

Brooklyn Religious Anniversaries.

A very animated, heterodox, and inharmonious Convention—Baptist General Convention in the Pierpont street Church.

There was a very large and full attendance of the clergy and laymen of the "American Baptist Union" (recently organized under this appellation) held on Thursday, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the Pierpont street Baptist Church—the Rev. Francis Wayland, of Philadelphia, (author of moral philosophy,) in the chair.

After the usual preliminary services, the names of the life members (numbering some three hundred and ninety) were read over. It appears that it is necessary for any one proposed as a member to be recommended by the members of the church to which he is to be added.

The Rev. Mr. Keese, of Delaware, wished to know whether there was any difference between the former constitution that he felt he had submitted to them, and the one that he felt he had submitted to them, and the one that he felt he had submitted to them.

The Rev. Mr. Stowe, of Boston, said that eight or nine individuals, forming a portion of his congregation, had been expelled from his church, and he was not entitled to a seat among the members of this "Union."

The President then stated that the Assistant Secretary had gone below, and would receive such contributions as might be offered.

The election for officers was then proceeded with, which resulted in the choice, (after some one or two ballots) of the following officers: President, Judge Dunlop, of Lebanon, Ohio, first Vice President, the Rev. T. W. Welch, of Albany, Second Vice President, and the Rev. J. H. Burdett, of New York.

The Rev. Mr. Bennett, a Missionary from the West, thought that there should be no nice distinctions made use of here, and that a life member, and a nominal member, should be considered as eligible to a seat in this Convention.

The Rev. Mr. Keese, of Delaware, wished to know whether there was any difference between the former constitution that he felt he had submitted to them, and the one that he felt he had submitted to them.

The Rev. Mr. Stowe, of Boston, said that eight or nine individuals, forming a portion of his congregation, had been expelled from his church, and he was not entitled to a seat among the members of this "Union."

The President then stated that the Assistant Secretary had gone below, and would receive such contributions as might be offered.

The election for officers was then proceeded with, which resulted in the choice, (after some one or two ballots) of the following officers: President, Judge Dunlop, of Lebanon, Ohio, first Vice President, the Rev. T. W. Welch, of Albany, Second Vice President, and the Rev. J. H. Burdett, of New York.

The Rev. Mr. Bennett, a Missionary from the West, thought that there should be no nice distinctions made use of here, and that a life member, and a nominal member, should be considered as eligible to a seat in this Convention.

The Rev. Mr. Keese, of Delaware, wished to know whether there was any difference between the former constitution that he felt he had submitted to them, and the one that he felt he had submitted to them.

The Rev. Mr. Stowe, of Boston, said that eight or nine individuals, forming a portion of his congregation, had been expelled from his church, and he was not entitled to a seat among the members of this "Union."

The President then stated that the Assistant Secretary had gone below, and would receive such contributions as might be offered.

The election for officers was then proceeded with, which resulted in the choice, (after some one or two ballots) of the following officers: President, Judge Dunlop, of Lebanon, Ohio, first Vice President, the Rev. T. W. Welch, of Albany, Second Vice President, and the Rev. J. H. Burdett, of New York.

The Rev. Mr. Bennett, a Missionary from the West, thought that there should be no nice distinctions made use of here, and that a life member, and a nominal member, should be considered as eligible to a seat in this Convention.

Washington, May 21.

After midnight, and Ball. A Stranger's First Evening in Washington—Caruso's May Ball—Beauty of the Ball in Embryo—Impressions made by those whose Charms were near the fate of Men.

It appears that nearly every one, on some occasion or other, drops you a line of impressions received whilst wending his way through this "vale of tears."

As we boast of a free and enlightened country, I can see no just cause why I should be excluded from giving an occasional description of passing events, when they come immediately under my own observation.

I dropped in among the Washingtonians yesterday, and having thought to do to while away the dull hours of an ineluctable evening, I rigged out (as the sailors say) in my best frock and Wallace, and ordered "John" to set me down at Caruso's, where I had heard there was to be held a May Ball, and I would have an opportunity of passing judgment on the boasted beauty of Washington.

I stepped in the ball room just in time to see the crown placed on the fair brow of Miss J.—a young lady, who, in the opinion of the crowd, was the most beautiful of the evening.

The ceremony of crowning the Queen was followed by waltzing and the polka, on the part of M. Caruso's pupils, whose accomplishments reflect much credit on the efficiency of their gentlemanly tutor, to my great gratification.

At about half past ten the floor was very generally yielded to those who had but a year or two previously encountered the same ordeal at the hands of the "old régime."

On the 16th of April, 1828, General Gomez Pedraza, the Scotch party, was elected President, having only two votes over his competitor, Gen. Guerrero.

The result was very displeasing to Guerrero, and his partisans determined to resort to violence against the administration of the President.

On the 30th November, 1828, a serious insurrection broke out in the city of Mexico, headed by Santa Anna, who was elected President.

On the 1st of Jan. 1829, Congress declared Guerrero duly elected President, having received the largest number of votes next to Pedraza, and Gen. Bustamante was declared Vice President.

On the 15th of Feb. 1831, Congress declared Guerrero duly elected President, having received the largest number of votes next to Pedraza, and Gen. Bustamante was declared Vice President.

On the 1st of Jan. 1829, Congress declared Guerrero duly elected President, having received the largest number of votes next to Pedraza, and Gen. Bustamante was declared Vice President.

On the 15th of Feb. 1831, Congress declared Guerrero duly elected President, having received the largest number of votes next to Pedraza, and Gen. Bustamante was declared Vice President.

On the 1st of Jan. 1829, Congress declared Guerrero duly elected President, having received the largest number of votes next to Pedraza, and Gen. Bustamante was declared Vice President.

On the 15th of Feb. 1831, Congress declared Guerrero duly elected President, having received the largest number of votes next to Pedraza, and Gen. Bustamante was declared Vice President.

On the 1st of Jan. 1829, Congress declared Guerrero duly elected President, having received the largest number of votes next to Pedraza, and Gen. Bustamante was declared Vice President.

On the 15th of Feb. 1831, Congress declared Guerrero duly elected President, having received the largest number of votes next to Pedraza, and Gen. Bustamante was declared Vice President.

Court of General Sessions.

Before Recorder Scott, and Aldermen Brady and Walker. John McKean, Esq., District Attorney.

Mar. 21.—Trial for Grand Larceny—Willie Dickinson, charged with the larceny of a watch, valued at $40, from the pockets of Charles Stevenson, a seaman in the United States navy, who was arrested on the 10th of April last.

The evidence adduced on the part of the prosecution not being deemed sufficient to connect the prisoner with the larceny, the District Attorney did not press a conviction, and he was accordingly acquitted by the jury, without leaving their seats.

Trial for False Pretences—Edward T. Nichols, indicted for the larceny of $1,000, from the pockets of a merchant, on the 10th of April last.

The evidence adduced on the part of the prosecution not being deemed sufficient to connect the prisoner with the larceny, the District Attorney did not press a conviction, and he was accordingly acquitted by the jury, without leaving their seats.

Trial for Grand Larceny—Willie Dickinson, charged with the larceny of a watch, valued at $40, from the pockets of Charles Stevenson, a seaman in the United States navy, who was arrested on the 10th of April last.

The evidence adduced on the part of the prosecution not being deemed sufficient to connect the prisoner with the larceny, the District Attorney did not press a conviction, and he was accordingly acquitted by the jury, without leaving their seats.

Trial for False Pretences—Edward T. Nichols, indicted for the larceny of $1,000, from the pockets of a merchant, on the 10th of April last.

The evidence adduced on the part of the prosecution not being deemed sufficient to connect the prisoner with the larceny, the District Attorney did not press a conviction, and he was accordingly acquitted by the jury, without leaving their seats.

Trial for Grand Larceny—Willie Dickinson, charged with the larceny of a watch, valued at $40, from the pockets of Charles Stevenson, a seaman in the United States navy, who was arrested on the 10th of April last.

The evidence adduced on the part of the prosecution not being deemed sufficient to connect the prisoner with the larceny, the District Attorney did not press a conviction, and he was accordingly acquitted by the jury, without leaving their seats.

Trial for False Pretences—Edward T. Nichols, indicted for the larceny of $1,000, from the pockets of a merchant, on the 10th of April last.

The evidence adduced on the part of the prosecution not being deemed sufficient to connect the prisoner with the larceny, the District Attorney did not press a conviction, and he was accordingly acquitted by the jury, without leaving their seats.

Trial for Grand Larceny—Willie Dickinson, charged with the larceny of a watch, valued at $40, from the pockets of Charles Stevenson, a seaman in the United States navy, who was arrested on the 10th of April last.

The evidence adduced on the part of the prosecution not being deemed sufficient to connect the prisoner with the larceny, the District Attorney did not press a conviction, and he was accordingly acquitted by the jury, without leaving their seats.

Trial for False Pretences—Edward T. Nichols, indicted for the larceny of $1,000, from the pockets of a merchant, on the 10th of April last.

The evidence adduced on the part of the prosecution not being deemed sufficient to connect the prisoner with the larceny, the District Attorney did not press a conviction, and he was accordingly acquitted by the jury, without leaving their seats.

Trial for Grand Larceny—Willie Dickinson, charged with the larceny of a watch, valued at $40, from the pockets of Charles Stevenson, a seaman in the United States navy, who was arrested on the 10th of April last.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.

FOR HORSES FOR SALE. At the Stable of the Subscribers, in the City of New York, at the Western part of the State of New York, a number of very fine horses, of various breeds, are for sale.