

WASHINGTON.

Suspension of New Year's Festivities in Respect of the Late Mrs. Belknap.

FAILURE OF SURRATT TO LECTURE.

Instructions to Customs Collectors.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30, 1870. Respect to the Memory of Mrs. Belknap. The following official notices have been issued in consequence of the demise of Mrs. Belknap, wife of General Belknap, the Secretary of War:—

The receipts at the Executive Mansion, which had been collected for the day, will not be received on Monday next at the residence of any member of the Cabinet. The department of State has informed each of the foreign ministers that the United States has withdrawn the notices issued by him of a New Year's reception at his residence.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Belknap will take place on Sunday afternoon from St. John's church, she remains to be interred in Oak Hill Cemetery. Failure of John H. Surrott's Attempt to Lecture—Interference of the Authorities.

The agent for John H. Surrott visited Washington last week for the purpose of engaging a hall and making the necessary arrangements for the delivery of Surrott's lecture in this city. Lincoln Hall, the most commodious in Washington, was secured for this (Friday) evening, and the public notified to that effect through the newspapers and posters. When the announcement was made that Lincoln Hall, dedicated, as it was, with religious services, by the Young Men's Christian Association, and especially named in memory of the martyred President, was to be used for the purpose of a lecture by Surrott, who had been tried as one of the conspirators, a feeling of indignation arose in this community, which was immediately manifested by the Board of Managers met on Saturday morning last, and, as was stated at the time, promptly annulled the engagement.

Application was then made for Odd Fellows' Hall, the next in order of preference, and on Monday it was supposed the lecture would be delivered at that place. It now appears that application had been made for the use of Masonic Hall, but the proposition was rejected by the party having charge of it. Disaffection was expressed that Odd Fellows' Hall should be made a convenience of by the avowed rebel, conspirator and spy, and yesterday a meeting of the building committee was held, and they, too, decided to shut the doors of Odd Fellows' Hall against him, and sent a note to his agent in Baltimore to that effect. Surrott and his brother-in-law arrived to-day, and finding themselves literally left out in the cold by the refusal of three halls, the lessee of Carus's Hall, formerly the Washington theatre building, and celebrated in former days as the scene of the grand and democratic meetings, was prevailed on and he agreed that the hall should be heated and lighted ready for the novel purpose at seven o'clock. Posters were put up at short notice, and handbills circulated by the thousand, announcing that the lecture would positively take place at Carus's Hall at eight o'clock this evening. Before that hour several hundred men had proceeded thither, only to find the doors closed against them, and the party having charge of the hall standing out in the cold wondering why the agent had not arrived to receive them. But neither the agent nor the principals were on hand to explain the reason why the lecture would not be delivered. Men stood shivering and shaking in front of the building until after eight o'clock, when the gas was turned off, and only the glare of the red and white lights to illumine the classic precincts of Carus's Hall. The majority of those ready to patronize Surrott were evidently his friends, but probably their number was not much in excess of those who would have hissed his traitorous expressions. There was some conversation among a few of the outspoken ones, the tenor of which was being in favor of fair play against mob law; but the city officials were duly aware of the existing feeling against Surrott's delivering his lecture in the capital, and had the subject of the peace and good name of Washington under consideration several days since. At first it was determined not to issue Surrott the license it was necessary he should procure before giving his lecture, and in the meantime to have the hall closed and attempt to lecture without a license there to arrest him. The matter was discussed at the meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday, when it was deemed advisable to give Surrott all the protection he needed, or, rather, if the license was issued, have a police force present sufficiently strong to keep order and arrest any parties who might instigate a disturbance. Mayor Emery, who is a member of the Board, and after the adjournment of the meeting addressed a letter to a Catholic clergyman who is known to be personally friendly to Surrott, urging him to dissuade Surrott from attempting to lecture in Washington. At the same time he also addressed the following to Surrott himself:—

MAYOR'S OFFICE, CITY HALL, WASHINGTON, Dec. 29, 1870. J. H. SURRATT:—

It is announced in the papers of to-day that you intend to lecture to-morrow evening at Odd Fellows' Hall. Learning from various sources that there is a general opposition to your lecturing in Washington, and that you are determined to attempt it, I would earnestly advise you to desist from your purpose, and withdraw your appointment to lecture.

Respectfully, yours, M. G. EMERY.

This advice was heeded, and that is the reason why Surrott did not attempt to brave public opinion in the city that was the scene of the crime growing out of the plan for the abduction of President Lincoln, and in which Surrott was, according to his own confession, a leading conspirator and an ally of the President's assassin. It is understood that Surrott is journeying southward, where he expects to be greeted by the crowded houses and unlimited applause.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE. In Wall Street. At half past five o'clock yesterday morning fire was discovered in the lower office of Underhill & Underhill, on the third floor of the four story brick building No. 54 Wall street, caused by a coal falling from the stove, and catching in a box of matches.

At eleven o'clock yesterday morning a little daughter of John Langin, while playing with matches in their apartments, on the third floor of the four story brick dwelling house No. 402 West Thirty-third street, set fire to the bed, causing a loss of about $1,000 of different tenants in the house. The building is owned by a Mrs. Mahoney and insured for $500.

In Clinton Street. At twenty minutes past eight last night a fire occurred in the stable at the rear of 113 Clinton street, occupied by James Brennan, causing a damage to the building of $400, insured for $1,000 by the Stuyvesant Fire Insurance Company. The building is owned by Frank Graham, residing at the above number, was severely burnt about the head and face while endeavoring to extinguish the flames.

Twenty-two Families Burned Out in Brooklyn. Destruction of Eleven Dwellings. Eleven two-story frame buildings, situated on Bergen street, near Union square, which were occupied by twenty-two poor families, were destroyed by fire at half-past four o'clock yesterday morning, and the unfortunate occupants went suffering into the streets.

The damages sustained by the above mentioned people were unable to pay for their property, and some, in fact, did not have enough clothing to protect them from the cold. Those who had no property were obliged to take refuge in the streets around small fires which were built in the streets to keep them from freezing. Their condition was such that the Board of Health ordered an ambulance to be sent to the residence of the sufferers, and others were taken to a hospital and made comfortable by strangers.

Eight of the dwellings were owned by Mr. Jerome rested by the Treasury watch. This woman gave her name as Martha Washington, and implicated a woman named Ruth Diggs, the messenger. Both parties were arrested and held for a hearing. The Colored West Point Cadet Again in Trouble. James W. Smith, the colored cadet at West Point, is again in trouble. He has been the cause of no little annoyance to the other students ever since he entered the Academy. All the white cadets have quietly ignored him, and a constant appreciation of this fact may have contributed to render him anything but amiable. His acquirements before entering the Military Academy showed that he had ability above the ordinary negro, but the pursuit of his studies at West Point has thus far failed to indicate any brilliancy in him. The curriculum of the Academy is well calculated to test the intellectual powers of any one. Tried according to this standard, he is pronounced by unprejudiced authority to be rather below the medium ability, while it is represented that the higher branches of mathematics would unquestionably bother him. This somewhat doubtful, however, whether he will have the opportunity of flushing his course at the Academy. Twice he has been brought before military tribunals, and another similar ordeal is awaiting him. The first was a court of inquiry, which recommended that he be tried on a charge of falsifying statements, but in deference to the anomalous position, and in order to give him every opportunity, the War Department condoned this, his first offence, in the hope that the lesson would be useful to him. The second was a court martial, before which he was arraigned for being engaged in an affray and for making false statements. Both courts were organized with a special view to entire impartiality, and were composed of officers none of whom were stationed at West Point and most of whom were not graduates of the Academy. On his trial before the general court martial, of which Major General Howard, Chief of the Freedmen's Bureau, was president, the assistant professor of law and ethics at the Military Academy by request acted as his counsel, and with such good faith and ability that he was acquitted on the first charge, and the War Department withdrew the sentence of the second. These facts demonstrate that even-handed justice has been accorded him by the authorities at the institution, as well as by the War Department. But it would seem that his want of veracity may yet prove the ruin of him. He was regularly reported in the usual manner for delinquency on drill. He made a written explanation of the alleged offence, and this explanation is represented to contain undoubted evidence of what appears to be a chronic weakness of this colored youth—falsification of facts. Upon this charge he is to be again arraigned before a new court martial, which will soon be appointed for the purpose of trying him. Before the third and impending tribunal the case will rest altogether on its merits. Without doing violence to the colored cadet, it is but just to the young gentlemen at the Academy, and to the public, notwithstanding the natural prejudice against appointing negroes as cadets in that Academy, the other students did not unnecessarily annoy him, as some suppose they did, but simply quietly ignored him and refused to affiliate with him. Smith was appointed from South Carolina on the recommendation of Mr. Hoge, member of Congress from Columbia, and it is a curious incident that in the recent election Hoge was defeated for Congress by a negro.

Do Not Give Up. A commercial house in New York writes to a prominent Senator:—

We are advised by our agents, as well as by our Dominican correspondents, that everything is peaceful and quiet, and that the entire community with whom they are brought in contact are unanimously in favor of an unqualified annexation. The trade between that island and New York is continually increasing, and as yet in a small way—increasing, and by the last trip of the steamer Tybee there were about five hundred and eighty-eight barrels of tobacco from Samana.

National Bank Reports Called for. The United States Treasurer has issued regulations respecting the semi-annual return and payment of duties by national banking associations, notifying all, under bonds, to make proper returns in accordance with the provisions of the laws cited in the circular.

Personal. John P. Hale, formerly Minister to Spain, proposes to visit Washington next month for the benefit of his health. He is reported to be in a feeble condition and will come here for medical advice.

A Patent Refused an Ex-Confederate. The Acting Commissioner of Patents to-day rendered an adverse decision in the case of the application of John B. Read for an extension of his patent for projectiles. He had worked diligently on his invention till 1861, when, on the breaking out of the war, he joined the Confederate service, and under that government took out letters patent. The projectiles were used largely by the Confederate army. He has refilled his letters patent in this city, with an application for an extension, while on the face of the seal of the Confederate States attesting the fact above mentioned. Negative replies to all applications, without being in the shape of an official decision, were given at various times; but now, as Read inquires as to the truth of a report circulated that he has been refused an extension on account of his services in the confederacy, the Acting Commissioner replies, "That is just the reason exactly."

Introduction of Cattle Disease from Canada. Information having been received at the Treasury Department that the cattle disease, known as the hoof and mouth disease, which was provided as an alarming extension to England, had made its appearance in New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut, and that this disease was introduced by cattle coming from Canada. The Secretary of the Treasury to-day issued instructions to collectors of customs on the frontier not to allow further entry of cattle or other animals of the kind unless they were accompanied by a consular certificate that the importations are free from the disease above mentioned, and that the disease has not and does not prevail in the locality from whence they were transported.

FIRES. In Wall Street. At half past five o'clock yesterday morning fire was discovered in the lower office of Underhill & Underhill, on the third floor of the four story brick building No. 54 Wall street, caused by a coal falling from the stove, and catching in a box of matches.

At eleven o'clock yesterday morning a little daughter of John Langin, while playing with matches in their apartments, on the third floor of the four story brick dwelling house No. 402 West Thirty-third street, set fire to the bed, causing a loss of about $1,000 of different tenants in the house. The building is owned by a Mrs. Mahoney and insured for $500.

In Clinton Street. At twenty minutes past eight last night a fire occurred in the stable at the rear of 113 Clinton street, occupied by James Brennan, causing a damage to the building of $400, insured for $1,000 by the Stuyvesant Fire Insurance Company. The building is owned by Frank Graham, residing at the above number, was severely burnt about the head and face while endeavoring to extinguish the flames.

Twenty-two Families Burned Out in Brooklyn. Destruction of Eleven Dwellings. Eleven two-story frame buildings, situated on Bergen street, near Union square, which were occupied by twenty-two poor families, were destroyed by fire at half-past four o'clock yesterday morning, and the unfortunate occupants went suffering into the streets.

The damages sustained by the above mentioned people were unable to pay for their property, and some, in fact, did not have enough clothing to protect them from the cold. Those who had no property were obliged to take refuge in the streets around small fires which were built in the streets to keep them from freezing. Their condition was such that the Board of Health ordered an ambulance to be sent to the residence of the sufferers, and others were taken to a hospital and made comfortable by strangers.

Eight of the dwellings were owned by Mr. Jerome

miash Bunkey, of Twenty-third street, New York, who estimates his loss at $20,000. The property is said to be covered by insurance. Two of the buildings were destroyed by the fire, and the loss, estimated at $5,000, insured in the Phoenix Insurance Company. Mr. J. Barney owned one. His loss is $2,000, for which he is insured in the same company. The fire originated in the apartments of a colored man named George P. Patent, and was caused by a defect in the gas.

Fire at Franklin, Pa.—The Wire Bridge Across the Allegheny Partially Destroyed—Several Persons Killed—Others Severely Injured. PITTSBURGH, Dec. 30, 1870. The Marshall House, situated at the west end of the wire bridge over the Allegheny river, in Franklin, Pa., took fire at eleven o'clock this morning. The flames communicated to the bridge, and the cables, soon becoming red hot, parted from their anchorage, precipitating the bridge structure into the river. About twenty persons were on the bridge at the time. William Neil, farmer; McIntyre, the tollkeeper, and his wife and daughter, who were engaged in remaining on the bridge, were all injured. Mary and George McIntyre, John and Alexander McCartney, John Henry and two unknown persons were seriously injured. Gilgore, freight agent of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, is supposed to be buried in the ruins, as he was intensely cold and the river frozen over to the second pier on each side, and great difficulty was experienced in reaching the sufferers with ladders from the centre of the bridge and swim ashore through the almy ice. The bridge was newly erected, at a cost of $100,000, and Marshall House $50,000. No insurance on either.

Fires at Chicago and Atkinson, Ill. CHICAGO, Dec. 30, 1870. A fire broke out this morning in a long frame block, reaching from 336 to 338 Clark street, and destroying property valued at about $350,000; insured for $180,000. There were some forty tenants in the building, whose losses range from $100 to $1,000.

The building mill of Lewis & Co., at Atkinson, Ill., with the elevator of J. Ashley, were burned, including a loss of $25,000.

1870—1871. The Old Year Going Out and the New Coming In—What the Festival Means.

"When next the brazen tongue of clamorous Time" proclaims the midnight hour, the year 1870, with all its varied experiences, all its memorable events, its historic memories, its joys and sorrows, its losses and gains, will drift into the trackless region of the Past, and amid wine and song, peal of bells, and beyond the seas, of cannon, mutual congratulations of reunited friends, the latest born of Time—1871—will make his first bow on the bustling stage of this world. But while the old year totters to his grave we will not drop the tribute of a tear to his memory, and cast a swift glance back at the stirring scenes of his brief and useful life. We speak not of those which are chronicled on history's page, but rather of the page in the life history of each and every one. Before TURNING OVER THE LEAF. One may find ample food for reflection. There is many a bright spot and many a dark one on that page; lives that are lighted up by a ray of the heart's sunshine, and others that are buried by tears and are clouded by the heart's shadow. Hands that were clasped in friendship when the now Old Year was a smiling babe, are cold and dead; eyes that sparkled and threw a sunny glow over the home circle are closed forever; hearts that beat high with joy and gladness are still, and the vacant chair stands as a stern reminder at many a residence of the instability of human hopes and projects. Again, even among those whom the conqueror's scythe has spared, there is a sad condition and a position has occurred. Some, whose last New Year was a gala day, with all the surroundings that wealth could give, are now, if not homeless and houseless, beggars.

THE PARALYZING GRASP OF POVERTY. And have, perhaps, exchanged places with those for whom the black hand of death has already laid its icy and unrelenting grasp. Whether they or those whom poverty year after year, claims as its own, this is the question that should be asked. Let those who meet around the well provided family table not forget the black hand that is ready to pass by with indifference the little wanderers who have ventured forth to beg sustenance, perhaps for a week or two, and then to die. Let the year of the year be a period of the year is meek-eyed charity a more welcome visitor in the houses of the poor, and those who are in a position to do so, let them remember that timely aid to the perished children of the Babel of Bethlehem—the poor—falls on the graves of the lamented ones as the dew of Heaven. But if you find your hand stretched to the old year, you may put pay his respects to

THE LATEST BORN OF FATHER TIME. The young and the old, the young and the old, of the year has been celebrated for ages past in every part of the world as a social and religious festival. The Romans offered sacrifices, and the Greeks walked down in festive garments, greeted each other with uncommon kindness, and exchanged New Year's gifts. But in our day, the young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on the other the profile of George Washington. The heathenish celebration of New Year's, and one of their scribbles thus holds forth on the subject:—"The young and the old, the young and the old, are made up of gilt dimes, five, honey cakes and copper coins, having on one side the double headed Janus and on