

CHEAP CHILE ORE FOR STEEL TRUST RIVALS

Bothlehem Vice-Presidents Describe Vast Reserve in Other Lands.

SUBMARINE MINES TOO

One Witness at Government Inquiry Tells of Competition in Texas.

Two vice-presidents of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation told yesterday of iron ore reserves sufficient for sixty years supply that the company recently acquired near the coast of Chile. This, they said, could be mined and shipped to the South American furnaces cheaper than ore could be obtained from the Lake Superior district, where it has been shown, the United States Steel Corporation controls a large part of the iron field. This testimony came out in the hearing at the United States Steel Corporation's office, 71 Broadway, in the Government's dissolution suit against the corporation.

The witnesses were called by the defense. Charles Austin Buck, one of the Bethlehem company's vice-presidents, said that his company used between 1,200,000 and 1,300,000 tons of iron ore a year. He said that next to the supply came from Cuba, where the company got 100,000 tons a year, part from the Kiruna mine in northern Sweden, where they got 100,000 tons a year, and that the rest was obtained in this country from the Lake Superior district and from the Adirondacks.

As to the Bethlehem Corporation's future supply, the witness said it would come from the Tota mine in Chile, near Combarba, about four miles from the coast. This mine was acquired by the Bethlehem company within the last six months, he continued. It has 60,000 tons in sight with no development work.

One Sticking Out of Ground. "This rich ore is sticking out of the ground on a conical hill unenclosed by earth," he said. "We believe there is 150,000,000 tons on the property. We intend to bring it through the Panama Canal to Philadelphia and will operate our own boat line for this purpose."

He said that preparations were being made to ship 1,500,000 tons of ore a year through the canal. "We estimate that we can deliver this exceptionally high grade ore very much cheaper into Bethlehem than those foreign ore beds than we can any of the Lake Superior ore," he added.

Henry S. Snyder, another vice-president of the Bethlehem company and president of several of its subsidiaries, was called to substantiate Mr. Buck's testimony. He estimated that there was 3,200,000,000 tons of iron ore reserve on the north coast of Cuba, that the Bethlehem company owned 750,000 tons of it and that the Steel Corporation owned only 200,000,000 tons. He said that the Bethlehem company would be bringing its ore from the new mine in Chile within two years, and that the company would have there to last the company about sixty years.

Edward S. Hughes, who conducts a large hardware business at Abilene, Tex., was put on the stand by the Steel Corporation to show that there is keen competition in the sale of steel products in that State. In answer to the direct questions of the Steel Corporation's attorneys he said he thought there was competition in his territory.

Tells of Submarine Mines.

The last witness yesterday was Edwin E. Ellis of Birmingham, Ala., a geologist formerly with the United States Geological Survey and now with the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company. He was asked about the submarine iron mines which are being operated near Belle Island in the Conception Bay district. He said that some of these workings have a 7,500 foot shaft, and that claims have been taken as far as twelve miles out from shore and that it is planned to operate shafts of that length. The mines are underneath Conception Bay. He estimated the reserve there at 2,250,000,000 tons.

Edwin E. Ellis will take the stand for cross-examination when the hearing opens again this morning. The next witness will be Edwin C. Ebel, former chief of the bureau of iron ore of the United States Geological Survey.

AERO SQUADRON FOR N. Y. N. G.

Mortimer Delano Organizing First State Aviation Corps of the Country.

A volunteer aviation squadron has been organized under the auspices of the Aero Club of America with the hope of being amalgamated eventually with the National Guard of New York. It is the first volunteer military organization of its kind in the State and it is expected that similar aero squadrons will be organized in other States.

Major-General John F. O'Ryan of the National Guard has approved the idea, but the details have not been decided by the National Guard authorities. It is expected that the members of the volunteer aviation squadron will make application for commissions in the guard.

The work of organizing the squadron has been under the direction of Mortimer Delano, secretary of the Aero Club of America, who has been elected Lieutenant-Colonel. The most prominent aviators in the country have joined. Mr. Delano believes that every city in the State eventually will have an aviation squadron. Each squadron will consist of two companies commanded by a Captain, with four Lieutenants, with eight mechanics and forty enlisted men, with eight aeroplanes.

Beckwith Haverly, who has had an active charge of the squadron with the rank of Major, Company A, is commanded by Capt. William Bouldin 3d and Company B by Capt. Kendall Banning, both of whom have had practical military experience.

FEDERAL SUGAR OFF LIST.

Governors of Stock Exchange Act Upon Infraction of Rules.

The governors of the Stock-Exchange stock of the Federal Sugar Refining Company from the exchange's list yesterday. The action followed the refusal of the company to comply with the exchange's ruling that any company whose securities were listed on the exchange must submit at least once a year to its stockholders a statement of income and balance sheet.

The exchange has made several attempts to persuade Claus A. Spreckels, who is head of the company and owns a large part of the stock, to comply, but to no avail. A few weeks ago the governors gave the company a limited time to comply, and at the annual meeting of the Federal Sugar stockholders it was voted not to present an annual income account.

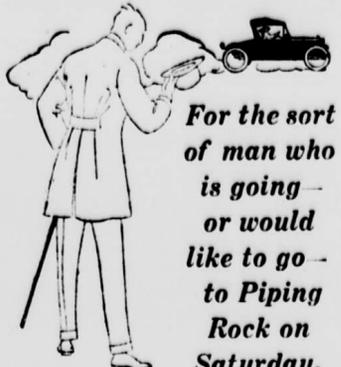

Sondergan Made a Captain.

Police Commissioner Waldo promoted Capt. John Sondergan to be a captain yesterday and to the Richmond Hill station, Brooklyn, to fill the vacancy left by the retirement of Capt. John Dulfer.

RUGS from the Orient at Typical Macy SAVINGS

A SUPERB COLLECTION, direct from the Macy headquarters in Constantinople, where our representatives, resident there the year round, select and ship us the cream of all that enters the native market.

Every Rug is perfect in weave, coloring and design. The colorings in particular (of vegetable, not mineral, dyes) are of rare beauty, and run the gamut in tone from the pale sapphire of the Eastern dawn to the rich glow of the fading sun on the desert.

The sentimental and romantic value of Oriental Rugs does not affect their price at Macy's. They are treated as merchandise and priced at a fixed and very moderate profit over their actual cost to us. Prices are by far "Lowest-in-the-City." Fourth Floor, Broadway.

Sarouk Carpets. Deep shades of brown and tan, rose, ivory and various other colors harmoniously blended, fine as the Royal Kashan and with a lustre almost as fine as a silk Rug. Sizes from 9 ft. 4 in. x 6 ft. 9 in., at $252.00, to 12 ft. 8 in. x 8 ft. 10 in., at $376.00. Prices elsewhere would be $325.00 to $450.00.

Tabriz Carpets. An unusual kind. Closely woven, fine in texture, beautiful in design and color. Sizes run from 8 ft. 5 in. x 5 ft. 4 in., at $126.00, to 14 ft. 10 in. x 10 ft. 8 in., at $382.00. Prices elsewhere would be $175.00 to $450.00.

Oriental Rugs in the Smaller Sizes. Hundreds of these small size Rugs have been arriving constantly and we are showing to-day excellent assortments of Sarouks, Kirmanshahs, Kazaks, Kurdistans, Fereghans, Mossouls, Daghestans, Cabistans, Serabens, Beloghistans, Karabags, etc., in fact nearly every conceivable kind of Oriental Rug is found in the Macy collection, both modern and antique.

500 GREEN COPS TO GUARD TENDERLOIN

Waldo Decides to Sweep Out All Old Timers and Put in Recruits.

MOVE IS UNPRECEDENTED

New Men Will Be Free From Old Time Influences in Graft Centre.

Police Commissioner Waldo has decided to uproot and transplant the old police force of the upper West Side-Tenderloin. By Saturday, Manhattan from Forty-second street to 140th street on the West Side will be policed by brand new men, young, intelligent and splendidly trained recruits, they are called, that have just been turned out of the police school. The new men will be followed by captains, lieutenants and sergeants who have been so trained by the Commissioner as to gain his confidence.

The plan announced by the Commissioner yesterday is the most important and interesting police experiment in years. It has a double purpose, first to give the West Side of Manhattan a model force of young men with good ideals and free from dangerous associations and influences; second, to increase the force in The Bronx, in Brooklyn and in Queens by 500 men, the 500 that will be taken from the Tenderloin.

A third purpose is really served by giving the 500 old men a change to work somewhere near their homes. At least 400 had already made application to be removed to duty in precincts where they lived or within easy reaching distance of these precincts. So they get their wish as an incident of the Commissioner's more far-reaching scheme.

Mr. Waldo, in giving out the details of the wholesale transfer, was enthusiastic and confident. "I shall appoint within a few days eighty sergeants, from whom enough will be drafted to offer the recruits. There will be also some new lieutenants in the reconstructed West Side force, not newly appointed men, but men from other districts who have proved their worth and reliability. Probably I shall not disturb the present captains in the Fourth Inspection District. They are men appointed by myself and so far they have measured up to what I require. Inspector John P. Dwyer, the present commander of the district, will remain in charge."

The new model policemen for the upper West Side Tenderloins will be assigned of the Tenderloins. The task of the new model force will be difficult because the new men will have to keep under control numerous gangs of toughs that move between Forty-second street and 140th street. They will have the job of keeping San Juan Hill quiet and they will also be obliged to keep tabs on the scores of "slick workers," such as confidence men, wire tappers and swindlers of various sorts that prowl for victims in some parts of the Tenderloins. However, Commissioner Waldo thinks they will make good under the direction of an honest and efficient inspector and under the leadership of honest and efficient captains.

FEW OPPOSE FINLEY DINNER. Wilson Asked to Attend Farewell to City College Head.

Lewis S. Burhard, president of the alumni association of the College of the City of New York, who has charge of the arrangements for a dinner to Dr. John H. Finley, retiring president, said yesterday that only objections to the dinner came from four of the members. He explained that with the exception of these four the entire alumni of the college are enthusiastic over the question of a retiring farewell dinner to Dr. Finley.
