

BARNES DETERMINED TO HIT BACK AT WORK

Counsel Making 1,000,000 Words of Testimony for Chance to Appeal.

WORK WILL COST $10,000

William Barnes is determined to get a reversal of his libel suit against Col. Theodore Roosevelt. Mr. Barnes does not intend to submit without further effort to the verdict of the Onondaga county jury which upheld Col. Roosevelt's accusation that Mr. Barnes was a corrupt politician.

William M. Evans and Henry D. Wolf, Mr. Barnes's counsel, at an appeal granted by the court, are preparing the briefs for the appeal papers and going over the immense record of the case that was tried at Syracuse in the five weeks from April 12 to May 22. Nearly 1,000 pages of testimony and argument make up the record and the task of examining it for appeal purposes is an enormous one.

Very little hope of a victory through the principals in the case have been given. The Justice eventually ruled out all such evidence, nevertheless the jury heard most of the statements tending to connect the defendant with the business and were enabled to draw whatever conclusions that seemed likely. Mr. Barnes's counsel will contend that no word of such evidence should have been allowed to go before the jury and that the mere direction of the court that the jury must disregard the printing evidence was not sufficient to nullify its harmful effect upon Mr. Barnes's case.

Another important point of appeal will be that the testimony tending to show that Mr. Barnes had an alliance with Charles F. Murphy to control the Senatorial election of 1911 was absolutely inadmissible as evidence in justification of the charges against Mr. Barnes. It has been received as evidence in mitigation. The same argument will be made as regards evidence tending to connect Mr. Barnes with the campaign funds.

Newberry, ex-Secretary of the Navy, pointed out the unpreparedness of the United States navy and asserted that the European war shows this country is completely outclassed. In part the former Secretary said: "Should the United States begin war with a large foreign Power it would find speedier battleships with longer range guns which would give us a terrible battering even before the American boats would have a chance. And this is no secret in the Navy Department, at home or abroad.

Lloyd P. Stryker, the defendant's attorney, said he would request Mr. Rofrano on the stand to-day.

OVERCOME BY EXPOSURE

Gen. Obregon's Army Is Near Aguascalientes.

El Paso, June 16.—Carranzista outposts have been established at Encarnacion, but three stations south of Aguascalientes, Villa's headquarters, according to advices brought to the border by messengers. The advance north has been made with but little fighting, Villa's plan evidently being to concentrate in Aguascalientes. No resumption of fighting on a large scale is looked for until Carranza sends his army to Villa. When Gen. Obregon's forces reach Carranza's camp advance the additional claim for recognition that he controls the national capital besides a large section of the country.

BOY IN TEARS, BLAMES GIRL.

When Clapham reached Minerva this morning his spunky air of the night before had disappeared and he appeared simply a young and badly worried boy. Tears came into his eyes as he talked.

"Ruth did all the stealing," he said. "She took the lead always. I did not take a thing from any of the places. I only had the means of getting into the keys. We went to a number of houses together and did not take anything at first, but Ruth finally took something which we pawned and after that we kept taking things."

ROBBER MAN EXPRESSES SORROW.

"I am exceedingly sorry for the young man," said Mr. Winterboth, who is a piano manufacturer. "I am sure that he has no criminal instincts. I would be glad to forget the robbery of my home, and I would even give him a place in my office. Things appear against him, but he is all right inside."

One of the queer turns of the case is that Mrs. Conlin's husband will be one of the principal witnesses against her. It was through his tracking of them from Sea Cliff to Brooklyn, that the connection between his wife and the robbery was established.
