

CREATING AN ARCADE

The Cubans Recognized as Belligerents by Peru.

More About the Isthmus of Darien Canal Project.

AFFAIRS IN CHILE AND BOLIVIA.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamer Alaska, Captain Gray, from Aspinwall May 22, arrived at this port yesterday, with passengers and merchandise and $164,450 in treasure.

By this arrival we have received the following correspondence from Central and South America.

COLOMBIA.

Affairs in Panama—Yellow Fever—Movements of the President—Mosquera—More About the Canal—General News.

PANAMA, May 22, 1869. The Alaska, from New York, reached Aspinwall at eleven o'clock on the night of the 19th. Her passengers, mails and cargo were despatched here for San Francisco per steamer Montana on the 20th.

Since the sailing of the Rising Star on the 17th there is little local news to report. The smallpox continues to carry on a few victims daily, though it is probably decreasing. The want of anything like mortality statistics prevents the possibility of forming any idea of the number of deaths that have occurred from this, or in fact, from any cause.

The President still remains in the interior endeavoring to control the elections against Mosquera. He may possibly remain there until after the elections. Another revolution is hinted at here, but it is scarcely likely, with the present forces at the command of the government, that such a thing will occur, unless the soldiers are bought up, which is within the range of possibility.

A curious thing occurred here on Thursday morning. One of our American residents here, Mr. Schuber, collected $2,000 in gold from the railroad company and brought it to the city in his buggy, where he forgot it for a few moments after alighting, and on returning to the vehicle he found that it had been purloined.

The sailors of the British ship Kensington, who were some time ago fired on by the police at Aspinwall, badly wounded, and afterwards thrown into prison, are still retained here, now upwards of thirty days, in chains, without any attention being paid to their wounds, almost in a state of starvation and nakedness, and without any trial or examination of any kind into their case.

Three of these unfortunate men are, I learn, Americans, who served three years in the Northern army during the war, and the fact having been brought to the notice of Mr. Rice, the United States Consul at Aspinwall, he is endeavoring to have some investigation made in their case. The matter has been brought to the attention of the Prefect in Aspinwall by the British Vice Consul there, but he has obtained no satisfaction, and the British Consul at this place has now taken the matter up, and is endeavoring to get the Prefect to order the release of the unfortunate men, and to pay simply to gratify the spite of the Prefect in the Aspinwall, who himself deserves a fate in the chain gang for his savage cruelty.

It was discovered some time ago that a company of comers of false money were at work in the city, and had issued a large quantity of gold coin which had been manipulated by boring out the inside and filling the space with platinum. Although the fact was made public in the newspapers here and represented to the Governor, the authorities have taken no notice of these thieves, and they are still allowed to pursue their nefarious trade unmolested.

Although unable to circulate any great quantity of the altered coins in the city, they have found quite an opening for them in the Canal, from whence reports are now coming in reference to them.

The diving apparatus, submarine boat of the Pacific Mail Company, built here some eighteen months ago and lying idle ever since for want of means to fit it for work, has recently been overhauled and put in order, and left Panama for the Pearl Islands on the 19th, in tow of a schooner; so if she gets down safely to a couple of weeks' learn whether the sea is so shallow as it is reported to be, and if the other islands, but the shells are supposed to be superior, as it has not been so much fished round as the other islands.

The Royal West India Mail Steam Packet Company's steamers will in future touch twice each month at Kingston, Jamaica, to and from Aspinwall, and will be a great convenience to the islanders. These vessels will hereafter call at Kingston instead of at St. Thomas and Aspinwall, and will be in communication with the United States.

The latest dates from Bogota, received via Buenaventura, are to the 27th of April. Considerable excitement existed in regard to politics, the joining of the conservatives with the liberals against the President, and the President's refusal to accept a certain insurrection of General Mosquera for President of the republic, unless the government should be restored to its former position, and prevent honest voting, which it will in all probability resort to rather than suffer defeat.

allowed to leave New York on the assurance of the Colombian Minister that she was a Colombian vessel.

PERU.

Recognition of the Cuban Patriots as a Belligerent Power.

LIMA, May 14, 1869.

At the last moment, and while the steamer to carry this communication is almost sounding its parting whistle, your correspondent has learned from the Department of Foreign Affairs that the government of Peru has recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents, and has decided to grant them all the privileges of a war.

At the last moment, and while the steamer to carry this communication is almost sounding its parting whistle, your correspondent has learned from the Department of Foreign Affairs that the government of Peru has recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents, and has decided to grant them all the privileges of a war.

Anniversary of the Spanish Defeat—A Cuban Commissioner—Political State of the Country—Public Improvements—Naval Movements.

LIMA, May 14, 1869.

The third anniversary of the defeat of the Spanish fleet in Callao was celebrated with very general enthusiasm. The 2d and 3d were proclaimed feast days by means of the bando, the Prefect with a body of troops marching through the city and publishing the notice at the corners of the principal streets.

The batteries in Callao went through a very correct representation, as far as noise was concerned, of the battle, the people were highly liberal in their patronage of groceries, and the ladies and children, animated by the festive scene, got themselves up in the red and white Peruvian colors, making the streets appear like an animated barber's pole.

The country has reason to be proud of the exploit that commenced this day, and in keeping its memory fresh in the manner described goes far towards preserving its unity and peace. The municipality of Lambayeque appropriated a considerable sum to be awarded to the widows and children of the civilian volunteers who fell under the Spanish fire, the government of course taking good care of those unfortunate who lost their protectors in the fight.

Lima has been fortunate this year in escaping the yellow fever, that so terribly afflicted her during 1868. Up to the present time only about 300 persons have died of the disease, and nearly 11,000 that perished during the same period last year.

By the last steamer Mr. Valero, sent by the Cuban government to Peru, arrived, and the principal object of his mission is stated to be to visit the government of Peru that the monitors now on their voyage to the republic be lent to the patriots, and to see that the necessary arrangements are made in Washington that these vessels would commit no aggressive act against Spain during their transit.

The relations between the government and the people in Peru are not so friendly as they were some time ago. The government is not so liberal in its patronage of groceries, and the ladies and children, animated by the festive scene, got themselves up in the red and white Peruvian colors, making the streets appear like an animated barber's pole.

The main object of the Cabinet is to further the construction of railways throughout the republic, and the chief object of the present administration is to secure the completion of the great works.

The revolution that has been in progress for several months past under the leadership of Braillo Vargas is assuming larger proportions and threatens the present order of things here.

The present order of things here is seriously threatened. The insurgents now are "Charco Escudillo," near which General Cortina is watching his men. He sent in to Matamoros for reinforcements, and on the 19th inst. about 200 troops under Colonel Canales were sent out to his assistance.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

Charco Escudillo is not distant more than twenty-five miles from Matamoros, and Canales now commands the railway between the two cities.

that prevents the court from deciding many important cases now pending before it, and moreover it is the general desire that this accusation, in the first place trumped up for party purposes and always used as a threat against the liberal party, be summarily decided and done away with.

The Indian war has assumed a more favorable aspect for the national arms. Serious troubles have broken out among the Indians of the province of Cauca, but they have been promptly suppressed.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

The cause of Cuba has always awakened great sympathy in this republic. The intense hatred borne towards Spain since the bombardment of Valparaiso. Yet Chile has never by any formal act recognized the Cuban patriots as belligerents.

EUROPE.

The Inman steamship City of Paris, Captain Kennedy, from Liverpool the 20th via Queenston the 21st, arrived at this port last night. She brings details of our cable telegrams up to date of sailing.

The Queen of England is said to have written an autograph letter to the Emperor Napoleon, thanking him for the attention shown to the Prince and Princess of Wales during their late stay in Paris.

A shocking catastrophe is reported to have occurred on Tuesday, the 18th instant, off the Island of Rhé, where eighteen men were drowned by the capsizing of a boat. The unfortunate man leaves upwards of thirty children destitute.

Prince Gaudois says that the Prince of Wales, before leaving Paris, invited the Prince Imperial to visit England, and that the Emperor Napoleon accepted the invitation.

A letter from Turkey says that some time ago the Ottoman Bank received a lot of greenbacks from an American traveler, which were sent to New York for negotiation. They have been returned as spurious and counterfeit, and the bank is in for several thousand dollars.

Mr. Alderman Lyons, who received three letters threatening his life in consequence of his having called upon Mr. O'Sullivan to resign the Mayoralty of Cork, has been fired upon by the liberal party of the city for that office.

M. de Lesseps, on arriving at Marseilles, tried in vain to persuade the Prefect of the Bouches du Rhone to accept his resignation of the honor of being a government candidate. He afterwards went to Paris to plead his case against himself with the Minister of the Interior.

"I believe," says the Paris Evénement, "that we are in a position to state that the Emperor's excursion to Egypt in the ensuing autumn has been decided on, and that Her Majesty will be present at the inauguration of the Suez Canal."

The frequency of fires in cotton mills in this locality of late has, says the Liverpool Mercury, aroused a strong suspicion that many of the conflagrations are the work of incendiaries; and this feeling will be still further strengthened by a discovery made on Sunday morning, the 16th, at Stockport, where three mills were almost simultaneously ignited. In two of these cases the fire was plainly the work of incendiaries.

M. Henri Brisson, the candidate who retired in favor of M. Jules Ferry, has resigned his post on the staff of the Paris Temps, in consequence of M. Neutzer's hesitation to declare for M. Bancel.

The Paris correspondent of the London Daily News writes that the cause of precaution the guard at the Batteries has been increased by 500 men, who sleep fully armed and with their loaded Chassepots close at hand. The troops, too, have been kept to their barracks.

The Illustration of Paris publishes an engraving of a great spreading tree near Cairo, under which, according to tradition, Joseph and Mary and the infant Jesus took shelter during the flight into Egypt. The tree, which stands on ground belonging to the Isthmus of Suez Canal Company, was marked to be cut down, but the Empress Eugenie has purchased it standing, and now pays a keeper to watch it.

A German Roman Catholic newspaper, the Deutsches Volkblatt, makes some rather useful announcements regarding certain new plans on the subject of education which, it says, are just now in great vogue in Rome. It is proposed, we are told, to establish Episcopal special schools in Germany for the education of priests, and in this view, by putting under their power to attend the University, to destroy the Catholic theological faculties in the German universities.

The French Elections—Journals and the Candidates—Political Gatherings—How Conducted—Police Interference—Unpopularity of Rochefort—Young and Old Representatives.

PARIS, May 14, 1869.

"Every one to his taste" is an old plain speaking principle that cannot be too warmly upheld; for tastes are varied in the human mind, and though some of them can scarcely be concealed, still no one can dispute their existence. Less irrefragable, however, are political opinions for thousands are looking at the same object and seeing it differently. It is not a matter of taste or choice between the majority and opposition; it is a matter of truth. The Paris papers, for instance, are all telling a different story about the elections, and as there are as many shades of opinion among the official organs as among the opposition journals, it would be positively impossible to give your readers a reliable and correct account unless we were to take up the case of every paper.

The assurance of the Constitutionnel that the elections are going on in perfect calm without any extraordinary agitation is, as we have seen, very far from the truth. The agitation has been in as high a state of fever as the police would allow, and since the new opposition party, Le Rappel, has appeared a great deal more is told in a masterly way to electors than in the Gauleis and Pogaro had before ventured. Each of these liberal sheets has its peculiar hobby and favorite; the Pogaro is a strong advocate for Lachand; the Gauleis for Picard; Jules Favre and the return of last session's opponents are the chief objects of the Gauleis, Bancel and their more advanced opinions.

The most stormy meeting of all took place on the 12th inst. for the triumph of Emile Olivier over the Republique. The Republique had been invited to electors party. A formidable crowd waited in admirably order—a long serpentine trail from eight to ten thousand persons—for the entrance to the liquid meeting, and the Republique was thrown up at all. Side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it did so on this day. The people assembled. The speaker, unaccustomed to so orderly, still resisting, a mass of citizens, hesitated to proceed, but some one among the crowd cried out: "Had one arrest been made a fearful conflict must have ensued. Towards eleven o'clock, as whistling proceeded from the windows round the meeting, the speaker, who had been thrown up at all, side passages had but two thousand persons in, and Emile Olivier had addressed his constituents through one of them. The disappointed crowd in the square then broke out in a storm of indignation. They were answered by vivats and cries for Olivier. "Go to the Tuilleries," rejoined the mob. If ever a democratic pulse was felt in France it