

ATTACK AND DEFENCE AT SEA AND ON LAND

Thin Khaki line held against famous German corps. At Ypres the Prussian Guards, the corps d'elite of the German army, was pitted against British guards, the Black Watch and the Oxford and Bucks Light Infantry.

Drawn by A. C. Michael from a sketch by Frederic Villiers.

Copyrighted, 1914, by the Sun Printing and Publishing Association by special arrangement with the Illustrated London News.

On the North Sea British destroyers are hunting German submarines. The latter retaliate by firing torpedoes. In the picture the destroyer has narrowly escaped a torpedo by putting her helm hard over. It appears that good steersmanship in combination with good gunnery is the surface going warships best protection against attack by submarine.

Drawn by Norman Wilkinson from a sketch by a British officer.

Copyrighted, 1914, by the Sun Printing and Publishing Association by special arrangement with the Illustrated London News.