THE INVESTIGATIONS OF THE COMMITTEE ARE NOT TO BE CONFINED TO THE SINGLE SUBJECT OF THE INTELLIGENCE OF THE CONTENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE, PUBLISHED IN THE HERALD IN ADVANCE, BUT OTHER DUTIES OF A KINDRED CHARACTER, AND ACTUALLY INVOLVING SOMETHING MORE THAN SUPERIOR ENTRY, AND AFFECTING REGULAR CORRESPONDENTS OF OTHER NEW YORK JOURNALS, ARE TO BE INQUIRED INTO.

There is considerable wincing in this respect among those whose consciences are not entirely clear.

MR. LINCOLN TO-DAY HAD AN INTERVIEW WITH THE JUDICIAL COMMITTEE AT HIS OWN REQUEST. THE RESULT OF THE INTERVIEW HAS NOT BEEN DISCLOSED.

THE TRANSPORTATION OF TROOPS OVER WESTERN RAILROADS.

THE VICTORY AT ROANOKE ISLAND.

OUR PORTSMOUTH CORRESPONDENCE.

THE UNION VICTORY AT ROANOKE ISLAND—THE RE-ARRIVAL OF THE NEW YORK POINT—ARRIVAL OF TWO WHITE REFUGEES FROM NORFOLK—A PANIC IN NORFOLK—INFORMATION FOR PERSONS GOING SOUTH—A CELEBRATION OF THE BURNING VICTORY—THE REBELS, (cont.)

Roanoke Island has been taken. Elizabeth City is in ashes. Our troops occupy it, and 2,500 prisoners were captured by the victorious General Burnside.

This thrilling and startling news was communicated to us yesterday afternoon, as the flag of truce, in charge of Captain James Millard, Jr., returned from delivering the rebel prisoners, brought here in the bark Titania, in charge of Lieutenant Bell, of the Fourth Infantry, to Craney Island. Several copies of Southern newspapers were brought up by some passengers, and immediately a large and excited crowd gathered at different places to listen to the statements of the great engagement at the mouth of the Roanoke, and the capture of the island.

Although the accounts in the rebel newspapers were meagre, and inclined to be drawn as to say as possible, still sufficient facts appear to warrant me in saying that the victory was as complete as could be desired. Enough to say the news of the affair, as given in the "Seventh" journals, inspired everybody with the greatest confidence in the prowess of the authorities to quell the present rebellion. Never before has there been such a truly intense demonstration of joy as on the occasion of the receipt of the Roanoke Island capture.

Various stories were told as to the capture of prisoners. Some stated that we had taken 2,500, others, 2,700. The Richmond Examiner gives the figures at 2,100, classifying O. Jennings as the rebel account, and I think I am not far from the way in asserting that at least one week will be required before the official report of General Burnside and Commodore Goldsborough is received. What I assert here, I do so on official authority, and coming events will undoubtedly bear me out in my statement.

A rumor was in circulation at Norfolk that the defeat at Roanoke Island was owing to the treachery of the North Carolina troops.

The work on the Merrimac was stopped on Saturday last, and she is now at the Navy Yard, drawing so much water that she could not get out even if she was ready for sea.

While the Express was coming over her usual trip from Norfolk, a small canoe or "dog out" was observed floating about in the harbor, and on the 11th inst. a boat was seen to contain a man who was dripping wet. On being taken on board he stated that he came from Norfolk, where he had been employed in the Navy Yard, and becoming disgusted with affairs in England, made good his escape. He left Norfolk on Sunday night, at eleven o'clock, and made his way to Craney Island, where he was captured by the rebels.

The escape of an individual is a known by birth, and under the name of General Wood, to whom he gave an important statement, after which the Generalissimo sent him to Craney Island, where he had some interesting naval intelligence.

A severe cold this morning another arrival occurred at Norfolk. This was likewise a white man, who made his escape from there, having traveled all last night, and not being able to find a boat, he secured a long boat from Craney Island, and on the 11th inst. he was taken up in an exhausted condition, and sent on board of the steamer Norfolk. The man's name is highly interesting, and he is a native of Craney Island, and reports from Norfolk are highly interesting.

General Burnside would be there and the rebels would be pushed toward the city. He and other persons state positively that Governor Wise, Brigadier General, was a prisoner, and not taken at the battle. Wood requested me to announce to the public, and parties desiring to go South by flag of truce that it is in his power to grant passes for that purpose, and that he is willing to be transferred to the rebel lines must have their passports duly authenticated by the Secretary of State. This morning two ladies arrived from Craney Island, and they were accompanied by documents, the General was compelled, although reluctantly, to attend them back to Baltimore. I must also draw the attention of correspondents to the fact that the rebel lines must not be broken, and that the rebel lines must be kept as tight as possible.

To celebrate the glorious victory of the capture of Roanoke Island, a grand military review will be held on the 15th inst. at Craney Island, and the review will be held on the 15th inst. at Craney Island, and the review will be held on the 15th inst. at Craney Island.
