

JAMES GORDON BERNETT, PROPRIETOR AND EDITOR.

OFFICE N. W. CORNER OF FULTON AND NASSAU STS.

TERMS: Cash in advance. For one year, $10.00; for six months, $6.00; for three months, $3.50. Single copies, 10 cents.

ADVERTISEMENTS: For one square, 10 cents per line per week.

AMUSEMENTS THIS EVENING.

- BOWERY THEATRE, BOWERY.—MANUEL-LA BAYONA.
BROADWAY THEATRE, BROADWAY.—DURK'S WAGER.
HIVACOS.—MY TROUBLE WITH AN OLD GENTLEMAN.

DOUBLE SHEET.

New York, Tuesday, November 9, 1853.

Mails for Europe.

THE NEW YORK WEEKLY HERALD. The Grand steamship Niagara, Captain Stone, will leave Boston at noon to-morrow, for Halifax and Liverpool.

THE NEWS.

By the arrival of the steamship Star of the West we have five days later intelligence from the Pacific. The news is not important, but contains the usual amount of interesting reading.

The telegraph has furnished quite full returns of the election which was yesterday held in Massachusetts, for State and Legislative officers, and for three members of the present, and eleven of the coming or Thirty-third Congress.

The Seward organ, par excellence, the greater Ajax of socialism and abolition, after beating about the bush like a man strangely bewildered since the Presidential election, comes up at last and looks the real issue full in the face.

We have felt satisfied that the philosophers of the Seward organ would be compelled to face the music, before they could satisfactorily to themselves account for the terrible tornado of public opinion which has swept over the country from Maine to Texas.

Lake Erie was swept by another terrific gale on Saturday and Sunday, and the consequences to the shipping, so far as ascertained, have been most disastrous and heartrending.

Adjutant General Jessup has ordered a court martial to adjudge on the recent personal assault on Colonel Roberts by Captain McLane, in Washington city, and in accordance with his directions the military court assembled in the quarter-master's office, State street, in this city, yesterday.

per barrel within less than a week. Mess pork has again become firm at $17 per barrel; beef also is in good request at full prices; indeed, all provisions, including butter, cheese, &c., command higher rates than at the same period last year.

Both boards of the Common Council met last evening at the usual hour; but no business of public importance was transacted beyond what is recorded in the official report elsewhere published.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday, and approved of the proceedings of the previous meeting, after which, there being no business of importance to transact, the body adjourned till next Monday.

The highly important and interesting case respecting Mrs. Lemmon's slaves, was called on yesterday, at 12 o'clock, in the Superior Court; but on the application of Mr. Lephau, the counsel for the defendant, it stands adjourned until to-day, at 4 P. M.

The report of the City Inspector, published in another part of our paper, shows an increase of twenty-five deaths, as occurring during the past week, over the number reported for the week ending 30th October.

Our inside pages are to-day filled with a great variety of highly entertaining matter of a portion of which the following are merely the heads—Confessions of a Seward Organ, and Movements for 1854; Letters from our Albany, Washington, Quebec and London Correspondents; Thrilling Sketch of a Hunting Expedition in the Interior of this State.

The Seward organ, par excellence, the greater Ajax of socialism and abolition, after beating about the bush like a man strangely bewildered since the Presidential election, comes up at last and looks the real issue full in the face.

We have felt satisfied that the philosophers of the Seward organ would be compelled to face the music, before they could satisfactorily to themselves account for the terrible tornado of public opinion which has swept over the country from Maine to Texas.

Lake Erie was swept by another terrific gale on Saturday and Sunday, and the consequences to the shipping, so far as ascertained, have been most disastrous and heartrending.

Adjutant General Jessup has ordered a court martial to adjudge on the recent personal assault on Colonel Roberts by Captain McLane, in Washington city, and in accordance with his directions the military court assembled in the quarter-master's office, State street, in this city, yesterday.

in, only rendered its dissolution more speedy and violent. "Scott leads the column!" We never a brave and confident old soldier led so boldly into the jaws of destruction before! He was, as his calculations, it is now evident, upon a false basis.

The influence of a newspaper is in exact proportion to the faith which is reposed in its judgment and honesty. A journal whose sources of information are circumscribed, or whose perceptions are dull, seldom exercises much sway over the community.

The broad principle that dishonesty and corruption in a newspaper cannot be concealed, and must inevitably work its ruin, we take to be unquestionable. We do not think the world ever offered an example of a prosperous journal, affording mental food to thousands, against which a charge of venality could be substantiated.

Now, what is to be done? Sewardism, in a fair open trial before the people, has broken up the whig party, root and branch. This is the entertainment which he has been preparing for them for the last twenty-five years.

For the present, let it suffice that the whig party is defunct—dead beyond all hope of resurrection—stone dead; and that Sewardism has killed it and cut it up into fragments.

Now, there is no telling what may come to pass within the next four years. The people, in a voice of thunder, have proclaimed the restoration of the most extravagant pictures of the views of Gen. Cass on the intervention question, nor the most frightful exaggerations of the alleged filibustering propensities of Judge Douglas and "Young America," have at last alarmed the people.

Now, there is no telling what may come to pass within the next four years. The people, in a voice of thunder, have proclaimed the restoration of the most extravagant pictures of the views of Gen. Cass on the intervention question, nor the most frightful exaggerations of the alleged filibustering propensities of Judge Douglas and "Young America," have at last alarmed the people.

Now, there is no telling what may come to pass within the next four years. The people, in a voice of thunder, have proclaimed the restoration of the most extravagant pictures of the views of Gen. Cass on the intervention question, nor the most frightful exaggerations of the alleged filibustering propensities of Judge Douglas and "Young America," have at last alarmed the people.

Now, there is no telling what may come to pass within the next four years. The people, in a voice of thunder, have proclaimed the restoration of the most extravagant pictures of the views of Gen. Cass on the intervention question, nor the most frightful exaggerations of the alleged filibustering propensities of Judge Douglas and "Young America," have at last alarmed the people.

Now, there is no telling what may come to pass within the next four years. The people, in a voice of thunder, have proclaimed the restoration of the most extravagant pictures of the views of Gen. Cass on the intervention question, nor the most frightful exaggerations of the alleged filibustering propensities of Judge Douglas and "Young America," have at last alarmed the people.

Substituting the Press—The Recklessness of Partisan Editors. The influence of a newspaper is in exact proportion to the faith which is reposed in its judgment and honesty. A journal whose sources of information are circumscribed, or whose perceptions are dull, seldom exercises much sway over the community.

The broad principle that dishonesty and corruption in a newspaper cannot be concealed, and must inevitably work its ruin, we take to be unquestionable. We do not think the world ever offered an example of a prosperous journal, affording mental food to thousands, against which a charge of venality could be substantiated.

Now, what is to be done? Sewardism, in a fair open trial before the people, has broken up the whig party, root and branch. This is the entertainment which he has been preparing for them for the last twenty-five years.

For the present, let it suffice that the whig party is defunct—dead beyond all hope of resurrection—stone dead; and that Sewardism has killed it and cut it up into fragments.

Now, there is no telling what may come to pass within the next four years. The people, in a voice of thunder, have proclaimed the restoration of the most extravagant pictures of the views of Gen. Cass on the intervention question, nor the most frightful exaggerations of the alleged filibustering propensities of Judge Douglas and "Young America," have at last alarmed the people.

Now, there is no telling what may come to pass within the next four years. The people, in a voice of thunder, have proclaimed the restoration of the most extravagant pictures of the views of Gen. Cass on the intervention question, nor the most frightful exaggerations of the alleged filibustering propensities of Judge Douglas and "Young America," have at last alarmed the people.

Now, there is no telling what may come to pass within the next four years. The people, in a voice of thunder, have proclaimed the restoration of the most extravagant pictures of the views of Gen. Cass on the intervention question, nor the most frightful exaggerations of the alleged filibustering propensities of Judge Douglas and "Young America," have at last alarmed the people.

Now, there is no telling what may come to pass within the next four years. The people, in a voice of thunder, have proclaimed the restoration of the most extravagant pictures of the views of Gen. Cass on the intervention question, nor the most frightful exaggerations of the alleged filibustering propensities of Judge Douglas and "Young America," have at last alarmed the people.

Now, there is no telling what may come to pass within the next four years. The people, in a voice of thunder, have proclaimed the restoration of the most extravagant pictures of the views of Gen. Cass on the intervention question, nor the most frightful exaggerations of the alleged filibustering propensities of Judge Douglas and "Young America," have at last alarmed the people.

Now, there is no telling what may come to pass within the next four years. The people, in a voice of thunder, have proclaimed the restoration of the most extravagant pictures of the views of Gen. Cass on the intervention question, nor the most frightful exaggerations of the alleged filibustering propensities of Judge Douglas and "Young America," have at last alarmed the people.

to purchase their good will; but we cannot afford to be dishonest, as we are so inclined; or, at all events, if we were, as there is but one honest Rothschild, we could not expect competition for our favors.— Non envis hominum contigit adire Coelestium.

A LECTURE IN ENLIGHTENMENT.—There is at present a very remarkable activity existing among the professional lecturers in this latitude, and great preparations are being made for the winter campaign, which commenced regularly in New York last week.

First, we have got the programme of a series of six lectures to be delivered by Mrs. Oakes Smith, a lady distinguished for her learning, genius, eloquence, and woman's rights principles. Her first subject is "The Dignity of Labor." Mrs. Smith's views and ideas and language have the charm of novelty and brilliancy to recommend them, and her identification with that eccentric but beautiful corpse of American amazons, who hold their conventions now and then throughout the country, and shook the nerves of old school coaches by exhibiting their handsomely proportioned legs in nice pantallets, is of itself sufficient to attract large audiences.

Then we are promised a series of lectures from the eloquent and enthusiastic young Irishman, Thomas Francis Moagher—subject: "Australia." These will no doubt be worthy of the brilliant fame which that gentleman has acquired by his oratory and patriotism, and, in advance, be classed as the first in interest and talent of the season.

Then we are promised a series of lectures from the eloquent and enthusiastic young Irishman, Thomas Francis Moagher—subject: "Australia." These will no doubt be worthy of the brilliant fame which that gentleman has acquired by his oratory and patriotism, and, in advance, be classed as the first in interest and talent of the season.

Then we are promised a series of lectures from the eloquent and enthusiastic young Irishman, Thomas Francis Moagher—subject: "Australia." These will no doubt be worthy of the brilliant fame which that gentleman has acquired by his oratory and patriotism, and, in advance, be classed as the first in interest and talent of the season.

Then we are promised a series of lectures from the eloquent and enthusiastic young Irishman, Thomas Francis Moagher—subject: "Australia." These will no doubt be worthy of the brilliant fame which that gentleman has acquired by his oratory and patriotism, and, in advance, be classed as the first in interest and talent of the season.

Then we are promised a series of lectures from the eloquent and enthusiastic young Irishman, Thomas Francis Moagher—subject: "Australia." These will no doubt be worthy of the brilliant fame which that gentleman has acquired by his oratory and patriotism, and, in advance, be classed as the first in interest and talent of the season.

Then we are promised a series of lectures from the eloquent and enthusiastic young Irishman, Thomas Francis Moagher—subject: "Australia." These will no doubt be worthy of the brilliant fame which that gentleman has acquired by his oratory and patriotism, and, in advance, be classed as the first in interest and talent of the season.

Then we are promised a series of lectures from the eloquent and enthusiastic young Irishman, Thomas Francis Moagher—subject: "Australia." These will no doubt be worthy of the brilliant fame which that gentleman has acquired by his oratory and patriotism, and, in advance, be classed as the first in interest and talent of the season.

Court Martial on Captain McLane. As a necessary consequence of the recent accounts between Captain McLane and Colonel Roberts, in Washington city, which our readers may remember, arose out of the Captain's extraordinary letter concerning the conduct of General Pierce on the night previous to the withdrawal of the army from Mexico, the Adjutant General Jessup, has ordered a court martial to assemble and adjudge on this strange affair. At noon yesterday the court assembled in this city. The members were:—

Colonel Plympton, Seventh Infantry, President; Colonel Abernethy, Second Infantry, Vice-President; Third Artillery; Colonel Swords, Quarter-Master; Major Morris, Fourth Artillery; Major Sherman, Third Artillery; Major Mackay, Artillery Adjutant-General; Major Taylor, Third Artillery; Captain Hayden, Second Infantry; Captain Westcott, Captain Hayden, Second Infantry; Captain Dinkley, Fourth Artillery; Lieutenant Beckwith, Third Artillery; Major-General H. H. Hunt, Adjutant-General; Major-General Mansfield Lovell, Fourth Artillery, Judge Advocate of the court.

Colonel Roberts and Captain McLane were in a room adjoining the court. The Colonel is a dark-skinned man, and of a somewhat coarse appearance, and the Captain on the contrary is very elegant in complexion and tall. The Court waited several minutes for the arrival of Captain Westcott, of the Governor's Band Garrison, in order to form a quorum, and then adjourned to one o'clock in order to give him ample time. On assembling again, the Captain was still absent, and under those circumstances it was deemed advisable to adjourn till ten o'clock this morning. We understand that the trial will be concluded on Friday next, as there will be but a few witnesses called on behalf of Colonel Roberts, Captain McLane resting his defence on the peculiar circumstances which occasioned the rencontre.

The Crystal Palace. ASSOCIATION FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE INDUSTRY OF AMERICAN ARTISANS. OFFICE NO. 53 BROADWAY. I address you, on behalf of the Association for the Exhibition of the Industry of American Artisans, to invite your co-operation in the general efforts of the enterprise.

The building intended for the purpose of the Exhibition, constructed entirely of iron, and of the most beautiful and the largest and most beautiful edifice in the country. It covers on the ground floor, two and a half acres, and with the galleries on the upper floors, will contain a space of nearly a million feet of floor space, and is to be completed on the 21st October. The main part of the building will be ready for occupancy on the 15th of the month. We have it in our power, therefore, to accommodate you, as we have already stated to the public, that the Exhibition will certainly be opened on the 21st of May, 1854. We are thus enabled to announce to you, that the building is now in the hands of the architect, and that the plans for the building are now in the hands of the architect, and that the plans for the building are now in the hands of the architect.

We have the strongest assurance of support from the representatives, in this country, of the principal foreign nations, and we are confident that the Exhibition will be the most successful and profitable ever held in this country. We are thus enabled to announce to you, that the building is now in the hands of the architect, and that the plans for the building are now in the hands of the architect.

We have the strongest assurance of support from the representatives, in this country, of the principal foreign nations, and we are confident that the Exhibition will be the most successful and profitable ever held in this country. We are thus enabled to announce to you, that the building is now in the hands of the architect, and that the plans for the building are now in the hands of the architect.

We have the strongest assurance of support from the representatives, in this country, of the principal foreign nations, and we are confident that the Exhibition will be the most successful and profitable ever held in this country. We are thus enabled to announce to you, that the building is now in the hands of the architect, and that the plans for the building are now in the hands of the architect.

We have the strongest assurance of support from the representatives, in this country, of the principal foreign nations, and we are confident that the Exhibition will be the most successful and profitable ever held in this country. We are thus enabled to announce to you, that the building is now in the hands of the architect, and that the plans for the building are now in the hands of the architect.

We have the strongest assurance of support from the representatives, in this country, of the principal foreign nations, and we are confident that the Exhibition will be the most successful and profitable ever held in this country. We are thus enabled to announce to you, that the building is now in the hands of the architect, and that the plans for the building are now in the hands of the architect.