Interesting from the State Capitol. ALBANY, Jan. 1, 1856.

THE SEWARDITES HAVE THE SENATE—STRUGGLE IN THE HOUSE FOR SPEAKER, OLIVER, ETC.—SILENT CONFERENCE FOR THE HOUSE FOR THE SPEAKER, ETC.

The doublet heretofore existing as to the completion of the State Senate are now altogether dispensed. The number of members claimed by Seward were, also, the election, though opposed by both Know Nothings and Democrats, was fully confirmed to-day. The Democrats had counted upon Madden of the Ninth, Bellinger of the Sixteenth, and Clark of the Fifteenth. The Know Nothings upon the Hon. Cyrus P. Smith, of Brooklyn, returned from the second district. Disappointment met both parties full in the face, for Madden and Bellinger voted throughout with the Republicans; Clark would have done the same, had he been present; and the Brooklyn Senators, after voting twice with the Know Nothings, turned in and assisted the Sewardites to elect various officers of the Senate. What will the Kings county Americans think of this exploit of the honorable members, within an hour after he took the oath of office? It now turns out that Wood knew his own better than John H. Rhodes, or any N. Y. of the second district. It is for them to inquire whether anybody has been elected or not.

At one o'clock to-day the new members commenced voting viva voce for Speaker. Nearly every member was present, and the galleries and entrances were crowded completely with office seekers and spectators. Upon the opening of no previous Legislature has there been any approach to the intense interest manifested in the organization of the House. The prominent candidates are O'Connell, American; Bailey, Democrat; and Prendergast, black wing Republican. Several attempts were made to elect O'Connell, but no choice could be effected. O'Connell rose the highest, but drew none from either of the other parties. The Democrats claim fifty, but only thirty voted for Bailey, the caucus candidate. Though an active laborer when in the House before, he is not supported by them now. Finally, after several unsuccessful attempts to elect a Speaker, Mr. Glover, of New York, arose and stated that inasmuch as this was New Year's day, and half of it had already been spent without effect in organizing, he moved that the House adjourn until eleven o'clock to-morrow morning. This was agreed to. From the course matters have taken to-day it is evident that much more time will be consumed than ever known before in this State in organizing the House of Assembly. So long as the voting by viva voce is pursued no speaker will be elected, as each of the three parties throw themselves upon their friends with equal solicitude. Mr. Bailey, represent themselves as standing upon principle and the constitution! It is talked quite freely since the adjournment that if the necessity shall arise, Van Sandford, of Rensselaer, will be taken up and elected over Prendergast. Cyrus Smith's course in the Senate has rendered the Know Nothings of the House indignant and revengeful. Prepare, then, for another candidate for Speaker.

The softs are for union. In their caucus last night they professed the olive branch to the hard, but the latter treated it with silent contempt. There was no disagreement as to the candidates for the various offices, but the hard justly themselves by asserting that the softs have cheated them repeatedly, and no choice will be given them. Notwithstanding the efforts of Dean Richmond, John C. Wright, Daniel Sickles and George Clark, to effect a union, no principle was reached. The hard would not listen to them. The hard hold the card, and play it with a firm grip.

Mr. Brandt is on the ground, fortified with documents and proofs which, he says, will satisfy the Senate that he is entitled to the seat to which Mr. Fulton is commissioned. Ex-Alderman and ex-Senator Barr has not made his appearance, to contest the seat of Dan. Sickles, so constantly threatened ever since election.

Zenas Clark, a Newark Republican Senator elect, has not attended—said to be ill at home—and likely will not until after the organization. The Republicans claim his vote, making fifteen for their officers, when Lieutenant-Governor Raymond will decide with them.

The Governor has appointed Elisha S. Capron City Judge, in place of Stuart, resigned.

Mr. French (Alderman) and Secretary of State, and old hand, is appointed Auditor of Canal Department, an excellent position, so far as integrity and capacity is concerned.

Massachusetts Legislature. BOSTON, January 2, 1856.

The Massachusetts Legislature commenced its session to-day. The Senate elected E. C. Baker, of Middlesex, President, and Peter L. Cox, of Lynn, Clerk. The House organized by choosing Charles A. Phelps, of Worcester. The Governor's message will be read to-morrow.

Governor Pollock's message was delivered to the Legislature this morning. He makes some congratulatory remarks about the financial condition of the State—the increase in the debt during the past year having been $600,000, and no new loan having been created. He refers to his former message for his opinions on national affairs, and reaffirms the sentiments then expressed. He calls attention to the necessity for further legislation on the issue question; adverts to the duty of electing a United States Senator; alludes to the robbery of arms at Harrisburg; recommends the enactment of a law inflicting punishment for such offenses, and a further appropriation for building an arsenal at Philadelphia, the State armory being now kept in an insecure outhouse, owing to the former building having been torn down, and not rebuilt in consequence of the insufficiency of the appropriation for the purpose.

The accident on the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad. PITTSBURGH, Jan. 1, 1856.

The following are the particulars of the accident on the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad, referred to in our despatch yesterday. About half past four o'clock P. M., a passenger train going East, at Darlington Summit. The freight train was out of time, and the conductor was probably endeavoring to reach a switch with a short distance. The collision occurred on a heavy curve and both trains were under full headway, consequently the locomotives and some of the cars were smashed to atoms. Four persons were killed, namely—Mr. Stokes, agent of the New Castle and Erie Stage Company; a man named Johnston, brother of the landlord of the Egan Valley hotel, an Irishman and another whose name has not been ascertained. About sixteen were more or less injured. The engineer of the passenger train was badly hurt in the back, and the fireman had one arm shattered. A Mr. John Vash, it is thought, was dangerously wounded. The accident was caused by the watch of the conductor of the freight train being three quarters of an hour too slow.

Frightful Double Murder at Woodbridge, Ct. NEW HAVEN, Jan. 1, 1856.

Two murders were committed in Woodbridge, six miles from this city, yesterday, by Charles Sanford, an Italian man, about twenty-six years old. It is supposed he was in the woods chopping, and that when he came out he killed George Sperry, who was riding in his sleigh. Mr. Sperry's head was cut off. He was the father of N. D. Sperry, Secretary of State. Sanford then went to the house of Ichabod Underhill, a farmer, and killed him with his axe. Sanford is in jail. He appears to be a cunning villain. He is the nephew of Almonson Sanford, who was one of the Waterbury men arrested on suspicion of connection with the recent murder of Justice Matthews. Sanford has been two or three times at the prison here. To-day he is muttering a senseless jargon with occasional oaths.

Non-Arrival of the Canada. HALIFAX, Jan. 2—Non.

Destruction of a Unitarian Church by Fire—Commerce of Boston. BOSTON, Jan. 1, 1856.

The Unitarian church at West Cambridge, under the charge of Rev. Mr. Smith, was destroyed by fire this morning. It was only partially insured.

During the year 1855 there arrived at this port 5,178 vessels from foreign ports, and, in the same time, there were 3,222 clearances for foreign ports. This shows a large increase over the previous year.

Departure of the Asia. BOSTON, Jan. 2, 1856.

The Canada steamship sails at 11 P. M. with 100 passengers for Liverpool and 15 for Halifax, and 100 to a specie.

Of Mr. Trovbridge's house in Gold street, on New Year's night, and proceeded to walk off with some, when they were detected and followed by the occupant. One of the paraded turned round and struck his pursuer down with a stick, and the other two, who were the thieves, was subsequently arrested by the Fourth district police.

THE DAY IN WILLIAMSBURG.

The opening of the New Year was observed in Williamsburg very generally. All business being at a standstill, the citizens were gaily fitting from house to house, exchanging the compliments of the season, while the ladies remained at home and received their visitors with a hearty, old time hospitality. The day was very favorable to religious, and a large number availed themselves of the opportunity to enjoy it. The streets were alive from morning until late in the night with merry parties, and the musical bells lent a charm to the day that rendered it peculiarly cheering. But the festival of the New Year, though so generally observed, passed over unmarked by any of those scenes of disgraceful rioting and intemperance which too often blur its beauty; and only three or four arrests were made during the day. Altogether, the first day of 1856 was one to which the citizens of the Eastern District may look back with pleasure and satisfaction.

Revolving Homicide in the Fourth Ward—Arrest of the Alleged Perpetrator.

About one o'clock yesterday morning a shocking occurrence took place at the larger bier saloon of John L. Yeeks, No. 231 William st., the scene of a murder about five months ago. A party of Germans who were courting together became somewhat noisy, when officers Barr and Hogan were called in and the disturbers were ejected from the premises. One of the party soon after returned and desired to be admitted, but the proprietor of the place would not listen to the proposal which angered him very much. Being tired to close the store William Barr then fled, and the wounded man staggered back into the store, and fell on the floor. Here he expired almost immediately afterwards. The police were informed of the occurrence, when a search was made for the fugitive, where he was arrested, and taken to the police station, where he was confined in the cell. He is a man named Snyder, and is a man named Snyder, were arrested and detained as witnesses.

Police Intelligence.

STABBED IN A FIGHT. James McGuire, well engaged in some difficulty with an unknown German, about four o'clock yesterday morning, received a severe wound in the abdomen, which may eventually result fatally. The injured man resides at the corner of Pearl and Park streets. He was conveyed to the New York Hospital for medical attendance. The arrested man was conveyed to the police station in the ambulance.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY UPON AN OFFICER.

On Monday night, while officer Tracy, of the Fourth ward police, was patrolling his beat in Canal street, near Centre, he was attacked by three men, who beat him in a most brutal manner, and then robbed him of his watch. Capt. Kiser being informed of the occurrence, ordered Officer Tracy to be kept in the hospital, and the watch was recovered by James Gallagher and William Cummings, were arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in the robbery. The watch was recovered from the hands of the thieves, and a sound beating at the hands of the ruffians. The accused were committed for examination by Justice Bowen.

Fires in New York.

BETWEEN SIX AND SEVEN O'CLOCK on Monday evening the alarm of fire in the Sixth district was caused by the bursting of a gas lamp, in the premises of James Thompson, 569 Grand street. Tilling damage.

ABOUT HALF PAST SEVEN O'CLOCK on Tuesday night, the alarm of fire in the Seventh district was caused by the discovery of fire in the clothing store 97 Chatham street, owned by Simon Fox. The firemen were early at the premises and succeeded in preventing the flames from extending beyond the store. Upon examination of the store and the appearance of the burning, it was evident the fire originated in the rear part, by the entry partition. The clerk, who usually slept in the store, was absent at the time of the fire, and the cause of the fire was not ascertained. The upper part of the building was unoccupied, which accounts in a great measure for the fire getting so much less fire before discovered.

THE STORE NO. 34 is occupied by Henry P. Degraff, a furniture dealer. No damage, but as the store was only divided by a board partition and filled with smoke, the fire was not discovered until the door broken open to ascertain if all was right.

FIRE IN TENTH AVENUE—Shortly before twelve o'clock, on Tuesday night, a fire was discovered in a wood shed attached to a frame dwelling, No. 426 Tenth avenue. The shed was unoccupied. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. On the 10th August last, a fire was discovered in the same shed, and it was extinguished before any damage was done, but by this fire about $600. The building is owned by William H. Trow, and is insured for $600 in the Citizens' Insurance Company.

FIRE IN MADISON STREET—About five o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, a fire occurred in a room on the second floor in the tenement house, No. 3 Marion street, which seems there had been some trouble amongst the inmates through keeping up the New Year's Day, and by some means a lighted candle was knocked into an old sofa bottom, and the fire communicated to the sofa, and spread to other articles in the room, but was soon extinguished by the firemen. Damage about $10.

City Intelligence.

THE INSURER TO THE TYPING ROOMS—The Plymouth block will still adhere at an early hour this morning, and in about the same position as previously reported. Additional assistance, such as coal, bales, cases, &c., &c., was sent up to her yesterday afternoon; and as the easterly wind now prevailing will send in a higher tide, the water will be raised, and the block will be raised, and is apparently not much injured.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE. ARRIVALS. From Havana and New Orleans, the steamship No. 100, arrived at New York on Monday night, at 10 o'clock. The Quaker City made a fine run from Mobile to Havana, forty-four hours, against a strong head wind. She remained in that port twenty-eight hours, and anchored at the Quarantine Ground, Monday night, at twelve o'clock, four days and seven hours from Havana.

There is nothing new from Havana. The Christmas holidays had interrupted business, and but little was doing, no alterations in staple articles or freight since last services.

The French vessel of war, Hermes and Oréste had left the harbor for San Juan, Nicaragua. It was reported that the French and English squadrons were on their way from San Juan to Havana.

Mlle. Rachel had arrived at Havana, her first performance was spoken of to take place on the 29th ult., but there were rumors about that she will not perform at all, on account of her health, and would remain inactive on the ground for the ensuing three months.

The Crescent City's passengers have all been forwarded to their destinations. Some of her cargo had arrived at Havana in a damaged state.

Celebration of New Year's Day.

New Year's day was observed in the city with even more than the usual spirit—a circumstance mainly due to the fine weather and the excellent condition of the city for sleighing. The jingle of sleigh bells was heard upon "snowy hillsides," and for some time after the streets had a singular appearance, from the fact that while they were filled with the sleighs on their holiday attire, not a lady was to be seen, as custom compels them to remain at home and receive their friends. There was considerable drunkenness, and towards evening, quite a number of young men found out the streets were very slippery. The usual regulations were indulged in, and culprits were severely taxed to invent new sentences applicable to the occasion; it was found, however, that none of them were more to the point than the simple and familiar one which which we now greet our readers, viz: "We wish you a Happy New Year."
