WATCH IN CITY KEPT UP

Appearance of Anarchist Literature Only Move on Part of Radicals.

May Day having passed without developing anything more explosive than a lot of hand clapping and a few rounds of raucous laughter, New York city emerged from its bomb proofs yesterday and went to church. Either their consciences forbade them deserting as beautiful a May 2 as the most meticulous might demand, or there was something wrong with the press agency that prepared the way for the sanguinary revolution that failed to come to pass, for the anarchists, the I. W. W. and the Communist Labor party continued to behave themselves.

G. H. WEAVER KILLED IN A MOTOR WRECK

Vice-President of Remington Typewriter Company Found Dying in Bronxville.

EVIDENCE OF COLLISION

Police Believe Car That Struck Victim's Speeded Away After Accident.

George H. Weaver, vice-president of the Remington Typewriter Company, was found unconscious under his automobile on the White Plains road, near the Elm Rock road, Bronxville, early yesterday, with the car wrecked and twisted around a trolley pole. He was rushed to Bronxville Hospital by the police of Tuckahoe, but died before reaching there and without regaining consciousness, so that he was unable to tell how the accident occurred.

Prices Trend Upward, Reserve Board Reports

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Reports from Federal Reserve agents show a marked tendency of prices to resume their upward movement, the Federal Reserve Board reported to-night, but the Board noted the hopeful sign, from the consumer's viewpoint, of "anxiety concerning the overstrained situation resulting from excessively high prices and wages," which it believed forecast a slowing down in the skyrocketing of prices.

the startling statement presented in the left-hand column as to the high cost of "necessaries", which please read.

The facts authoritatively given out by the chiefs of financial operations in this great country put a new pressure upon us as merchants to do something to create a breakwater against this higher wave of costs said to be still rising to submerge the people by increasing their burdens.

This Pioneer Store

consisting of the first "Different Kind of Store," grown from a seed planted in Philadelphia almost 60 years ago, now includes what was formerly the A. T. Stewart Store in New York. Today it owns at actual selling value and has in store ready for delivery—more than twenty millions of dollars in fine, fresh merchandise, which we shall sell to-day and until further notice at 20 per cent. off, or one-fifth below our lowest regular prices.

All of these sixty years the people have done well by us. Certain principles have guided us from the first from which we have never deviated.

- 1. The people, finding that we dealt only in trustworthy goods, found out that they were well chosen, justly priced, and that we could be depended upon every time.
2. We never have marked up over-values on tickets to created markdowns, and we never will.
3. We made good in all our undertakings without upholstered advertising.
4. Our business has constantly increased, and has never ceased to go ahead.

At this particular moment, when the highest financial authorities point out the probability of still higher prices, we believe that we have an incumbent duty to at least try to do something for our good customers to help them bear the excessive burdens of the hour, and to continue the effort initiated by our Million Dollar Sales in 1917 to break the backbone of high prices.

Therefore with but one reason only, that of a conscientious sense of duty,

The Founder Puts at the Disposal of the Public for a limited time, beginning today

Twenty Millions of the Best Merchandise

that has been bought for cash—not selecting a few articles here and there at lowered prices at the end of a fashion season, which is usual, but by offering

The Full Retail Stock of both our Stores

In New York and Philadelphia

—from end to end and from top to bottom (saving, say, $50,000 or less worth of articles taken in with restrictions we cannot honorably change)—

at 20 per cent. deduction from actual prices

the deduction to be made at time of purchase

NOTE—(1) Nothing will be sold to dealers, (2) No C. O. D.'s. (3) Nothing returnable. (4) Nothing on approval.

Further, in order to influence manufacturers and speculators holding goods for higher prices who may be in want of money at this time when they may find it is scarce and at high rate of interest, we now hereby agree to expend one Million Dollars each week in taking over any desirable merchandise and paying cash for it the day of delivery in order to continue these sales hoping thereby with this great outlet to begin grading down prices if even a little. We pledge ourselves to give our customers every advantage possible in keeping up the sale by means of any reductions we can get from the manufacturer in expending this money.

In one sense, this all means that we are, by these privileges, taking our valued customers into cooperation with us to effect a great purpose.

In all our years we have Never had a finer or larger stock Never been so much prospered with large sales Never been so strongly equipped from every point of view as we are today to conduct such an operation which is wholly for the benefit of the public.

We are simply mastered by a spirit of duty to help the people who have helped us in this renewed effort to start a movement in lowering selling prices of merchandise and bring on more quickly the "better days coming" to this nation.

Please reciprocate by paying cash if practicable, by carrying parcels that are not too large nor heavy, by selecting carefully and not returning goods, and by not asking for C. O. D. delivery or goods on approval.

BRAVERY CITATIONS FOR WAR VETERANS

Crowds Witness Review of Provisional Regiment.

The Provisional Regiment of the New York State Guard, composed of men picked from the entire guard by Major-General John F. O'Rourke, yesterday afternoon at the Parade Grounds, Prospect Park, Brooklyn. The men were reviewed by Brig.-Gen. James Robb of the State Guard and his staff. Thousands of unofficial reviewers lined the four sides of the parade ground and cheered the men enthusiastically. Col. Thomas Fairbairn of the Twenty-third Regiment commanded the provisional troops.

The regiment consists mainly of veterans of the world war. An interesting feature of the ceremonies consisted of the presentation of citations for bravery in action to several officers and men of the Twenty-seventh Division. Those honored were:

Majors Allen S. Regan, J. A. S. Mundy and Raymond T. Moniz. Capt. William C. Ballance. John D. McWilliams, George W. Peppard, J. A. Walsh and James F. Flierschmeier. First Lieut. Robert Bennett and H. C. Prosch, Army Field Clerk Martin S. Timney, Regimental Sergeant-Major Charles M. Hoffman, Henry C. Swartzel, Jr., Howard McClellan, 1st Sgt. A. Bruening, Battalion Sergeant Major Thomas J. Avern, Jr., Sergeants Frank Kelly, Thomas P. Johnson and Edward C. Bennett, Corporal M. A. Hart, Wagoner Van Buskirk, Demarost and Private James H. Ayers.

BISHOP'S BANNER AROUSES WOMEN

Mistake It for Radical Emblem at Dr. Grant's Church.

The banner of the Episcopal Church which hangs suspended above the congregation in the Church of the Ascension at Fifth avenue and Tenth street aroused great indignation in the breasts of two women yesterday.

These women had read about the trouble that the Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the church, had with Bishop Charles Sumner Burch because of the radical demonstrations that he permitted under the consecrated roof. They also had in mind the fact that yesterday was the day after May day, when most radicals are supposed to show their colors in one way or another. They noticed that the church flag was of a blood red hue, and combining these various things they arrived at a conclusion.

"Think of them actually hanging a Socialist flag in the church," one of them said, and the other agreed that it was indeed a terrible thing. Dr. Grant who overheard their conversation, related it last night at the weekly forum services. "That is the Bishop's own flag that they objected to," he said. "It bears the Bishop's seal."

2,000 POLICEMEN AT MASS.

First Communion of Newly Organized Holy Name Society.

Two thousand policemen attended mass yesterday at the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Broadway and Aberdeen streets, Brooklyn, for the observance of the first communion of the newly organized Holy Name Society of the Police Department of Brooklyn and Queens. Bishop McDonnell, the celebrant, was assisted by five priests and the Rev. Morris McMahon, pastor of the church.

Following the services communion breakfast was held at Trommer's Hall, Bushwick avenue and Conway street. Deputy Police Commissioners Leach and Tait, representatives of Commissioner Finley. Among the speakers were Justice Lauder Faber, State Senator Lorinc M. Black, Jr., and County Clerk William C. Kelly.

DEATH PENALTY STAY URGED.

Frazier and Walters to Die Thursday Unless Governor Acts.

Unless Gov. Smith decides to intervene, Oscar Frazier of Stamford and William Walters of this city will be put to death Thursday night at Sing Sing prison. Officials there were hopeful yesterday that the sentences will be commuted.

Justice Morschauer of the Supreme Court has recommended commutation for Frazier. Life imprisonment he suggested would better fit the case. Frazier shot and killed Joseph Green for an attempted attack on his sister. Clemency has been asked for Walters by the trial judge, the District Attorney and the jury that convicted him.

Neighbors' Day' Dinner Thursday

A "neighbors' day" dinner, at which plans will be announced for a campaign to extend the community idea, will be held at the Hotel Commodore, Thursday evening. Francis H. Simon, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Company, and the Rev. John Hayes Holmes of the Community Church, will speak. George Gordon Battle is chairman of the conference, which will be held during the day.

APPEARANCE OF ANARCHIST LITERATURE ONLY MOVE ON PART OF RADICALS.

Churches, great and small, were filled with good looking folk in nice attire. In the larger churches, policemen and detectives stood around ready to discourage desecration, demonstrations and inappropos utterances from the galleries. A cursory inspection was given all who entered St. Patrick's Cathedral, the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and the churches of the wealthy along Fifth avenue and Madison avenue and over in Brooklyn. City and private detectives kept this vigil, and in the less pretentious church edifices, busy members of the congregations did sentry duty around the doors.

Although somewhat relaxed, the guardship established on Saturday over the great municipal buildings, banks and railroad terminals was maintained throughout yesterday. All things considered, it was a day of bad news from America for Nicolai Lenin. Over at Seventh street and Avenue C there was a follow-up meeting of East Side Socialists, who set up standards of how to behave one's self in public. There was but one departure from rigid decorum, and that but a minor infraction of the rules of unity, peace and concord.

An earnest young man, whose name sounded the same whether pronounced or spelled out, declared himself fit to quit politics for all time, because even the Socialist party was dominated by the "course of capitalism."

"Mollie Steimer goes to jail for fifteen years when she ought to be in school," he cried. "She is only 20 years old. But Rose Pastor Stokes, convicted of the same thing as Mollie Steimer, gets a new trial. Mollie hasn't a cent. Rose Pastor Stokes has a million dollars."

"Why doesn't Rose Pastor Stokes hire me as a secretary for Mollie Steimer?" he told you, comrades, money counts for those who have it whether they are Socialists or Communists or—

It was with much difficulty that a policeman restored tranquillity. The young logician was banished and a less inquisitive and more orthodox Marxist took the platform. But the incident caused much muttering and three-quarters of the crowd left and so the meeting ended with three prolonged groans for A. Mitchell Palmer.

Virtually all the operatives of the Department of Justice were out of town yesterday. Many of them had returned to Washington. The few remaining in the Park Row offices declined to discuss the failure of the general uprising to take place Saturday. But erratic literature continued to appear throughout the city. The paradoxically named "Anarchist Soviet Bulletin" was in evidence. It arrived in the mails and flattered its readers from roof tops. The "Special First of May Issue," signed by the "American Anarchist Federated Communist Societies" contains a historically incorrect explanation of the adoption of May 1 by working men and women as a day to celebrate. It refers to the Haymarket riots in Chicago and weeps for Parsons, Spies, Fischer, Engles and Louis Lingg. It offers the following advice to all folks who work for an employer:

"Instead of participating in elections start general strikes, uprisings and revolutions!" "Begin to make the first of May not a day of 'celebrating' your enslavement under capitalism's yoke but a day of revolution again and again until we succeed in destroying capitalism with all its supporting institutions!"

"Think of them actually hanging a Socialist flag in the church," one of them said, and the other agreed that it was indeed a terrible thing. Dr. Grant who overheard their conversation, related it last night at the weekly forum services. "That is the Bishop's own flag that they objected to," he said. "It bears the Bishop's seal."

PASTOR HAS A GUARD WITH HIM IN PULPIT

Fleck Gets a Shock When Rev. Mr. Tyndall Returns.

Services in the Greenwood Heights Reformed Church, Forty-fifth street, South Brooklyn, were marked yesterday by the return of the Rev. Stanley G. Tyndall, father of the two youths who were arrested two weeks ago as a result of a row in the Sunday school. The Rev. Mr. Tyndall's reappearance after an absence that resulted, according to reports from the congregation, from a factional fight in which he was involved, created a surprise.

The murmur of wonderment when it became known he would deliver the morning sermon was nothing compared to the one set up a moment later when he appeared in the pulpit flanked on the starboard by a heavy set man. Out of the atmosphere of mystery surrounding the stranger came rumors that Mr. Tyndall, fearing further disturbance, had obtained the cooperation of the Sheriff's office in delivering the Sabbath message. The stranger wore no shield so far as could be learned.

Mr. Tyndall was in charge during the service, and the Rev. John Lloyd, who had been sent as a substitute, occupied a seat in the rear of the church.

35 COPS GUARD SPEAKER

Anti-Catholic Propagandist Arrested De Valera.

Jay W. Forrest, a lawyer of Buffalo and Albany, whose anti-Catholic address in the hall at 22 West Sixty-third street a week ago resulted in a riot, two arrests and a scene in Night Court when his assistants were ordered out, addressed another meeting yesterday in the same hall. Thirty-five policemen and detectives were in the audience that listened to his talk on "Save the Republic of the United States," and later ushers went about trying to sign up members to the Sons and Daughters of George Washington, a society of which Forrest is Supreme Grand Knight. There was no disorder.

Much of Forrest's speech had to do with Eamon de Valera, who he said, carried a flag that was born in intrigue. He denounced Magistrate Francis X. McQuade for threatening with arrest one of the witnesses of the week old riot. "That man," he said, "is controlled by Rome."

FOUR BANDITS HOLD UP 9 MEN AT PARTY

Escape in Taxicabs with $950 in Cash and Jewelry.

A gathering of Alexander Tandlich's friends in his sister's apartment at 229 East Sixty-fourth street last night, was interrupted by four masked gunmen, who forced their way into the dining room and demanded all the money and valuables in the possession of the nine men there. They took more than $200 in cash and jewelry valued at about $450.

Tandlich, according to the police, was entertaining his friends at a game of cards when the gunmen rang the bell. When he opened the door he faced four revolvers and backed into the dining room. The occupants of the apartment were told to line up against the wall. While two of the gunmen searched them the other two searched their pockets.

The men escaped in a taxicab which had been left in front of the entrance to the building.

BANDITS GET $4,600 FROM BILLIARDISTS

Six Masked Men Raid Clifton Parlor, Rob Players.

A billiard parlor in Hightland avenue, Clifton, N. J., was raided by six masked automobile bandits early yesterday and during the half hour the robbers were at work thirty-five patrons were robbed of a total of $4,600 in money and watches and other jewelry worth twice that sum. The bandits, all of whom were armed, escaped in a taxicab of Passaic before an alarm could be raised.

Joseph Ippolito, owner of the place, lost $1,100 in cash and jewelry worth $500.

It is believed by the Passaic police that the holdup was staged by men who were familiar with the habits of their victims and that arrests are only a matter of time.

COOL WEATHER KEEPS DOWN CONEY CROWD

Despite Five Cent Fare the Traffic Dropped Off.

The interior of the movie theatre looked better to yesterday's pleasure crowd at Coney than the cold sands. Despite the 5 cent fare on the Brighton Beach, Sea Beach, West End and Culver lines of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, fewer persons went to the beaches than on Sunday a week ago. That the crowds were quick to take advantage of the lower fare was evident in the heavy traffic Saturday afternoon, but Sunday was too cold and windy.

The fare to Coney is only 5 cents, but must be paid for every youngster big enough to walk. The new rate brought many protests from those who had not read the notice of the change.

BUSES TO RICHMOND BEACHES.

City Conveyances Carry People to Seaview Hospital Also.

In expectation of a throng to South and Midland Beaches, on Staten Island, the city authorities opened a special bus line to those resorts yesterday, but the law and windy day kept the patronage down. Another line, however, running direct from St. George to the Seaview Hospital, a city institution, so overtaxed the capacity of the five buses in which it was started that five more were added, and the ten kept crowded all day.

The bus line was the first direct route by which visitors could reach the hospital for five cents. Heretofore they had taken a trolley car to Bull's Head, and there boarded a privately owned bus, which charged 25 cents each way.
