

HOLY CROSS ACADEMY WASHINGTON D.C.

Boarding and Day School for Girls Separate Department for Little Girls

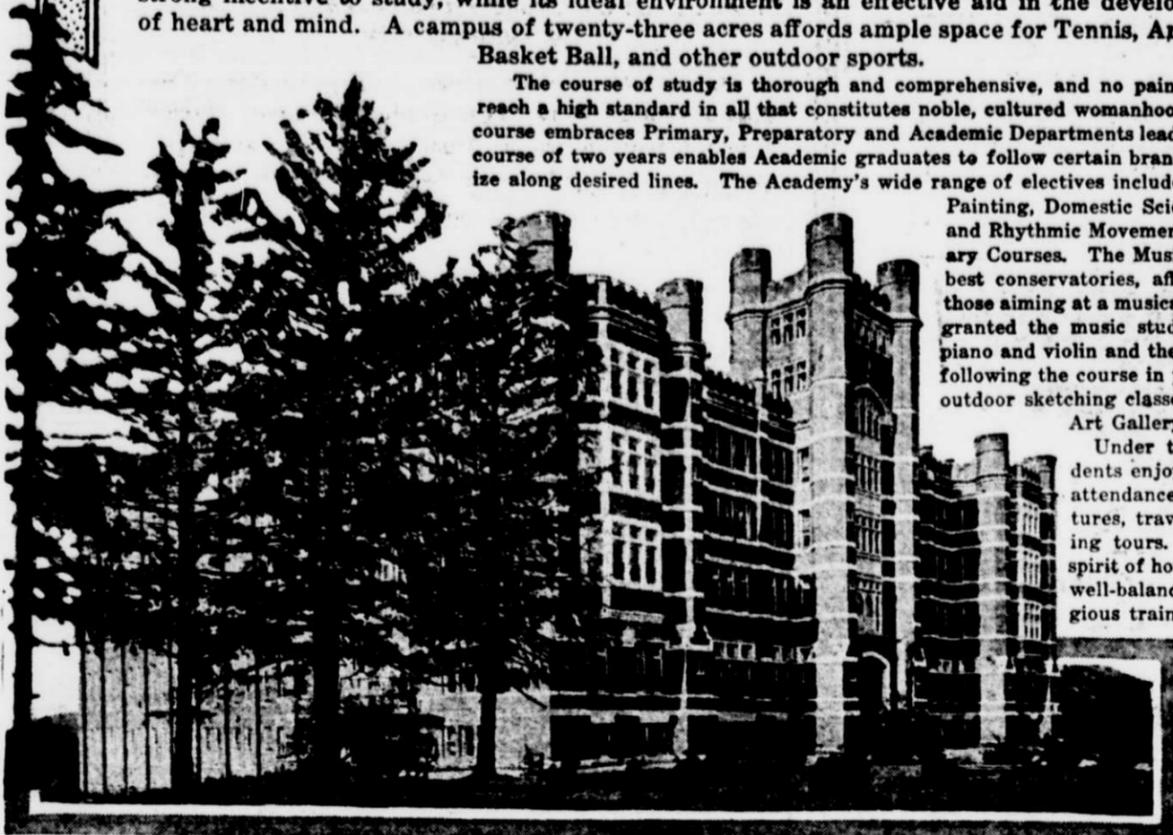

BEAUTIFULLY located on Dumbarton Heights, overlooking the nation's capital, stands Holy Cross Academy, whose architectural beauty and magnificent site are the admiration of all. Though but twenty minutes' ride from the Treasury, and within easy walking distance of the "Zoo" and Rock Creek Park, the quiet that pervades Holy Cross Academy is a strong incentive to study, while its ideal environment is an effective aid in the development of heart and mind. A campus of twenty-three acres affords ample space for Tennis, Archery, Basket Ball, and other outdoor sports.

The course of study is thorough and comprehensive, and no pains are spared to reach a high standard in all that constitutes noble, cultured womanhood. The regular course embraces Primary, Preparatory and Academic Departments leading to Diploma. A post-graduate course of two years enables Academic graduates to follow certain branches of College work and specialize along desired lines. The Academy's wide range of electives includes Vocal and Instrumental Music,

Painting, Domestic Science, Elocution, Physical Culture and Rhythmic Movements, Commercial and special Literary Courses. The Music Department, modeled after the best conservatories, affords unsurpassed advantages to those aiming at a musical education, and opportunities are granted the music students of hearing the Masters of piano and violin and the world's finest singers. Students following the course in painting enjoy the advantages of outdoor sketching classes, and of visits to the Corcoran Art Gallery and to special loan exhibits.

Under the care of chaperones the students enjoy free access to public buildings, attendance at sessions of Congress, lectures, travel talks, botanical and sight-seeing tours. All are required to aim at a spirit of home-refinement cultivated through well-balanced, intellectual, moral and religious training. Address:
