

IMPORTANT FROM KENTUCKY.

THE EVACUATION OF BOWLING GREEN.

Additional Particulars of the Affair.

MOVEMENTS OF THE REBEL LEADERS.

Gen. Buell About to Take the Field at the Head of Eighty Thousand Troops.

Gen. Buell about to take the field at the head of eighty thousand troops.

On learning that the rebels were evacuating Bowling Green, General Buell ordered a forced march by General Mitchell, to save, if possible, the railroad and turnpike bridges on Big Barren river.

The brigades of General Breckinridge and General Johnston were this Thursday evening at Woodland station.

The rebels left nothing at Bowling Green except a few old women.

A part of the town, it is reported, is being burned.

It is believed now that no rebel forces exist in Kentucky east of the direct road from Bowling Green via Frankfort to Nashville.

General Crittenden is trying to organize another army at Columbus on the north bank of the Cumberland. This is the only rebel force on the line from Bowling Green to Nashville.

Generals Breckinridge's and Henderson's brigades have fallen back on Russellville, where General Buckner's and Floyd's brigades have been stationed for some time.

Generals Johnson and Hardee were also believed to be at that point on Friday.

It is believed that, with the exception of the above brigades, the whole rebel army has been moved to Fort Donelson and Clarksville.

What movements may have been made by the rebel forces can only be conjectured, but the probabilities are that they have concentrated their whole force on the Cumberland.

It is believed, they have not done so, the divisions of Generals Nelson and Mitchell will be ample to cope with them.

It is believed that the divisions of Generals McCook and Thomas embarked at the mouth of Salt river on steamers, for Cumberland, on Saturday night, and that yesterday the troops who have been in camp at Harpersburg at Louisville, embarking for the Cumberland.

Three Indiana regiments and a battery of artillery leave New Albany to-day.

The aggregate of these reinforcements is perhaps forty thousand.

General Buell, we understand, goes with General McCook's division to take command in person on the Cumberland, where our forces will be by to-morrow night eighty thousand.

While he presses the enemy on the Cumberland with his tremendous force, their flank and rear are pressed by the heavy divisions under Generals Nelson and Mitchell.

Should writing the above we learn that ten regiments, now in this camp, are ordered at once to the Cumberland.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 17, 1862.

The steamer Anzola has been raised and is now about the entrance to the canal is now open.

Bowling Green advises say that General Mitchell captured five locomotives at the depot, and scattered the rest of the rebels, killing some fifteen by shells.

NEWS FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Fortress Monroe, Feb. 16, 1862.

The propeller Planet arrived this afternoon from Baltimore, having on board the submarine cable to be laid across the bay from this point to Cape Charles.

The line has already been completed from Wilmington, Delaware, to Cape Charles, and also from the head quarters of Gen. Wool, about a mile and a half up the beach, to the place selected for the crossing.

The line will be sunk in a few days, and as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made the department will be connected directly by telegraph with Washington and New York, and the government and the public will be in possession of the important news transmitted hence from twelve to twenty-four hours earlier than at present.

The line will be under the management of Mr. W. H. Hols, of the United States Military Telegraph, and will be of the greatest value to the government.

The Ferdinand sailed this afternoon. Wind northeast, weather clear.

In anticipation of a visit from the Secretary of War, the 76th New York regiment was ordered to parade at seven o'clock this morning, and the Secretary was to be received by a salute and other honors.

A New and Important Telegraph Line.

By reference to our Fortress Monroe dispatch, it will be seen that this city is to be soon placed in communication with the headquarters of General Wool. The cable will be laid, and we shall soon have the pleasure of reading by the public important news from that quarter as soon as received there from various Southern localities, which we have heretofore, in common with the public, had anxiously to await twenty-four and in some instances thirty-six hours.

As the Bourne and other important telegraph lines progress on their own, the cable will be laid, and we shall soon have the pleasure of reading by the public important news from that quarter as soon as received there from various Southern localities, which we have heretofore, in common with the public, had anxiously to await twenty-four and in some instances thirty-six hours.

The line has been built by Mr. Howe, formerly connected with the Northern Magnetic line, but now of the staff of Captain A. S. Sigsbee, chief of survey of the city, and is a very superior one. As our forces are now so widely separated, it will be of the greatest value to the military authorities, the press and the public.

THE BURNSIDE EXPEDITION.

Its Progress Up the Chowan River—Burnside Within Thirty-five Miles of Weldon.

The news from the Burnside expedition continues to be exceedingly interesting. In addition to various details of the battle of Roanoke Island, we have reports of the capture of Hatteras, Hatteras, Colons and Plymouth, in North Carolina.

From the Richmond Herald, Feb. 14.

A report reached here by the R. R. last night, that the army had taken Hatteras, and were on the way to Weldon. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

It is not supposed in official circles that the capture of Hatteras is a serious blow to the rebel army. The popular impression that their vessels can ascend the river to a point within a few miles of Weldon is said to be a mistake. The cable was immediately struck up, and the large number of telegrams sent, which were all about the capture of Hatteras.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OFFICIAL.

WAR BULLETIN.

ORDER OF THE DAY REGARDING THE RECENT EXPLOIT OF GENERAL BUELL IN NORTH VIRGINIA.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, Feb. 17, 1862.

To Brigadier General F. W. LAMBERT—

The President directs me to say that he has observed with pleasure the activity and enterprise manifested by yourself and the officers and soldiers of your command. You have shown how much may be done in the worst weather and worst roads by a spirited effort at the head of a small force of brave men, unwilling to waste life in camp when the enemies of their country are within reach.

Your brilliant success is a happy presage of what may be expected when the army of the Potomac shall be led to the field by your gallant General.

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

GENERAL NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17, 1862.

EFFECT OF THE RECENT UNION SUCCESSES ON THE TREASURY NOTE BILL.

The intelligence of the progress of the Union army along the whole border and on the coast, has wrought a most favorable change in the views of many members of Congress in regard to the pending Treasury Note bill, and has occasioned a suspension of its passage for more mature consideration whether it will be at all necessary. The opinion prevails that the capture of Fort Donelson, the retreat of the rebel armies from Kentucky and Missouri, and the consternation known to exist in the rebel ranks, have completely broken the backbone of the rebellion, and that less than sixty days will witness its absolute reduction, and the restoration of federal authority in all the seceded States.

In this event it is considered there will be no need for such a bill as this, but that a totally different financial scheme should be resorted to. On the other hand, there are many who think the principal features of the system of finance of which this bill is a part should be preserved, as beneficial to the country under all circumstances, and essential to the public welfare in establishing an enduring plan of finance, that can be easily accommodated to any changes whatever in the wants of the government.

For the present, however, on account of the changing aspect of public affairs, the measure will not be pressed.

THANKS TO COM. FOOTE AND COM. GOLDSBOROUGH AND THEIR OFFICERS AND MEN.

The Secretary of the Navy has sent a congratulatory letter to the crews of the two Commodore Foote and Commodore Goldsborough, and their respective commands are also highly complimented for their heroic achievements, accomplished under extraordinary circumstances, and after surmounting great and almost insuperable difficulties, while the hearts and wishes of the nation have been with the brave men who have been with them, and "most sincerely," the Secretary says, "we rejoice with you in the success which you have obtained."

ADMIRABLE SUCCESS OF THE PLANS OF GENERAL M'CLELLAN.

The celebrity of the movement of our troops in the West, to suit the change of the nature of the campaign, and the perfectness of the system which the General commanding is conducting the war. No sooner was it ascertained that the rebels were moving from their Bowling Green fortifications towards Nashville and Fort Donelson, than General Crittenden, who was advancing with his column up Green river towards Bowling Green, was ordered to transport his division upon steamboats into the Cumberland river, to support General Grant, and another body of twenty thousand was detached from General Buell's army for the same destination. It is not known whether these troops arrived in time to participate in the reduction of Fort Donelson, but they are already on the march on the Cumberland river, and they would have been at Bowling Green, and General Mitchell and Nelson are both pursuing the fugitives from Bowling Green, while Gen. Thomas, with three brigades, has changed his course from the direction of Knoxville and is making forced marches to intercept a portion of the flying rebels on their way towards Nashville.

By the aid of the gunboats and mortar-batteries Clarksville will be reduced more easily than Fort Donelson, and the retreating rebels will find themselves surrounded at Nashville, and completely cut off from succor from Virginia.

Columbus is already flanked, and must be evacuated, and in a few days the rebels will be driven, not only from Kentucky, but out of Tennessee. Notwithstanding such sudden and terrible reverses they have provided formidable fortifications elsewhere in the southwest, and as our means of transportation are vastly superior to theirs, they will be followed up so rapidly they will have no opportunity to outstretch themselves any where.

The fall of Fort Donelson is the knell of the rebellion.

THE DEFENSES OF WASHINGTON.

Lieutenant Hazlet, of Griffin's battery, to-day made an examination of Fort Corcoran, De Kalb, Woodbury and Hagerty. Guns, magazines and equipments are in good condition. The gunners show splendid training and discipline.

ANOTHER SNOW STORM—THE TEMPER OF OUR TROOPS.

Again the camps are buried deep in snow. This is acknowledged to be the most unsettled winter experienced here for many seasons. The few delightful days which we had immediately preceding this last fall of snow, and the news of the recent brilliant Union victories in the South and West, had had a most inspiring effect upon our soldiers in front of Washington. After the alternations of rain and snow and mist, not to mention mist which have made the last month in camp little else than a succession of dreary days, the sight of the clear, blue sky and the sun, which is directed to be such a novelty, and which is so fully appreciated by every one in the army, and over the river in the swamps. On this side, the ladies have taken advantage of the fine weather to appear on the avenue, the principal thoroughfare of the capital was gay with pedestrians; on the other, morning and afternoon, the fields presented the brilliant scene of thousands upon thousands of soldiers, splendidly equipped, going through the various evolutions of the line. The roads were considerably improved, and battalions and brigades drilled resoundingly with regard to regularity. Here a regiment deployed as skirmishers, there another marching in double quick, yonder a third forming in square to resist a charge of cavalry there a brigade drawn up in line of battle on a hill, and another marching in solid column, with its masses of brilliant bayonets. These are the sights that have been seen for the last few days on the Virginia side of the Potomac. When the intelligence of such successive triumphs of our arms has been announced to the various regiments, they have received the news with the most enthusiastic demonstrations of approval. They have been very much elated at the seeming prospect of speedy active operations on the Potomac. Any rumor of a movement is speedily circulated, and in going from camp to camp is sometimes magnified into almost an official order. But now this last fall of snow, the heaviest we have had this year, has well nigh covered up the camps. Drilling must, to a great extent, be again suspended for a while. In a meantime the Army of the Potomac, watching the rapid development of General McClellan's plans, has been improving all the favorable hours, and has been fulfilling its appointed mission in awaiting its opportunity to deal the death blow to the rebellion.

From the Point of Rocks everything is reported quiet. A party just returned from there states that nothing has occurred to confirm the statement that the rebels are assembling in the vicinity of the point.

OPERATIONS OF THE POTOMAC FLEET.

The Stepping Stones came up this afternoon to the Navy Yard. The Herald's Potomac correspondent reports that last night the Stepping Stones was ordered to proceed to Holland Point and keep watch there for the night. About nine o'clock the quartermaster on duty reported that he had heard a number of persons talking on the Virginia shore. Upon this Captain Grimes went on the Stepping Stone, when he heard the voices on the shore. One man was distinctly heard to say "Come this way." The vessel was got under way, but as it was possible that the men might be Union pickets, Captain Grimes hesitated to fire. The voices soon ceased, and the Stepping Stone came once more to an anchor. This morning it was ascertained that a number of Texas Rangers are in the neighborhood of Holland Point.

ARRIVAL OF THE TEXAS RANGERS.

A section of Griffin's battery experimented to-day with its new shrapnel plunger, using Parrott's ten-pounder as a target. They fired from Minor's Hill, at a distance of one thousand yards. All the shells exploded, and every shot came in close proximity to the target.

ILLNESS OF MR. DAWES.

Hon. Henry L. Dawes, of Massachusetts, was taken ill yesterday, and is quite seriously indisposed at his residence, corner of Eighth street and Pennsylvania avenue.

NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITAL.

ALBANY, Feb. 17, 1862.

Most of the business done to-day in the two branches of the Legislature has been a glorification over the victory on the Cumberland river. The entire Capitol building was illuminated to-night, and there were bonfires in all the principal streets. There has been universal rejoicing and jubilation. Many of the Senators had banquet tables with all imaginable mottoes in regard to the victory.

We have thus had rejoicings in every imaginable form and for, rich and poor. State officials, Legislature, clergy and laymen have all united in the jubilee over the triumph of the Union cause and the development of General McClellan's strategy.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.

Senate.

ALBANY, Feb. 17, 1862.

The Senate met at seven o'clock, with a large attendance of outsiders.

REMARKS MADE BY SENATORS.

To amend the general fire insurance law; relative to the powers and duties of the captain of the port harbor.

A communication was presented from Colonel L. K. Bruyn, inviting the Senate to attend the celebration of Washington's birthday.

THE INVESTIGATIONS OF THE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE.

There is much speculation as to the purpose of the House Judiciary Committee, in the singular course adopted in their investigations, under color of the resolution authorizing them to inquire into the telegraphic censorship of the press.

By Mr. FOLGER—To authorize the selection of a site for a new building to be erected on the Forty-second Street.

By Mr. FARRAR—For the relief of savings banks; in respect to lands sold for taxes.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in their hands.

By Mr. FARRAR—To amend the act relating to the use of the money in