HOYNE IN FROM CHICAGO

Illinois Attorney Suspects Bond Plotter as Murderer of Colosimo.Despatches from Cleveland last night stated that the police there had traced "Nicky" Arnstein to a city about 1,200 miles from Cleveland and that his arrest was merely a matter of a few days. The city where he can be found, the despatch added, is nearer New York than it is to Cleveland. Frank W. Smith, Chief of Police of Cleveland, it was reported, had telegraphed the necessary information to New York Police Headquarters.
At police headquarters nothing was given out concerning the report from Chief Smith. No detectives connected with the Arnstein case were there.
The Cleveland despatches declaredthat every man in that city suspected of being connected with the bond plot was under strictest surveillance and that the police there were awaiting only the authority from this city to make arrests.After the arrival in the city restoration of Mackey Hoyne, State's Attorney of Chicago, it was learned that officials believe members of the wholesale bond theft ring had a hand in the murder of James Colosimo in the Windy City on Tuesday.

Cooks Met in Restaurant.

Colosimo's restaurant, where he was killed by an unseen assassin, had been a rendezvous for certain wire tappers and confidence men mentioned frequently in connection with the affairs of "Nicky" Arnstein, "Big Nick" Cohen and others.
Sought as master bond thieves. Authorities believe Colosimo may have been marked for death by persons who thought he was to blame for certain disclosures. Mr. Hoyne is said to have come here to gather more evidence.New York detectives discovered yesterday that members of the ring of Cleveland politicians who have been protecting the bond thieves mentioned recently to have one of the best known hotels in the White Light district here and that a Cleveland whose name has been linked with "Nicky" recently "flushed" a check for a million dollars.
This bond, it was said yesterday, has done everything to help the Arnstein-Cohen gang, and it is suspected of having had a hand in the theft of the Bertillon records of "Plunkety" Drucker, one of the Arnstein crowd, from the Cleveland Police Headquarters.E. C. Echemont, under indictment with Drucker in Canada, is expected to arrive here from Chicago this morning with detectives and to submit voluntarily to examination by Saul S. Myers, attorney for the National Surety Company.

Held as Robber of Broker.

The man arrested early yesterday as "Robert MacDonald," a "material witness" in the Arnstein case, was held by City Magistrate Simpson on a warrant charging complicity in the robbery of the stock brokerage house of Auchincloss, Joost & Patrick of 41 Broadway.
It was discovered, the police assert, that his true name is Robert A. Mac-Pherson, and that he had been wanted by the police since last spring, when he was implicated in a confession made by William Lane, former Wall Street messenger, who is serving a four year sentence for his part in the Auchincloss robbery. MacPherson is accused of having disposed of $10,000 worth of Liberty bonds and 7,400 shares of Royal Dutch stock turned over to him by the boy.John T. Dooling, Assistant District Attorney, spent several hours sorting the prisoner's effects, aided by Detective Sergeant August Mayer. A memorandum book contained "Nicky" Arnstein's home telephone number and addresses of more than a score of persons accused of being members of the Arnstein-Cohen gang and of suspected "fences" in Cleveland, Youngstown and Toledo.In addition the prisoner had blank checks upon what purport to be banking institutions in Vancouver, Southern California, Florida and other remote places. He had what purported to be a check for $1,500 on the "Union National Bank of New York." Mr. Dooling said there is no such bank.A sight draft in MacPherson's possession was made to the order of J.
W. Fitzmaurice, an associate of Phil Kastel, Arnstein's friend. A check purporting to be drawn on the First National Bank of St. Augustine, Fla., was for $10,000. None of these drafts was made to MacPherson's order, but all appeared to have been drawn upon other persons and indorsed.What Mr. Dooling declared to be a bogus stock certificate for 10,000 shares was also found in MacPherson's pocket.
It bore the name of "Nipissing Mines, Ltd." MacPherson admitted having spent three months in the workhouse on a charge of being a suspicious person.
Albert Grossman of 108 North Exeter street, Baltimore, arrested recently on a warrant charging him with having received a part of the $200,000 worth of stock stolen from Halle & Stieglitz, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Rosenalek in General Sessions. He will be sentenced Thursday.Grossman was formerly a Lieutenant in the army. He said he received part of the loot from another army officer, not knowing it to be stolen property.N. Y. MAN PICKED UP COLOSIMO SLAYERMurderer Stumbled, Fleeing From Chicago Cafe.Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD.
Chicago, May 13.—A man who is believed by the Chicago police to have been "Jim" Colosimo's assassin, fleeing from the scene of his crime, was encountered by Arthur Rockhill, a New York man stopping at the Y. M. C. A. A.
Hotel, some time after the fatal shot was fired Tuesday afternoon. The suspect was running blindly along State street near Eighth. As he neared Rockhill he stumbled and fell against the curb."I got that dago — to-day," he muttered, as Rockhill assisted him to his feet. A nickel plated revolver fell from his hip pocket."That gun went off once to-day," he boasted.Another man who had been standing on the far side of the street came forward. He announced that he was a friend of the man with the weapon and led him away, warning Rockhill to "keep still about it."Rockhill went voluntarily to the police and gave his story of the encounter today.Judges, Senators, automobile race drivers, opera singers, barbers and cooks and waiters will march behind the coffin of "Big Jim" Colosimo when he is carried out to Mount Carmel Cemetery Saturday. The pomp and display that he loved will not be absent when his huge body is lowered into its grave.
A $2,500 casket of bronze will be his last home.The list of honorary pall bearers includes Judges Barasa, Prindiville and Cavely, Representative John Rainey, State Senator James Brady, "Ike" Bloom, "Diamond Joe" Esposito, Francisco Daddi, opera singer; Tito Ruffo, tenor; Maestro Spadoni, and Ralph de Palma, automobile racer.

Old Warship Burned as Junk.

Eastport, Me., May 13.—The old warship Richmond, once a part of Farragut's fleet at Mobile and New Orleans, was set on fire here to-day for the copper in her hull. She ends her career on the same beach where other historic craft, including the Franklin, Wabash, Minnesota and Vermont, have been burned by junkmen in other years.Domino

Senor Ibanez reached Mexico City on March 23 last and returned to New York last Wednesday. He was in Mexico while the revolution was preparing and almost up to the moment of the outbreak. He visited all parts of the country and had interviews with both Carranza and Obregon and the leading men of all parties.No man in the world is better qualified at this moment, by reason of his exceptional opportunities for observation, his powers of analysis and his literary skill, to set forth the condition and prospects of the distracted nation on our southern border.Senor Ibanez is now engaged in writing his series of articles, the first of which will appear in The New York Times next Sunday, May 16. The others will follow daily for ten days.Watch for and
