RECORD TOUR FOR A SHOW.

One of the Shubert Companies to Travel for a Year.

The longest tour ever mapped out for a musical organization was settled yesterday in the Shubert offices. The company now presenting "The Passing Show" at the Winter Garden will start their travels in the city of London. The first engagement will be played in Chicago and will end Thanksgiving. Then, until the spring, the company will tour in the Eastern States.

GUNS FOR WAR PLAY.

Two mammoth guns intended for the man-of-war scene in "Stolen Orders," the new war melodrama to be acted at the Manhattan Opera House, were carried to the theatre yesterday from Staten Island. They are the only objects used in the play that were made in this country. These were made because none of the steamships was large enough to carry them in the hold and they are altogether too realistic to be stored on land.

Plays and Players.

Barbara Schaeffer has been engaged by the Shuberts for an important part in Lehara's opera "Alone at Last."

Ruber Christians will open the Irving Place Theatre's regular season on September 6 with a revival of "The Man in the Saddle."

It is announced from the Metropolitan Opera House that the De Diaghilew Ballet will appear several times in Geneva before leaving for this country in October.

Eva Tangany last night presented George Johnson, manager of the New London Theatre, with a gold watch, which was given after she had been on the staff at a supper given on the stage in Mr. Johnson's honor.

Alvin Mason has been engaged by the Shuberts for the company at the Theatre. They will play "Mario Milo," which was last week and decided to return to the stage. Miss Milo had been booked for a part in "Town Topics."

STOCKBRIDGE HAS ARTISTS SUMMER ART EXHIBIT

Painters and Sculptors From the Berkshires Contribute Charming Examples.

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 5.—Artists who have studios in the Berkshire Hills and around the Berkshires, have in the Berkshires are exhibiting their paintings and sculpture at the seventh annual exhibition of this coterie which opened at the Casino yesterday.

A dominant note in the paintings is the selection of winter scenes by many of the exhibitors. William L. Carrigan, H. A. McCallum, Charles Allen Hubert, Clark G. Voorhes, W. Merritt Post, Walter Nettleton, Gardner Symons and Walter L. Palmer each exhibit a winter picture.

One of Walter Nettleton's works entitled "The Bluebirds' Note," a small canvas, which portrays the breast of winter, was sold to Grenville L. Winthrop.

There are several notable portraits. Robert Field has painted a new likeness of Everett Jansen Wendell and one of Miss Charlotte R. Barnes. Miss Mary Scott exhibits a portrait of Miss Henry Worthington. Bul. Leslie Emmett, a portrait of Miss Mary Warner, one of Miss Lydia Field Emmett and a study of Miss Elizabeth H. Van Siclen.

Frederic Crowninshield presents a number of oils and several watercolors of his beloved Taormina in Sicily, showing the cliffs and the cliff at Taormina, an old Greek theatre and some olive slopes. Daniel Chester French exhibits a detail of the memorial fountain at the entrance to Saratoga. Possibly the most admired single work in the exhibition is a panel portrait in sculpture of Daisy King exhibits a relief panel of the three children of Dr. and Mrs. George Grenville Merrill. Miss and Mrs. George Grenville Merrill. Miss and Mrs. George Grenville Merrill.

NEW STAGE FIRM EXPANDS.

Marbury-Costock Company Will Manage the Princess Theatre.

The Marbury-Costock Company, organized last month to produce "Nobody Home," has been so successful in its enterprises that it will assume this year charge of the Princess Theatre, as well as make other productions.

The company consists of Elizabeth Marbury and F. Ray Costock. Its principal New York theatre will be the Princess, which will be used for musical plays as well as dramatic performances. The Princess Theatre will be used also by the Music League of America in exploiting the young musicians under its control. This is an organization which is intent on making easy the beginnings of young musicians. Then Georgina Roberts, the well known lecturer, will have twenty conferences in the little auditorium.

Early in October the Marbury-Costock Company will produce a new musical comedy by Jerome Kern and H. B. Smith. After the musical "Nobody Home," which is now appearing in "Nobody Home" in Boston, will be put forward in a new musical play by P. G. Wodehouse, for which Jerome Kern will write the lyrics.

Maurice and Walton will be seen in an "entirely novel play with original incidents and unique stage settings and costuming." About the same time will appear under the management of the Marbury-Costock Company in a new comedy written for him by Jules Bois, the French dramatist, who has been in this country for some time.

NEWPORT FOLK GET DAY OF NEEDED REST

Several New York Yachts Arrive—Beaches Are Fairly Crowded.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 5.—After a rather joyous Saturday and Sunday night, Sunday was quiet, the only social entertainments here today being a few informal affairs. It was truly a day of rest, though the hot weather sent many to Bailey and Hazard beaches.

Among those at the Casino today were Marshall Gordon of New York, visiting J. Russell Douglas; R. De B. Cruger of New York, guest of William Woodworth; Masters Wanamaker and Mohr of Philadelphia, Augustus Heeron of Madrid, G. Creighton Webb and Moses Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Hays of New York are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Charles D. Easton. They motored from the city with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Eckstein.

FRED NIBLO TO BE A STAR.

George M. Cohan's Latest Play Will Open This Afternoon.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Sept. 5.—The first appearance of George M. Cohan's newest play, "Hit the Trail Holiday," an America farce, with Fred Niblo in the title role, will be given at the Broadway Theatre here at a matinee to-morrow. The Long Branch engagement is for three nights, with three performances and a Saturday matinee to follow at the Broadway Theatre in Astoria Park.

MRS. H. C. SCHWAB WEDS.

MONKEY CALLED TO ACT IN LONDON

Chiquita and Two Other Actors, All in "Romance" Cast Here, Wanted Abroad.

It may be true that the newest star in the city has four legs and answers to the name of Jasper, but there are older animal favorites who are not without recognition. Chiquita, the monkey who was for a whole season with Doris Keane at the Maxine Elliott Theatre in "Romance," seemed so indispensable to the success of that play that the gifted simian has just been taken to England by her trainer in order to have the same important part in the third act that she did here.

Chiquita, the monkey who was for a whole season with Doris Keane at the Maxine Elliott Theatre in "Romance," seemed so indispensable to the success of that play that the gifted simian has just been taken to England by her trainer in order to have the same important part in the third act that she did here.

Two other actors associated with the large run of "Romance" in this city were sent for by Miss Keane to go to London. One was Glida Varese, who made such an impression as the German lover of Countess Brastel that the manager understood just how to mix her spaghetti, and A. E. Anson, who played the New York banker. But the monkey was the first importation.

William Elliott, who first announced his forthcoming play at the Comedy Theatre in "The Delinquent," then sparred for wind with the comprehensive description "a new play which he hopes you will like," and after trying to get "Just Outside the Door" to be produced here, he has now brought the piece "Just Boys," has now called it off—but only temporarily. Instead of being acted at the matinee this afternoon, it will be given on Wednesday night at the Comedy Theatre. Ernest Truex, who acted in "Just Outside the Door" at the Comedy Theatre, is the hearing under Mr. Elliott every day and will now have the benefit of three evening rehearsals as well.

In addition to Forbes-Robertson, Cyril Maude, Martin Harvey and the other Englishmen who are coming to the United States this season, it is highly probable that another noted London actor who has long been anxious to make a tour in this country will return again.

No, it is not Boerholm Tree, eager as he is to find a play which shall make American managers once more bid for services, but George Alexander, the fortunate British player who may be able to come to the United States later in the present season. This has been rendered possible by "The Big Drum," Powers' latest play.

Long popular as the actor manager of the St. James Theatre in London, Mr. Alexander has been otherwise than as a member of the late Sir Henry Irving's company. He has been awaiting a play which he felt would carry him safely through the American tour, but until "The Big Drum" he had not the American rights to such a play. He had the promise of the rights to this play from the late Sir Henry Irving and it is probable that he will bring this latest work of the famous playwright to this country with the complete rights to it. The play is James' "The Big Drum."

E. H. Sothern, who has not been seen on the New York stage for two years, will open his season at the Booth Theatre during the first week in October. Alfred Sator, who has been away from the city for some time, is expected to return to the local theatre as an actor of high comedy. He enacts the part of a rather simple minded man of the name of George Alexander in the novel. Because he refuses to marry a titled woman of a certain age at the request of his father, he is killed by a cruel man of being still interested in an old maid, now the wife of a poet. Then her appearance on the stage in "The Big Drum" has given her the attention of the press and it is probable that she will bring this latest work of the famous playwright to this country with the complete rights to it.

UNION SEMINARY ATTACKED.

Pamphlet on Controversy Issued by Dr. M. A. Matthews.

The Rev. Dr. Mark A. Matthews of Seattle, Wash., former moderator of the Presbyterian General Conference, is continuing his attacks on the Union Theological Seminary of this city with a pamphlet containing a selection of orthodox articles on the controversy, including his own address on "Fundamentals" made when he presented his resignation to the committee which investigated the controversy.

None of the officers of the seminary could be reached yesterday, but it was said by one closely acquainted with their affairs that they are giving up paying attention to any of the orthodox statements because no action could be taken until the graduating students of the seminary come up for entrance into the Presbyterian next spring. Dr. Matthews has announced his intention of fighting his admission to the Presbyterian at that time unless they prove to be more orthodox than seminary graduates in the past.

OPERA TO BE HEARD AT LEXINGTON AVENUE

Max Rabinoff Announces Short Season for Pavlova and Boston Singers.

Max Rabinoff announced yesterday that the Pavlova Ballet Russe and the opera company now associated with it, which is to appear for five weeks next winter at the Boston Opera House, would give two weeks of opera and ballet at the Lexington Avenue Opera House beginning October 25.

The organization will be known as the Boston Opera Company. This is the theatre which Oscar Hammerstein built for opera in English, but he was unable to carry out his plans owing to the contract existing between him and the Metropolitan Opera Company, so the performances given by the Boston Opera Company will be the first of the kind here.

Among the operas to be sung will be "La Muette de Portici," with Mlle. Pavlova in the leading role, which is that of a mime. In the Boston Opera Company will remain his policy of presenting Broadway successes at popular prices.

John Cort, who has leased the Lexington Avenue Opera House, hitherto devoted to stock and movies, as a combination theatre, will open his season tonight with "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

Mr. Cort informed this contract with the theatre, said Richard Lambert, his representative, last night, and for two weeks this season will be suspended in order that these performances of opera, which are to be on a most elaborate scale, may be given. After that time Mr. Cort will resume his policy of presenting Broadway successes at popular prices.

BRETTON WOODS HOTELS BUSY.

$1,000 Golf Prize Offered by Western Women.

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., Sept. 5.—Bretton Woods had the biggest week end of the season. Last night the Mount Washington House was more crowded than in a long while, entertaining about 600 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Lafrantz, Miss Lafrantz and Miss Hazel R. Lafrantz have arrived for a few days stay. F. E. Foss and W. H. Chadbourne are other guests. Judge Appleton and Miss Appleton, who are at Bethlehem for September, motored over to luncheon at the Mount Pleasant today.

An American four ball match is to be played to-morrow over the Mount Washington course by four Western men. It is understood that the Westerners have offered $1,000 to any quartet that can beat them. A collection in aid of the employees' emergency fund will be taken.

Mrs. Arthur Butler Twombly of the Profile House entertained several members of the cottage colony at luncheon. John C. Tappin of New York will entertain later in the week.

Several informal parties were given in the evening. The dancing following the dance. Among those entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Cabot Jackson Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Seaver Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dimond, Mr. and Mrs. J. Benwick Dimond, Franklin D'Olier and Andrew Freedman.
