Conservative Charges—Cabinet Dissension on Vital Public Subjects—Premier Gladstone's Position as a Parliamentary Candidate—The Canvass Still More Excited—Mr. Disraeli on the Ashantee Tactics of the Ministry—Riotous Appearance at Greenwich—The Cause of the Workmen.

TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

LONDON, Jan. 31, 1874. The Right Hon. Sir Stafford Northcote, who is a liberal conservative and supporter of Mr. Disraeli, spoke at Barnstable last night. He pointed to the dissension between John Bright and Mr. Forster on the education question, and spoke of the differences in the cabinet on the question of Church disestablishment.

PREMIER GLADSTONE'S POSITION AS A CANDIDATE. Mr. Henry James, in an address at Tanton, said that Sir George Jessel, Sir John Duke Coleridge, Mr. Vernon Harcourt and himself advised Mr. Gladstone last Spring, when he again took office, that it was not necessary for him to be re-elected to Parliament.

All the gentlemen mentioned are well known as distinguished lawyers. Notwithstanding the recent denial of the report that Mr. Gladstone was summoned before the Court of Queen's Bench for not standing for re-election, a letter appears in the Times this morning circumstantially declaring that notice of a writ issued out of that Court was served on the Premier previous to the dissolution of Parliament.

AGITATION IN GREENWICH. There are apprehensions of disturbances in Greenwich this afternoon when Mr. Gladstone speaks. It is said the thoroughfares of the borough will be closed one hour before Mr. Gladstone commences his address, and that the troops will be confined to their barracks.

While conservative meetings were in progress in Greenwich last evening they were attacked by bodies of men, and the conservative candidates who were speaking were compelled to stop.

The Premier is announced to speak at an open air meeting at New-Cross on Monday next. THE CAUSE OF THE WORKINGMEN. A meeting of the liberals who support Mr. Thomas Hughes was held in Marylebone last night. Mr. Hughes delivered a long address, in the course of which he declared himself in favor of a co-operative association of workmen.

Professor Goldwin Smith also addressed the meeting, giving his cordial support to the views of Mr. Hughes. FROM ARGUMENT TO FISTICUFFS. The Right Hon. Acton Stuee Arton addressed a large assemblage in the Tower Hamlets last evening. The meeting was very disorderly, and Mr. Arton was compelled several times to suspend his remarks by reason of fighting among his hearers.

There was also a very disorderly meeting in Deptford last evening. DIVISION AMONG THE LIBERALS. The differences between Mr. Thomas Hughes and Mr. Daniel Grant, who was nominated for Marylebone by the other branch of the liberals on Wednesday night, continue, rendering the return of the conservative candidate probable.

The Premier's Address to the People at Greenwich. LONDON, Jan. 31—Evening. Fully 30,000 persons were on the ground at Greenwich this afternoon when Mr. Gladstone made his speech.

Much opposition was manifested to the Premier, but the crowd in the main, was good natured. Mr. Gladstone, in his address, replied to the various accusations that had been made against him by the conservatives, and defended his use of the patronage attaching to his office.

DISRAELI ON THE "ASHANTEE TACTICS" OF THE DISSOLUTION. Mr. Disraeli addressed a large assemblage at Aylesbury to-day.

He read the dissolution of Parliament was an act of black treachery which Mr. Gladstone learned from the tactics of the Ashantees. The financial proposals of the government were a bribe to secure success in the coming elections, and were also fallacious and unjust. A deficiency would be caused by the promised remission of taxation which would make necessary even more vexatious and burdensome taxation. The inattention of the government to foreign politics has led the nation into costly wars, ignominious treaties and sham arbitrations.

JOHN BRIGHT IN DEFENCE OF GLADSTONE'S LEGISLATION. John Bright spoke at an enthusiastic meeting of his constituents in Birmingham to-night. He devoted much time to a vindication of the legislation obtained by the Gladstone Ministry, which legislation Mr. Disraeli in a recent speech characterized as harassing, and recapitulated the various abuses which it had abolished.

Bullion on Balance to the Bank. LONDON, Jan. 31, 1874. The amount of bullion gone into the Bank of England on balance to-day is $5,000.

Carlist Report of the Situation Before Bilbao. TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD. BAYONNE, Jan. 31, 1874. The Carlist Junta here announces that the municipality of Bilbao has offered to surrender that city in a week, but the insurgents refuse to grant more than ten days before making an attack.

A General Arrested and Imprisoned. MADRID, Jan. 31, 1874. General Martinez Campos has been arrested and sent to prison. GERMANY. Bismarck's Polemics Distasteful in Britain. TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD. PARIS, Jan. 31, 1874. L'Union (newspaper) says that Prince Bismarck recently addressed some observations to the British government relative to the attitude of the ultramontane press and bishops of England, and received a discouraging reply.

MASSACRE AT FORT RICE. Sioux Indians Reported to Have Murdered Twenty White Men. ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 31, 1874. A despatch states that twenty men engaged in chopping wood, near Fort Rice, Dakota Territory, were murdered by Sioux Indians early in the week.

THE PORTLAND POLYGRAM SCANDAL. PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 31, 1874. In the Waite-Waller polygram trial yesterday the prosecution rested their case, having put in evidence showing that the defendant led a handkerchief in Picton marked "Carrie M. Waite," and also a bottle of medicine, which is identified as having been put up for her by the druggist here. Letters from his wife to John Waller were read, which mention that she was living with the people who have testified that Mrs. Waite was the individual.

The defence opened by citing cases of mistaken identity, arguing that the druggist does not prove the identity of Carrie M. Waite and Carrie M. Waller. To-day the defence introduced but little testimony. Two witnesses testified that they recalled a woman with the defendant who closely resembled her, and a barber testified that her hair could not be dyed. The argument for the defence was simply that the proof of the marriage to Waller had not been put in, and that her identity was not established. The jury dwelt upon the improbability of any woman acting so foolishly if she were concealing a plan to cheat her husband.

ASHANTEE.

The British Army Advance Towards Comaassie. TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD. LONDON, Jan. 31, 1874. Information has been received from the Gold Coast that the main force under Sir Garnet Wolseley reached the River Pra on the 1st of January. The advanced guard had penetrated thirteen miles beyond the Pra.

PERSIA.

The Shah's Explanation Concerning the Telegraphs Concession Contract. TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD. LONDON, Jan. 31, 1874. A special despatch from Berlin to the Post says the Shah has made an explanation to the foreign Powers regarding the annulment of the concession to Baron Reuter.

His Majesty states that responses to inquiries made while he was in Europe led him to believe that the undertaking would not receive the necessary financial support; therefore six months' grace, which was urgently requested before the commencement of the work, was refused.

DARING ROBBERS.

A Masked and Armed Gang Stop an Iron Mountain Train, March Off the Employes and Plunder the Passengers and Mails. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 31, 1874. A most daring and successful robbery was committed this evening on the Iron Mountain Railroad. As the train which left here at 9:45 this morning came in sight of Galveston station, 120 miles from here, it was stopped at 10:15 this afternoon, it signalled to stop, the switch was turned and the train ran on the side track. As the train stopped, Conductor Alford stepped off to ascertain what was the matter, when he was confronted by a man wearing a mask, a pistol placed to his head, and he was marched off.

The engineer, fireman, mail agent, express messenger and the other train men were then seized by five masked and heavily armed men, and also placed under guard. The robbers then went through the entire train and took from the passengers about $2,000 and a large amount of jewelry. They also took from the Adams Express messenger about $1,000 and rifled the mails. The robbers then left in a southerly direction, and after the release of the train men the train started southward.

The robbers left a note on the train, of which the following is a copy, the original being now in the possession of Conductor Alford: THE MOST DARING ROBBERY ON RECORD. The south-bound train on the Iron Mountain Railroad was robbed here by five heavily armed men (diamonds). The robbers arrested the train, and then threw the train on a switch. The robbers then went through the entire train and took from the passengers about $2,000 and a large amount of jewelry. They also took from the Adams Express messenger about $1,000 and rifled the mails. The robbers then left in a southerly direction, and after the release of the train men the train started southward.

The robbers offered no violence to any one on the train and did no harm to the train men. THE CAUSE OF THE WORKINGMEN. A meeting of the liberals who support Mr. Thomas Hughes was held in Marylebone last night. Mr. Hughes delivered a long address, in the course of which he declared himself in favor of a co-operative association of workmen.

WASHINGTON.

General Sherman's Views on the Indian Difficulties in Texas and the West—The War Department Wants Charge of the Reds. WASHINGTON, Jan. 31, 1874. General Sherman was again before the House Military Committee to-day in relation to the army as connected with Indian affairs. He pointed out by the map a region of country in Texas 200 miles in length by 100 in breadth, comprising half a dozen organized counties, which when he passed through it two years ago was entirely depopulated, the inhabitants having fled to abandon their homes on account of the constant incursions made upon them by Indians. He said he had been led to believe that these Indians were Comanches, but it was pretty well understood now that they were Kiowas, Cheyennes and Arapahoes who raided out from Fort Sill Reservoir, 800 miles off, penetrating through the military posts and helping themselves to the horses and stock of their Texan friends, which they preferred doing rather than to be at the trouble of raising them themselves. He gave a graphic account of his ride with the famous Kiowa chief, Satanta, at Fort Sill, when he had Satanta, Santank and Big Tree arrested, double ironed and sent back to Texas to be tried for an attack upon a wagon train and the murder of twelve out of the seventeen teamsters that accompanied it, one of whose bodies was bound to a wagon wheel and burned. Satanta was killed in an attempt to escape, but the other two were tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged. But the influence of the humanitarians—who regarded murder on the part of the Indians as a mere exhibition of moral insanity—had induced Governor Davis, of Texas, who sought to have known better, to commute the sentence of Satanta and Big Tree, and the same influences at Washington had finally restored them to freedom, and they are now on the reservation, ready to start out on more murderous raids. If they should scalp Governor Davis the next time General Sherman intimated that he would not shed many tears on that account. He reviewed the Modoc difficulties and gave it as his opinion that General Canby had been a victim of the temporizing Quaker policy applied to the Indians. He favored the transfer of the Indians from the control of the Interior Department to that of the War Department, and expressed his conviction that the army was more kindly disposed to the Indians than the citizens generally were, and that if the country demanded extremely charitable treatment of the Indians it could be accomplished by and through the agency of the army better than by and through the agency of those persons who professed more charity than soldiers, but who did not practise it so much.

Mississippi River Improvements. An adjourned meeting of the members of the House of Representatives in favor of cheap transportation took place to-night in the Capitol. The attendance was small, but the most prominent at the first meeting being absent. Representative Stone, of Missouri, presented a preamble setting forth, among other things, that the Towboat Association of New Orleans, being opposed to the improvement of Southwest Pass channel, compelled Captain Howell, of the United States Engineers, to abandon the work by placing obstructions in his way, the association deriving its income from towing and lightening vessels, and that the United States agent has no power to oppose the hindering course of the association, therefore he is resolved, unless the Senate ratify the proposed law, to cause the association to be reorganized to pass law to facilitate the execution and to protect public works of river and harbor improvements, to the end that private individuals and corporations may not destroy such works without incurring suitable penalties, and also to appropriate a sum of not less than $100,000, to continue the work of improving the mouth of the Mississippi River during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1875. After a conference it was voted, as the unanimous sense of the meeting, that Representative Stone on Monday bring this subject before the House, after which the committee on the proper committee to consider and take action on the subject. The meeting then adjourned for three weeks.

The House in Committee of the Whole. In the House, sitting as in Committee of the Whole, Mr. Parker, (rep. of Mo.), in the chair, speeches were made by Mr. Cox, (dem.) of N. Y., on the financial question; by Mr. Wilson, (rep.) of Ind., on the Pacific Railroad question; by Mr. Loughridge, (rep.) of Iowa, on the army question; by Mr. Kellogg, (rep.) of Cal., on currency, interspersed with numerous letters and communications between Messrs. Kelley, (rep.) of Pa. and Beck, (dem.) of Ky., and by Messrs. Hayes, (rep.) of Mo., and Melish, (rep.) of N. Y., on the finances.

Weekly Treasury Statement. The Treasurer has received from the printing division $998,800 in fractional currency during the week. Amount shipped, $1,028,300 in notes, and $410,000 in fractional currency. Amount of securities held in trust for national banks to secure circulation, $292,494,300, and $16,320,200 as security for deposits for public money.

Assay Commissioners at Philadelphia. The following gentlemen have been designated by the President Commissioners for Testing and Assaying Gold and Silver Coins of the United States for 1874, and will assemble in the Mint at Philadelphia on the 11th of February next for that purpose.—A. A. Borie, of Philadelphia; Hon. J. P. Jones, of the United States Senate; Professor Rogers, of Philadelphia; Professor Francis J. Child, of Cambridge, Mass.; Professor J. E. Hilgard, of Washington, D. C.; Professor Henry Coppe, of Lehigh University; Professor John Le Count, of Philadelphia; Professor E. B. Elliot, of Washington, D. C.; Dr. F. Taylor, of Louisiana; Andrew Mason, of New York; Charles M. Walker, of Indiana; J. M. Merrick, of Boston, Mass.

The New York Currency. United States currency outstanding at this date: Old demand notes, $75,392; Legal tender notes, new issue, $178,021; Series of 1869, $314,280,136; One year notes of 1863, $24,600; Two year notes of 1863, $24,600; Two year coupon notes of 1863, $31,190; Compound interest notes, $451,270; Treasury currency, just issued, $43,000; Second issue, $3,161,381; Third issue, $3,338,513; Fourth issue, $2,819,000; Second series, $3,319,850; Third series, $9,974,352; Total, $430,174,717.

A BARBAROUS MURDER. The friends of the new constitution and those favorable to a non-partisan administration of our government met to-night in Horticultural Hall in immense numbers to endorse Colonel McClure as the constitutional candidate for Mayor. Addresses were delivered by Colonel Forney, Thomas H. Speckman, Colonel McClure, State Senator Wallace, Colonel R. P. Dechert and others. Resolutions were adopted endorsing Colonel McClure as candidate for Mayor, and also endorsing the democratic candidates for Receiver of Taxes and for Collector.

Colonel McClure in a speech pledged himself, if elected, that he would use his best endeavors to give the city an effective government and abolish all the taxes which are levied upon the poor and which are not for the benefit of the city, and elicited intense applause. A republican meeting was held in the Tenth ward to-night, under Mayor Stockley and the other republican nominees. Mr. William B. Hanna presided, and addresses were made by the chairman, Mr. Stockley, Mr. Hanna, Mr. Dechert and others. The meeting was enthusiastic.

THE HUNGRY REDS. Fears of Deprivations by the Bands of Red Cloud and Spotted Tail. OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 31, 1874. Great apprehensions are expressed by the owners of large herds whose cattle ranges between the North and South Platte and the settlers who live north of the Union Pacific Railroad and on the spotted Tail's bands of Sioux and of the Cheyennes, Dakotas, Arapahoes and other tribes combined. The supply of beef furnished to these bands has been exhausted, and there being no money with which to purchase more, they must deplete on the settlements or starve. The bands are reported to be on the verge of a revolt, and are being held at the hands of cavalry at Fort Sherman and Fort Laramie.

THE MURDERER RAPPERTY. A special despatch from Springfield, Ill., says that the same person refused to grant a new trial in the case of Rapperty, convicted of the murder of Colman O'Meara, and he will be hanged at Waukegan, the place of his late trial.

AMUSEMENTS.

English Opera—Farewell Matinee. A very remarkable season of opera was brought to a close at the Academy of Music yesterday—remarkable more for the unvarying liberality of the management than the company than any particular excellence in the pieces. Musical management is truly a lottery, and the prizes are few and far between. The best combinations, the most ingenious calculations, the nicest plans "rang all a-gley," and success and a fortune come sometimes when least expected. With the exception of Miss Kellogg, Mrs. Van Zandt and Mrs. Seguin, there is not a feature in the company that have just closed their New York season that is not of the highest general public. Yet close on the heels of the best Italian opera company the metropolis has seen since Mary's troupe first appeared at Castle Garden, this season of English opera has proved an entire financial success. It is a problem worthy the attention of any musical debating society. The hours yesterday and the matinee was thoroughly packed, and, as in the week previous, many were obliged to go away unable to obtain even a common standing room. The opera was "Faust," the first performance of which we had already discussed in our predecessor. As before it was a smooth, agreeable, but great performance, and seemed to give general satisfaction. The music was excellent, and the acting created an impression in their respective roles, and were ably supported by Messrs. Habelman, Peakes and Carleton.

Gilmore's Saturday Concert. The tireless bandmaster of the Twenty-second regiment is steadily progressing in his task of raising a New York military band to the standard of those magnificent organizations that Europe can boast, specimens of which were sent here at the last Boston Jubilee. The concert last night showed, in the rendering of some of the selections, considerable progress since the first appearance of the band at the Academy of Music. The music was excellent, comprising some of our best instrumental solos, such as the "March of the Lancers" and "The Work of Moulding" and "Tempering those elements so as to become homogeneous and in perfect accordance with the interpretation of a composition is already beginning to exhibit satisfactory results. This was shown last night in the rendering of the "March of the Lancers" and "The Work of Moulding" and "Tempering those elements so as to become homogeneous and in perfect accordance with the interpretation of a composition is already beginning to exhibit satisfactory results.
