

BURNS HAS NO PROOF CONLEY IS A CRIMINAL

Believes Evidence at First Trial Will Convict Negro and Free Frank.

JUDGE STOPS HIS TALKING

Detective Tells of Crowd Chasing Him, Yelling "Lynch Him" and "Get Him"

ATLANTA, May 2.—Detective W. J. Burns was questioned for more than an hour to-day in regard to his connection with the Frank case by Solicitor-General Hugh Dorsey...

Burns testified that he had not seen the negro Conley, believing it useless in view of the restrictions placed on any proposed visit.

The detective admitted that he had concluded Frank was not a pervert after a few hours conversation, and said that subsequent interviews had strengthened that impression.

All Burns's Evidence In.—The Solicitor brought out that all the evidence discovered by Burns or his agents is either now a part of the record or is in the hands of attorneys for the defense.

Burns said that so far as he knows the defense has no witnesses whose testimony has not been injected into the case.

Burns was questioned in regard to the alleged perjured affidavits submitted by the defense, especially the one made by the Rev. C. B. Ragdale.

"If you had no part in the Ragdale matter and did not turn up the Maude Carter letters will you please tell the court one thing that you have done in this investigation?"

Burns replied that he had gone thoroughly over the briefs of evidence, that he had visited the National Pencil factory, where Mary Phagan was murdered, and had visited the solicitor in his office.

"I made a report to my clients," said Burns. "In which I told them that they did not need any evidence aside from that which was submitted at the first trial; that this showed beyond a doubt that Conley was the man guilty of the crime."

"During your investigation what criminal act did you ever discover that Conley had committed?" asked Dorsey.

"I don't know that I have discovered any except as to his general character," replied Burns.

By cross-examination Attorney Arnold brought out the statement from the detective that he had been blocked in his work here in a "most outrageous manner."

"I am not going to allow this witness to answer any questions which reflect upon the verdict of the jury or the decision of the Supreme Court of Georgia," said Dorsey.

"It was in Marietta with Lebon yesterday morning, when Dan Lebon, Burns's assistant, will take the stand."

Burns said to-day that the trouble he had with citizens of Marietta yesterday afternoon was one of the most outrageous affairs of which he had ever heard.

"It was a cowardly and unprovoked assault," said Burns. "I am surprised that such a thing could have happened in this enlightened State. I did nothing whatever that I should have been chased by a mob and insulted with the vilest of outbursts."

"I stayed in the hotel about an hour and a half when Judge Morris and Deputy Sheriff Hicks came up and helped me get out of the town."

WOMEN CHANT TRIUMPH IN 'SUFFRAGE DAY' CELEBRATION

Mass Meetings and Fetes Here and in All Other Parts of Country.

It was Suffrage day throughout the country yesterday. Women everywhere celebrated their victory in obtaining the right to vote in some of the States and told of their determination to win similar victories in the States which thus far have excluded them from the ballot.

Mass Meetings and Fetes Here.—A mass meeting was held in Carnegie Hall last night at which the foremost advocates of woman suffrage and Mayor Mitchell spoke.

'VOTES' PARADE IN AUTOS.

Even the weather man wore a "Votes for Women" badge yesterday, and he hung out yellow streamers of sunlight that attracted people to Fifth avenue and the parks by thousands.

The fifty-one cars of the Woman's Political Union, each bearing its purple, white and green banner and number of an Assembly district, went to Washington Square at 12:30, where they were joined by fifty yellow cars from the Woman Suffrage party and the New York State Association, six draped in the blue of the Equal Franchise, two from Mrs. Belmont's Political Equality Association and one each from the Men's League and the William Lloyd Garrison Association.

The square had been divided in advance among the organizations and speakers were soon addressing crowds. Mrs. Norman Whitehouse, who made her maiden speech in four and trembling less than six months ago, spoke for nearly an hour to a large gathering.

The real start was delayed by the fact that just as Miss Rose Sanderman sounded her bugle a funeral passed under the arch. The cars in the square waited for it, but those in the side streets went on, so the line was divided. About 100 went together and were greeted with enthusiasm by the crowds.

When Miss Helen Todd asked if her hearers wouldn't like to go to Petaluma, Cal., and see the chicken ranches he said he would. "Carnegie," he shouted, when Mrs. John Rogers asked who furnished the money to defeat suffrage in Michigan.

Forty-two women in nine automobiles, led by Mrs. William G. Wilcox, started from St. George yesterday afternoon and drove along the south shore of Staten Island, waving banners, distributing "literature" and making speeches on equal suffrage. They stopped at Tottenville, made more speeches, and then returned to St. George for dinner.

MAYOR GREET'S SUFFRAGISTS.

His Speech Proves Disappointing to Women at Carnegie Hall. Mayor Mitchell made his first appearance on a suffrage platform at Carnegie Hall last night.

"I don't take time to answer it," she added. "I shall introduce Miss Josephine Casey out of her proper order to give him the working girl's point of view."

The Mayor's speech was short. He bowed to the audience, which rose as he came forward, and began. "New York is not an equal suffrage State, but it is second to none in its recognition of the rights of women and their importance in public affairs."

Three automobiles containing men and women speakers and a golden goddess of Liberty stopped in front of the Maine monument as a vantage point, but were turned back by the police, who asked for permits.

"Do you mean to discriminate between this dog and our Goddess of Liberty?" she asked, whereupon the policemen admitted defeat by their silence and the Goddess took her stand.

"Suspend Jack" Among Orators. Across the driveway from the monument was an automobile containing Miss Maria Murphy, Miss Frances Peters, Dr. Mary Halton and Miss Mary Austin.

On the other side of the Circle, where the pedestrians were more numerous, were Mrs. M. B. Guilford, Mr. B. W. Huelbsch, the publisher, and Mrs. Thomas Stalk, all pleading for the vote in 1915.

A check for $2,500 drawn by the treasurer of the Union Theological Seminary enabled Prof. William Walker Rockwell of the Department of Church History to carry out plans for going abroad yesterday on the Vanderland. The check was drawn after an order of arrest for Prof. Rockwell, signed by Supreme Court Justice Davis, had been served on the professor in his rooms at the seminary, 120th street and Broadway.

The order was granted in a suit for $5,000 damages for malicious prosecution filed in the Supreme Court against Prof. Rockwell by Louis Solomon, salesman in an art store at 1205 Amsterdam avenue, near 120th street, which is patronized by Columbia University students.

PREFERRED PULPIT TO CELL.

So Pastor Huckless Paid Overdue Judgment for Slander.

For a few minutes yesterday it was a question whether the Rev. Marcellus Huckless of 158 West 132d street, pastor of a negro church in Harlem, would spend to-day in Ludlow street jail or preach to-day. The Rev. Mr. Huckless finally decided that his congregation needed him and counted out $100 in bills to Deputy Sheriff McDunnell, who was at the parsonage to arrest the clergyman if he didn't pay.

Andrew M. Battle, a member of the congregation, sued the pastor for slander.
