

Municipal Safe and sane Athletic celebration Brings Out 250,000 Spectators to Watch Fifty Sets of Competitions

NEW YORK RACES
TWO DAYS OF SPORTS

More Than 25,000 Athletes, Big and Small, Take Part in Carnival.

COMPETE ON FIFTY FIELDS

Chinese Show the Way at Columbus Park—Methers in Race Too.

By DANIEL.

New York's own Olympics—a lasting memorial to Mayor Gaynor and James E. Sullivan—yesterday featured the municipal safe and sane celebration of Independence Day. More than 25,000 athletes, ranging from the six-year-old tot, who waddled to the tape in a playground dash, to the giant weight thrower, who very often found the limitations of the grounds rather irksome, took part in the competitions in fifty boroughs of the great city. It was estimated that at least a quarter of a million persons saw the contests run off.

The big meet, in which the prizes were provided by an appropriation from the city treasury, was the revival of a carnival which was originated by Mayor Gaynor and Mr. Sullivan, then the life and leading spirit of the Amateur Athletic Union, as a means of cutting down the fast growing list of Fourth of July fatalities and injuries from fireworks and other causes. The organization of the meet was accompanied by the passage of a law forbidding the selling of fireworks in this city. For eleven years the meet has established a record not even approached anywhere else in the world.

Men who have won international fame on track and field have made their debuts in these municipal competitions. Lads have received in them the impetus which drove them on to interscholastic honors. Other cities have followed New York's lead and organized similar celebrations, but New York still leads in that as in other things. The meet yesterday, like that of other years, presented a most interesting study in contrasts—in the workings of the melting pot, in cosmopolitanism, in American supremacy in sport.

Chinese Take Prizes.

Down at Columbus Park, in the heart of Little Italy at Mulberry Bend, Italians vied with Jews, Syrians, descendants of men who came from Cork and Donegal, and slant eyed Chinese. The sons of Latin won the day through sheer force of numbers, but the Chinese managed to realize that they were in a meet. Kim Lee was not content with one prize. First he showed the way in the 100 yard dash. He was a free day for Mott street. It was a good day for Mott street. It was a good day for Mott street.

At Seward Park, where the thickly populated East Side is populated thickest, men and women who never before had seen boys run and jump, and who found like that in activity, watched the events with wide open eyes. It was not like that in Russia or in Austria, where, if a man ran, the prize usually was his own life. A contrast in ways up at the other end of the city, at Inham Park, hard by the Spuyten Kill, men and boys and girls were not only content to watch, but they took part in the neighborhood athletic celebration, and the mothers sometimes did better than their offspring. Mrs. Ellingburg of 133 Sherman street proved the best of the mothers in the 75 yard dash for mothers. In the 50 yard sprint for little girls, Mrs. Ellingburg's daughter Estelle tried to follow the example of her mother, but she could do no better than to follow. There were races for all, and the veterans of the world war were not forgotten. Charles Bahgo led these home to the tape in a 100 yard dash.

Boxing at Chelsea Park.

At Chelsea Park, in the very heart of old Chelsea Village, boxing exhibitions supplemented the events on the track. Many amateurs and professionals gave a series of exhibitions which lacked none of the zest of real contests and had the big crowd greatly amused and interested.

The carnival was devoid of records and it was lacking in truly stellar performances. But for this there was a good reason. In other years the games headed by William Lee, Commissioner of Park Playgrounds, were not just games, but they were a part of the city's life. Many champions were not wanted in the hunt for prizes. The programmes were so adjusted as to give the greatest opportunity to ladies and gentlemen to get chances to win medals in other events. This change met with great success and will result in the permanent adoption of that policy.

However, let it not be understood that none of the champions showed their prowess. Many of them went to various parks and gave exhibitions in runs, jumps and with the weights.

In spite of the thousands of competitors and the thousands of onlookers there was not a single instance of disorder or anything even approaching it.

SWIMMERS HELP TO CELEBRATE FOURTH

Compete for City's Prizes in the Various Municipal Baths.

Track and field sport was not the only feature of the municipal celebration yesterday. Swimming competitions also were held, and they brought out big fields in all the city baths. The stars of the bigger clubs decided to leave the prizes entirely to the youngsters of the schools and the playgrounds—a move which proved entirely a wise one. As a result, there had to be held in nearly all the events.

At the East Twenty-third street baths a programme of five contests
