Soviet Premier Tells Communist Convention Warsaw Is Irresponsible.

RULING CLASSES AID HIM

Administrative Officers Are Chosen From Former Foes of Proletariat.

By the Associated Press. Moscow, March 29.—Nicolai Lenin, Premier of the Soviet Government, addressing the ninth convention of the Communist party to-day, outlined peace proposals received by the Russian Bolshevik Government, restated some of the principles for which he said the Soviet Republic stood and revealed some concessions to the former governing classes. "We are neither at peace nor at war and are neither recognized nor unrecognized," he said. "Let us have normal peace proposals and Finland's demobilization line are equivalent to a peace overture. Regarding Poland, we must be very careful, because we are dealing with a Government which does not know what it will do to-morrow."

Discussing internal problems, Lenin said centralization or decentralization was the most important question before the convention. While the Soviet Republic stands unaltered for certain principles, such as the abolition of private property, he said, history has shown that when the change from a feudal to a bourgeois government was made the latter availed itself of administrators from former governing classes.

REDS CHASE RUSSIANS INTO MONGOLIA

Bolsheviks Halt at Frontier as 18,000 Pass Over.

LONDON, April 6.—A despatch to the London Times from Peking, dated April 5, says that 8,000 troops and 1,200 officers, part of the forces of Gen. Duoff, Inspector-General of cavalry in the All Russian Army, closely pressed by the Bolsheviks, crossed the Mongolian frontier March 26 at Chanchak and were dispersed under agreement by the Chinese authorities. The Russian force was accompanied by Chinese civilians. It was reported that the Bolsheviks halted at the frontier. It says the troops and refugees are being sent without means and that their presence is creating an embarrassing problem for the Mongolians.

REDS OUT OF ESSEN.

Government Troops Move Against Several Towns.

By the Associated Press. ESSEN, April 6.—Reichswehr forces marched into Essen from two sides of the town this morning. The Reichswehr moved against Dortmund, Hörde, Schwerte and Iserlohn. They also proposed to seize the Ruhr bridges in order to prevent the Reds from retreating into the wooded region between the Ruhr and the Wupper rivers. A brigade of marines has captured Kamp and Horsch. A West despatch to the Tageblatt says the regular troops have occupied the entire northern border of the Ruhr industrial region. The correspondent says the fighting near Dattrop was sanguinary.

The firemen, who receive a minimum wage of $100 a year, asked for an increase of $100.

LORD DERBY OFF TO PARIS

France Anxious That Allies Show United Front to Impress Berlin.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD, Copyright, 1920, by THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. LONDON, April 6.—The advance of French troops into the so-called neutral zone east of the Rhine and the occupation by them of Frankfurt and Darmstadt have greatly added to the gravity of the international situation, according to high officials here. It was authoritatively said that while Downing Street had no news of an "American protest against the French action in sending troops into the zone, the American attitude," the Millerand proposals to that end remained unchanged.

British officials are "still sitting on the fence" and refuse officially to be concerned, inasmuch as France acted alone after both America and Great Britain urged restraint and caution before any provocative step was taken.

France is known to be anxious that the Allies show a united front to impress Germany with the fact that she must live up to the terms of the peace treaty.

Lord Derby, British Ambassador to France, is hurrying back to Paris, after a long conference with Lord Curzon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. Lord Derby will attend the council of Ambassadors in the French capital to-morrow.

Paul Cambon, French Ambassador here, has kept the British Government well informed of the attitude and intentions of the Millerand Cabinet and has discussed daily with Lord Curzon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the situation as it developed.

An official who is closely acquainted with the position of Berlin in the question characterized the situation as most grave. "The effect of the French advance into Germany may be to bring down the German Government," he said, "or, more probably, the French action will so crystallize the warlike elements in Germany that the most serious menace to France since the signing of the armistice will be created."

By the Associated Press. LONDON, April 6.—It is generally assumed by the British press that France is acting alone in the matter of the Ruhr and that the British Government does not approve of her action, and the newspapers are asking anxiously why France is acting alone, and why, if force is needed, it is not allied force.

There is no disposition in the press here to deny that Germany has violated the treaty or to minimize the possibility that the German junkers entertain the designs attributed to them by France, but the newspapers fear that isolated action may increase the difficulties of the position.

The Westminster Gazette is apprehensive that the French action may lead gradually to the original French policy and to the regular occupation of the Ruhr and the Rhine with an extension of the Allies' commitments and responsibilities and a corresponding postponement of a settlement with Germany. Neither Great Britain nor France is in a position to undertake large new repurchases of the kind. For both of us alike the contracting of our liabilities is an urgent necessity," it adds.

According to the Standard the United States Government strongly protested against French action, and has further left the British government under no illusion concerning its views.

USES RUHR AGAINST LEAGUE.

Senator Calder Sees Warning to U. S. in Action of France.

Senator William M. Calder interpreted the entry of French troops into German territory as a typical instance of the sort of thing the United States would constantly be drawn into under the League of Nations, speaking to the Society of Old Brooklynites at Grant Post Hall, 49 Washington avenue, Brooklyn, last night. He said he was confident the American people would not want to send their sons overseas to settle boundary disputes.

"The inevitable has happened," said the Senator. "France has sent her army into Germany to protect herself from any possible attack. We owed a debt to France, but that debt has been paid by our sacrifices in the world war."

FRANCE DID RIGHT. SAYS LONDON 'TIMES'

Asserts England Can't Stand Aside From Her Ally.

LONDON, April 7 (Wednesday).—"The French have taken the right course after such warnings as they had given the Germans," says the London Times to-day, discussing the French advance into Germany. "The sharp surprise," the newspaper continues, "which the step caused among the inhabitants of Berlin is very wholesome. We trust it also will be felt by the German militarists and their accomplices in Wilhelmstrasse."

Hope is expressed by the newspaper that it will not be necessary for others of the Allies to advance into the Ruhr district, "but should the conduct of the German Government or its inability to control general matters make it necessary, public opinion in England, we are convinced, will insist that our French friends shall receive the fullest and heartiest support from their British comrades in arms."

The Times says it notices with extreme wonder statements from Washington and Rome that the British and Italian Governments are standing aside and that they had no objection to the German advance, provided the troops were to be withdrawn when order was restored.

"We do not know what the Italian Government may or may not have decided," the Times says, "and we know that unhappily America is reverting more and more to her old attitude of isolation, until, at any rate, the elections are over. But in the enforcement of the treaty there can be no standing aside for England from her French ally."

CHIEF OF STAFF OF DENIKINE MURDERED

Killed in Constantinople Soon After His Arrival.

By the Associated Press. CONSTANTINOPLE, April 6.—Gen. Wrangel, commander of the volunteer army of Russia, has been appointed to relieve Gen. Denikine as commander of the anti-Bolshevik forces in the south of Russia.

Denikine's former chief of staff, Gen. Romanovsky, was murdered to-night in the Russian Embassy here, shortly after his arrival in Constantinople. There is no clue to the murderers.

The anti-Bolshevik leaders are to be called to Sebastopol. Wrangel is such a forceful character that the Russians fighting against the Reds are said to believe he can reorganize the shattered volunteer and Cossack forces better than the generals who participated at Odessa and Novorossisk, where the volunteers showed no desire to fight.

Volunteer troops are to occupy Simferopol and Sebastopol. Gen. Alexieff's division is to occupy Kerch. Don and Kuban Cossacks are at Eupatoria, on the western coast of the Crimea. The Bolsheviks are not yet making any headway in the Crimea.

In the Caucasus the Bolsheviks are advancing rapidly toward Azerbaijan and Georgia. From Petrovsk, on the Caspian Sea, they have reached Derbent, on the Faku Railroad. They also are moving steadily along the railroad and toward the important port on the Black Sea south of Novorossisk.

RAISING MILLION FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Earl Grey Heads Appeal for Educational Fund.

LONDON, April 7 (Wednesday).—Earl Grey, Premier Lloyd George, Admiral Beatty, former Premier Asquith, Lord Robert Cecil and John R. Clynes published an appeal this morning in the London Times for £1,000,000 sterling "to keep fresh in the minds of the people of this country the spirit and ideal which underlie the covenant of the League of Nations."

The appeal points out what the League of Nations Union already has done in its educational campaign. It says that a million pounds sounds like a large sum, but that if the British people do not support the League of Nations with all their might and resources "the league itself will assuredly wither and die, and if the league should die God help our children, for no human agency can save them from calamities to which those of the late war will appear as the merest trifle."

Spanish Editor Satirical in Discussing His Nation's Budget.

It declares the policy of the United States in this respect is entirely opposed to the fourth of President Wilson's points concerning the reduction of armaments.

LOOK FOR BRITISH SUPPORT ON RHINE

French Applaud Advance of Troops, but Are Concerned as to Allies.

DOUBTFUL OF AMERICA

Feel That Germany Cannot Resist, but Want Allied Cooperation.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD, Copyright, 1920, by THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. PARIS, April 6.—While exultant over the decisive measures by Marshal Foch and Premier Millerand in ordering a forward movement of French forces into the neutral zone east of the Rhine, the French press this morning strikes a note of concern regarding the effect the move will have on France's allies, and especially on the United States.

Rene d'Aral, writing in the Gaulois, says: "To count on the cooperation, or to anticipate the approval of President Wilson, would, I fear, be hazardous."

Italy will, apparently, conform in her attitude to that of England. As far as Great Britain is concerned I would not be surprised if she decided to join with us in such measures of security as we may judge necessary to take without delay."

M. d'Aral considers the long interviews between Premier Millerand and Sir George Grahame of the British Embassy in Paris, as pointing to British favor of a collective demonstration against Germany's continued violations of the Treaty of Versailles.

The Eclair criticizes prospective British support of France in this move as tardy and expresses doubt whether Great Britain's forces on the Rhine are sufficiently strong to withstand a campaign in a country the defence of which is easy to organize. Another difficulty is seen in the British labor element and commercial interests, who are accused of being "obstinate in their interested tenderness for Prussia."

Other newspapers in Paris predict that Great Britain will follow America's lead and refuse active support of France in the event a campaign is necessary. Indeed they look for little cooperation by Washington after orders were issued to the American troops in the Coblenz area not to obey Marshal Foch without the approbation of the United States Government.

"Germany cannot offer resistance if we formulate our plans. We can hold them in restraint by our army and by a blockade. But to-morrow—that is the mystery." The situation is thus summed up by "Perrinax," who adds that it is not passive acceptance of the fact accomplished that is expected by France of her allies, but cooperation, which in the gravest hours France has been accustomed to receive.
