

OHIO LIKES WILSON AND DEFENCE PLAN

Warning of U. S. Peril Strikes Responsive Chord and Routs Pacifists.

LIKELY TO CARRY STATE

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31.—President Wilson left a good impression in Cleveland and upon the newspapers of the State. It was comforting to him and his entourage to get out of the political bizzard of Pennsylvania and into the more congenial atmosphere of the Buckeye State, where he is well liked. The sudden change in attitude toward him was noted almost the moment the State line was crossed. The hour before dark witnessed warm demonstrations in all the hamlets. At Alliance crowds jammed the depot platform and the nearby streets. Cleveland did not go wild over Mr. Wilson, nor get effusive. It was a cordial and warm greeting. There was a fair crowd at the depot and for several blocks up the street.

Mr. Wilson's Sunday rest was not disturbed by throngs, admiring or curious. But his speech took very well. It hit a popular chord, notwithstanding the fact that there is a small outcropping of the peace at any price movement in Cleveland. The President's position in this State is somewhat strengthened, leaders say, by the fact that the Republicans will take a strong stand on preparedness, the only difference between the two parties in this issue being one of plans. But Ohioans are prepared to support the President in any emergency, and his position is strengthened by the fact that the big audience left the place with a full realization of the President's position.

One reason for the stop in Cleveland was that the pacifists in this district have been swamping the Cleveland Congressmen with a letter writing campaign against the Wilson program or any program which contemplates further strengthening of the military and naval armaments. The President's position in this State is somewhat strengthened, leaders say, by the fact that the Republicans will take a strong stand on preparedness, the only difference between the two parties in this issue being one of plans. But Ohioans are prepared to support the President in any emergency, and his position is strengthened by the fact that the big audience left the place with a full realization of the President's position.

Think He Will Carry State. It also was the general opinion that his speech would be a public opinion received, will put a damper on the pacifist activities in this section of the State. Former Mayor Newton D. Baker, the real Democratic leader in this district, believes that Wilson will carry Ohio, not in a landslide, but by a comfortable vote, largely because of the man himself. "Ohio particularly," he said, "is a State in which the masses, especially outside of the cities, are strong for men of great moral force. Wilson is a man of that kind. He is a man of the people, without respect to their party affiliation. This is a State of many colleges. No State in the Union is so patriotic as Ohio. It is a State of men who stand better with the rock and the voters to-day than Ohio. What the campaign will bring about we cannot say, but to-day it is entirely safe to put Ohio in the Democratic column."

VAGUE, SAYS PITTSBURG. Press Attacks Speech and Asks How Far Would He Go. PITTSBURG, Jan. 31.—That President Wilson found Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania vigorously prepared, but that he failed in the direction in which his address appeared perfectly willing to be led is the consensus here—the second sober thought—on the two speeches Saturday in Pittsburgh. A more studied view than any expressed is that put forward to-day, two days after the speeches, by the Gazette-Tribune editor, George T. Oliver's Republican daily.

Attack by Roosevelt Organ. The Leader, a rabid Roosevelt organ, says tonight: "I cannot tell what the international relations of this country will be tomorrow," quoting the President.

WESTERNERS BEGIN THEIR FIGHT AGAINST BRANDEIS

Iowa Railroad Commissioner Files a Protest, Declaring That the Boston Lawyer "Threw" the Advanced Rate Case.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—A subcommittee of five Senators was named by the Senate Committee on the Judiciary today to investigate and report on the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. Senator Overman presided in the absence of Chairman Cullerton and named as members of the subcommittee Senator Chilton of West Virginia, chairman, and Senators Walsh of Montana and Fletcher of Florida, Democrats, and Senators Cummins of Iowa and Clark of Wyoming, Republicans. The subcommittee will hear every person who has anything of value to offer. This subcommittee is regarded as highly favorable to Mr. Brandeis. Both Senators Walsh and Fletcher are strong Administration followers. Chilton of West Virginia also is usually found following closely in the footsteps of the President. It would not have been possible to have selected three Democratic Senators on the Judiciary Committee who are more generally known as "Administration men."

A Personal Selection. The Department of Justice has replied to the inquiry made by the Senate Judiciary Committee in regard to Mr. Brandeis' nomination, stating that the Attorney-General says that there were no recommendations made to the President in favor of Mr. Brandeis; that it was a personal selection by the President. It is understood that the Department of Justice is preparing to defend the Brandeis selection, if it has not already done so, in a communication to the Judiciary Committee, contending that he has the proper judicial temperament, and instances will be cited in support of this statement.

BRANDEIS STILL MUM. Leaves for Boston, Determined to Keep Silent. Louis D. Brandeis left New York for Boston at midnight with determination to say nothing about his nomination for publication. Mr. Brandeis intends to preserve the same silence for some time, particularly interested in the Supreme Court bench is either approved or rejected by the Senate.

Progressive Support Uncertain. On the establishment by Mr. Thorne of his case will depend whether certain progressive Republicans in the West will support the nomination. The Iowa Senators were particularly interested. It was learned to-day that ex-Senator Brewster, now a member of the Kansas Railroad Commission, was in Washington yesterday. Mr. Thorne will tell his story to the subcommittee and some members regard it as important. Just what other interest will be heard on the nomination is not now clear.

SHIPYARDS LACKING IN BIG NAVY SCHEME

Chief Constructor Taylor Says Facilities Must be Increased to Meet Demands. WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Even if Congress and the President should agree on an increase in the naval building program a serious problem will arise because of lack of shipbuilding facilities in the United States, the House Naval Affairs Committee was informed today. No matter how many battleships, battle cruisers and auxiliary vessels may be authorized there is going to be much trouble in finding a place to build them. It is estimated that the Navy needs eight acres of land for every six additional ships. Two have just been begun and one cannot yet be said to be on the way. The building program proposed by the Administration calls for fifty-six additional ships of all classes. In view of the fact that the shipyards are now busier than for many years there are misgivings on the part of the House committee as to the facilities for building them.

E-2 INQUIRY ERROR. Edison Engineer Did Not Contradict Hutchinson as Reported. It has been called to the attention of the E-2 that an error was made in January 25 before the court of honor, which investigated the explosion in the submarine E-2. Mr. Mitchell, electrical engineer at the Edison laboratory, contradicted previous testimony by Miller (George Hutchinson) by asserting that in tests previous to the explosion the batteries had been discharged to zero with the ventilation entirely inboard. This was an error.

Gen. Edwards Also Will Appear in Washington—Both Deny Friction. Major-Gen. Goethals, Governor of the Panama Canal Zone, and Brig-Gen. Edwards, commanding the United States troops of the zone, arrived yesterday from Cristobal by the United Fruit steamship Columbus, apparently in accord, although they sat at different tables on the trip. The two asserted that they were not at odds, as reported. Gen. Goethals said that he had been summoned to appear at Washington on Friday before the Congressional Committee on Appropriations to tell about what he had done and what he needed to make the canal navigable again.

BURNETT BILL TO HALT ALIEN TIDE REPORTED

Author Fears a Flood of Undesirable Immigrants After the War. WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The Burnett immigration bill, embodying a provision designed to restrict the incoming flood of undesirable aliens from Europe, expected after the war, was reported to the House today. The committee, according to the report of Chairman Burnett, expresses the conviction that this bill will do much to halt the tide of undesirable immigrants which is expected to flow into the United States after the war. The bill contains a provision for excluding aliens of "constitutional psychics" from the country. This term is defined in the report as "a congenital defect in the emotional or volitional fields of mental activity which results in inability to make proper adjustment to the environment."

LAMAR, 'THE WOLF,' MUST GO TO PRISON

Loses Appeal on Conviction for Impersonating Federal Official.

HAS TWO YEARS TO SERVE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The Supreme Court decided to-day that David Lamar, "the wolf of Wall Street," must serve two years in the Atlanta Federal prison under the sentence of the Federal court for the Southern District of New York. Lamar was in the court room when the opinion was read by Justice Holmes, in which the whole court concurred. He was convicted on an indictment charging him with violation of an official statute by impersonating an officer of the Government with intent to defraud. Thirty days of liberty are left to him before he begins serving the sentence. The thirty days must expire before the mandate of the Supreme Court will go to the court below. Lamar now is out on bail.

The fact that Lamar was busy taking notes on the opinion this afternoon indicates that he will ask for a rehearing. He has until the expiration of the present term to apply for a rehearing, but this will not delay the carrying out of the sentence. The opinion of Justice Holmes reads in part: "The plaintiff in error was tried and convicted upon an indictment charging him with having falsely pretended to be an officer of the Government of the United States; to wit, a member of the House of Representatives; that is to say, A. Mitchell Palmer, a member of Congress, with intent to defraud J. P. Morgan & Co. and the United States Steel Corporation. The case is brought here directly on the ground that the court had no jurisdiction because the indictment does not charge a crime against the United States and that the interpretation of the Constitution was involved in the decision that a Congressman is an officer of the United States. There are subsidiary objections stated as constitutional that it does not appear in what district the crime was committed."

The practice seems to be now uniform among men of large properties to designate a trust company as one of their executors." (A supreme court justice made this statement when appointing a trust company to act jointly with an individual in the management of an estate.) The Bankers Trust Company is designated as executor and trustee under will by many men of large properties who realize that under this Company's efficient management, the best interests of their heirs will be scrupulously guarded.
