A general discontent seems to prevail among the people, and dissensions have arisen between Generals Caseres and Garcia, the chief commanders of the Dominican army, owing to the partiality shown by President Baez towards the former, to whom he sent $10,000 for the payment of his troops, which Caseres pocketed.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

An accident, as it is called, occurred yesterday forenoon, at No. 321 West Eleventh street, which resulted in the death of several persons and the injuring of several others. The building in which the death and suffering occurred had been a private residence, and was being fitted up for the purposes of a tenement house, and to that end an extension was being put up, on which several workmen were engaged. The interior of the house had been completely gutted, nothing remaining but the beams.

At about eleven o'clock the first alarm of the accident was given, and of course the news was at once conveyed to the precinct station house in the neighborhood, and officers were despatched to the place. The police describe the scene on entering as frightful. The unfortunates were mostly laboring men, who had been at work in the cellar or carrying mortar from the cellar to the mechanics in the upper part of the building. As seen by the police the dead and wounded were in positions indicating that their fate had seized them at a moment not expected, and showing that their end of life, or their terrible bruises, as the case might be, had come upon them in a most shockingly violent manner.

One man had been pierced through his stomach, another had his head literally flattened, a third man was bruised almost beyond identification. A catastrophe like this, occurring in the short space of time took for the walls of a building to fall, can scarcely be described other than to state the consequences as they were gradually developed. The following are the names of the killed and wounded:—

NAMES OF THE KILLED. John Foster, aged seventeen, residence No. 455 West Eleventh street. Deceased was taken home. Jeremiah Driscoll, aged thirty-five, residence No. 125 Greenwich street. Taken home.

Martin Fahy, aged twenty-five, residence No. 4 Horatio street. Taken to the Morgue. Jacob Ryder, aged forty, residence Sixty-fourth street and Eleventh avenue. Taken to the Morgue. Michael McEwen, thirty-eight years of age, residence 477 Greenwich street. Taken to the Morgue. Two others not identified, sent to the Morgue.

TWO INJURED AND SENT TO BELLEVUE. John Kelly, age forty-three, residence No. 150 Avenue C. James Burns, aged fifty-two, residence No. 465 West Eleventh street. John Fingar, aged twenty-nine, residence No. 208 West Twenty-fifth street. French Roth, aged forty, residence No. 242 West Forty-sixth street. Martin Gerabty, aged twenty-five, residence No. 157 Washington street. Thomas Cronin, aged thirty-four, residence No. 157 Mulberry street.

THE BOSS CAPTIVE IN JESSE NEWMAN, who resides at 125 Christopher street. Shortly after the accident Warden Brennan arrived at the house and rendered valuable assistance in securing the transfer of the sufferers either to their homes or to Bellevue. As the news spread in the vicinity crowds of men and women thronged to the scene. When the dead were laid out in the streets, sympathy for the unknown unfortunates, and were eager to ascertain whether any friends or relatives were among the victims who had been killed or wounded. When the dead were being removed the crowd became bunched in its noisy uproar; but a few moments sufficed to set the police on their feet, and in a very short while no one would have ever thought that there had been in that particular block such a scene of death and suffering as had occurred.

Michael Garrity, a married man and native of Ireland, aged twenty-five, residing at No. 157 Washington street, is located in ward 12. This unfortunate man is suffering from a very severe contusion and laceration of the jaw, and it is very doubtful whether he will survive the reception of his injuries many days.

The scalp wounds of James Burns, aged 50, married and residing at 466 West Eleventh street, are not considered rather severe. The patient lies in ward 11.

Frank Kelly, aged thirty-five, a native of Ireland, is in ward 12. He was injured in the abdomen, though he was able to walk to his bed in the ward he was assigned to.

When pain or anguish wrings the brow, or when in the cleanly but doleful wards of the Bellevue Hospital last night.

As the night wore on and the night keeper of the Morgue lighted his pipe and blinked his weary eyes, low persons came to the lighted windows of the collection of the morning's disaster. A slight shower of rain from a passing cloud drove away the curious and morbidly interested throng, and the scene was not likely to be repeated.

This terrible catastrophe ought to be a caution to careless builders, and a bitter warning to those who, in the name of the risk of honest men's lives, as this is both unnatural and very false economy.

THE PRESIDENT.

Safe Return of the Chief Magistrate to Long Branch—Joyous Sentiments. Secured the Executive at the "White Cottage."

LONG BRANCH, August 22, 1873. The President arrived here at a quarter before twelve o'clock to-day. Those who interest themselves in his private movements may like to know that at that hour a close coach, with a fine, powerful pair of carriage horses and two stalwart colored servants, awaited him at the Railroad depot, while another sturdy fourteenth amendment set in a handsome double-seated basket phaeton, drawn by a splendid pair of black cobs, awaiting the Princess Nelly. But the inevitable cloud gathered and the rain fell just as the train arrived, and so Miss Nelly, like the wives of the Three Fishers, looked at the rock and looked at the shower, and while casting an affectionate look of disappointment at the cobs concluded to ride in the carriage. The President, Miss Nelly and the inveterate destroyer of boots, young Jesse, got quickly into the carriage, and in a very demure fashion took with them Miss Nelly's maid, with her several trunks.

Another son and a gentleman, who was the only outsider of the party, jumped into the basket phaeton and drove off through the rain, apparently enjoying the fun. The party went home. Whether they took a bite and a sup as soon as they had arrived and passed family greetings Jenkins has not reported. But at half past seven the President was enjoying his cigar in the favorite northeast corner of his balcony.

General Babcock returned by the six o'clock train. The rumors of an intended grand celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of President Grant's birth, which was to have been celebrated in New York, and a large number of the family proposed a large reunion on the happy day, but Mrs. Grant at that time positively refused her assent, preferring to enjoy the anniversary in the privacy of her own family circle.

The subsequent death of the President's father was such a celebration as that reported to be in contemplation. As to the attendance of Cabinet Ministers, it is quite clear that the President and the present made to Mrs. Grant a remembrance of the day as so strictly of a personal and family character that it would be an impertinence to refer to them.

LONG BRANCH.

Present Prospect for the Races at Monmouth Park—The Weather, Gossip and Amusement.

LONG BRANCH, August 22, 1873. After all the interruptions by the weather to-morrow the races at Monmouth Park, the first day of the extra meeting, promise to be a great success, and excite much interest. The postponement has enabled a larger number of horses to be sent forward, and there have been fifteen entries since those fully reported in the Herald, many of which are of established reputation, and will take part in to-morrow's contests.

The hurdle race, for mile heats, was the feature of the day, and much talk about, and pools are selling this evening freely. The storm and heavy fall of rain have greatly raised the reputation of the Monmouth Park track, for since the last shower passed away, about three or four o'clock, a number of men were sent to work to sponge up all their pools and harrow the track, and about two hours afterwards it was comparatively dry; and while it will be somewhat heavy to-morrow, it will be in first rate order, and the race will be a fine one.

There will also be races, certain, on Tuesday and Wednesday next. The report is New York that a man named Peter Dempsey, who had been arrested here, and traced to any foundation. The police, the Coroner and the people know nothing about such an occurrence.

Life and gaiety have returned to the Branch with the fine weather. Thurston's great picture of Niagara is attracting hundreds of spectators to-day.

Mrs. Bredell, Nelson Varley, the tenor, Whitney and Patterson, the pianists, gave a concert to-morrow night. The race for the race to-morrow there is a subscription complimentary to the Ocean to Keating's band and an open full dress hop at the West End. There has been quite a revival of rivalry to-day between the guests and proprietors of the Ocean Hotel serenaded the President to-night, with Keating's band, and the President returned to the house. But, of course, no response was made to the compliments.

YACHTING.

The Race for the Douglas Cups—Competing Sloops and Schooners.

NEWPORT, R. I., August 22, 1873. There has not yet been any change in the weather, and we are still involved with easterly and southerly breezes, accompanied by rain and fog. To-day we have had fog and rain all day, and the race for the Douglas cups has been postponed. A meeting of the captains was held on board the "Plover" at 12:30 P. M. It was then decided to sail the race for the cups, given by Vice Commodore Douglas, to-morrow. The yachts will start at 10 A. M. across an imaginary line between the spar buoy on the Reef and the Beacon light ship, and sail around the Sow Bay light and return.

There are two prizes, one for schooners and one for sloops, and they will be awarded to the first yacht in, irrespective of the number of the crew. The Newport cups will probably be sailed on Monday. The competing yachts for the Douglas cups will probably comprise the Alarm, Madeleine, Josephine, Diana, Waver, and the "Plover" and "Plover" and the "Plover". The sloops Vision, Vixen and Ariadne comprise the sloops entries. The schooners "Plover" and "Plover" will start at 10 A. M. to-day and resume this evening. There are no Herald's to be had here this evening for love or money. They were all snatched up half an hour after the arrival of the "Plover".

HOW THE DYING CAPTIVE ESCAPED.

PHILADELPHIA, August 22, 1873. I have held this office during all administrative changes for a term of thirty years; I have seen a crime under all its aspects, and never before in my life have I ever seen beneath my notice in which was shown the cruelty and the inhumanity of the human race.

To-day has been a day of horrors. With the coming of the dawn there rolled from the printing presses of New York and Philadelphia hundreds of thousands of sheets, carrying to every quarter of our great country a tale of sorrow, and woe—the story of a drowned body and the main features of a mystery deeper yet—and to-morrow will these same journals bear another, darker, fouler and more incredible still. There are but few human beings in the world, no matter in what degraded ranks you find them, who would not divide their last crust with a friend, or who would not, were their enemy starving, give him food.

There is no cry swelling up from the wretched hovels of humanity that will so blanch the cheek or cleave in twain the heart of the worker as that made for bread. There is a pathos in it that we cannot resist. There is a terror in the note which utters to the very soul, which for the moment suspends our breath, and which we will seek, no matter how great the distance from which it calls, no matter how stupendous the obstacles which intervene. We are living under one of the most perfect forms of government that the world has ever seen—in a land of freedom, of charity, of wealth; and yet from out the heart of this very city, from out one of its most densely populated quarters, from the midst of the whirl of its business and from underneath the shade of its towering church spires is dragged a creature who has been starving his child, and who, during all that dreary season, has been withholding from a young and spotless girl, not the luxuries, but even the necessities of human life.

FOR THREE LONG AND WEARY YEARS has been starving his child, and who, during all that dreary season, has been withholding from a young and spotless girl, not the luxuries, but even the necessities of human life. The girl is now in the hands of the law, and the story of her life is a tale of horror.
