CALIFORNIA POLO BETTER FIELDING AS RULE CHANGES

Santa Barbara Blues and Reds With the Passing of the Spit Ball There Will Be Fewer Wild Throws.

GOLD CUP MEET OPENS RUTH CAN PLAY CENTRE

In First Contest of Series Or Thinks He Can, for He Wants to Go There—The Cure of John Evers.

By WILLIAM B. HANNA. Jack Quinn, Yankee pitcher, takes a view of the banishment of the spit ball which is essentially that of a spit ball pitcher. He doesn't mourn its passing for any effect it may have on him.

Quinn is right in one way. A profession of runs is not wanted by the pitcher. But the spit ball is more than a mere prop. There's no dissatisfaction with scores as they are and no demand for any marked increase in batting. But the fans do object to pitching by other than natural means.

For aesthetic reasons, if for no other, the spit ball should have been thrown into the ash heap, but there's still another benefit its smutting out will bring.

Many New Yorkers Present. Among the well known people in the boxes, many of whom are New Yorkers, were Mrs. William Miller Graham and her daughter, Miss Gertrude Graham.

Babe Ruth has expressed his preference for centre field to right at the Polo Grounds. If the Babe has natural talents, and he appears to think he can cover the amount of ground, forward, backward and sideways, a centre fielder must cover Huggins' no doubt he is glad to put him there.

It seems to me that a lot of unnecessary words have been added to the baseball playing code by the recent rule changes and that there were several cases where the policy should have been to let well enough alone.

The spirit of the rules always has been to differentiate between a misplay on a pitched ball and one on a batted ball. The former is a matter of skill and vigilance attendant on pitching and receiving pitching entitles those concerned to exemption from fielding errors.

It is a pity that the original rule makers, and the rule is changed why isn't it a fielding error if a runner comes in from a field on a dropped third strike? It's a great calamity.

One of the best of the changes was prompted by Griffith of Washington. It curbs the intentional pass pitcher by providing a penalty if the catcher moves out of his position prior to the pitch.

Crooked fingers and enlarged joints are so common among professional ballplayers that more have them than don't. There are some notable exceptions. One of these is Pop Anson.

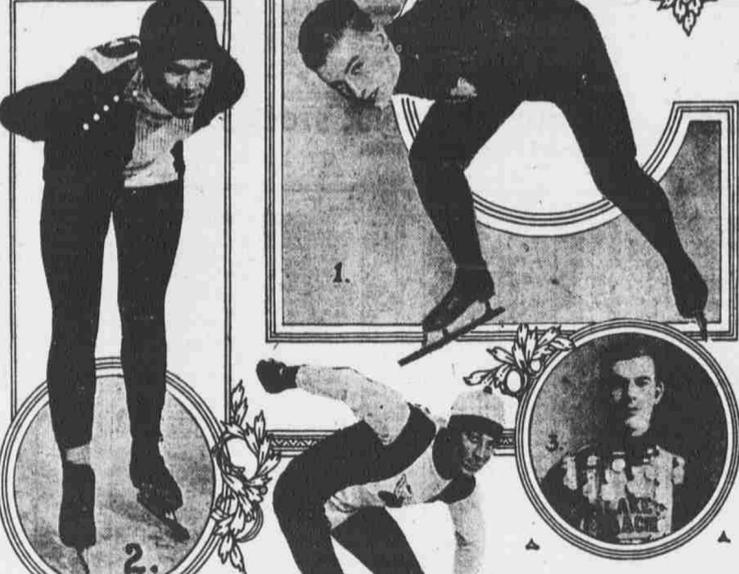

Baseball has been forbidden for French army officers as "too tough." It injures their fingers. Over baseball is used to help make officers.

John Evers told the writer last week that his service "over there" cured him of nervousness, and he was one of the most nervous of men. "At first when standing near the big guns in the rear I'd jump and look around when they fired," said John, "but by and by I didn't notice them, didn't stir when they went off and in the end found myself calmer physically and mentally than when I first went over."

Skating Champions Who Meet at Lake Placid

R. L. SPOTTS TOPS SHOOTERS AT TRAPS

Takes Scratch Prize in N. Y. A. C. Contest at Travers Island and With Score of 89.

With a gale of wind threatening to carry the scores off their feet, the contestants in the trapshooting competition of the New York Athletic Club at Travers Island yesterday had to work harder for their laurels than they have had to do at any time this season probably.

Spotts had a big day of it for he was also high scorer on the day and in the Buermerer trophy shoot at fifty birds he scored 46 and therefore shared the honors with W. G. Allen.

R. S. Smith was another who had more than a fair measure of success, his name appearing on the prize list twice and therefore only once less than that of Spotts. His specialty was piling up scores in the handicap competitions.

In case the meeting is called off horsesmen here are to raise a fund to pay all bills for shipping.

CROMWELL REVELS IN HAVANA'S MUD

Wins President Menocal Handicap With Top Weight, 125 Pounds Up.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 15.—The first $2,000 stake, the President Menocal Handicap, to be run at this meeting, and which was decided over a very heavy track to-day resulted in a victory for the sterling campaigner Cromwell, who shouldered 125 pounds and ran the mile and a quarter in 2:24.5. It was a trying test for the thoroughbred as the track was about as bad as it has ever been.

The field was sent away to a good start and the top weight—Cromwell—was taken back under slight restraint. He never made a move on him until the far turn when he sent him to the lead and when the field straightened out for the run to the Judges Mountain let him step along and he won by eight lengths, while Hank O'Day was five lengths in front of the whole country.

Second Race—Purse $100; three-year-olds and upward; claiming; five and a half furlongs.
