

"SEE MY LAWYER" A TALE OF RUBBER

Second Marcin Play of the Week Opens at the Eltinge Theatre.

ROY BARNES AS A STAR

"See My Lawyer"—At the Eltinge Theatre. Amy Sumers, Anson Robert, Harold Russell, Martha Gardner, Inez Buck, Martha Joyce, Margot Williams, Robert Gardner, Sydney Booth, Fred Noble, Sydney Booth, Treuman, Gus Weinburg, Stockbridge, Walter Horton, T. Hamilton Brown, John Flood, Boston, Harry Alford, Dr. Drew, John Daly Murphy, Robinson, Frank Monroe, Tom, Conrad Canten, Dr. Bartlett, Richard Lyster, Dr. Klett, Jules Ferrar, First Attendant, Howard Mason, Second Attendant, Robert Burton.

Max Marcin reached his second lap on the way to the playwright's fame last night. "See My Lawyer," a farce by the new writer, was seen for the first time at the Eltinge Theatre. Thus the young dramatist had the unusual experience of having two dramas acted on successive evenings for the first time before a New York audience.

Such an honor has been enjoyed by few. In all probability Shakespeare has been so distinguished, but with a difference. He was dead and, moreover, his plays were old. Mr. Marcin was present in the flesh on both auspicious occasions to enjoy all they had to offer. So in this way at least he was ahead of the Bard of Avon. Perhaps there will be historic interest in the fact that both of Mr. Marcin's plays were acted on Forty-second street—and within a few hundred feet of one another.

"See My Lawyer" is a business farce. They have been found to appreciate business all day and is not too tired to take it up again after dinner. The three acts deal with the enterprise of a young partner for it. He is erroneously advised by his lawyer that the inventor in whom he confides has tricked him. The product is said to be worthless. So in order to escape legal consequences of agreement he pretends to be non compos mentis. But this mental attitude becomes irksome when he learns that the inventor is turning out for him much more valuable than rubber. It is then that he must struggle to extricate himself from the reputation for mental weakness which he had falsely assumed.

It took some effort to discover this degree of story in Mr. Marcin's as it was acted last night. There had been either on the part of the producer or writer perhaps a complete abandonment of all other elements in the play in favor of the insanity which Roy d'arnes should reveal as the promoter of an enterprise which had gone wrong. It may have been that Mr. Marcin's play was accepted because it afforded an opportunity to Mr. Barnes, whom we all know from the earlier employment of himself since he reported when allied before the curtain after the second act the same old story about the listening actors which had gone wrong. His occupation in vaudeville productions.

But he had earned the apparent gratitude of the public, which applauded him warmly by the insistence on his old, incomprehensible manner. It was difficult to understand more than three words out of five that he spoke, since he has a number of utterance that begins something like the high of the producer or writer, a complete abandonment of all other elements in the play in favor of the insanity which Roy d'arnes should reveal as the promoter of an enterprise which had gone wrong.

There are still the moving pictures. "See My Lawyer" is the sort of a production not much cheer the heart of the movie magnates.

BERNHARDT'S TOUR DELAYED. "Moloch" to Fill Madame's Time at the New Amsterdam.

Sarah Bernhardt's proposed tour of the United States has been delayed. She will not open her season at the New Amsterdam until September 20, as had been arranged and will not sail for America until a date yet to be fixed with her American manager, W. P. Connor.

The Bernhardt time at the New Amsterdam will be filled by Klaw & Erlanger with Beulah M. Dix's war play, "Moloch," presented in association with George C. Tyler. It had been planned to present "Moloch" at the Liberty Theatre, but it was found that the production was of such an elaborate character that the stage of the Liberty would be inadequate.

"Moloch" utilizes the services of more than sixty principals and superns. It is in five acts and runs on a grand scale. The cast includes Holbrook Blinn, Edmund Breese, Lillian Albertson, Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, Brighton Dale, Louie Hutter, Garnett Hughes, Ruth Benson, Paul Gordon and Cornish Beck. The play has already had a short season late last spring in Chicago and Cleveland.

Plays and Players. The engagement of the "Ziegfeld Follies" at the New Amsterdam Theatre will terminate Saturday, September 12. The production will be transferred to the Colonial Theatre, Boston, on September 20.

W. K. Ziegfeld has organized the Ziegfeld Film Corporation and will open offices in the New York Theatre Building to conduct a motion picture business, which will include screen versions of many popular musical plays.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels and his family, who are here on the boat, will attend the performance of "Gibson Clay" at the Republic Theatre tonight.

Miss Ferguson has returned from a holiday in the Adirondacks and, per 18, will attend the performance of "Gibson Clay" at the Republic Theatre tonight.

SOUTHAMPTON SEES GARDEN PICTURES

Mrs. Peter B. Wyckoff Entertains With Lantern Slide Exhibition.

LATEST FLOWER FEATURE

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Sept. 2.—Mrs. Peter B. Wyckoff entertained at her home this afternoon with an illustrated talk on the gardens of the colony here, including some of those at Wainscott and Bridgehampton. The lantern slides were prepared by Miss Frances B. Johnston and Mrs. Mattie Edwards Hewitt of New York.

The slides shown to-day represented thirty of the flower gardens, a majority of them owned by members of the Southampton Garden Club. This was the first organized effort to get together a representative collection of garden pictures and it is expected that the work originated by Miss Johnston and Mrs. Edwards will be extended to all of the garden clubs throughout the country. About one hundred and fifty guests were present and after the showing of the pictures tea was served.

Among those present were Mrs. George Barton French, Mrs. B. Aymar Sands, Mrs. Frederick A. Snow, Mrs. James L. Brown, Miss Frances Breese, Mrs. Hobbes, Mrs. Thomas, Miss Constance Stillman, Mrs. Charles Blair-McDonald, Mrs. H. A. Robbins, Mrs. Albert B. Boardman, Mrs. A. M. Hoyt, Mrs. Frances Burrill Johnson, Mrs. G. Warrington Curtis, Mrs. William P. Douglas, Mrs. E. Tiffany Dyer, Mrs. Henry Mortimer Brooks, Mrs. T. H. Barber, Mrs. James L. Barclay, Mrs. Edmund Canlin, Mrs. George C. Clark, Mrs. Sherry, Mrs. Forest, Mrs. Edmund de Rose, Mrs. Charles G. Francklyn, Miss A. M. Hegeman, Mrs. W. M. Drinnell, Mrs. Stephen Peabody and Mrs. J. M. Thompson.

Southampton is interested in two weddings which are scheduled for October 3. On that day Miss Beatrice Claffin, daughter of Mrs. A. M. Hoyt, and Mr. B. Claffin, will be married to Robert Breese, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Breese, in St. Andrew's Church at noon.

On the same day to Miss Frances T. Breese, sister of Robert Breese, will be married the bride of Lawrence McKee Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman Miller, at the Orchard, the summer home of the bride's parents, Joint Wood, in reception will follow the ceremony at the Orchard. Miss Eleanor Lamson will be Miss Claffin's maid of honor and Gerald de C. M. of Washington will be Mr. Breese's best man.

DICKENS REALLY SAW SMIKE.

Letter Revealing Originals of "Nickelby" Characters Preserved.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun. LONDON, Sept. 2.—The Times prints apparently hitherto unknown letters from Charles Dickens to Mrs. E. C. Hall about the characters of "Nicholas Nickleby," revealing the original of Squeers and Smike.

The letter tells of visiting Yorkshire to get local color, and adds: "The recollections of those Yorkshire schoolmasters cannot be easily exaggerated. I have seen them, taken in, and thrown as much contempt as I could rather than disgust the worthy reader with his foul aspects."

The letter is in the possession of Messrs. Brown, antiquarian booksellers, in London.

SHIRT IN SOTHERN'S SUPPORT.

Margaret Dale III and Charlotte Walker Takes Her Place.

Margaret Dale, who was to be leading a shirt in support of the Southern in her play at the Booth Theatre, was taken ill yesterday at the Traymore Hotel, Atlantic City, and was obliged to cancel her engagement.

Charlotte Walker, who is Mrs. Eugene Walters, was engaged to fill Miss Dale's part and she will begin at once rehearsals with Mr. Sothern in the first of the new series, "The Virtues," by Alfred Sudo. Miss Dale was reached by telegraph at her summer cottage in Mountain View, Me.

Dr. Henri Iskowitz of New York, Errol of the Ziegfeld Follies, is suffering from a nervous breakdown and was obliged to leave the cast on Wednesday. He is being nursed by the stage manager, William Schroeder. It is not known whether Mr. Errol will be able to go with the company when it leaves for Boston on September 19.

HAY FEVER VICTIMS MEET.

One Doctor Tries to Persuade Them Pollen is Not Injurious.

BETHLEHEM, N. H., Sept. 2.—The fourth annual annual Hay Fever convention began here to-day with a record attendance. The Rev. Guy Roberts of Littleton called the meeting to order.

The report of the secretary, Percy F. Jerome of New York city, was read, after which the usual executive meeting was held.

Dr. Paimalinen of Philadelphia, who is the discoverer of the germ theory as applied to hay fever, prepared a protest against the boycott of flowers here and in other places. He said that the infection of many that the pollen of certain flowers is the cause of hay fever.

This evening President Roberts presided at the annual dinner. New York gave an address on the immunization of hay fever, and osteopathy and hay fever was the subject of an address by Dr. R. Kendrick Smith of Boston, who spoke upon the recently discovered cause of osteopathy in the treatment of hay fever patients.

FIVE NEW TYPHOID CASES.

Health Department, However, Reports No Additional Deaths.

The Health Department announced yesterday that five new cases of typhoid fever had been reported from the infected area of South Brooklyn, bringing the total number of cases since the beginning of the epidemic to 171. There was an additional death, and the number of fatalities so far remains at twenty-four.

GIRL GOES ON FROLIC WITHOUT HER FEET

Daisy James, Ex-Chorus Girl, Who Was Run Over by Train, Out Hunting Fun.

Just because a girl is a cripple is no reason why she should not like to have a good time. That is what Miss Daisy James, once of the Winter Garden chorus, thinks. Miss James was run over by a Lackawanna train at East Orange on June 10 and lost both of her feet, but she didn't lose her lively spirits or her love of fun.

Seven monotonous weeks in the hospital and four more at the window of her mother's little flat in West 135th street caused Miss James to feel on Thursday that it was time for a change. Therefore, when two of her chorus girl chums, June Price and May Torrey, dropped in to cheer her, the party became so hilarious that Miss James's mother protested.

"All right," the three girls said, "if we can't have a good time here we'll go some place where we can." They called a taxicab and Miss James in her wheel chair was propped up in the front seat with the driver. And that is the last her mother has seen of her.

Miss James spent the night in Miss Price's apartment on West Fifty-sixth street. Yesterday the girls continued in full swing, for the girls occupied a box at the Winter Garden matinee. "My little cripple was still undecided last night when she would return home. She even talked of 'taking in' the San Francisco fair."

TO MARRY WHEN SHE VOTES.

Suffrage Organizer Keeps Prof. Reitzel on the Anxious Seat.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2.—"I'm engaged all right," said Miss Jane Myer, suffrage organizer, to-day, "but I'm not going to be married until women have the vote in at least one of the three campaign States."

So Dr. Charles Reitzel, successor to Prof. Scott Nearing at the University of Pennsylvania, is rooting hard for postponement of the nuptials. "I firmly believe," she said, "that the vote will be won for women in Pennsylvania and I'm making my plans accordingly."

EX-FIANCÉE OF PRINCE WEDS.

Miss Alya Underhill Secretly Married to Arthur C. Schoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Underhill of 282 Monroe street, Brooklyn, who announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alya Eugenia, to Prince Salomon Harem, a Syrian nobleman, about a year and a half ago, announced yesterday that she had been married on July 19 to Arthur C. Schoke, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harman Schoke of 205 St. Johns place. The ceremony was performed at Borough Hall by Alderman Nolan. Miss Underhill's parents knew nothing about it until a telegram from her announced that she and her husband were in Atlantic City for their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Underhill opposed the marriage to Mr. Schoke, but let it be known yesterday that their daughter had been forgiven. Mr. Schoke is a member of the Twenty-third Regiment, U. S. N. Y.

MISS ALISON G. DU BOIS ENGAGED.

Mrs. Cornelius DeLafayette Du Bois of 14 Wadden place, Montclair, N. J., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Alison Goldford Du Bois, to Deacon Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Murphy of 19 East Forty-ninth street. The ceremony will be held at the home of the bride's parents, 14 Wadden place, on September 12.

"MUTT AND JEFF" INJUNCTION DENIED

Justice Weeks Rules Against Company Publishing the New York "American."

Supreme Court Justice Weeks denied yesterday an application made by the Star Company, publisher of the New York American, for an injunction restraining the Wheeler Syndicate from disposing of "Mutt and Jeff" cartoons drawn by Harry C. (Bud) Fisher on the ground that the title of the cartoon constitutes a trademark belonging to the plaintiff. The Star Company also claimed the right to prevent any person making any kind of copy of the cartoon.

Justice Weeks stated that in his opinion "Mutt and Jeff" was first drawn by Fisher in San Francisco in 1907 and was copyrighted the same year. The cartoon was introduced with "Mutt" on May 5, 1908. The American first printed the cartoon in May, 1908, describing the cartoonist as "a resident of New York." Justice Weeks said that "they depict the progressive development of the cartoon and the artist's right to the title of the cartoon is subject of the trademark law."

In outlining the respective claims of the American and the artist as to making the reputation of the comics the court said that the reputation of the cartoons was not so much a reputation established by the artist as it was by the artist who produced the cartoon, but for a comic strip containing the grotesque figures of Mutt and Jeff by Bud Fisher. He said that the reputation of the cartoon was not so much a reputation established by the artist as it was by the artist who produced the cartoon, but for a comic strip containing the grotesque figures of Mutt and Jeff by Bud Fisher.

In denying a preliminary injunction and refusing to continue the temporary injunction pending the decision Justice Weeks said: "I am convinced that the right of the Star Company to a trademark in the cartoon is not so much a reputation established by the artist as it was by the artist who produced the cartoon, but for a comic strip containing the grotesque figures of Mutt and Jeff by Bud Fisher."

BALLOU—STRONG.

Ceremony Takes Place in Church of the Heavenly Rest.

Miss Helen Woodhull Strong, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Woodhull Strong, was married to Edward Richardson Balloou, formerly of Providence, R. I., yesterday afternoon in the church of the Heavenly Rest by the Rev. Herbert Shipman, rector of the church. None but relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony, and the guests occupying seats in the choir stalls in the church.

The bride entered the church with her brother, James R. Strong. She wore a traveling costume of dark brown tulle and chiffon. She was also wearing a hat of black velvet trimmed with the crown with narrow bands of rose velvet and wore a corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Dr. Halsey De Wolf of Providence, R. I., was the best man. There were no ushers. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Balloou left on their wedding journey. They will live at 47 East Fifty-ninth street.

MANY GOVERNORS AT BIG N. Y. HOTELS

Foreign Diplomats, Sporting Men and Financiers Also Help Fill Lobbies.

PRaise FOR PRESIDENT

The arrival of several steamships, including the Adriatic, brought large crowds to the big hotels. The corridors were piled high with hat boxes, steamer rugs and baggage of many sorts. In the cafes and restaurants of the hotels were many sporting men from various parts of the United States and Canada. They discussed the McFarland-Gibbons fight and the Belmont race meet. There were also a number of foreign diplomats, buyers, financiers, salesmen eager to sell European representatives munitions to carry on the war and South American business men who seek a new source of supply for the many articles formerly purchased in Europe.

At the McLaughlin Domingos H. dos Santos and Luiz Rombaro, representing the Government of Portugal, were added to the already large group of buyers of munitions for neutral nations of Europe, which are recognizing the value of preparedness.

At the Hotel Manhattan the arrivals included Sir Samuel Hughes of Canada, Minister of Munitions and War. At the Waldorf there were a number of governors, former Governors and big business men.

Gov. William Spry of Utah was one of the distinguished guests at the Waldorf yesterday. He left for home last night. Before leaving he paid a tribute to Boston hospitality and said there was a wave of prosperity apparently everywhere in western Utah. He was treated royally, he said, by citizens of Boston. "The naval and military display," said Gov. Spry, "brought home to me a practical knowledge of the necessity of increasing the army and navy. Congressmen and Senators from Utah are always in favor of increasing the army and navy, and they are ready for any measure that may come up at Washington."

"We in Utah do not want war, but if we've got to have it we feel that we should be prepared. I now feel that the crisis with Germany has passed. President Wilson has done remarkably well. I only wish I could say the same for Gov. Alexander. He is a very capable man and I hope he will have trouble in the future."

Gov. Alexander of Idaho paid a tribute to President Wilson's efforts in bringing the peace treaty to a satisfactory settlement. "The President should receive a re-nomination," he said, "and I am with him. I bolded 'Champ' Clark for Woodrow Wilson at the national convention, and you can see for me that Idaho will be with him solidly despite the fact that it is a Republican State."

Gov. Alexander said the familiar slogan "back to the soil" is now bearing fruit to the great glory of Idaho. Business conditions in Idaho are excellent. "Gov. Alexander is an enthusiastic advocate of preparedness and is of the opinion that action should be taken to give the United States an adequate army and navy as well as proper coast defense."

Former Governor C. M. Haskell of Oklahoma was also at the Waldorf. "Oklahoma is now in a very good position. The crops are good and there is a gradual increase in the oil business. The former Governor praised President Wilson, and said that he felt that Mr. Wilson is the logical candidate of the Democrats. At Jennings, the reformed bandit, according to ex-Gov. Haskell, is still in Oklahoma and now in California, joined the church and is now a preacher."

INVENTOR MAY LOSE SIGHT.

Phosphorus Explodes When Rumanian Begins to Experiment.

The explosion of a bottle of phosphorus on the fifth floor of the house at 21 Manhattan street last night injured Kostou Jordan, a Rumanian artist and inventor, so seriously about the face that he will probably lose the sight of his right eye.

Mr. Jordan was in the city for the purpose of making a study of chemistry through books obtained at the Public Library. Although he knew little about chemistry, he believed that from books he could discover a means of making gun buttons with phosphorus, and yesterday he bought two bottles of the substance to begin experiments at his home. He had not opened the first one and the air reached it it exploded.
