

OUTLOOK IS GLOOMY FOR THE DEMOCRATS

Continued from First Page.

Many New York postmasterships which under ordinary conditions would fall to Senator O'Rourke's patronage have not been filled. From the terms of Republican incumbents have expired. Other reasons assigned for the threatened loss of Democratic Congressmen are the dwindling of the Progressive vote and the evidence of a disorganizing disaffection on the part of the Republicans. Party leaders have sought to improve on the President the fact that the loss of twenty-one Democratic Congressmen in New York may mean the loss of the House. Many of the leaders already are willing to concede that the best for control of the House will be those who are using upon the House immediate action and a general policy which will be conducive to harmony, even with the Tammany organization. Following are the reports gathered by the Sun.

FORECAST OF CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION IN NEW YORK STATE

Following is a summary of a canvass of New York State by districts, giving the name of the present Congressman, his politics, and in the last column the probable winning party in the November elections.

Table with 4 columns: Dist., Present Congressman, His Politics, Probable Politics of Next Member. Lists districts 1 through 43 with names like Lathrop Brown, Denis O'Leary, Frank E. Wilson, etc.

RECAPITULATION. Present N. Y. Delegation. Next N. Y. Delegation. Republicans 31, Democrats 11, Progressive 1.

This district the Republicans of the Twenty-first Assembly district plan to run ex-Acting Commissioner Samuel Bristow for Congress, and those of the Fifteenth Assembly district have a favorite son in Alfred Ottinger.

For some reason the Republicans also have high hopes of winning Jefferson M. Levy's Fourteenth district, in which an active Republican worker is Frederick C. Tanner, District Attorney Whitman's campaign manager. But every two years there is talk of beating Mr. Levy, who continues to go back to Congress. In the Eighteenth district the only hope of beating Thomas G. Patten is to appeal to the Progressive vote. As there is hope of such a union, this district is rated as doubtful. The Progressive candidate two years ago was Amos R. E. Finchot, who has not been pleased with the Progressive history and who the Republicans think will not rebel against fusion.

In the Twenty-first, also classed as doubtful, Henry George, Jr. was elected in 1912 by a little less than the combined vote of Progressives and Republicans. This year the Republicans count on absorbing virtually all the Progressive vote. At present writing, it is a tossup among the Republicans, the Progressives and the Democrats in the Twenty-fourth district, which includes Westchester county and part of Bronx county. This district gave Woodson R. Ogelsby, Democrat, 17,681 votes two years ago, against 8,219 for the Republican and 12,496 for the Progressive candidate. If there is fusion the Progressives and Republicans will have no trouble in winning in the present campaign. Tammany has done practically nothing so far about getting its Congress fights started, nor have the Progressives. The Republicans are more active. County Chairman Koenig says the whole party organization will be summed up in the phrase, "Business men are clamoring for a Republican Congress."

NYACK, July 25.—All indications point to a Republican victory for Congressman. With Rockland joined to the upper part of Westchester two years ago, a Democrat, Benjamin L. Taylor, was elected. The Republican candidate took votes from the Republican candidate, James W. Husted. It is certain that at least 75 per cent. of the Progressive vote of two years ago will be cast this year for the Republican candidate, who will probably be James W. Husted again. The Republican candidate will also gain many Democratic voters, who are dissatisfied with the present candidates in the county.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., July 25.—Edmund Platt of Poughkeepsie, the present representative in Congress, will be defeated if returned. He may have opposition in the September primaries, but there is little chance of any one defeating him for the nomination. He will have opposition in November on the Democratic and Progressive tickets, but the indications are that he will be elected by the strong Republican vote from Orange county. The Democrats are not doing much to secure a candidate, although the names of Mayor Cox of Middletown and former Mayor William H. Frank of Poughkeepsie have been brought forward.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., July 25.—Edmund Platt of Poughkeepsie, the present representative in Congress, will be defeated if returned. He may have opposition in the September primaries, but there is little chance of any one defeating him for the nomination. He will have opposition in November on the Democratic and Progressive tickets, but the indications are that he will be elected by the strong Republican vote from Orange county. The Democrats are not doing much to secure a candidate, although the names of Mayor Cox of Middletown and former Mayor William H. Frank of Poughkeepsie have been brought forward.

CATSKILL, July 25.—A careful canvass gives little hope that George McClellan, Democrat, will be returned to Congress, because while there may be division in the Republican ranks as in the Presidential election, Hinman's candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination has aroused enthusiasm and large numbers of Progressives will flock to his support. Former Senator Laver of Ulster is prominent, mentioned as the possible Republican nominee. So is former Assemblyman and County Treasurer Scoville of Columbia. With either of these men as candidates Mr. McClellan will be defeated. Should the Progressive party run its own candidate, as seems probable, the vote will be close.

ALBANY, July 25.—The district is very close. In Albany county Congressman Peter G. Ten Eyck lost by approximately 3,000 votes two years ago, while Troy piled up a majority sufficient to overcome this loss by 17,000. It is concluded that the tariff's effect upon the collar industry of Troy, upon which practically all the voters of that city included in this district depend for a living, will reduce the Democratic vote enough to elect a Republican. Ten Eyck will probably be a candidate for coming in a few days. Democratic Congressional timber seems to be rather scarce. It is considered unlikely that any Progressive will enter the race. Indications are that Fairchild will be elected by a considerable majority.

THIRTY-FIFTH DISTRICT. CONTIAND, July 25.—Nothing political seems more certain today than the nomination and election of Walter W. Magee of Syracuse, the only Republican mentioned for Congress from this district. The Progressive graduate of Phillips Exeter and Harvard with honors and for ten years Corporation Counsel of Syracuse, Driscoll, the Republican nominee two years ago, was beaten by a slender majority.

THIRTY-SIXTH DISTRICT. PENN YAN, July 25.—The district is so strongly Republican that no other party has a chance to elect a Congressman under it. It may be said, any conditions. This is Congressman Seno E. Payne's district and as he is a candidate for reelection he may safely be set down as the next Congressman. The Progressives will nominally but whether the nominee will be an out and out Progressive or an anti-machine Republican or Democrat will depend upon Col. Roosevelt's further attitude following his endorsement for Hinman.

THIRTY-SEVENTH DISTRICT. ELMIRA, July 25.—Reports from Tompkins River, Tioga, Schuyler, Steuben and Chemung counties, embracing this district, indicate a decided drift back to the Republican fold, which presages defeat for the Democrats in their effort to retain the seat in the lower House now held by Representative Underhill. It is believed there will be a heavy falling off in Progressive vote, which was sufficiently strong two years ago to insure the election of Underhill. The farmers have not felt the pinch of hard times as the industrial workers have, and most of them are expected to line up behind a Republican candidate standing for a protective tariff. The Republican candidates for the nomination include former Congressman Fassett, Milo Shanks and Editor Harry Wood of the Corning Journal. Jonas Van Duzer wants to be the Progressive candidate. Congressman Underhill will probably be the Democratic candidate.

THIRTY-EIGHTH DISTRICT. ROCHESTER, July 25.—Representative Dunn, Republican, will not be opposed in the primaries by any other candidate. The Republican majorities are particularly strong in this section, is looked upon as reasonably sure. It is not believed that there will be any fusion between the Democrats and Progressives. The Republican majorities are particularly strong in this section, is looked upon as reasonably sure. It is not believed that there will be any fusion between the Democrats and Progressives.

THIRTY-NINTH DISTRICT. NIAGARA FALLS, July 25.—This district is represented by R. H. Gittins, Democrat, but the belief is strong that the chances for the election of a Republican are slim. Gittins is a strong Progressive and is not put up as a candidate, or should his candidate be a weak one. Normally, the district is Republican. It is certain the vote will have strong Republican tendencies. If the Republicans name a good candidate, the manufacturing interests are extensive and the policies of the present Administration are not popular. There is so much uncertainty that capital and labor believe the Republicans will bring prosperity back.

THIRTIETH DISTRICT. AMSTERDAM, July 25.—This district will unquestionably return a Republican Congressman. It had been expected until two weeks ago that Representative Samuel Wallin would seek a re-nomination, but his large interests in the rug and carpet mills in view of the present industrial depression. Former Representative Henry S. DeForest of Schenectady and former Assemblyman William B. Charles of Montgomery county, are the leading aspirants for Mr. Wallin's seat. Whichever wins in the primaries will doubtless be elected as unemployed thousands in the industrial centers have had enough of a Democratic administration. Ex-Representative Theron Adams, who was elected ago by Democratic endorsement, is seeking the endorsement by the Progressives, but will be opposed. There are no Democratic aspirants for the nomination.

THIRTY-FIRST DISTRICT. SARANAC LAKE, July 25.—The situation is complicated by the illness of Congressman Ed Merritt, Jr., who is in the Danerston sanitarium. He is a candidate for re-nomination at the time of the primaries, who are the majority, and who undoubtedly will again elect their candidate. H. D. Stevens of Malone has announced his candidacy, but he has made it plain to his friends that he is not entitled to a re-nomination if his health permits. It is understood that there are other Republicans, including Major Daniel Gedenburg, who are not so considered by Mr. Merritt's physical condition and who also want the nomination. Thus far no Democrat or Progressive has entered the field.

THIRTY-SECOND DISTRICT. BUFFALO, July 25.—A Democrat will surely be returned from the Forty-second district, but whether it will be Congressman Daniel J. Driscoll or his opponent for twelve years, William H. Ryan, remains to be seen. Ryan, backed by the local Tammany organization, is waging a bitter fight on Driscoll. It is hard work to secure a candidate, although the names of Mayor Cox of Middletown and former Mayor William H. Frank of Poughkeepsie have been brought forward.

THIRTY-THIRD DISTRICT. Utica, July 25.—This district, now represented by Charles A. Talcott, Democrat, one of President Wilson's Princeton classmates, will undoubtedly return a Republican. Primarily, the district is normally Republican. Then business conditions have been very discouraging, several thousand men being rendered idle in this city by the loss of the textile mills. The Progressive party is doing much to secure a candidate, although the names of Mayor Cox of Middletown and former Mayor William H. Frank of Poughkeepsie have been brought forward.

THIRTY-FOURTH DISTRICT. BINGHAMTON, July 25.—George W. Fairchild of Oneonta is the only aspirant for Congress in this district who has thus far announced his candidacy. He is a Republican and has served four terms. From present indications there will be no contest in the Republican primaries and Fairchild will have the support of the Republican organization. Democratic leaders are reticent in naming a Progressive candidate, but some announcement may be forthcoming in a few days.

THIRTY-FIFTH DISTRICT. CONTIAND, July 25.—Nothing political seems more certain today than the nomination and election of Walter W. Magee of Syracuse, the only Republican mentioned for Congress from this district. The Progressive graduate of Phillips Exeter and Harvard with honors and for ten years Corporation Counsel of Syracuse, Driscoll, the Republican nominee two years ago, was beaten by a slender majority.

THIRTY-SIXTH DISTRICT. PENN YAN, July 25.—The district is so strongly Republican that no other party has a chance to elect a Congressman under it. It may be said, any conditions. This is Congressman Seno E. Payne's district and as he is a candidate for reelection he may safely be set down as the next Congressman. The Progressives will nominally but whether the nominee will be an out and out Progressive or an anti-machine Republican or Democrat will depend upon Col. Roosevelt's further attitude following his endorsement for Hinman.

You may dance longer and with much less fatigue if you drink White Rock Water between dances. It gives new life to the nerves and refreshes the jaded appetite. White Rock Water is used on the table in exclusive houses. It is snappy and healthful. Drink White Rock Water.

LEADERS RELY ON WILSON TO WIN CAMPAIGN IN FALL

Legislative Colleagues Are Depending on the President to Make "an Appeal to Business" for Support.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Democratic leaders are depending upon President Wilson to make a series of utterances in the coming campaign that will determine the result of the November elections. Strange as it may seem to Republicans, the legislative colleagues of the President are looking to him to make an "appeal to business" for support. In fact, it may be said on the authority of a member of the Wilson Cabinet that immediately after the passage of the trust bills the President will issue an address to the country which is calculated to have widespread influence in bringing business men to the support of the Democratic ticket. The Baltimore platform contained three primary promises that Democrats say will have been carried out by the time the next campaign opens in earnest. They promised to revise the tariff, to enact new banking law and to strengthen the anti-trust laws. The Democratic tariff is in operation and the new banking system is about to be established. With the enactment of the trust bills Democrats declare the party will have completed its programme of trust legislation and the country will be informed that for the remainder of the Administration, at least, business need fear any enactments affecting it at the hands of Congress. When President Wilson signed the tariff bill he issued a statement designed to reassure business. He made another assuring address when the finishing touches were put on the banking law. A more important utterance is promised when the trust bills come to the White House for approval. Democratic leaders seem to be of the opinion that with the movement of the cross a boom in business is certain. They will accrue to their advantage in the fall elections. They are optimistic about

WASHINGTON, July 25.—It was learned to-night that A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the board of directors of the Chase National Bank of New York, has been approached by friends of President Wilson and sounded as to his probable attitude toward a tender of the position on the Federal Reserve Board to which Paul M. Warburg was nominated. The position has not been tendered Mr. Hepburn definitely pending the final decision as to the case of Mr. Warburg, but it was learned that the Administration has taken these steps with regard to Mr. Hepburn with a view of being prepared to send the nomination to the Senate almost immediately should it become necessary to withdraw the Warburg nomination. Mr. Hepburn has not yet indicated what he would say in response to a possible tender of a nomination to the Federal Reserve Board. There was a report in the Senate today that Mr. Warburg's name would be withdrawn from the nominations. It was stated that the Administration had heard informally that Mr. Warburg had said that he could not accept the office under the circumstances which had arisen, even if the Senate decided to confirm him. The information came direct from New York that members of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. were unwilling that Mr. Warburg should come before the committee in view of the attitude the committee has assumed toward him and the firm. It is the understanding among Senate leaders that the President is receiving an announcement of the withdrawal of Mr. Warburg's name until he has found his successor. The names of George E. Roberts of Chicago, Director of the Mint, and of Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, Ambassador to France, were also discussed to-day as under consideration for the place on the Federal Reserve Board left vacant by the withdrawal of the name of Thomas P. Jones. While Senator Sulphur Springs, W. Va., July 25.—Paul M. Warburg left the Spring this morning after a week's visit at the new Greenbrier Hotel in a private car attached to the eastbound train. Mr. Warburg played golf every morning and afternoon during his stay. Before his departure Mr. Warburg declared he had nothing to say in regard to the report that he would decline the nomination to the Federal Reserve Board.

HEPBURN SOUNDED FOR RESERVE BOARD

President May Offer Him the Place if Warburg Withdraws His Name.

EXPECT NEW NOMINATION

Senators Hear Wilson Considers Myron T. Herrick for Jones's Place.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—It was learned to-night that A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the board of directors of the Chase National Bank of New York, has been approached by friends of President Wilson and sounded as to his probable attitude toward a tender of the position on the Federal Reserve Board to which Paul M. Warburg was nominated. The position has not been tendered Mr. Hepburn definitely pending the final decision as to the case of Mr. Warburg, but it was learned that the Administration has taken these steps with regard to Mr. Hepburn with a view of being prepared to send the nomination to the Senate almost immediately should it become necessary to withdraw the Warburg nomination. Mr. Hepburn has not yet indicated what he would say in response to a possible tender of a nomination to the Federal Reserve Board. There was a report in the Senate today that Mr. Warburg's name would be withdrawn from the nominations. It was stated that the Administration had heard informally that Mr. Warburg had said that he could not accept the office under the circumstances which had arisen, even if the Senate decided to confirm him. The information came direct from New York that members of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. were unwilling that Mr. Warburg should come before the committee in view of the attitude the committee has assumed toward him and the firm. It is the understanding among Senate leaders that the President is receiving an announcement of the withdrawal of Mr. Warburg's name until he has found his successor. The names of George E. Roberts of Chicago, Director of the Mint, and of Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, Ambassador to France, were also discussed to-day as under consideration for the place on the Federal Reserve Board left vacant by the withdrawal of the name of Thomas P. Jones. While Senator Sulphur Springs, W. Va., July 25.—Paul M. Warburg left the Spring this morning after a week's visit at the new Greenbrier Hotel in a private car attached to the eastbound train. Mr. Warburg played golf every morning and afternoon during his stay. Before his departure Mr. Warburg declared he had nothing to say in regard to the report that he would decline the nomination to the Federal Reserve Board.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—It was learned to-night that A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the board of directors of the Chase National Bank of New York, has been approached by friends of President Wilson and sounded as to his probable attitude toward a tender of the position on the Federal Reserve Board to which Paul M. Warburg was nominated. The position has not been tendered Mr. Hepburn definitely pending the final decision as to the case of Mr. Warburg, but it was learned that the Administration has taken these steps with regard to Mr. Hepburn with a view of being prepared to send the nomination to the Senate almost immediately should it become necessary to withdraw the Warburg nomination. Mr. Hepburn has not yet indicated what he would say in response to a possible tender of a nomination to the Federal Reserve Board. There was a report in the Senate today that Mr. Warburg's name would be withdrawn from the nominations. It was stated that the Administration had heard informally that Mr. Warburg had said that he could not accept the office under the circumstances which had arisen, even if the Senate decided to confirm him. The information came direct from New York that members of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. were unwilling that Mr. Warburg should come before the committee in view of the attitude the committee has assumed toward him and the firm. It is the understanding among Senate leaders that the President is receiving an announcement of the withdrawal of Mr. Warburg's name until he has found his successor. The names of George E. Roberts of Chicago, Director of the Mint, and of Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, Ambassador to France, were also discussed to-day as under consideration for the place on the Federal Reserve Board left vacant by the withdrawal of the name of Thomas P. Jones. While Senator Sulphur Springs, W. Va., July 25.—Paul M. Warburg left the Spring this morning after a week's visit at the new Greenbrier Hotel in a private car attached to the eastbound train. Mr. Warburg played golf every morning and afternoon during his stay. Before his departure Mr. Warburg declared he had nothing to say in regard to the report that he would decline the nomination to the Federal Reserve Board.

SAGUE WILL NAME DWYER.

Appointment as Stamp Deputy to Be Made Tomorrow. JOHN F. DWYER, anti-organization leader in the hall of Democratic County Leagues in the city of New York, will be appointed stamp deputy in the customs service to-morrow. That was the announcement yesterday of John K. Sague, Appraiser of the Port, who will make the appointment with the approval of Secretary McAdoo. The appointment is another blow at McAdoo's leadership in Brooklyn. Dwyer has opposed McAdoo for the leadership at several primaries and will probably be a candidate for leader this fall. Dwyer at present holds a clerkship in the Fifth District Municipal Court in Brooklyn getting $1,200 a year. His new job will pay about $10,000 a year.

Advertisement for 'The Stroud Pianola' featuring an illustration of a man playing a piano and text describing its features and price ($550).

Large advertisement for 'The Aeolian Company' featuring 'The Stroud Pianola' and 'The Aeolian Hall' with contact information and pricing details.