Demand for Exclusion of Men Ousted and Re-elected to Be Made Monday.

CUVILLIER DETERMINED Marty McCue Also Ready to Give Battle—Martin Sees Difficultly Ahead.

Demand for the exclusion of the five ousted Socialists from the Assembly, to which they were re-elected on Thursday, will be made by leaders of the lower house of the Legislature when it convenes in special session on Monday night.

Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, Democrat, declared in a letter to Speaker Thaddeus C. Sweet last night that the five ousted men had no right to sit in the same Assembly from which they had once been expelled.

Speaker Sweet, who started the ouster proceedings last winter, said at his home in Flushing yesterday he did not want to outline definitely what action he would take on Monday until he had conferred with other members of the Assembly in Albany to-morrow.

Marty McCue Ready to Act. On the other hand, there are certain men of prominence in the Republican organization who believe the Socialists should be permitted to take their seats not only as a matter of principle but also of party expediency.

However, there are Democrats who declare they will demand the exclusion of the Socialists if the Republicans fail to take any action.

Refers to Berger Case. "This was demonstrated in the House of Representatives in Washington in the case of Victor Berger."

At his home in Clinton yesterday, Assemblyman Louis M. Martin, chairman of the Judiciary Committee which tried the Socialists last winter, said the Assembly might have a hearing on a case against the five men, if it were true, as asserted, that the party had eliminated from its constitution the stipulation for public officials and the pledge to vote against military appropriations.

It is reported to be the present idea of Speaker Sweet that the status of the Socialists, so far as being revolutionary, has not been changed. He is looking carefully into just what changes have been made in their constitution with the idea of meeting the argument that all objectionable features upon which the charges of last winter were largely based, having been removed, the Socialists should be permitted to remain in the Assembly.
