Miss Helen Rice, who is but 12 years of age, won the women's tennis doubles at the Greenock Country Club tournament in Lee this week. In the finals she defeated Mrs. Arthur La Motte of Wilmington, Del., and Mrs. Hunting Worth of New York, a member of the West Side Tennis Club of New York. Miss Rice has been playing in the junior tournaments for three years and is the champion of her age in the Berkshire Junior tennis association.

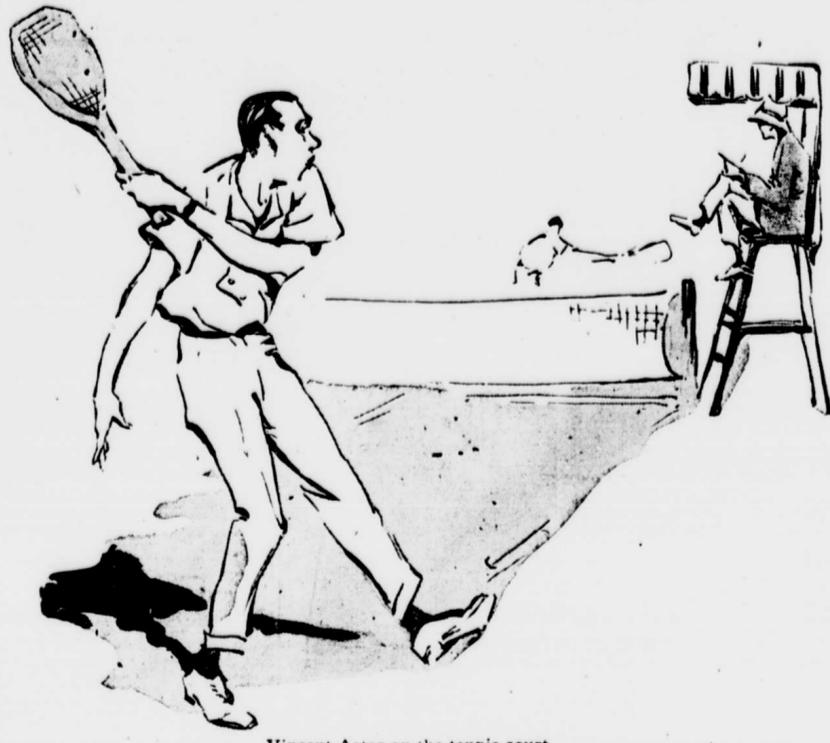

SOUTHAMPTON PLANS PARTIES FOR LABOR DAY

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Several week end parties and entertainments are being planned for over Labor Day, which will practically close the social season here. Already the lack of dinner parties and dances is noticeable. Many of the younger set will leave soon for school and college and during the past week several families have closed their cottages to go to the Adirondacks or other mountain resorts.

The principal event of the week was the subscription entertainment given this evening at the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club. The entertainment consisted of moving pictures, followed by a dance, given for the benefit of the relief work of the Red Cross Society. There was a large attendance, many coming from East Hampton. Miss Mary Hoyt Wiborg was the chairman of the East Hampton committee, and W. Scott Cameron represented the Southampton committee.

On Monday the ladies of the cottage colony gave a fête and bazaar at the Parish Hall for the benefit of the Catholic Charities. Among the patronesses were Mrs. Alexander H. Tiers, Mrs. Francis Burrall Hoffman, Mrs. Albert H. Ely, Mrs. George Warrington Curtis, Mrs. Stephen Deakely, Mrs. Le Grando C. Griswold, Mrs. Grenville T. Emmett, Mrs. Peter F. Collier, Mrs. Edward L. Kees, Jr., Mrs. Lettleton Fox, Mrs. P. E. Chambers and Mrs. Anson McCook Beard.

Several parties were given among the younger set. The Misses Harvey were FALL SEASON BEGINS AT ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Tennis, Golf, Dinners and Dances Enliven the Mountain Resort.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 5.—The first touch of autumn in the mountains brings a renewal of visits from Eastern tourists and in the assemblage of guests at the Inn New York and the East generally are more numerous represented now than at any time since May. Luncheon and dinner parties, dances and sports of various kinds serve to interest and amuse the sojourners here.

The annual tennis tournament at the Country Club lasted all the week, and the contests were watched by large assemblages every day. The Handsome Grove Park Inn cup was won by M. Young and F. H. McMillan of Washington, D. C. Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt and Miss Cornelia Vanderbilt, who went abroad a few months ago for a year's stay, have decided to return to Blimere and are expected here some time in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rice of Cedarhurst, L. I., who are spending the summer here, were guests of honor at a dinner party at the Inn this week given by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Settle. Eighteen guests were present. Mrs. William H. Griffin of Brooklyn was the honor guest of another dinner of the week at Grove Park Inn. Mrs. G. M. Platt being the hostess.

Miss Persis Stallings of New York was the guest of honor at a dinner party to-night before the dinner dance at the Inn. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Cary of Washington, Miss Persis Cornell of New York, Robert F. Young and F. H. McMillan of Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lund of New York have arrived at the Inn this week and Edwin Per Allen of New York, Ed and Mrs. G. Hudson Makuen of Philadelphia and H. A. Johnston of Stamford, Conn. are other Eastern arrivals of the week.

NEWPORT READY FOR ITS HORSE SHOW

NEWPORT, Sept. 5.—This city is now preparing for the next and final fixture of the social season, the horse show, which will open at the Casino grounds on Monday afternoon. No sooner was the national tennis tournament completed last Tuesday than workmen began taking down the portable grandstand to the east of the championship court and erecting the horse show ring. To-night everything is practically in readiness for the opening of the annual horse show, which, with the announced list of entries, over 300 in the fifty odd classes, promises to be an interesting exhibition.

There do not appear to be as many outside exhibitors as usual in the show this year, but the number of Newport horses entered is larger and, as happened last year, there promises to be an interesting competition in the harness classes between the stables of Alfred G. Vanderbilt and Edward B. McLean.

Mr. Vanderbilt arrived from England this week and will be seen in the ring driving some of his own entries. Mr. McLean, who has been in Washington, will be back in time to take part in the show. It is expected. While some of Reginald C. Vanderbilt's horses have been entered it is not thought that he will be here to show them personally.

In the harness classes the summer residents will also be represented by the horses of Ogden Mills, Mrs. Burke Roche and Henry A. C. Taylor. In the saddle classes Newport will be represented by Miss Ethel King, F. Bayard Rives, Mrs. Burke Roche and Mr. McLean, and entries by the same exhibitors will also be seen in the jumping classes, together with the entries of Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Van Beuren.

Alfred Vanderbilt will probably show one of his fours, though he will not have his famous team of grays. They are now doing duty with the British army. Francis Roche promises to make an appearance in the ring leading a four-in-hand. He has been practicing driving of late and is handling the team in very good style. He and Richard Gambrell will furnish one of the diversions in the matter of entertaining during the coming week, for they have planned a picnic at Vauxhall, in Portsmouth, and will take their guests there on their coaches.

The tennis tournament was followed with intense interest. The attendance of spectators at times exceeded four thousand. Maurice E. McLoughlin's defeat by R. Norris Williams 2d on the final day came as a sensational climax to a series of well contested matches.

Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt, who was formerly a regular summer resident here, and has never lost interest in the city, being still identified with a number of charities, has been in Newport recently as the guest of Mrs. James Laurens Van Alen at Wakehurst. It was her first visit of the season and, while she has since gone to Hyde Park, she will probably return here later.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Brown of Baltimore, having closed their cottage at York Harbor, have come here to the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Sufferer Taylor at Honeyuckle Lodge. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are entertaining for them.

The Chamber Club has again proved to be popular, and chief among the entertainments taking place there this week have been the dinner dance given by Mrs. Joseph E. Widener, who has given active socially since her arrival from the winter abroad, and the dance given by Miss Edith Norman Hunter for young people following a dinner given by Mrs. Hugh D. Archibald at Hammondsmith Farm.

Among the week's entertainments have been Mrs. Dulany Howland, Mrs. Royce Phelps Carroll, Miss Louise Ward McAlister, Mrs. F. Cassin, De Haven, Mr. William R. Hunter, Mrs. Richard H. Townsend, Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas, Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. Lawrence L. Gillespie, Mrs. H. A. C. Taylor, Mrs. Ogden Mills, Mrs. French Vanderbilt, Mrs. Frank K. Sturgis, Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, Mrs. John W. Burgess, Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, Mrs. George F. Baker, Jr., Mrs. Griswold, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Edward J. Howland, Mrs. T. Sufferer Taylor, Mrs. Vanderbilt, Mrs. J. Stewart Barney, Mrs. J. J. Mason and Mrs. Henry Barton Jacobs.

LENOX CHARITY BALL AT SHADOW BROOK

Daniel LeRoy Dresser, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, at Harbor Court, has gone to Cedarhurst. Miss Lota Robinson of Baltimore, another young woman who was particularly interested in the Red Cross fête, has also taken her departure. She has gone to Narragansett Pier, where she is a member of a house party being entertained by John B. McLean.

It is not certain whether Miss Robinson will return for the horse show or not. She has spent much of the summer here and has stayed at Crossways as the guest of Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, and at Marble House as the guest of Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont.

The success of the Red Cross war fund efforts here among the summer colony has been highly gratifying to Mrs. Fish, the chairman of the committee, and to the other members of the committee. The amount of money raised by subscription and by the bazaar and tableaux was larger than had been expected. Over $10,000 has been sent to the International Red Cross. There were no contributions for more than $1,000, but there were several of that amount, and on the final day of the bazaar nearly $15,000 was raised, and on a bad day at that, for the rain brought a sudden end to the entertainment.

GOLF BRINGS GAYEST WEEK TO MANCHESTER

MANCHESTER-IN-THE-MOUNTAINS, Vt., Sept. 5.—The contests for the United States amateur golf championship were in progress here this week. It has naturally been the gay week of the season socially, with numerous luncheons and dinner parties and many visitors at the cottages.

On Wednesday evening a dancing competition took place at the Equinox House and on the same evening Mrs. John L. Given gave a party at the Equinox on Thursday evening Mrs. Albert M. Reed introduced an innovation in the way of a barn dance, using a stable which had been in disuse since the days of the many automobiles.

On Thursday evening there was a concert at the Gymnasium in which a former waiter of the Equinox House who has become successful as a tenor singer had a leading part. A card party was conducted at the Equinox House recently for the benefit of the Red Cross war fund and about $200 was realized. Among the schemes of the visitors assisted in the entertainment was that of Presley S. MacLaughlin, who made individual sketches "while you wait" at 50 cents each until the picture till showed a count of over $100.

F. M. Myers of Pittsford took a cottage for the tournament season for a stag party. Louis Livingston and Oliver Perin of New York were among the guests of Mr. Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Jennings and Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm of Old Bennington motored over for the tournament excitement during the week.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Clark at Wyndhurst during tournament week were E. P. Allis of Milwaukee, Henry Heyburn of Louisville and Howard C. McCall of Philadelphia.

Henry W. Brown of Philadelphia entertained C. S. Spoonford of New York over the tournament season. Sydney F. Weston of New York visited Mr. and Mrs. John L. Given for the week. A. F. Kammer of New York was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Bottome at the Sinythe cottage.

Artists of Berkshire Region Holding Annual Show at Stockbridge.

LENOX, Mass., Sept. 5.—Miss Isabel D. Shuter has given the use of Shadow Brook, the great English manor house on Stockbridge Road, for the annual charity ball Saturday, September 26. Summer residents of Lenox are familiar with this great house, which the late Anson Phelps Stokes built and later abandoned because of an accident on the property which cost him a leg. After the property had been used as an inn it was bought by Spencer P. Shuter of Savannah. Miss Shuter has been conspicuous as a hostess and for years the Lenox horse show ball was held there. No other place in the hills has the same arrangements for entertaining, and the music room is the largest in the locality.

Philip Blagden has been elected president of the allied Berkshire golf clubs. Mr. Blagden will have the annual tournament for the championship of Berkshire played at Stockbridge next year.

The artists of the Berkshire region and the Housatonic River interval are giving their sixth annual exhibition in the Stockbridge Casino and the jury that passed on the merits of the works were Daniel Chester French, Walter A. Nettleton and Augustus Lukemann. On the committee of arrangements for the exhibition were Frederic Crowninshield, Clark G. Voorhees and Miss Marie O. Kobb. Saturday was a very busy day, with Mrs. Crowninshield at the table.

Painters and sculptors showing their works include Frederic Crowninshield, Thomas Shields Clarke, Walter A. Nettleton, Lydia Field Emmett, Marie O. Kobb, Herman Kobbler, Mrs. Richard O. Dixey, Robert S. Nesbit, Bart L. Roys, Fidelia Bridges, Margaret S. Zimile, Robert Hamilton, W. Merritt Post, William L. Carrigan, Lewis Metcalf, W. G. von Giehlen, Catherine Almond Hulbert, Charles Alton Hulbert, Theresa Bernstein, Josephine A. Morton, Margaret Fitz Hugh Brown, Kathleen McKenry, Adele W. Getty, Helen L. Garson, Caroline T. Graner, Margaret King Stone, Emily Whitburn, Margaret Wheeler Baxter, Mabel A. Rice, Charles William Macford, Daniel Chester French, Augustus Lukemann, Clarke G. Voorhees and Mrs. William M. Bullitt.

There will be no large events before the wedding of Miss Mary M. Turnure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Evans Turnure, and Roger Wolcott Griswold next Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. William E. S. Griswold were to have given a large entertainment in connection with the wedding, but a death in the family of Mrs. Griswold has cancelled the arrangements. The reception on the lawn at Beauport will be the gayest event of the season. Breakfast will be served under a tent. A band will play for the dancing on the greenward. Mr. and Mrs. Turnure's grounds are finely arranged and the garden furnishes a beautiful background for the wedding festivities.

An odd entertainment is given on community day in Tyringham, where each year the cottagers who have country places entertain all of the countryside. This week, on Friday afternoon, the village folks met at Four Brook Farm, the country place of Mrs. Richard Watson Gilder, and clam chowder and corn roast were served. There were games for prizes, races and baseball. Mrs. Gilder, the Misses Gilder, Mr. and Mrs. John Hutton, Miss Hutton, Mrs. Robb de Peyster Truax, Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Leupp, Miss Leupp, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wise and Mr. and Mrs. George Tiffany were interested in the arrangements for the entertainment.

Miss Adele Kneeland will entertain the Lenox Garden Club in Fair Lawn gardens Monday. Miss Kneeland last year had her garden rebuilt. The terraced old-fashioned flower beds, cascades, lily pool and covered walks have been greatly improved. J. Wilkinson Elliott will speak on English gardens and Miss Kneeland will serve tea in a tea house at the edge of the garden.

Charles H. Swift of Chicago and Miss Martha Harris of Memphis, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Swift, won the dancing contest at Hotel Aspinwall this week. Mr. and Mrs. Swift are passing several weeks in Lenox with their guests. Mr. and Mrs. F. B. F. Herpshoff, E. M. Hurd and C. E. Loughey of New York.

NEW LONDON.

NEW LONDON, Sept. 5.—Golf has completely changed the character of New London as a summer resort. From being known the world over as a yachting centre it is now becoming identified in the public mind as the home of the Shinnecock Country Club and the season which used to close by Labor Day has been extended to the first of October.

The first championship of the club was won in the past week by W. S. Reyburn of the Chevy Chase Club, Washington. The gold medal for the low qualifying score was awarded to L. H. Butt of the National links after a tie at 87 strokes between Mr. Butt and Mr. Reyburn.

EDGEMERE FETE FOR RED CROSS.

A fête for the benefit of the Red Cross International war fund will be held at the Edgемere Club, Edgемere, L. I., on Labor Day afternoon and evening. There will be a dance in the afternoon and a dinner in the evening. A large card party is being arranged, which will be in charge of Mrs. E. P. Faxon. The bride had her sister, Mrs. George H. Benzon, Jr., as her only attendant, and Lieut. Joseph Deen, U. S. N., was the best man. There were no ushers.

Another recent wedding was that of Miss Violet Johnson, daughter of Capt.
