George Kuste and Fred Traina, discharged soldiers, were arrested yesterday following the murder of Solomon Fishbein, a manufacturer of leather goods, in his home at 77 Second avenue. Silent in Wanderings.

Nicky has not told any one since his return where he spent his time or anything concerning his wanderings, unless he has breathed it confidentially to his lawyer. All statements aired about concerning his wanderings have been pure speculation and nothing more, and Mr. Myers is determined to get the facts if they can be obtained at all.

According to Mr. Fallon, Nicky will fight his case to the United States Supreme Court before he gives the desired details. "We will welcome any action that Mr. Myers or any one else may bring," he said last night. "There are higher courts than the United States District Court, and we will have no doubts returned to protect this man's constitutional rights. Nicky is not going to give up easily."

At the time Mr. Fallon made this statement he was aware of the fact that a representative of Mr. Myers had entered the jail and had served upon his client an order signed by Judge Knox requiring Nicky to appear in the United States District Court at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt for his refusal to answer questions about his travels before Special United States Commissioner Alexander H. Christ, Jr., on Saturday. This order had been signed by Judge Knox in his residence, 2428 University avenue, after the jurist had perused a copy of the printed record of Nicky's fruitless examination.

After the service breakfast was served in the Hotel Astor. Assemblyman Martin G. McGuire, who was among the speakers at the breakfast meeting, declared he was not ashamed of the part which he took in ousting the five Socialist Assemblymen. "I am proud of it because I believe I did my duty when I voted them out," he said. "I did not do it because they have spoken in opposition to the Catholic Church but because I believe they never honestly expected to fulfill their oath of office when they took it on entering the Assembly."

No Final Citizen Papers.

Because of the unprecedented rush for naturalization papers William F. Schneider, County Clerk, has decided not to receive any applications for final papers between May 21 and June 1. "This step offers the only possible way out of the situation," said Mr. Schneider. "By concentrating on applicants for first papers for ten days we may be able to clean up the waiting line. Accordingly those who come to the naturalization bureau during the ten-day period beginning Friday in quest of second papers will be disappointed."

BRINGS MANY CONTRACTS

W. Averill Harriman Urges Countrywide Support for Merchant Marine.

American and other experts on many themes in which the world is interested earnestly arrived yesterday by the Cunarder Mauretania, from Southampton via Cherbourg, which brought 1,381 passengers. He said Poland particularly was making great progress, and that she would pay her debts to the outside world within a few years. The people were industrious, intensely patriotic and would become a mighty nation.

Must Be National Industry.

It is essential that American investors all over the country should support the shipping industry with both money and interest, and not leave this to a few seaboard communities; in other words, the shipping industry must become a national one; the country as a whole must study the problem and cooperate with the United States Chamber of Commerce, the American Steamship Owners Association, and other organizations that are working for improved shipping legislation. America's economic future is bound up inseparably with its export trade.

Rueckert, vice-president of the White Seal Manufacturing Company, in his apartment at 1127 Washington street, Hoboken, on the morning of May 9, locked up Willie Schiagel, 27 years old, of 235 Garden street, in Hoboken police headquarters yesterday on charges of disorderly conduct. Schiagel, who the police think may know something of the crime, was found in Youngstown, Ohio, by the detectives voluntarily returning to Hoboken with them. He was questioned by Capt. Thomas Garrick, head of the Hoboken detectives, for more than five hours. Several witnesses were called, among whom was the clerk of a pawnshop where the pistol used in the murder was purchased. 200,000 AT CONEY, BUT ALL KEEP DRY

Water Too Chilly for Bathing and Drinks Served Lacking in Kick.

POLICE SET A NEW RECORD

Only Four Arrests Are Made and Two of These Are Runaway Boys.

The 200,000 persons who went to Coney Island yesterday expecting to have a high old time at the annual opening of that resort probably had to not in the good old way. That is to say, everybody kept more discouragingly sober. The beat the police could make was four arrests—two boys who ran away from Newark and two young men who fought because a young woman had gone to the island with one after she had promised to go with the other.

But of strong drink there was none, although rumor had it that some of the discreet cellar variety could be found in the outlying districts. Surf avenue and the Bowers; however, were extraordinarily drinkless. Veteran policemen said they never before had seen a Coney Island Sunday when there were fewer drunks. So far as inadequate personal search could ascertain the only things in the drinking line for sale openly at the island were the usual soft beverages.

The Fourth avenue subway line and the Brighton Beach elevated line ran express trains to the island for the first time this year, and carried the majority of the visitors. All of the bathing pavilions were open and a shivering few persons ventured into the surf. It was a little chilly to promenade, even in the most fetching bathing costume. Most of the crowd just walked up and down Surf avenue or saw the ships in Luna Park and Steeplechase Park.
