

Giants Dark Phillies, 4-0, and Yankees Beat Red Sox, 4-3 Braves Win From Dodgers, 6-2 Cubs Lead League

THIRTY-NINTH FINE FOR THE GIANTS Single, Double, Triple and Home Run and Four Tallies Make Winning Rally.

By WILLIAM B. HANNA.

The Phillies, all fire and optimism when they were here before, came to the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon for their second visit and weren't the same Phillies by a good deal. Tamed to a no run output by the pitching of Rube Benton, they were as lackluster as they were thrifty with a wild hit, and the Giants, playing with more skill, if not more power than on the day before, beat them, 4 to 0.

The Giants won by concentrating four hits on Rube Benton in the fourth inning. The Philadelphia expression of derision was outpitched by the New York outpour from Carolina. The Quakers couldn't hit Benton at all until one or two were out, and they never got away from his domination until their game. The work was just as clean and effective as in one inning, but that inning made all the difference.

Mechanically the Giants played ball without a mishap, but it was apparent to be still down in the mouth. They weren't as much as the day before, however, and there was none of that unflinching expression of derision that was attended their work of the day before.

Onebkers who guy a player in his going poorly but trying are on a par with the knowing ones who tell them they are in jail instead of out, talking what doesn't belong to them and are giving a fine exhibition of petty rivalry, lawlessness and rovelyn at the Polo Grounds every day. One of those who were caught and ejected yesterday, praise be.

Fletcher made a nice play on Cy Williams in the first inning yesterday and snuffed a rally after the double. He was a double play, which was unusual for the fact that it contained a single, a two bagger, a triple and a home run.

Snyder became the choke bore first by rapping a triple to right center, then in on a wild pitch. R. Miller threw out Benton and Burns. Drew footed a home run into the left field seats, knocking in three runs and making the rest of the after game entirely a formality.

The two base hit of the inning was stolen by Lee King after Doyle's homer. King was McGraw's most protective batter in the way of hits. He produced two singles and a double and a home run in the fourth inning.

QUINN COMES TO RESCUE OF YANKEES

Stops Red Sox From Scoring and New Yorks Win.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. BOSTON, Mass., May 28.—The Yankees defeated the Boston Red Sox this afternoon in Fenway Park and advanced a notch in the league standing. Although the Yankees always held the lead, they never were able to keep the Sox at a safe distance. In the sixth inning the Sox threatened a rally which might have brought them victory had not the Yankee fielders stood staunchly at critical moments.

Many fielding gems were crowded into the nine innings, with honors well divided. Harry Hooper, Mike Menomy and Tim Hendry made fine catches for the Yankees while Bob Meusel and Peck played well for the Yankees.

Shore started pitching for the Yankees and for six innings ruled the Boston. He followed a little toward the end, however, and it became necessary for Higgins to rush a relief pitcher to the mound. It was the sturdy Jack Quinn who came to the aid of his team and checked the Red Sox.

The Yankees scored a run in the second inning. Ruth drew a base on balls and Pratt dropped a single in short center. Ruth went third on the single, while Pratt took second on the throw. Eddie stepped in with a creditable single from a pass to Holke, a single by Boeckel and a single by Fillingim, who, by the way, outstayed Peffer in a hard fought game.

The Brooklyn tied the score in the fourth, single by Newby, a single by Johnson and a single by Holke. When Cruse muffed Hanks' left there were two on base, with only one out, but when tried for second on the play and Cruse threw him out, Myers popped out, so the miff was inexpensive.

Boeckel concocted a scheme for a run in the sixth, a simple one, but effective. Higgins threw out a single on a bunt, O'Neill tried a double and Peffer sacrificed. The ninth received an occult tip that two runs were enough. A word to the wise, which Rabbit Maravalle is one, is sufficient. The Red Sox scored a run in the seventh, Peck hit a home run and Peck was hit by a home run. Then Ruth was singled off first base.

In the last half of the sixth inning the Yankees took the lead. Hooper, first up, singled, and McNally followed suit. Menomy was out, Meusel to Peck, the runners advancing. Hendry singled, scoring Hooper and McNally. Then the scoring ceased. McGraw stepped in and hit a two base hit to left. O'Neill sacrificed and Fillingim brought Maravalle in with a base hit. Christenbury singled past Olson, and Eyras got two runs with a single to right center.

Yale-Princeton and Army-Navy Games To-day

THE Yale-Princeton baseball series will be started to-day at New Haven, and the Tigers are slight favorites. There really is little to choose between the teams. Princeton has the confidence born of its two victories over Harvard, but Yale seems to have the edge in pitching. It should be a very interesting series.

The annual Army-Navy game, the seventeenth between the service rivals, will be contested at Annapolis. The Navy won last year, and it should make it two in a row if it can get a record, for no Navy nine yet has turned that trick. The Army leads in the series by twelve games to four.

BOXING POSSIBLE IN GARDEN ARENA

Leased Buildings Not Restricted to Ring Fights.

By CHARLES F. MATHISON. Fears have been entertained that a clause of the Walker bill requiring promoters to obtain a year's lease of any building in which boxing bouts were to be staged might interfere with the holding of contests in buildings best suited for the purpose. But the opinion of Attorney-General Charles D. Sawyer, who has been asked to give an opinion on the matter, is that the clause does not mean that a promoter who has obtained a year's lease of a building for boxing, for example, is prohibited from using the building for other purposes.

The nearby fishing grounds. There should be a variety of fishing for the Sunday and Monday anglers if the weather holds fair, and there is every prospect of a good day's sport. On the fishing grounds off Seabright on the Jersey coast, there are many black and blue fish, and quite a number of the fish are taken during the past week. The bass have also appeared on the grounds off Long Beach and the black fish are now on the rocks. A few cod are being caught on all of the outside reefs.

The report to the effect that George Mulligan, a promoter of Waterbury, Conn., has offered $50,000 for a general holding that a year's lease of an armory does not bind a promoter to control the armory for each of the 365 days of the year, is being denied. The rule would apply to buildings other than armories, which is simply a common sense disposition of the subject.

A recent report from Paris said that Blink McCloskey, international boxer, had been robbed and slain. Blink is very much alive in Alexandria, Egypt, and willing to box any one on any day. The report was a hoax. On April 23 a cable dispatch reported that the torso of a man supposed to be McCloskey had been found in the River Seine. He had been missing from his Paris home since March 13, and his friends mourned him as dead.

BOXING LEGAL IN STATE ARMORIES

Attorney-General Edwards Rules to That Effect.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. ALBANY, May 28.—Boxing and sparring matches can be held in State armories under the Walker boxing law, Attorney-General Charles D. Sawyer ruled to-day. Adj.-Gen. Charles W. Berry had asked for an opinion from him in the belief that the new law confined the military law. Under the ruling officers in charge of State armories, with the approval of the division commander, can lease an armory to licensed corporations for boxing exhibitions for a portion of a day or night in each week, during the rental period of a year, if they are not the termination of the lease whenever public emergency requires and give a bond indemnifying the State against loss.

Attorney-General Sawyer declared that it was his duty to issue the ruling under the Walker law intended to authorize the leasing of armories for boxing "under proper conditions when such use would not conflict with their occupation for military purposes."

"It is evident," he said, "that the contemplated use of armories for boxing would be defeated unless the corporation could secure a lease for a year. The language in the last sentence of section 7 of the Walker law is mandatory and absolutely prohibits the use of armories for boxing matches unless a one year lease is secured. It does not follow that such a lease must be continuous for every day in the year or of the whole armory for any particular day, but a lease of some privilege for a portion of the time for a year is appropriate."

The Attorney-General said the military law authorized the use of armories for other than military purposes, but he suggested that Adj.-Gen. Berry obtain an agreement from any licensed corporation or possibly of litigation could terminate the lease, in the event of war, riots or other public disturbances, necessitating the use of armories for military purposes.

Notwithstanding the favorable ruling of the Attorney-General the officers of the New York State National Guard yesterday decided to refrain for the present from leasing armories for professional boxing bouts.

ROD AND GUN NEWS

In the nets on the Jersey coast for more than a week, the high jump and pole vault days are over. A school of weakfish had entered the Great South Bay.

The Jersey coast anglers will be in luck in both New York and New Jersey and no doubt they will be heard from along the Jersey coast or from Long Beach, but no doubt they will be heard from almost everywhere. The State Island boys and quite a number of the fish are taken during the past week. The bass have also appeared on the grounds off Long Beach and the black fish are now on the rocks.
