Ban of Superstition Passes With May---Now for the Weddings Many Brides-to-Be Who Have Awaited Propitious June Announce Their Plans---More Summer Homes Opened and Newport Is Filling Up ---Racing and Outdoor Sports Still Social Magnet

ANOTHER turn of society's kaleidoscope and the bright colored particles contained therein are taking different directions. The month of May, ever within forty-eight hours, there must needs be change and variety. Positively things are a bit monotonous, having run on in precisely the same lines for so many months. Never before in the knowledge of this generation at least, has New York city been so consecutively gay and so consistently peopled with New Yorkers.

There will be many to combat this statement contending that entertainments of note have been few and far between and that there has been no magnificent social functions or so few that the season's record is virtually blank. But those who are really in society are conscious that they have not had a dull day or evening since early last autumn, and that the succession of parties, luncheons, dinners and social affairs of all sorts has been unending, while through all has run a spirit of gaiety, hilarity and excitement such as only exists in war times, for, strange to say, when war is raging those who are not raging in war seem determined to get all they can out of life in the way of amusement and excitement.

The busiest person in these days is the weather prophet, and incidentally he is one of the most unpopular, for he is so un dependable. By all the logic of statistics the weather of last week should have been ideal. It was, on the contrary, just that kind of weather that it was impossible to cope with. The most enthusiastic fresh air lovers could find little enjoyment in such weather. Consequently such charming entertainments as the Greek play at Piping Rock, and the mention of the race meetings, were not what they planned to be and the twice postponed performance of the play certainly did dull the edge of novelty.

The races furnished plenty of pleasure and interest and will continue to do, and once again this week Piping Rock is to be the meeting ground not only of all Long Island but of all fashionable society who can journey thither or who will, in many cases, spend the coming racing week at the different smart country houses with which Long Island is now so thickly sprinkled.

Although the first week in June in past seasons has been regarded as marking the final stay of the fashionable world in town, there are remarkably few families who have definitely closed their houses. As was said last week, many of the town houses will be kept open for weeks to come, their owners being pied-a-terre, as it were, during the entire summer.

This is sure to be the case should the weather prove in any way favorable. However, when Syracuse heat descends upon New York, then society flees elsewhere; that is, the female portion of it. But the average man has boldly announced his dislike of commuting and consequently finds it best to live in the city for much, and as domesticity is said to be becoming fashionable, many women are talking of keeping the town houses open and spending mid-week with their husbands.

This has been the plan generally adopted during the merry month of May. When June heat does begin, the charming country houses scattered in the country and the mid-week town, may lose its flavor. When this condition arrives the real summer gaiety both in the nearby and the far away country homes will begin.

The closing of the fashionable schools always brings an exodus of families to the country, for the younger people, the girls not yet out and the men at school or college, constitute a most important factor in the family plans. City life in summer is certainly not adapted to the young folk, so many of the pretty houses must be in full running order by this time.

This younger set is going in more than ever for all out of door sports, and the young people of the present certainly lead the jolliest of existence and are much more interested in them and their amusement as if they were really "out." There are dances for the younger set modeled exactly on the lines of those for the older ones and subscription dances are to be given all summer at the various fashionable places. Hotel life does not enter much into the scheme of existence for these younger people but they have so much to interest them that they certainly cannot complain of lack of variety.

Newport is waking up in the season and the majority of the houses are open to the summer life which the old Newporters contend is at its best before the season brings its rush and confusion and its added visitors. Many prominent families are in mourning the loss and the shadow of the war hangs heavily over many who have had no direct participation in the conflict. Newport has strong affiliations with Europe and the long list of relatives, acquaintances and friends who are fighting brings the war right to Newport's door.

Once again, however, the joy and gaiety of young life may triumph and an unusual number of young people will be at Newport this summer. That it will be a record summer in point of magnificent entertainments cannot be prognosticated even by the most optimistic. Many distinguished persons, however, will spend the season at Newport and the place itself is looking its best.

The renting of houses near New York is still going on to rather an unusual extent. The nearer the city the better, apparently, are the prices that are asked and paid for houses would seem to prove that there is still money enough in existence for those who wish to spend it. Houses are rented for short terms. This is very English, or it might be said very foreign, but certainly the plan of renting a house for a month, six weeks or two months, as the case may be, seems to work to perfection both for landlord and tenant. For the price paid is generally sufficient for the owner to take a most delightful holiday without feeling the least extravagant, while the tenant can enjoy his own household retinue of servants or lease servants with linen and silver.

After all, Americans may learn some practical lessons from the war, and certainly the business instinct that is evidenced in this method of leasing was quite dormant until this season.

There will be a rush of weddings this week, when the ban of superstition against marrying in May will be removed. Beginning with Tuesday there will be weddings of note every day, even on Friday, which day, not supposed to be propitious for brides, has been chosen by Miss Eleanor Redman Townsend and Horace Green, Miss Frances Peck, who made her debut in society last winter, will be married to Vivian H. Egleston on Tuesday in the Church of the Transfiguration. Two important weddings of Thursday will be similarly observed, one being chosen by Miss Eleanor Redman Townsend and Horace Green, Miss Frances Peck, who made her debut in society last winter, will be married to Vivian H. Egleston on Tuesday in the Church of the Transfiguration. Two important weddings of Thursday will be similarly observed, one being chosen by Miss Eleanor Redman Townsend and Horace Green, Miss Frances Peck, who made her debut in society last winter, will be married to Vivian H. Egleston on Tuesday in the Church of the Transfiguration.

Society will be somewhat divided on Saturday, owing to country weddings. Miss Louise Tiffany French will be married to Talbot J. Taylor, Jr., a grandson of the late James R. Keene, in St. Paul's Church, Glen Cove, L. I., and in the little Roman Catholic church of Tivoli, N. Y. Miss Sara Delano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano, who was a debutante of the winter, will be married to Roland Livingston Redmond, the breakfast following at Steen Valette, the Delano country place in Barrytown. In Christ Church, Short Hills, N. J., Miss Elizabeth Kirkpatrick will be married to William P. Hardenbergh, Jr., of New York, and in St. Peter's Church, Beverly Mass., Miss Hope Norman of Newport, R. I., will be married to Elliot Cowdin Bacon of this city. In Christ Church, Warwick, N. Y., on Saturday Miss Elizabeth Belcher Durning will be married to Kennard Underwood of Auburn, N. Y.

Miss Beatrice Burrill, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Livingston Burrill, will be married to W. Waterright Watson, son of Walter Watson of this city, in the Chapel of St. Bartholomew's Church on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. On account of the recent death of the bridegroom's mother the wedding will be celebrated quietly and the reception afterward at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burrill, 8 West Forty-eighth street, will be very small. Mrs. Francis Ormond French, a sister of the bride, who was married in St. Bartholomew's last April, will be the only attendant.

Mr. Watson will have L. Stuart Wing, Jr., for his best man. The usher will be Frederick T. Freudenberger, Harvey S. Ladew, Edward L. Burrill, Jrs. Juan M. Ceballos, J. S. Pettit, Francis O. French, William Bruce Brown, R. M. McMullen, Schuyler will be Miss Frances Peck, daughter of Stanton Peck, who will be married to Vivian H. Egleston, son of the late George W. Egleston, in the Church of the Transfiguration on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Many relatives and friends from Chicago and Philadelphia, will be present for the wedding ceremony. The reception immediately afterward will take place at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Bloodgood Peck, 111 East Thirty-fourth street, where Miss Peck passed the greater part of the winter. Mrs. Peck gave a dinner there on Thursday night for the members of the bridal party.

Miss Ada Norbert of Memphis, Tenn., who has passed some time in this city, will be the maid of honor and the other attendants will be the Misses Edna Moberly, a cousin of the bride, formerly of Chicago, but now of New York; Sarah Margaret Rowe of Cambridge, Bath Test of Portland, Ore., and Alice De Lamar of this city.

Lawrence C. Hall will act as best man and the ushers will be Thomas Bloodgood Peck, uncle of the bride; Francis R. Appleton, Jr., Rosamund Lamer and Harold S. Smith.

Mr. Egleston is a member of the late Prof. Thomas Egleston, who was a member of the faculty of Columbia University. He is a member of the New York Yacht Club.

In St. George's Chapel on Tuesday afternoon will be celebrated the wedding of Miss Helen Clinton Clark of this city and Dr. John Woodman Churchman of New Haven, Conn. Only relatives and a few intimate friends will witness the ceremony, which will be followed by a small reception at the home of the bride's mother, 11 East Fifty-seventh street.

Miss Townsend will have as her bridesmaids the Misses Eloise P. Howland and Elizabeth Best, and the Misses Mary A. Rosen, Margaret Sherer, and Rosalie Paek will be the flower girls.

Walton A. Water Green of Boston, a brother of the bridegroom, will be the best man. The ushers chosen are Harold M. Phelps Stokes, George Sanford, Harbortown, N. Y., Humphrey and Mrs. Delano pass the summer season. It will be celebrated in Tivoli, N. Y., and will be followed by a reception at Steen Valette, the country home of the bride's parents, in Barrytown. Relatives and friends from this city and from Tivoli by special train and many other guests

An interesting country wedding on Saturday will be that of Miss Sara Delano, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano, to Roland Livingston Redmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geraldine Redmond of this city and Mrs. Delano pass the summer season. BY SUBWAY—25 Minutes from 96th St., 22 Minutes from 72d St., 17 Minutes from Grand Central, 9 Minutes from Brooklyn Bridge to A. & S. Subway Entrance, HOYT STREET.

These Great Sales for Tuesday

What 5 Minutes Will Do For Thrifty New York Shoppers.

FIVE MINUTES added to your Manhattan shopping time will save you from 5 to 15 per cent. on each of your purchases.

That added five minutes brings you by subway directly to the subway door of the great Abraham and Straus Store, Hoyt Street, Brooklyn.

That five minutes allows you to take advantage of the low Abraham and Straus prices, which are due to the fact that we invariably buy for cash. We take full benefit of all discounts and give these savings to our patrons in lower prices than would otherwise obtain; we own every foot of ground and every building occupied by our establishment and have no high rent to pay.

That five minutes will bring you to the Greatest Store of the Greatest Home City in the world, a store that requires more than 800,000 square feet of floor space for its retail departments alone.

Where That Five Minutes Comes From—At Grand Central Station, if you stay on the express train and ride direct to Hoyt Street (the Brooklyn shoppers station with a private subway entrance to Abraham and Straus), it will take you 17 minutes. If you get out of the train at Grand Central, it will take you at least 12 minutes to reach the Manhattan Shopping Zone.
