

WOMAN WHIPS PEER; THINKS HIM ASQUITH

Militant Attacks Lord Weardeale, but He Escapes Without Serious Injury.

W.S.P.U. SAYS MAGNIFICENT

Mrs. Dacre-Fox Declares All Who Resemble Premier Should Take Care.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Feb. 18.—Mistaking Baron Weardeale for Premier Asquith, a militant suffragette attacked the Baron, who is 66 years of age, with a dog whip as he was walking with his wife on a platform of Euston station to-day.

The suffragette was arrested. She refused to give her name when she was arraigned in the Clerkenwell police court, but the police discovered that she is Mary Lindsay, 24 years old, a native of London. The detective who arrested her said the woman told him she did not mean to harm Lord Weardeale, but thought she was giving Premier Asquith a good thrashing.

Members of the Women's Social and Political Union were jubilant when news of the affair reached the offices of the suffrage organization. Mrs. Dacre-Fox expressed the opinion that the act of a husky girl felling an old man, after a surprise rush from behind, was "magnificent."

"It is unfortunate," she added, "that Miss Lindsay made a mistake about the man, but everybody who has the misfortune to resemble Premier Asquith must take the chance of being assaulted."

Lord Weardeale and his wife were members of a party of some 200 guests at the wedding of the Hon. Sidney Peel, son of Viscount Peel and Lady Della Spencer, daughter of Earl Spencer, who were waiting for a train for Althorp Park, Northampton, to attend the wedding.

Lord Weardeale said that the woman was a stranger to him. He suggested as a possible explanation for the assault the fact that he is a joint president of the Anti-Suffrage Society with Lord Curzon of Kedleston.

Lord Weardeale visited New York in May of last year as chairman of the Anglo-American Peace Conference.

FITZHENRY SALE BEGINS.

Palace and Porcelains Are Displayed On the First Day.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. PARIS, Feb. 18.—The sale of the Fitzhenry art collection commenced to-day. The total for the day was 28,967 francs (45,813) of which total eighty-three lots of valence brought 29,790 francs (44,158). The highest price for a piece of valence was 2,225 francs ($442).

Most of the articles in this collection had been lent previously to the Museum of Decorative Arts here. The collector was a friend of the late J. Pierpont Morgan. Semour de Ricci, the art critic, writing about the collector in Qua to-day, says:

"He was a fine old man. He was not universally popular because he used his immense influence over Mr. Morgan by judiciously ordering millions of francs worth of object d'art from one antiquary and bootlegger of others. Whatever may be said against his character, however, nothing may be said against his taste. He was perfectly at home on every floor of the vast Museum of Decorative Arts, where many an exhibit gives evidence of his generosity."

MRS. CAMPBELL WITH TREE.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Feb. 18.—It has been announced here that the next production to be staged by Sir Herbert Tree is "Pygmalion," with Sir Herbert in the title role and Mrs. Pat Campbell playing the part of Gelsa.

The play, which is in five acts, is by a man described emphatically as a "Fellow of the Royal Society of Literature." Curiosity regarding the name of the playwright is satisfied no further.

Some newspapers say this morning that "Pygmalion" is Bernard Shaw's comedy which, although successful in Berlin and Vienna, has not yet been presented in London.

MORE DELAY IN PALLANDT CASE.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Feb. 18.—The third postponement of the hearing of the suit of Prof. Ernest V. Appleby, formerly of the University of Minnesota, against the Baroness de Pallandt, formerly May Dugas of Michigan, was granted to-day on the strength of a certificate from a physician that the Baroness is still ill.

MAN WHO EXPOSED AZEFF MUST ANSWER CHARGES

Bourtzeff, Russian Revolutionist, Summoned to Paris Court.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. PARIS, Feb. 18.—Vladimir Bourtzeff, the Russian revolutionist who exposed the real role of the notorious spy Azeff, who posed as a revolutionist for the purpose of denouncing members of that organization to the Russian authorities, has been summoned before the Correctional Court here to answer charges brought by Poznansky, whom Bourtzeff denounced as an agent provocateur in his revelations of Azeff's methods.

Bourtzeff has devoted all his life to the unmasking of agents of the Czar, who pose as friends of the revolutionary party, and although he had to contend with immense difficulties and even with the incredulity of many of the real revolutionists who refused to believe trusted comrades guilty of treachery, he exposed scores of the most active agents of the "Third Section."

The revolutionary party hears such charges before a "court" and none is condemned without unmistakable proof. It has been the boast of Bourtzeff that he has never failed to prove his assertions. When a man is found guilty by the revolutionary tribunal the fact is made known to all the members of the party and no secret is made of the fact that death is the sentence.

The lawyers for the defence at the opening of the trial in the Correctional Court to-day demanded that Poznansky appear personally. Poznansky is now in Russia. The request was granted by the court and the case was postponed until April 1.

LINERS COLLIDE IN NAPLES BAY.

The Celtic and the Madonna Both Damaged—None on Board Hurt.

NAPLES, Feb. 18.—The steamship Celtic of the White Star Line and the Madonna of the Fabre Line were in collision in the Bay of Naples to-day. The bow of the Madonna, much the smaller ship, was damaged considerably above the water line, and one of her anchor chains was broken. The Celtic likewise suffered some damage above the water line.

The Madonna was to have left to-day for New York with a large number of immigrants in her steerage. She has been docked for repairs. The Celtic also is bound westward.

There was no passenger list of the Celtic available at the White Star Line offices yesterday. It was said that since the westbound traffic is light at this time of the year there probably were few passengers. The Madonna, according to the New York agents of the line, had about 1,400 passengers aboard, chiefly in the steerage.

GERMAN TROOPS SUPREME.

Reichstag Can't Prevent Their Intervention in Civil Matters.

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—The Reichstag was informed to-day by a member of the Imperial Government that it was not within the power of the Reichstag to prohibit the intervention of troops in civil matters without a requisition or to forbid the use of arms by troops except in case of self-defence or to overcome actual physical resistance. The Government's position, as explained by its representative, was that such a measure could be effected only as a Constitutional amendment. He added that the Government would not consent to a Constitutional amendment embodying these restrictions.

The Government's statement was made in connection with the bill introduced in the Reichstag on January 24, which was intended to prevent a recurrence of such affairs as the Zabern scandal.

CHANCELLOR OF EXCHEQUER FORCED TO REMAIN IN BED.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Feb. 18.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George is suffering from an attack of influenza and has been forced to remain in bed.

THE TIMES RETURNS TO THE ATTACK ON MR. LLOYD GEORGE THIS MORNING.

Referring to his refusal in the course of the debate in the House of Commons to assent to the proposal for a royal commission to inquire into the land question, it says:

"We are not particularly enamoured of a royal commission, which is a ponderous and often futile instrument. But in the present case it was proposed in order to correct the biased and generally unsatisfactory character of Lloyd George's partisan committee. There is therefore something honorably impudent in his reply that a royal commission would not be impartial. It could be just as impartial as the Government wished. The real objection to the scheme of course was that it would be public."

HAWTHORNE'S STORY PUT MAN IN BLACK HOLE

Penalty for Having Paper in Atlanta—Ex-Convict to Tell Story to Melvynolds.

ATLANTA, Feb. 18.—Specific instances of cruelty to Federal prisoners in the Atlanta penitentiary under Warden Cameron were related to-day by Robert Cameron, a discharged inmate, who is taking his data to Attorney-General Melvynolds in Washington. He said that Julian Hawthorne, one of the best known writers in the world, is in the black hole.

"There is a young fellow named Nichols who was thrown into one of the black holes," said Cameron. "His offense was the finding and circulating of a copy of a paper containing Julian Hawthorne's first article."

"A prisoner named Kennedy, who has been beaten with a blackjack and kept in the black hole for several days, was subject to epileptic fits many times during the night. I have heard him groaning, heard him fall off his bunk to the floor and then later heard him stirring about as he regained consciousness."

"Now that Kennedy practically has served his time a Dr. Green at the prison has discovered that Kennedy is insane and an epileptic. Though insane, Kennedy is in the black hole."

"Joe Petrello was talking to a woman visitor about the prison. He criticized conditions there. A guard named Covington overheard what Petrello said and when the visitor left Petrello was taken to the 'hole'—and the 'hole' let me tell you, is all the horror it has been pictured."

"Sam Moore is in the 'hole' to-day waiting to be transported to the insane asylum. The prison officials have adjudged Moore insane. He's no more insane than you are. The trouble with Moore is that he knows too much about conditions in that penitentiary."

REPORT ON RHODES SCHOLARS.

Americans Holding Their Position Everywhere Except in Classics.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Feb. 18.—The annual statement of the Rhodes scholarship Trust for 1913, which has just been issued, shows that the Rhodes scholars are holding their own at Oxford in all subjects except the classics, in which branch only one first class was obtained, the winner being an American from the Pacific coast.

On the other hand, out of a total of seven awards made by Rhodes scholars in jurisprudence there were five firsts. Two Americans got the diplomas in economics and "with distinction."

The proportion of university prizes won by Americans was larger than in past years. Of the 431 scholars who have left the university only eleven have taken up work in England, thus dissipating the original fear that this country would absorb many of them.

Herrn Heineken and Ballin Are in London for Opening.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Feb. 18.—Philip Heineken, managing director of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, arrived here to-day for the conference on the north Atlantic steamship pool. Herr Ballin of the Hamburg-American Line arrived this evening.

Herr Heineken was busy all day talking over matters with the London officials of the company. These as well as officials of the Hamburg-American and other lines refused to comment on the matters discussed. The conference is designed to find a way to end the rate war which started when the pool agreement was denounced at the beginning of the year.

It is understood that the conference will not be held to-morrow and that it has been postponed until Monday next in deference to the wishes of the representatives of the Continental lines.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. TOKYO, Feb. 18.—It is announced that a prominent British firm of shipbuilders was the victim of the system which led to charges of corruption against Vice-Admiral Fujii, subdirector of the general staff of the navy. These charges grew out of the trial of the representative here of the German armament firm of Siemens & Schuckert for having paid commissions to officers of the Japanese navy for aid in getting contracts for his firm.

The principal charge refers to the awarding of an aerograph contract to the German firm at $375,000 when a British firm made a bid of $550,000. The residences of several officials here are being searched.
