PRAMERS' BANK OF KENTUCKY.—590,000 ADDItional Stock.—The business of the Farmers' Bank and several branches, barving been found to demand a material increase of its capital atock, the Board of Directors of the Principal Bank, at Frankfort, now offer Five Thomsand Shares of this highly productive and desirable stock, at par.
On Thursday, 1234 June, from 12 to 12'; o'clock, subscriptions will be received by the undersigned, at the Banking House of the Othe Lie Insurance and Frost Company, No.
45 Wall street.
The shares are One Hundred Dollars each. The Farmers' Bank was incorporated by the Legislature of Kentucky, at the session of ISH-50, in pursuance of reports from the foomnittee on Banks of the Senate and House of Regruentatives, setting for the binachiciency of the banking capital of the State, as limited for a period of hear twenty years past, to the Bank of Kentucky, the Northern Bank of Rentucky, and Bank of Louisville.

The Farmers' bank of Kentucky was, therefore, incorpor-

State, as limited for a period of near twenty years past, to the Bank of Kentucky, the Northern Bank of Kentucky, and Bank of Louisville.

The Farmers' Bank of Kentucky was, therefore, incorporated, with a capital of $2,650,000.

About $700,000 of the stock was subscribed in Kentucky and in the city of Cincinnati, upon which the bank has been transacting a highly successful business since last fall. The large amounts of safe and productive paper drawn upon shipments of hemp, bale rope, bagging, tobacco, produce, live stock, &c., varely exceeding the ability of the bank, with its present means, to purchase, render this proposed increase of capital an unusually safe and increave in capital state of the safe of the safe Britson will dendeteem he enhalted to divide five per cent seminary will dendeteem and as handsome surplus fund.

Britson will be paid in this city at the Ohio life and Trust Company, or other bank, of which due notice will be given.

The present condition, business, and prospects of the Parmers' Bank, must insure a rapid advance of its stock above par, placing it upon a similar footing with the stock of the Bank of Louisville, the Bank of Kentucky, and the Northern Bank of Kentucky, which are now scarcely to be had at the advanced rates of premium asked. The former is now quoted at 104½ a 105, the Northern Bank at 111 a 111½, and the Bank of Kentucky at 105½ a 107. A long course of successful business has deservedly placed the stock of these institutions high in the estimation of the holders.

The practical operation of the bank has shown that the locations of the branches are eminently favorable, and indicative, without exception, of highly profitable results.

The field thrown open to the Farmers' Bank for the transaction of a successful business in Kentucky, and neighboring States, is undoubtedly experior to any other is the Union. The credit and standing of the Kentucky Banks are equal to those of any other State.

The notes of the farmer Bank now form an impostant of the Kentucky Banks have in general commanded a premium over other bankshle funds at Cincinnati, and have present a discount. It may be safely said that no Banks in the Union are better managed. Their capitals are, to a large extent, employed in the purchase of hills drawn against shipments of staple products, of which the single courty of flourbon exported in value $1,400,000 during the year 1850. It is believed that such a field for banking operations, based upon the produced by none other.

A third favorable feature of this stock is its permanence. The capital of the Parmers' Bank ofers, therefore, the forther of country, with the entire West and Southwest for the circulation of its notes, is surpassed by none other.

A valuable provision o

Committee.

Resume of the Reading Convention - The Democracy Commit-the testing of the Reading Convention—For Democracy Commit-ted to the Union and the Constitution.

The progress of public opinion in this State, in regard to the necessity of preserving the Union at all hazards, and maintaining the contitution and its compromises intact, must be most gratifying to every patriot through-out the land. Pennsylvania is at length alive to the danger that threatens the Union and with the Union her danger that threatens the Union and with the Union her own glory and prosperity, and perhaps her very existence as a State. The spirit has moved her. The proceedings of the Reading Convention afford the most satisfactory evidence of the fact. The strong resolutions adopted, and the speech of the nominee for Governor, and all the speeches that were delivered, are most significant of the issue upon which the contest will be fought in October next and in the fall of 1852, should the question not be set at rest before the latter period. The democracy ber next and in the fall of 1852 should the question not be set at rest before the latter period. The democracy have unfurled their standard to the breeze, and without a dissentient voice have committed themselves fully and completely to the compromises of the Union, and the adjustment recently passed by Congress. The proceed-ings will be read with profound gratification in the South; and even if the leaders were not sincere and patriotic in this movement, the people are, and it is admirable tact to take that ground in view of the approaching conflict. to take that ground in view of the approaching conflict. It places Johnston and his supporters in a most awkward this movement, the people are and it is admirable tactto take that ground in view of the approaching conflict.

It places Johnston and his supporters in a most awkward position, and will probably be the means of their defeat.

The democratic members of the Legislature, backed by some patriotic whigs, brought in the bill to repeal the obnexious law of 1847, forbidding the use of the public jails for the detention of fugitive slaves, in order to put him into that very corner. He had not the courage to sign it, and, like good tacticians, the heads of the democratic party are turning his veto to the best account, and forcing him into the ranks of the free soilers, where he will undoubtedly be lost.

This movement is also ominous of the fate of Scott.

He, too, is tainted, if not with free soil, at least with a strong suspicion of it, which amounts to about the same thing. It is almost certain that he will obtain the nomination for the Presidency in this State, but the democratic candidate, especially if he be the right kind or man, will win the State from him at the polls, unless he very specify and explicitly washes his hands clean of every stain of abolition and free soil. Perhaps he will define his position one of these day, like Dayid Wilmot, who, as a delegate from Bracford county, is to explain away the Wilmot Proviso at the Harristonya Ornvention next week, to the satisfaction of the democracy, as we are informed by Mr. Laporte the delegate from Bracford county at the Reading Convention, and the chairman of the ratification mass meeting. Some step of that kind will be absolutely necessary to save Scott, popular as he is with a majority of the white party in Pennsylvania. Public opinion wit compel him to do it, as wellas Wilmot, or drive him off the stage. That opinion has not yet attained its full strongth. The wind has only commenced to breaths upon the waters; the sea is now only rippled on its aurface, the swelling waves, that are

Our Washington Correspondence. WASHINGTON, June 6, 1851. Hayti-Mr. Calhoun's Policy versus Mr. Webster's -Central America-An Entangling Alliance with England-The Tehuantepec Treaty-Political His-

England—The Tchuantepec Treaty—Political His-tory of Colonel Benton—The Goths and Vandals in the Public Grounds.

It is, perhaps, not generally known that there has been, for some time, a co-operative movement going on in Hayti between the English, French, and United States agents, to induce the Dominicans, or whites, of the independent white section of the island, to have down their flags and come under the island, to haul down their flag, and come under the government of the black Emperor. The ostensible object of this movement is to put a stop to the wars between the two sections of the island, by bles them under the same authority. It has been urged upon the Dominicans that this would restore peace—that pledges of security could be exacted of Soulouque-and that only in a restoration of something like a permanent peace can the commercial resources of the island be developed. The combination has, however, failed. The Dominicans refuse to submit. Negotiations, though are still going on, and the plan may succeed in the end. But what object is to be achieved, se desirchal. But what coject is to be achieved, we easily able to Mr. Webster, in placing the whole island under the dominion of the blacks? Is he ignorant of the intentions of Great Britain and France; or is he knowingly co-operating with them to arrest the extension of slavery, and to suppress it as fast as possible in the West Indies? Mr. Calboun, when Secretary of State, made it a special object to give all possible countenance and support to the Deminicans. And this was his theory. If the whitesewere put down in Hayti, the next step would be the fomenting of a black revolution, leading to the establishment of the supremacy of the negroes in the leland of Cuba. The very anticipation of such a possible state of things was alarming to Mr. Calhoun, from the moral effect it would inevitably produce in the Southern States of this confederacy.—Aided by the abolitionists, the blacks of South Carolina and Georgia might be indused to plunge into a bloody insurrection, to gain something like the splendid pageantry and tinsel gim-crackery of the empire of Hayti, and something of that absolute despotism which constitutes the basis of every negro's beau ideal of a complete government. The policy, then, of Mr. Calhoun, was to maintain the independence of the Dominicans against the blacks—to arrest the system of emancipation, and revolution, anarchy and despotism in the West Indies, and by all means, to preserve the "peculiar institutions" of the South from the dangers of a system of negro kingdoms and empires in all the West Indies, of the System of severy necessary of the system of severy necessary of the system of severy necessary of the complete masters of Hayti, and that the blacks would be reduced to an inferior and subordinate position, if not to bona fide alavery.—Longh is known of the conficutial mission of Mr. Homans to establish the policy of Mr. Calhoun to have been the protection of the whites against the blacks; and the preservation, unimpared by badexample in the West Indies, of the system of severy in the Souther able to Mr. Webster, in placing the whole island under the dominion of the blacks? Is he ignorant of the intentions of Great Britain and France; or is
