, formerly one of the best known popular entertainers in London, died here to-day. He was a composer, a humorist and an excellent actor, and was very popular.

He was the founder of "The Follies" troupe, which first presented a new form of entertainment which took the theatrical public by storm. Of late his musical reviews had been failing in quality, and he had recently announced that he had completely broken down, suffering from creeping paralysis.

He was born in 1874, son of an English mother and a French father, who was a descendant of the famous French marshal of the family name. Pellissier wrote several light plays when a young man. These were successful, and later he organized his famous troupe. One of his best pieces was a burlesque of a Wagner opera.

John William McKnight.

LATE FATHER M'GLYNN HONORED

Seventy-sixth Anniversary of Noted Priest's Birth Celebrated.

Friends of the late Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn, pastor of St. Stephen's Roman Catholic Church, in Twenty-eighth street, who was at one time president of the Anti-Poverty Society and an ardent advocate of the doctrine of Father George, met at the Murray Hill Lyceum last night to celebrate the seventy-sixth anniversary of his birth.

The McGlynn Monument Association, which is gathering a fund to erect a statue in his honor some place in the city, arranged the celebration last night. Two life size busts of Dr. McGlynn were exhibited. One will be used in the monument. The statue, when finished, will cost upward of $10,000.

Sylvester L. Malone, president of the monument association, in an address last night said that the Progressive movement in this country had its origin in the teachings of Dr. McGlynn and Henry George.

James MacGregor also spoke of the achievements of Father McGlynn.

HINTS AT WIDE PLAN TO SWINDLE HEIRS

J. R. Kettner Admits He Was Fraudulently Appointed Administrator.

LARGE SUMS INVOLVED

Head of Estates Liquidation Corporation Named in Scheme.

An affidavit filed in the Surrogate's Court yesterday by James R. Kettner of 16 Tillary street, Brooklyn, in which he asked to have revoked letters of administration granted to him on the estate of John Crowley, brought to light an alleged wholesale plan to swindle the real heirs to estates, in which the Estates Liquidation Corporation of 302 Broadway and its head, Edwin Elliott Trautwein, were named.

Trautwein is a special deputy sheriff and he was raised not long ago by Sheriff Harburger for pursuing and capturing a chauffeur who fled after his car ran over a man, but his financial operations have been called to the attention of the authorities several times.

Kettner's alleged dealings with Trautwein and the circumstances under which he is said to have made a false claim of heirship to the Crowley estate is that in August or September, 1912, he was requested by John Harrison, whose Trautwein was deemed to be the heir, to sign a petition to be appointed administrator of the estate of John Harrison, who also an administrator's bond, and told him Harrison would make it right with him.

"I signed the papers just as he prepared them, and shortly thereafter a check was shown to me drawn by the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank on some bank for $2,150, and Trautwein requested me to endorse the same, which I did," said Kettner.

"I delivered the check duly indorsed by me with the name of Jeremiah C. Crowley, administrator, and handed it to Trautwein, who was collecting the check, but I am informed that Trautwein collected the proceeds of the check and deposited the money to his personal account. I received no money from Harrison, signing affidavits and the bond three days after the check was collected."

Kettner said he was not related to the late John Crowley in any way, and that he had never lived in Port Jefferson, L. I., as he swore in the affidavit and that all his statements were known to him to be false when he made them. Upon this Kettner suggested that Trautwein order directing the real heirs of Crowley to show cause why Kettner should not be removed as executor.

Surety Company to Investigate.

It was said yesterday that the National Surety Company has begun an investigation into the manner in which Trautwein handled the following estates for which the surety company gave administrators' bonds: David Fitzhugh, Jr., William J. Jenkins, John Bicklow, Hannah Hourigan, Mary McDonald, Benjamin Kershaw, James Haggerty, Morris B. Reynolds, Christian Wendell, Margaret Lowery, Ellen Plume, Arthur C. Hamilton, Hoffman, Jennie Nelson, James Nelson, Robert Riddle and Eric Wynko.

All of these estates were originally in the hands of John Harrison, administrator, but the Estates Liquidation Corporation held them by presenting alleged affidavits of next of kin. In the estate of James Haggerty it was learned that the British Consul has begun an inquiry to find out how Trautwein got into the proceedings.

The contents of Trautwein's office at 302 Broadway was removed yesterday on a dispossession order. He has been arrested several times as a result of his financial transactions.
