

WHOLE NO. 10,470.

GREAT NEWS.

Surrender of Johnston and His Whole Army to Sherman.

The Terms the Same as Those Granted to Lee.

List of the Armies and Officers Surrendered.

Four Armies and Sixty-six General Officers Captured.

The Last Grand Army of the Rebels Destroyed.

Secretary Stanton to Major General Dix.

A despatch from General Grant, dated at Raleigh, ten P. M., April 26, just received by this department, states that Johnston surrendered the forces in his command, embracing all from here to Chattanooga, to General Sherman, on the basis agreed upon between Lee and myself for the Army of Northern Virginia.

SHERMAN'S CAPTURES.

Rebel General Officers Surrendered by Joe Johnston.

The following rebel general officers have been captured in the district of country commanded by Joe Johnston at the date of the surrender, and may consequently be considered prisoners to our forces. Beauregard, as commander of a military division lying west of the Chattanooga, may argue himself still free, but as he was with Johnston at the time of the surrender and was inferior to him in rank, Sherman will have good grounds for claiming the person of the wily Frenchman. We give the list in alphabetical order and according to rank, as more convenient for reference.

GENERALS.

Beauregard, Peter T. G., of Louisiana, graduate of West Point; resigned captaincy of United States Engineers February 23, 1861; commissioned brigadier general rebel army March 8, 1861; promoted major general April 14, 1861; fought at Fort Sumter, Bull Run, Shiloh, Corinth, Siege of Charleston, Pocotaligo, October 23, 1862; attacked off Charleston January 21, 1863; Petersburg, June 11, 1864; October 17, assumed command Military Division of the West; relieved by Joe Johnston.

LIEUTENANT GENERALS.

Hampton, Wade, of South Carolina. Captain Hampton Lee, rebel army, promoted brigadier general December 1861; promoted major general August 3, 1862; promoted lieutenant general February, 1863; fought in most of the cavalry battles of the Virginia campaigns and late campaign in South and North Carolina.

MAJOR GENERALS.

Anderson, Patton, of Florida. Colonel First Florida 1861. Promoted brigadier general February 10, 1862. Promoted major general February 17, 1863. Fought at Shiloh, Perryville, Stone river, Tullahoma, Chickamauga, Jonesboro, commanding district of South Carolina, Florida and Florida.

MAJOR GENERAL OFFICERS.

Braxton, Samuel G., of Mississippi. Graduate of West Point. Appointed brigadier general Oct. 23, 1861. Promoted major general Jan. 14, 1863. Fought at Petersburg, Va., Kenesaw, Atlanta, Franklin, and Nashville. Appointed commanding division Georgia State troops under Cobb at Macon.

MISSOURI THREATENED WITH INVASION.

Reports prevail that a force of from six thousand to twelve thousand rebels, comprising remnants of Jeff. Thompson's and Joe Shelby's brigades, are at Pochontas, Arkansas, preparing to invade Missouri. A large number of people are leaving the southwest part of the State in consequence. Three regiments have been sent down the river. The reports are undoubtedly exaggerated.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

Stamens Arrested on Broadway.—At a late hour on Thursday night James Barr, residing at 127 Cedar street, and Andrew Williams were involved in a quarrel in Broadway, nearly opposite the Astor House, when Williams drew a sharp-bladed pocket knife and stabbed Barr in the left side, inflicting a very severe wound. Williams was promptly arrested by officer O'Connor, and taken to the Tombs for trial. The proper is a woman, twenty six years of age, and a native of Liverpool, England.

BRIGADIER GENERALS.

Baker, Lawrence B., of North Carolina; promoted brigadier general July 23, 1863. Commanded District of Upper North Carolina.

ARRIVAL OF THE REMAINS OF THE LATE PRESIDENT AT CLEVELAND, OHIO.

THE INTERMENT AT SPRINGFIELD TO TAKE PLACE ON MAY 4.

On the way to Cleveland, leaving Buffalo at 10.10 P. M. Thursday night, were successively passed Hamburgh, North Lewis, Northampton, Irving, and Silver Creek. At all the stations the residents had assembled, some bearing lanterns and mourning flags in their hands, while on their houses were plainly discernible the usual drapery and notices expressive of the prevailing grief.

RECAPITULATION.

5 Major generals..... 20 Brigadier generals..... 38 Total..... 66

THE ARMS SURRENDERED.

The following arms are included in the force surrendered by General Johnston:— MILITARY DIVISION OF THE WEST—GENERAL JOHNSTON, COMMANDING.

ARMY OF TENNESSEE.

Major General, General Braxton Bragg. Major General, General W. J. Hardee. Major General, General Howell Cobb.

THE CAPTURE OF CANAWHA.

RELEASE OF FEDERAL PRISONERS.

At the capture of Canawha, and Croatan's movement towards Tusculoo, rendered it utterly impossible for Forrest to carry out his plan.

THE PRESS DESPATCH.

Late Georgia papers give full accounts of General Wilson's late raid, after defeating Forrest at Selma, Ala. After destroying the arsenals and manufactories there Wilson moved eastward, capturing Montgomery, West Point, Columbus and Macon, scattering the militia on all sides, razing the only remaining railroad, breaking up machine shops, destroying stores, and rendering the manufacture of material for future campaigns impossible.

THE FUNERAL TRAIL.

ARRIVAL OF THE REMAINS OF THE LATE PRESIDENT AT CLEVELAND, OHIO.

THE INTERMENT AT SPRINGFIELD TO TAKE PLACE ON MAY 4.

On the way to Cleveland, leaving Buffalo at 10.10 P. M. Thursday night, were successively passed Hamburgh, North Lewis, Northampton, Irving, and Silver Creek. At all the stations the residents had assembled, some bearing lanterns and mourning flags in their hands, while on their houses were plainly discernible the usual drapery and notices expressive of the prevailing grief.

RECAPITULATION.

5 Major generals..... 20 Brigadier generals..... 38 Total..... 66

THE ARMS SURRENDERED.

The following arms are included in the force surrendered by General Johnston:— MILITARY DIVISION OF THE WEST—GENERAL JOHNSTON, COMMANDING.

ARMY OF TENNESSEE.

Major General, General Braxton Bragg. Major General, General W. J. Hardee. Major General, General Howell Cobb.

THE CAPTURE OF CANAWHA.

RELEASE OF FEDERAL PRISONERS.

At the capture of Canawha, and Croatan's movement towards Tusculoo, rendered it utterly impossible for Forrest to carry out his plan.

THE PRESS DESPATCH.

Late Georgia papers give full accounts of General Wilson's late raid, after defeating Forrest at Selma, Ala. After destroying the arsenals and manufactories there Wilson moved eastward, capturing Montgomery, West Point, Columbus and Macon, scattering the militia on all sides, razing the only remaining railroad, breaking up machine shops, destroying stores, and rendering the manufacture of material for future campaigns impossible.

BOOTH'S PLOT.

Important Developments Showing the Existence of a Desperate and Extensive Plot to Destroy the Government Authorities.

MANY PERSONS IMPLICATED.

The Rebel Leaders Authorize and Aid It.

Vigorous Action of the War Department in Hunting Down the Assassins.

Further Details of the Shooting of Booth.

Particulars of the Arrest of His Brother, Junius Brutus Booth, &c., &c., &c.

Our Special Washington Despatches.

No doubt was at any time entertained by the authorities here of the ultimate capture of Booth and all his accomplices. Since before daylight of the morning after the murder of Mr. Lincoln till now every inch of territory within forty or fifty miles of Washington has been patrolled and picketed by Union soldiers and detective officers, rendering the escape of the fugitives from justice almost an impossibility. The immense rewards offered for the apprehension of the chief actors in the murderous drama had also raised a hue and cry after them, and converted many who would otherwise have sheltered them into anxious seekers to arrest them and bring them to punishment.

The Life of Lincoln, Written by...

Everything connected with the history of our country is of intense interest to me, and I have been particularly struck by the singular modesty of a man. When, in 1856, I commenced my labors on the work known as the "Dictionary of Congress," I forwarded to every member of Congress whose residence I could ascertain a circular asking each person for information as to the date and place of his birth, the character of his education, his profession or occupation, and a list of any public positions he may have filled.

Excitement Over the Death of Booth in Washington.

The excitement which prevailed in this city yesterday has considerably subsided. While all regret that the assassin, owing to the rashness of the soldiers engaged in the capture, was not taken alive, they at the same time felt grateful that the murderer had paid the penalty of his crime. Had he been brought to the Washington Navy Yard alive nothing could have withstood the fury of the excited congregated thousands.

Terrible Steamboat Disaster.

Fourteen Hundred Soldiers' Lives Lost. Explosion of the Boiler of the Steamer Sultan, &c., &c., &c.

Activity of the Washington Authorities in Searching for the Assassins.

The search after the assassin of President Lincoln and the would-be murderer of Secretary Seward has developed a well laid and deliberately matured plan of assassination and infamous crime, murder and arson unparalleled in the annals of reality. The investigations have not yet reached the point where it is proper to disclose the extent and various ramifications of this murderous plot. Many unsuspected and unsuspecting parties are involved, and the evidence is complete to show that it was neither the work of a madman, nor an act of individual hate, but a scheme concerted by leaders of the rebellion and aided by them in the hour of their most desperate need as one of the means of success in their great treasonable enterprise.

Important Case of Illegal Arrest and Imprisonment.

A suit brought by Mr. Leonard Sturtevant against A. H. Allen, for illegal arrest and imprisonment, which has been on trial here for some days in the Supreme Court, was closed this morning, the jury rendering a verdict in favor of Mr. Sturtevant for thirty two thousand five hundred dollars. At the breaking out of the war Mr. Sturtevant was doing business in New Orleans, and upon his coming North was arrested and lodged in jail upon charges of disloyalty, preferred against him by Mr. Allen.

Sales of the Seven-thirtieth.

John Cook reports the subscriptions to the seven-thirtieth issue of the 25th inst. with regard to the large body of cavalry and a half of detectives selected from the forces of Chief Detective Young, Colonel O'Connell and Colonel Ingraham, to scour the adjoining counties of lower Maryland for the conspirators believed to be harbored there.

The Shooting Affray in James Street.

In an affray at the corner of James and Madison streets, yesterday, the deceased lived in the house where he was shot. This is a mistake. He lived nearly opposite, at 50 James street. There are also several statements which if not corrected would greatly prejudice the friends of the deceased. The prisoner, after the shooting, was saved from arrest by some of the detectives, and fled before the appearance of the police. John W. Cowan was speaking among his friends in a joking way, when the prisoner interfered and brought on the quarrel.

BOOTH'S PLOT.

Important Developments Showing the Existence of a Desperate and Extensive Plot to Destroy the Government Authorities.

MANY PERSONS IMPLICATED.

The Rebel Leaders Authorize and Aid It.

Vigorous Action of the War Department in Hunting Down the Assassins.

Further Details of the Shooting of Booth.

Particulars of the Arrest of His Brother, Junius Brutus Booth, &c., &c., &c.

Our Special Washington Despatches.

No doubt was at any time entertained by the authorities here of the ultimate capture of Booth and all his accomplices. Since before daylight of the morning after the murder of Mr. Lincoln till now every inch of territory within forty or fifty miles of Washington has been patrolled and picketed by Union soldiers and detective officers, rendering the escape of the fugitives from justice almost an impossibility. The immense rewards offered for the apprehension of the chief actors in the murderous drama had also raised a hue and cry after them, and converted many who would otherwise have sheltered them into anxious seekers to arrest them and bring them to punishment.

The Life of Lincoln, Written by...

Everything connected with the history of our country is of intense interest to me, and I have been particularly struck by the singular modesty of a man. When, in 1856, I commenced my labors on the work known as the "Dictionary of Congress," I forwarded to every member of Congress whose residence I could ascertain a circular asking each person for information as to the date and place of his birth, the character of his education, his profession or occupation, and a list of any public positions he may have filled.

Excitement Over the Death of Booth in Washington.

The excitement which prevailed in this city yesterday has considerably subsided. While all regret that the assassin, owing to the rashness of the soldiers engaged in the capture, was not taken alive, they at the same time felt grateful that the murderer had paid the penalty of his crime. Had he been brought to the Washington Navy Yard alive nothing could have withstood the fury of the excited congregated thousands.

Terrible Steamboat Disaster.

Fourteen Hundred Soldiers' Lives Lost. Explosion of the Boiler of the Steamer Sultan, &c., &c., &c.

Activity of the Washington Authorities in Searching for the Assassins.

The search after the assassin of President Lincoln and the would-be murderer of Secretary Seward has developed a well laid and deliberately matured plan of assassination and infamous crime, murder and arson unparalleled in the annals of reality. The investigations have not yet reached the point where it is proper to disclose the extent and various ramifications of this murderous plot. Many unsuspected and unsuspecting parties are involved, and the evidence is complete to show that it was neither the work of a madman, nor an act of individual hate, but a scheme concerted by leaders of the rebellion and aided by them in the hour of their most desperate need as one of the means of success in their great treasonable enterprise.

Important Case of Illegal Arrest and Imprisonment.

A suit brought by Mr. Leonard Sturtevant against A. H. Allen, for illegal arrest and imprisonment, which has been on trial here for some days in the Supreme Court, was closed this morning, the jury rendering a verdict in favor of Mr. Sturtevant for thirty two thousand five hundred dollars. At the breaking out of the war Mr. Sturtevant was doing business in New Orleans, and upon his coming North was arrested and lodged in jail upon charges of disloyalty, preferred against him by Mr. Allen.

Sales of the Seven-thirtieth.

John Cook reports the subscriptions to the seven-thirtieth issue of the 25th inst. with regard to the large body of cavalry and a half of detectives selected from the forces of Chief Detective Young, Colonel O'Connell and Colonel Ingraham, to scour the adjoining counties of lower Maryland for the conspirators believed to be harbored there.

The Shooting Affray in James Street.

In an affray at the corner of James and Madison streets, yesterday, the deceased lived in the house where he was shot. This is a mistake. He lived nearly opposite, at 50 James street. There are also several statements which if not corrected would greatly prejudice the friends of the deceased. The prisoner, after the shooting, was saved from arrest by some of the detectives, and fled before the appearance of the police. John W. Cowan was speaking among his friends in a joking way, when the prisoner interfered and brought on the quarrel.

Suicide of a Supposed Conspirator at Baltimore.

A well known citizen of Baltimore committed suicide last Monday, a short distance from this city, by shooting himself with a pistol, and was assigned for the rash act except that he had recently seemed depressed and melancholy.

Proposal to Sink the Body of Booth in Mid-Ocean.

At a public meeting at Dayton yesterday it was resolved that the body of Booth be taken to mid-ocean, and there buried.

Another Account of the Shooting of Booth.

Headquarters, Thirtieth N. Y. Cavalry, Prospect Hill, Va., April 27, 1865. J. W. FLEMING.

Our Special Washington Despatches.

No doubt was at any time entertained by the authorities here of the ultimate capture of Booth and all his accomplices. Since before daylight of the morning after the murder of Mr. Lincoln till now every inch of territory within forty or fifty miles of Washington has been patrolled and picketed by Union soldiers and detective officers, rendering the escape of the fugitives from justice almost an impossibility. The immense rewards offered for the apprehension of the chief actors in the murderous drama had also raised a hue and cry after them, and converted many who would otherwise have sheltered them into anxious seekers to arrest them and bring them to punishment.

The Life of Lincoln, Written by...

Everything connected with the history of our country is of intense interest to me, and I have been particularly struck by the singular modesty of a man. When, in 1856, I commenced my labors on the work known as the "Dictionary of Congress," I forwarded to every member of Congress whose residence I could ascertain a circular asking each person for information as to the date and place of his birth, the character of his education, his profession or occupation, and a list of any public positions he may have filled.

Excitement Over the Death of Booth in Washington.

The excitement which prevailed in this city yesterday has considerably subsided. While all regret that the assassin, owing to the rashness of the soldiers engaged in the capture, was not taken alive, they at the same time felt grateful that the murderer had paid the penalty of his crime. Had he been brought to the Washington Navy Yard alive nothing could have withstood the fury of the excited congregated thousands.

Terrible Steamboat Disaster.

Fourteen Hundred Soldiers' Lives Lost. Explosion of the Boiler of the Steamer Sultan, &c., &c., &c.

Activity of the Washington Authorities in Searching for the Assassins.

The search after the assassin of President Lincoln and the would-be murderer of Secretary Seward has developed a well laid and deliberately matured plan of assassination and infamous crime, murder and arson unparalleled in the annals of reality. The investigations have not yet reached the point where it is proper to disclose the extent and various ramifications of this murderous plot. Many unsuspected and unsuspecting parties are involved, and the evidence is complete to show that it was neither the work of a madman, nor an act of individual hate, but a scheme concerted by leaders of the rebellion and aided by them in the hour of their most desperate need as one of the means of success in their great treasonable enterprise.

Important Case of Illegal Arrest and Imprisonment.

A suit brought by Mr. Leonard Sturtevant against A. H. Allen, for illegal arrest and imprisonment, which has been on trial here for some days in the Supreme Court, was closed this morning, the jury rendering a verdict in favor of Mr. Sturtevant for thirty two thousand five hundred dollars. At the breaking out of the war Mr. Sturtevant was doing business in New Orleans, and upon his coming North was arrested and lodged in jail upon charges of disloyalty, preferred against him by Mr. Allen.

Sales of the Seven-thirtieth.

John Cook reports the subscriptions to the seven-thirtieth issue of the 25th inst. with regard to the large body of cavalry and a half of detectives selected from the forces of Chief Detective Young, Colonel O'Connell and Colonel Ingraham, to scour the adjoining counties of lower Maryland for the conspirators believed to be harbored there.

The Shooting Affray in James Street.

In an affray at the corner of James and Madison streets, yesterday, the deceased lived in the house where he was shot. This is a mistake. He lived nearly opposite, at 50 James street. There are also several statements which if not corrected would greatly prejudice the friends of the deceased. The prisoner, after the shooting, was saved from arrest by some of the detectives, and fled before the appearance of the police. John W. Cowan was speaking among his friends in a joking way, when the prisoner interfered and brought on the quarrel.

Condition of the Sewards.

Washington, April 28—A. M. Hon. E. M. STANTON.—I have the honor to report that the Secretary of State and Mr. F. Seward are improving steadily. Very respectfully, J. K. BARNES, Surgeon General.

Condition of the Sewards.

Washington, April 28—P. M. Hon. E. M. STANTON.—I have the honor to report that the Secretary of State took his usual ride this morning, and is free from pain to-night. Mr. F. Seward requested today that some one should read to him, and says that he is much better. His strength is improving gradually, and the wounds of the scalp are healing. Very respectfully, J. K. BARNES, Surgeon General.

Academy of Music—German Opera.

The Academy of Music held last night to hear General's Play, which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which considerably reduced the time of this rather long opera. The church scene was not produced, the act opening with the "Soldier's Chorus," in which Graf's Seventh Regiment band participated for the first time. It was well sung and well acted, but showed somewhat on repetition. A day before last, the Academy of Music presented the play of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which was well rendered by Mr. Grover's company. Mr. Frederic made an excellent Marguerite. She sang and acted the part admirably. The Mephistopheles of Mr. Hermann is, in a manner, historic, and was welcomed, as it deserved, with considerable applause. There was an innovation in the third act which