

Equity Benefit Brings $40,000 for Actors' Theatre Stars Take Part in Entertainment Held at Metropolitan Opera House.

The Actors' Equity Association presented one of the best benefits ever seen on a local stage at the Metropolitan Opera House last night, when they gave a performance that exceeded even the special entertainment produced last summer during the actors' strike, when so much seemed to hinge on every move the troupe made.

All of the 500 players participating worked with the same enthusiasm as they had shown at the Metropolitan Opera House last night, when they gave a performance that exceeded even the special entertainment produced last summer during the actors' strike, when so much seemed to hinge on every move the troupe made.

W. C. Fields and Ed Wynn were the comic high lights of the performance. Mr. Fields by his juggling in the Equity circus, a highly amusing feature of the night, and Mr. Wynn in another of his brainstorm interludes, John Dred, an amusing back-stage sketch by George Hobart.

Other stars on the programme were Misses Florence Moore, Helen MacKellar, Crystal Ferne, Dorothy Dickson, and Edna May.

NOVELTIES AND REVIVALS FOR NEXT SEASON'S OPERAS

New Singers, Mostly Americans, Engaged—Present Stars to Remain.

Giulio Gatti-Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company, about to start to-morrow on board the President Grant on his annual pilgrimage to Italy, yesterday issued an announcement of plans made for opera at the Metropolitan during the season of 1920-1921.

No famous names previously of the Metropolitan's list of singers are mislabeled in the announcement for next season. Miss Emmy Destinn will be heard with the company during the early part of the winter and Miss Lucretia Bori will be with it during the latter half.

Mr. Gatti-Casazza in his statement, after giving the public his coworkers and the press for cooperation, said that the repertoire of Wagner in English: "Lohengrin" and "Tristan and Isolde." Mme. Florence Easton will be the Elzevir in "Lohengrin" and Mme. Margarete Matzenauer will be the Isolde.

"Encouraged by the success of the splendid experiment achieved in the presentation of 'Parafin' in English, it has been decided to produce two other masterpieces of Wagner in English: 'Lohengrin' and 'Tristan and Isolde.' Mme. Florence Easton will be the Elzevir in 'Lohengrin' and Mme. Margarete Matzenauer will be the Isolde.

"Louise," by Gustave Charpentier, will be given for the first time by this company. Miss Geraldine Farrar will be the heroine.

Other stars on the programme were Misses Florence Moore, Helen MacKellar, Crystal Ferne, Dorothy Dickson, and Edna May.

NEW PALESTINE

Recognition of Its Independence Excites Enthusiasm of Jewish Meeting Here.

GREAT BRITAIN THANKED Nathan Straus Gives $100,000 for Medical Research at University of Jerusalem.

Recognition of the independence of Palestine at San Remo as the beginning of a new era in the history of Israel was acclaimed at the Lexington Theatre yesterday afternoon by more than three thousand Jews who attended the opening session of a two-day conference of thanksgiving called by the Zionist Organization of America.

The opening was adoption of resolutions thanking the Government of Great Britain and British people for accepting a mandate over the Holy Land and a gift of $100,000 from Nathan Straus for the medical research department of the University of Jerusalem.

It was the most enthusiastic meeting of Jews that has been held in this city in many years. The orchestra strains were filled by 1,700 delegates of every state of the Union and all of the provinces of Canada. Among those on the stage were Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the United States Supreme Court, United States Judge William B. E. Dodge, and Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes.

Mr. Straus, whose benefactions have been so long and so generous in Palestine, has seen fit to mark his own satisfaction and the gratitude of the Jewish people in the consummation of Zionist hopes by the San Remo decision of the League of Nations Council, by announcing, as he said, through Mr. his readiness and intention to contribute another sum of $100,000, this sum to be used for laying the foundations of the medical research department of the University of Jerusalem.

Mr. Straus plans to increase this gift from time to time and to make possible a health and medical center in Palestine, a health service comparable to such service as the Rockefeller Foundation is rendering in many lands.

Rabbi Wise read three resolutions, one of which expressed the gratitude of the Zionists to the people of Great Britain, another to the peoples of the nations allied with England in the San Remo conference, and the third to the President and people of the United States.

The British resolution was in part as follows: "Great Britain has led the way in an historic act of repatriation and restoration. The Jewish people will never forget this generous and far-reaching act of Britain in the name of justice to the cause of international righteousness. To Great Britain and all its peoples we offer our heartfelt and unbounded gratitude for the part which she has taken in the blessing of Almighty God."

In a short address Mr. Straus made it known that he will leave for Palestine next month. He said that he had just returned from a trip to the Holy Land, and that he would like to see the whole controversy and put an end to discussions disagreeable to many members of the church. It was said that the Rev. Dr. Percy Stiles, rector of Trinity, the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires, rector of St. Thomas's, and the Rev. Dr. Lewis M. Slattery, rector of Grace.

A second question of interest, shall we be permitted to serve as members of vestries and as delegates to the diocesan convention? While there is strong opposition to this proposition, nevertheless a resolution granting these privileges to laymen has been adopted in line with the general tendency of the times. The resolution will be introduced by the Rev. John R. Atkinson, rector of Christ Church.

Form Issue to Come Up. It is more than likely that the formal activities of the Church of the Ascension, of which the Rev. Dr. Percy Stiles is rector, will be before the convention, which will have power to settle the whole controversy and put an end to discussions disagreeable to many members of the church. It was said that the Rev. Dr. Percy Stiles, rector of Trinity, the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires, rector of St. Thomas's, and the Rev. Dr. Lewis M. Slattery, rector of Grace.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH ANNUAL SESSION

Question of Supplying Assistant to Bishop Burch to Come Up for Decision.

FORUM ISSUE IS RAISED 900 Clerical and Lay Delegates Here for 137th Convention of N. Y. Diocese.

Questions of vital interest to Episcopalians of the Diocese of New York will be settled in the one hundred and thirty-seventh convention of the diocese which meets in Synod Hall this morning, to continue in session three days. Clerical and lay delegates to the number of 900 will represent 300 parishes and missions.

One of the principal propositions to come before the convention is that of an assistant suffragan bishop, appointed to take over a share of the labors of Bishop Charles Sumner Burch. Clergy and laity appear to be divided on this matter. It is considered probable last night that the selection of an assistant bishop would be deferred for a year.

It is believed, however, that Bishop Burch in his first address to the convention as Bishop of New York will point out the necessity of additional episcopal assistance, and that he will recommend an increase in the episcopal endowment fund sufficient to allow the election of an additional bishop or bishops at a future date.

Bishop Floyd May Remains. Bishop Burch has had a temporary absence from the diocese since he was elected to the Board of Missions, and it is likely that Bishop Floyd will be engaged for another year. There is strong support among the laity for the proposition to elect a bishop who will have power to do so, through Mr. his readiness and intention to contribute another sum of $100,000, this sum to be used for laying the foundations of the medical research department of the University of Jerusalem.

Mr. Straus plans to increase this gift from time to time and to make possible a health and medical center in Palestine, a health service comparable to such service as the Rockefeller Foundation is rendering in many lands.
