

NEW YORK HERALD

BROADWAY AND ANN STREET.

JAMES GORDON BENNETT, PROPRIETOR.

Volume XXXIII. No. 155

AMUSEMENTS THIS EVENING.

FRENCH THEATRE—MADONNE AT 1—MARI ANTOINETTE

OLYMPIC THEATRE, Broadway—HURRY DUFFY

NEW YORK THEATRE, opposite New York Hotel

BIRD'S GARDEN, Broadway—THE WHITE FAWN

BROADWAY THEATRE, Broadway—CAMILLE

WALLACE'S THEATRE, Broadway and 14th street—

BOVEY THEATRE, Bovey, DEER FOREST—PEEP

STEINWAY HALL—OLE BULL'S CONCERT

SAN FRANCISCO MINSTRELS, 28 Broadway—ETHIOPIAN

KELLY AND LEON'S MINSTRELS, 22 Broadway—SONGS

THEATRE COMIQUE, 514 Broadway—BALLET, FARSE

TONY PASTOR'S OPERA HOUSE, 20 Bovey—COMIE

CENTRAL PARK GARDEN, Seventh avenue—POPULAR

TERRACE GARDEN—POPULAR GARDEN CONCERT

MRS. F. R. CONWAY'S PARK THEATRE, CONCERT

HOOVER'S OPERA HOUSE, Brooklyn—ETHIOPIAN

MADISON SQUARE HALL, 94 Broadway—PANTOMIME

NEW YORK MUSEUM OF ANATOMY, 613 Broadway—

SCIENCE AND ART

TRIPLE SHEET.

New York, Wednesday, June 3, 1863.

THE NEWS.

EUROPE.

The news report by the Atlantic cable is dated yesterday evening, June 2.

The English commission on the revision of the neutrality laws recommended the adoption of many improvements in the legal rules applicable to the furnishing of ships and material of war to belligerents; all of which would have been exactly applicable to the case of the Alabama just about the time of her first sailing.

By steamship we have a mail report, in detail of bar cable despatches, to the 21st of May, embracing the very bold and severe comments of the English press on the sudden retirement of Queen Victoria from London during the Danish parliamentary crisis, a full report of the able speech of the Sultan of Turkey on his annual reform and liberty of conscience, with the elegant address of London on occasion in Austria addressed to the parliament in 1863 by a member of that body.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate yesterday Mr. Sumner, in answer to an inquiry, stated that the Committee on Foreign Relations would consider the bill for the protection of citizens abroad at its next meeting.

In the House a petition was received charging Judge Bishop, of Alabama, with incompetency and incapacity to hold office as an investigator.

The annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons was commenced yesterday afternoon in Cooper Institute.

Three men have been arrested charged with the murder of Richard Butler, who was found some time ago in a dying condition on Bedford street.

An attempt was made by Richard O'Gorman, the Corporation Counsel, to open the default in the Perinatto Wood lease cases yesterday, but the motion was refused by the court.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Our special correspondent in Abyssinia, dating at Magdala on the 14th and 15th of April, describes the operations and action of Napier's troops during the storming, capture and destruction of the fortress, as well as the death and burial of Theodoros, with the horrible scenes subsequently witnessed by day and night in the palace, in a highly interesting narrative.

lantry, rapidity of motion, quick fire and fine spots with which they bore the dayward to their countrymen for Budaes, Talavera and Waterloo to the summit of the African plateau.

English telegrams from Abyssinia report Napier at Senaie with the rear of the army on march to the coast. Theodoros' widow is said to have died.

The Danish Commissioner, Carstenen, was to have sailed from St. Thomas for Washington on Monday, in order to treat with the United States government for the sale of the remaining Danish possessions in the West Indies.

General Luperon, with three thousand men, is in the northern part of St. Domingo, heading a revolution against Baez in the interest of Cabral.

The United States steam war vessel Contocook is aground at Point a Pitre, Guadeloupe, and is leaking badly. The commander is blamed for carrying too much steam in entering the harbor.

The Chief Justice Chase, in a recent conversation which is detailed more elaborately elsewhere in our columns this morning, expressed himself as being in union with the democratic party on every point except that of universal suffrage.

The Chinese Embassy formally called upon Secretary Seward yesterday, when the letter from the Emperor, which extends over twenty-five feet of parchment, was read in the Chinese language, being translated into English by the reader as he proceeded.

The Impachment Managers yesterday examined General Adams, who denied everything Thurlow Weed had said in relation to his part in the alleged bargain. Nothing whatever to substantiate the charges of corruption was elicited from the other witnesses.

The annual examination of the military cadets at West Point was commenced yesterday, the corps passing in review before the board of visitors.

George Washington, a negro boy only eighteen years of age, was hanged for arson in Kingston, N. C., on Friday.

A negro girl in Memphis recently attempted to poison her father's family because he would not permit her to join the Methodist church, he being a Baptist.

The Presidential Campaign—Grant's Letter of Acceptance.

Letters from candidates accepting nominations are generally as rich in promises as they are worthless in every other respect; for a candidate is the most exuberantly grateful creature on the earth, and lavishes words with magnificent disregard to their significance.

"The will of the people" is a pretty and popular phrase; and what does it mean? An old divine scourging the conduct of his fellows said, "They set up their own vanity and call it the will of God."

The will of the people, as interpreted by any party or any man, is whatever that party or man wishes to do or see done; and Grant, in saying that he will guide his acts by that conventional authority, only says that he will do what he may choose.

One section of Mr. Donnelly's bill provides that the commissioners, under the direction of the Secretary of State, may make arrangements with steamboat or railway lines to reduce the cost of the travel of emigrants to the United States.

Our special correspondent in Abyssinia, dating at Magdala on the 14th and 15th of April, describes the operations and action of Napier's troops during the storming, capture and destruction of the fortress, as well as the death and burial of Theodoros, with the horrible scenes subsequently witnessed by day and night in the palace, in a highly interesting narrative.

able contracts. Indeed, we need not waste words to show that the entire bill would in the end prove costly enough by saddling government and the country with all the consequences of a stupendous job.

English telegrams from Abyssinia report Napier at Senaie with the rear of the army on march to the coast. Theodoros' widow is said to have died.

The Danish Commissioner, Carstenen, was to have sailed from St. Thomas for Washington on Monday, in order to treat with the United States government for the sale of the remaining Danish possessions in the West Indies.

General Luperon, with three thousand men, is in the northern part of St. Domingo, heading a revolution against Baez in the interest of Cabral.

The United States steam war vessel Contocook is aground at Point a Pitre, Guadeloupe, and is leaking badly. The commander is blamed for carrying too much steam in entering the harbor.

The Chief Justice Chase, in a recent conversation which is detailed more elaborately elsewhere in our columns this morning, expressed himself as being in union with the democratic party on every point except that of universal suffrage.

The Chinese Embassy formally called upon Secretary Seward yesterday, when the letter from the Emperor, which extends over twenty-five feet of parchment, was read in the Chinese language, being translated into English by the reader as he proceeded.

The Impachment Managers yesterday examined General Adams, who denied everything Thurlow Weed had said in relation to his part in the alleged bargain. Nothing whatever to substantiate the charges of corruption was elicited from the other witnesses.

The annual examination of the military cadets at West Point was commenced yesterday, the corps passing in review before the board of visitors.

George Washington, a negro boy only eighteen years of age, was hanged for arson in Kingston, N. C., on Friday.

A negro girl in Memphis recently attempted to poison her father's family because he would not permit her to join the Methodist church, he being a Baptist.

The Presidential Campaign—Grant's Letter of Acceptance.

Letters from candidates accepting nominations are generally as rich in promises as they are worthless in every other respect; for a candidate is the most exuberantly grateful creature on the earth, and lavishes words with magnificent disregard to their significance.

"The will of the people" is a pretty and popular phrase; and what does it mean? An old divine scourging the conduct of his fellows said, "They set up their own vanity and call it the will of God."

The will of the people, as interpreted by any party or any man, is whatever that party or man wishes to do or see done; and Grant, in saying that he will guide his acts by that conventional authority, only says that he will do what he may choose.

One section of Mr. Donnelly's bill provides that the commissioners, under the direction of the Secretary of State, may make arrangements with steamboat or railway lines to reduce the cost of the travel of emigrants to the United States.

Our special correspondent in Abyssinia, dating at Magdala on the 14th and 15th of April, describes the operations and action of Napier's troops during the storming, capture and destruction of the fortress, as well as the death and burial of Theodoros, with the horrible scenes subsequently witnessed by day and night in the palace, in a highly interesting narrative.

able contracts. Indeed, we need not waste words to show that the entire bill would in the end prove costly enough by saddling government and the country with all the consequences of a stupendous job.

Abyssinia and England.

The Herald of yesterday we published a special telegram from our agent in London, giving the principal points of certain letters furnished by our special correspondent at the headquarters of the British army in Abyssinia.

The news is to the effect that Abyssinia is left by Napier's army in a state of civil war. Napier appointed Gobazze, a self-seeking chief who had been serviceable to him during the expedition, successor to Theodoros.

It is also stated by our correspondent that the British leave the country the Egyptians will enter it. Anarchy is therefore made as complete as possible.

This news shows us, if anything was required to show us, that the English are at their old tricks again. It has ever been their habit to create or encourage a difficulty which seemed to give them their opportunity.

The news shows us, if anything was required to show us, that the English are at their old tricks again. It has ever been their habit to create or encourage a difficulty which seemed to give them their opportunity.

This news shows us, if anything was required to show us, that the English are at their old tricks again. It has ever been their habit to create or encourage a difficulty which seemed to give them their opportunity.

This news shows us, if anything was required to show us, that the English are at their old tricks again. It has ever been their habit to create or encourage a difficulty which seemed to give them their opportunity.

This news shows us, if anything was required to show us, that the English are at their old tricks again. It has ever been their habit to create or encourage a difficulty which seemed to give them their opportunity.

This news shows us, if anything was required to show us, that the English are at their old tricks again. It has ever been their habit to create or encourage a difficulty which seemed to give them their opportunity.

This news shows us, if anything was required to show us, that the English are at their old tricks again. It has ever been their habit to create or encourage a difficulty which seemed to give them their opportunity.

This news shows us, if anything was required to show us, that the English are at their old tricks again. It has ever been their habit to create or encourage a difficulty which seemed to give them their opportunity.

A Call Upon Mr. Pendleton.

Mr. Pendleton's friends say that the West will look up to the democratic convocation in July in such force that his nomination will be a two-thirds vote; but should he be able to obtain that would he be the use?

Mr. Pendleton's friends say that the West will look up to the democratic convocation in July in such force that his nomination will be a two-thirds vote; but should he be able to obtain that would he be the use?

Mr. Pendleton's friends say that the West will look up to the democratic convocation in July in such force that his nomination will be a two-thirds vote; but should he be able to obtain that would he be the use?

Mr. Pendleton's friends say that the West will look up to the democratic convocation in July in such force that his nomination will be a two-thirds vote; but should he be able to obtain that would he be the use?

Mr. Pendleton's friends say that the West will look up to the democratic convocation in July in such force that his nomination will be a two-thirds vote; but should he be able to obtain that would he be the use?

Mr. Pendleton's friends say that the West will look up to the democratic convocation in July in such force that his nomination will be a two-thirds vote; but should he be able to obtain that would he be the use?

Mr. Pendleton's friends say that the West will look up to the democratic convocation in July in such force that his nomination will be a two-thirds vote; but should he be able to obtain that would he be the use?

Mr. Pendleton's friends say that the West will look up to the democratic convocation in July in such force that his nomination will be a two-thirds vote; but should he be able to obtain that would he be the use?

Mr. Pendleton's friends say that the West will look up to the democratic convocation in July in such force that his nomination will be a two-thirds vote; but should he be able to obtain that would he be the use?

Mr. Pendleton's friends say that the West will look up to the democratic convocation in July in such force that his nomination will be a two-thirds vote; but should he be able to obtain that would he be the use?

Mr. Pendleton's friends say that the West will look up to the democratic convocation in July in such force that his nomination will be a two-thirds vote; but should he be able to obtain that would he be the use?

The New Bill Relating to Internal Taxes.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

Mr. Schenck addressed the House of Representatives on Monday on the new bill he has introduced to amend the laws relating to internal taxes. This bill, as he said, is the longest, perhaps, ever submitted to Congress in the form of a single act, and, therefore, can only be noticed from time to time as its various features come up.

in securing the pardon of a counterfeiter while they were engaged "in matters relating to the impeachment." This is the best that has leaked out from the committee for several days. It is not much, but it is better than nothing; and in a few days we shall have something more. We must be patient and take things as they come.

Madison Avenue and Corrupt Contractors.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.

The present condition of Madison Avenue above Fifty-ninth street is a disgrace to the city. More than sufficient time has elapsed since the opening of the street to its present terminus to have completed every box of grading, to have laid every yard of flagging, and curbsone, to have had the entire thoroughfare paved and in perfect order for the public use.