THE EMPEROR AND EMPRESS OFF THE PORT OF PERNAMBUCO—CIVIL, NAVAL AND MILITARY HONORS TO THE SOVEREIGN.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD BY CABLE.]

Pernambuco, Brazil, March 31, 1876. The steamship Hevelius, which sailed from Rio Janeiro on the 29th of March, having on board His Imperial Majesty the Emperor Dom Pedro II. of Brazil, the Empress, the special correspondent of the New York Herald and members of the royal suite, arrived off the port of Pernambuco at six o'clock this evening.

A ROYAL SALUTE. A royal salute was fired in honor of the Emperor and his consort.

MUSIC AND FLAGS. Many steamers put off from shore to receive the distinguished visitors. The ships and vessels of every class lying in the harbor were decked out with flags, and the scene was exceedingly animated and enlivening.

AT ANCHOR. The Hevelius cast anchor in the roadstead, the Emperor and Empress having declined to land.

FRATILITY TO THE CROWN. The President of the Province of Pernambuco, attended by the municipal authorities and accompanied by many officers, military and naval, came immediately on board the Hevelius to pay their respects and renew their professions of fealty to the sovereign.

GRACIOUS TRIBUTE. Very many presents of fruits and flowers were offered to the Emperor and accepted.

CITIZEN DISAPPOINTMENT. The citizens of Pernambuco were vastly disappointed at the fact that the members of the royal party did not land. A grand breakfast had been prepared at the palace of the President. The ladies were robed in the most brilliant dresses and the piers were crowded with people of every class, all expectant of the great event of a landing.

A GORGEOUS SCENE. The ships in the harbor were gayly decorated with flags in honor of the royal presence previous to the departure of the Emperor from the country. French, German and British flags mingled with the omnipresent green and yellow standard of Brazil. The joyous brightness of the scene was heightened by the swarms of row boats, moving from point to point, filled with elegantly dressed ladies and their escorts, anxious to greet their sovereign with a parting viva.

THE WEATHER. The day was bright and the vast expanse of blue sky, undimmed by a cloud save in the far horizon, where rose the majestic forms of the dark mountains, topped by a fringe of white cloud.

ENLIGHTENED BY THE HERALD. His Majesty the Emperor returns thanks to the Herald for the information which it has furnished him relative to Philadelphia and the forthcoming Exhibition.

OFF AGAIN. The Hevelius will sail from the roadstead at one o'clock in the afternoon, the forts saluting and the steamer's band accompanying with music.

ALL WELLS. Every person on board is in the enjoyment of good health.

BILLIARDS IN PARIS.

VIGNAUX VS. SEXTON FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE WORLD—VIGNAUX WINS BY A SCORE OF 600 TO 450—GREAT EXCITEMENT AMONG THE FRENCH AND AMERICAN SPECTATORS.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD BY CABLE.]

Paris, March 31, 1876. The great billiard match between Maurice Vignaux, of Toulouse, and William Sexton, of New York, for the three-ball championship of the world, a stake of $1,000 and the international silver cup, came off to-night at the Grand Hotel, and resulted in a victory for Vignaux by a score of 600 to 450.

The game was witnessed by a large gathering of professionals and amateurs, many of them from London and the provinces.

THE TERMS. The terms were 600 points up, three balls, measuring 25, on a five by ten standard American carrom table.

INTENSE EXCITEMENT. During the progress of the game the greatest excitement and enthusiasm were manifested by the French and American spectators, and continued to one o'clock, when the game terminated.

THE WINNER AND PLAY. The match was won in 31 innings, making Vignaux's average 19 1/2.

Sexton made an average of 14 25/32.

THE RESULT IN NEW YORK—POOL SELLING ON THE EVENT.

Since William Sexton sailed for Europe, a month since, the one topic of the billiard world has been his match with Vignaux. Sexton is a great favorite here, but the wonderful display of skill made by Vignaux and the many victories he scored on his visit to America made him the favorite in the pool boxes. A week ago the odds were 100 to 65 and thereabouts; but last night and night before Sexton brought 90 against 100 on Vignaux, the highest figure at which he sold. Large crowds were gathered in the larger saloons throughout the city waiting for the click of victory or defeat. The result leaves the emblematic Challenge Cup in France, and the general opinion is it will be a hard matter to find any one able to bring it back to America.

REVIEW OF MAURICE VIGNAUX. Maurice Vignaux was born in a small town near Toulouse, and is about thirty years of age. He is a large, finely developed man, and has the advantage of most players in being able to reach any portion of the table without using a bridge. He was not known in Paris until after his victory here in the national tournament of 1874, when he won the championship. Francois Ubbay met him while travelling in France, and came with him to America under the impression that he could outplay any of the professionals he had himself encountered with but poor success. Ubbay was not wrong in his opinion, as Vignaux's many victories afterward proved. He entered the tournament and took away the Challenge Cup and first money. Cyrille Dion shortly after made a match with him for $500 a side, and was defeated. Joseph Dion then tried his hand on him for $1,000 a side and the Challenge Cup, and was also beaten. Rudolph then came forward, but was vanquished in turn. Cyrille Dion played him again for $1,000 a side and was again defeated. Vignaux then returned to France, taking with him the cup which is emblematic of the three-ball championship of the world. He was once defeated by Garret in a match game.

Vignaux is a brilliant player, but not capable of fine "nursing," on which most players rely for large runs. His strength lies in wonderful draw shots, on which he depends for bringing the balls into position. He makes the most difficult matted shots with perfect ease, and never seems anxious to hold the balls together. Vignaux is coming over in May, to be in time for the tournament in Philadelphia.

REVIEW OF WILLIAM SEXTON. In the tournament of last year Mr. Sexton first came into public notice. Before that time he played several matches and won them against some of the leading experts, but he was considered too young and inexperienced to encounter such old and tried professionals as he met with in November last. He succeeded, however, in making a tie with Garret for third place, and also secured the largest run.

He has improved steadily in his game since then, as his victory over George Slosson a short time ago shows. He is quite a young man, the youngest, in fact, among them all, and his voyage abroad to bring home with him the emblem of the championship is evidence of his pluck. He is of a slim build, with a pale complexion, and his face will never tell of victory or defeat. The style of his game is the very opposite of his opponent's. His forte is in "nursing" the balls, which he does with wonderful delicacy and care. Like Vignaux, he is strong at the matted shot, but relies more on the cushions to bring the balls into place. He will return in a few weeks, and take part in the Centennial tournament.

ENGLAND.

FRANCIS OPINION OF THE TITLES BILL—A WARNING TO THE PREMIER—SOUTH AMERICAN STOCKS—WHAT IS THE REASON OF THE FALL?—SCANDAL ON 'CHANGE.

London, March 31, 1876. The Times this morning hopes that the Ministry may yet be better advised than persist in recommending to the Queen the assumption of the title of Empress of India. It declares it has been unforgotten alarmed by the rapid decline in the authority and reputation of the government since the beginning of the session. It does not pretend to any special affection for the Ministry, but it cannot help seeing that the opposition is thoroughly disorganized, and the energies of its able members are exhausted, while the younger men are chiefly remarkable for immaturity of mind which threatens never to ripen, and the attempt to form a government out of such materials would threaten mischief to the country. Even those who think its fears fanciful and overstrained must hesitate to press this new title forward when they understand it does in fact provoke discontent.

SOUTH AMERICAN SECURITIES—FINANCIAL MANIPULATION.

The Times to-day, in its financial article, calls attention to the fact that while on Thursday there was an apparent collapse in the small loans of the Argentine provinces of Santa Fe and Entre Rios, which had both been quoted at above par during March, and on Monday were 90 and 85, but on Thursday both closed at 50, the official Stock Exchange sheet does not show a single transaction.

The Times thinks the Stock Exchange owes the public some explanation of how the prices were sustained above par, and why they now have dropped without apparently a solitary business being effected.

THE TONS BEING BURNED—ARGENTINE AN EXCEPTION.

The Stock Exchange is (noon) quieter, with an almost general improvement upon yesterday's closing quotations, Argentine securities being the only prominent exception.

AN IMPORTANT RECOVERY ON 'CHANGE.

London, March 31.—P. M. The Stock Exchange closed at an important recovery.

Foreign securities have been in prominent request.

THE ANNUAL REVENUE—A PLEASANT EXHIBIT.

The British revenue for the financial year ending to-day was $285,658,465, which is $7,353,465 above the estimate, and $11,049,100 more than last year.

The actual expenditure of the financial year up to March 25, 1876, was $265,324,886, while the estimated expenditure for the entire year ending to-day was $379,485,000.

BREADSTUFFS—SUPPLY AND DEMAND AT HOME AND ON THE CONTINENT.

London, March 31.—Evening. The corn trade has relaxed into the languor which characterized it during the first two months of the year. The recent advance in the value of wheat, flour and barley was scarcely supported on the leading exchange yesterday. At Manchester, there was a decline of a shilling per quarter in foreign wheat, but English fully maintained previous prices. Last week's grain arrivals from abroad showed a slight increase on the preceding week.

IMPORTS.

The imports of wheat were 181,072 quarters; maize, 176,101 quarters, and flour, 35,513 sacks. The home supplies were rather small. Wheat, 41,416 quarters; barley, 30,679 quarters, and oats, 3,205 quarters.

PRICES.

The average price of English wheat is 43s. 4d. At Mark Lane to-day business was heavy and attendance. Wheat offered at Monday's prices is quite neglected. Flour cannot be sold except at reductions from the recent advance. Barley is steady. Hare is rather cheaper, much of the supply being inferior or damaged.

THE CROPS.

The weather now allows of agricultural work. The crop around Odessa are reported to be growing favorably.

WEATHER REPORT.

London, March 31, 1876. The weather to-day is fair.

LIVERPOOL MARKET FOR CORN AND FLOUR.

Liverpool, March 31, 1876. A leading corn circular says:—"With the return of more temperate weather and gentle rains the corn trade becomes calmer. Millers, having previously purchased wheat to a fair extent, are disinclined to operate except at some reduction in foreign. Growers, on the contrary, are stiff in their demands. Prices in the agricultural districts are fully supported. In this, and neighboring markets since Tuesday little has been done. The fresh arrivals are smaller.

"The market to-day was almost at a standstill. Few transactions in wheat are reported. The value is fully 1d. per cwt lower, without pressure to sell. Flour was very slow at a reduction equivalent to that in wheat.

"Little was done in corn at a decline of 8d."

THE CONDITION OF EGYPT MAY BE COMMUNICATED TO THE NAVAL.

London, April 1, 1876. In the House of Commons, Sir Stafford Northcote, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced at two o'clock this morning that telegrams had just been received stating that the Khedive had expressed a desire to have Mr. Cave's report published without reservation.

The Reichszeitung corrects the announcement that the German Minister to China had given notice of the termination of the treaty of commerce between Germany and China. It says such notice was given in 1872. The German Minister was recently instructed to prepare negotiations for the revision of the treaty.

As this affects the interests of all the treaty Powers Germany has taken steps to secure the support of the other foreign representatives in Peking.

ENGLISH NEWS CONCERNING THE NEGRO REBELLIOUS MOVEMENT IN BARBADOS—THE ISLAND'S CONFEDERATION POLICY.

London, April 1, 1876. A despatch of the West India Committee had an interview with Lord Carnarvon, the Colonial Secretary, yesterday, with reference to the report of an alleged agitation by the Governor of Barbados to incite the negroes to rebellion in consequence of the presumed intention of the home government to form a confederation of the Windward Islands.

Lord Carnarvon declared he knew nothing concerning the alleged agitation. He had sent despatches by cable asking for information and strongly enjoining caution. He cited despatches to show that the government had no desire to press the confederation scheme.

THE QUESTION OF RECIPROCIITY—A CANAL FROM AMERICA AND CONSEQUENT CONSEQUENCES.

There was much rejoicing in Honolulu over the premature announcement that the Congress of the United States had passed an act to put the Reciprocity Treaty in operation, and the people were very much disappointed on learning that there was no real foundation for the report. There was a good deal of excitement in the islands over an address signed by numerous leading citizens in reference to the deplorable condition of things there and the absolute urgency for some action on the part of the Crown and Ministry. Some very acrimonious published correspondence had resulted therefrom.

THE LABOR SUPPLY.

Involved in the matter is a proposition to encourage immigration from Japan, China and East India. The Ministry took the address of the people in high dudgeon.

THE DAM DISASTER.

Worcester, Mass., March 31, 1876. There is but little to add to the previous despatches relating to the Worcester dam disaster. The flood did no material damage below South Worcester. The valley of the Blackstone River was not harmed. The losses, in part, are estimated as follows:—

The city of Worcester, dam and reservoir, besides the summer's supply of water, $125,000

George W. Olney's house and barn, 5,000

J. A. Smith & Co., on the mill and surrounding, from $75,000 to 100,000

Mill, owned by Wright Bottomly and occupied by A. E. Smith, from $15,000 to 20,000

Ashworth & Jones, on mill, Ac, from 70,000 to 80,000

J. A. Hunt, sawmill, from $5,000 to 5,000

Boston and Albany Railroad—Two bridges washed out, on 100 feet of other 80 feet

Curtis & Marble, on mill, 2,000

The Wicks Manufacturing Company, 1,500

The city of Worcester also loses largely, perhaps $15,000, by damage to highways beside the damage by the falling of mills. Nearly every dam is destroyed. One man and two boys are reported missing, and it is feared they have been drowned. The man's name is unknown. The names of the boys are O. Harris and Frank Dwyer. The city is already building a dam on Person's Brook to secure a supply of water. No water famine is apprehended. The city of Providence sends two fire steamers for use at first until a water supply is secured.
