

MAXIM BUYS SECRET OF GREEN GASOLINE

Corporation Plans to Get Patent and Make 2 Cents a Gallon Auto Fuel.

TO MAKE ENRICH RICH

Dr. Louis Enrich of Farmingdale, L. I., has found a backer for his two-cent gallon green gasoline.

The exact amount Dr. Enrich got for his invention is not to be made public for a few days, but the terms of the contract, R. F. Taylor, treasurer of the company, said yesterday that the inventor might realize something like a million dollars.

The Maxim Munitions Corporation issued a statement yesterday saying that experiments "up to this time" prove conclusively that the invention when fully perfected in some of its minor details will be revolutionary in character.

The announcement that the company was going to patent the formula, if it could, and put the new motor fuel on the market in other words, sell it to the public—confirms what Dr. Enrich had expressed determination to dispose of it to nobody who would not give the secret to the world as a present.

Dr. Enrich refused last night to comment on the transaction in any way, but his son said his father never said he would insist that the secret be given to the public.

Mr. Taylor said, however, that the Maxim Munitions Corporation had been in touch with Dr. Enrich long before Henry Ford got on his trail, and so had a prior claim on the day Dr. Enrich saw Dr. Enrich in the latter told reporters he had in his pocket an offer from a big New York financier of a million dollars and an interest in a company to sell the fuel.

Before that the Staten Island residents had shown their feelings by sprinkling their applause at the Mayor's feet.

The laboratory and chemical plant will be erected on the site of an old ere tract in Farmingdale, near Dr. Enrich's home, which already has been bought and paid for.

Dr. Enrich said that the fuel can be used in an automobile. It is an odorless, colorless, and equally well in any explosive engine.

After a man named Grady, representing the Brooklyn Ash Removal Company, had made a speech against the bill and called his climax by saying that he had never read it, Linton L. Lewis, attorney for the contractors, tried to speak against the measure.

SHORT BROOMS PUT KINKS IN CLEANERS

J. T. Fetherston's Experiment Brings Quick Protest From Backache Squad.

STRANGE FEATS SEEN

Somebody recently suggested to Street Cleaning Commissioner J. T. Fetherston that a greater degree of efficiency might be obtained by his white wings in the service of the city streets.

The idea, it is understood, originated with some members of an improvement association whose aesthetic natures were sorely distressed by daily surveys of dirt and rubbish left in the streets after street sweepers had passed by with their long handled brooms.

The Commissioner thought there might be something in the suggestion, and having the name of the average housewife's broom and dustpan in mind, he gave orders that the experiment be tried.

Squads of white wings, armed with brooms and pan scrapers with abbreviated handles were sent to various districts in Fifth, Seventh and Eighth avenues and elsewhere to start the test.

Most of them were grandfathers and a large percentage rejoiced because their physical life was no longer a burden because of disappearing in the spring warmth.

They hadn't worked long before many of them complained of pain in the back as the result of bending low. Some got kinks in their necks and cricks in their shoulders, and others insisted that the unusual exercise of hugging the pan and the short handle broom into juxtaposition so near mother earth gave them cramps in the wrists which "were some-times" followed by a "dizzy" feeling.

When they had finished the Mayor said that Staten Island had already entered into a contract with the Romer Shoals project.

COURT TO TAKE UP CONVICT JOY RIDING

Ossining Municipal Judge Begins Inquiry and Invokes Aid of Prosecutor.

CALLS OFFENCE SERIOUS

OSSINING, May 3.—Municipal Judge Valentine began an inquiry to-day into the alleged automobile riding by convicts, which, according to reports, is one of the most serious pastimes of the Judge Valentine made it clear that his investigation is being made with the advice of Corporation Counsel Benjamin Fagan purely as a matter of public safety.

He got into communication with District Attorney Weeks to ascertain what assistance the Westchester prosecutor could give him, particularly in compelling, if possible, the testimony of William Darragh, Patrick McShane and other influential convicts who went motoring. The municipal judge said at large in a racing car would kill other children as he did Ingevaard Trimble, for which he is now serving a prison sentence.

As to the facts about the autoring of Darragh, McShane, Doc Mater and Patrick Lupo came to light Sing Sing prison after the fact, but their reported joy rides to-day. Nothing since the indictment of T. M. Osborne created such a furor. Out in the village speculation was going on that the Governor would be Gov. Glynn who stepped in and put an end to motoring by David A. Sullivan, ex-convict, in Warden McCormick's regime.

"If Darragh was the man who was outside the prison he committed a criminal offense," said Judge Valentine. "He committed a crime under the motor vehicle law. If any officer of the prison, knowing his record and that his license to run an automobile had been revoked, sent him out he also would be a principal in the crime."

"We consider it a serious offense to permit a man of Darragh's character to go through the streets of this village where children would be in an extreme danger as was the child he killed. We are going to break up this practice as the commission of the offense brings into constant danger pedestrians as well as children."

$50,000 FIRE DESTROYS PIER

Domestic Merchandise Burned With Lackawanna Structure.

PIER DESTROYED

Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed a pier belonging to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company at the foot of West Twenty-eighth street and furnished an exciting time for the firemen, three fireboats and half a dozen fire engines.

The fire started in some cotton bales near the end of the pier and spread quickly, lighting and damaging two fireboats. Quick work by the firemen and fireboats before the fire had reached the pier, prevented its spread to the congested shipping district in the vicinity. Lieut. John Pratt of Engine Company 34 was injured by a falling beam and treated by the Stevens of New York Hospital.

It was said at the company's offices that there had been no strike on the pier, but although the fire was not thought to be of incendiary origin an investigation was started.
