

NEW YORK HERALD

BROADWAY AND ANN STREET.

JAMES GORDON BENNETT, PROPRIETOR.

THE DAILY HERALD, published every day in the year, except on Sundays and public holidays. Ten dollars per year, or at rate of one dollar per month for any period less than six months, or five dollars for six months, Sunday edition included, free of postage.

PHILADELPHIA OFFICE—NO. 112 SOUTH SIXTH STREET. LONDON OFFICE OF THE NEW YORK HERALD—NO. 48 FLEET STREET.

AMUSEMENTS TO-NIGHT. NEW YORK AQUARIUM—QUEEN STREET. WALLACK'S THEATRE—ROXBOROUGH.

WITH SUPPLEMENT. NEW YORK, SATURDAY, JUNE 2, 1877. NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS. In future all advertisements presented for publication after eight o'clock P. M. will be charged double rates.

THE MORMONS AND THE HERALD.

Two attempts within the last six days to assassinate our correspondent at Salt Lake City will be thought by the public to justify some plainness of speech from the HERALD to the Mormon hierarchy. On Saturday evening last, as Mr. Stillson was returning to the Lion House from a drive, he was shot at by a stealthy miscreant who had concealed himself behind a tree at a distance of fifty feet from the point where the buggy was passing.

The Mormons are not deficient in shrewdness, and they know too well that the assassination of a newspaper correspondent, who is exciting the attention of the country by exposing them, would inevitably be ascribed to their instigation and raise a universal cry for justice and vengeance.

The OAKS.—Yesterday the ninety-ninth anniversary of what is called the Ladies' Day in England was celebrated at Epsom. Placidia was the victor, but the pleasure of the day was marred, as our despatches say, by a storm which blew down some of the stands, and was unfortunately attended by loss of life.

THE BOSTON SCANDAL.—The notorious Coolidge-Rice suit is not to be tried in the courts, but is referred to three lawyers, who will decide it privately. While the public will lose the flavor of a new scandal, the judicious portion will be glad to be spared the weariness of a long trial.

FLEETWOOD PARK.—The races yesterday at this popular track were attended by a large number of ladies and gentlemen, and the sport was full of interest and excitement.

FLOWERS FOR THE SICK.—We have not heard much this year of the society which makes it a pleasant duty to distribute flowers to the sick poor, but do not doubt that the ladies who direct this true charity are not neglecting the work.

THE RETIREMENT OF ERASTUS BROOKS from the editorship of the Evening Express after more than forty years' service on that journal is an event in the newspaper history of this city.

THE WEATHER.—The northwestern storm centre is gradually moving northward over the upper lake region, followed by rising barometer and falling temperature.

THE INVASION OF NEW JERSEY.—New Jersey awoke yesterday morning with a startling din in its ears and found itself invaded by millions of seventeen year locusts, whose busy hum filled the groves.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE. Charles Francis Adams expects to freeze several tons of cream this year.

THE MILITARY OPERATIONS. Steady if not rapid progress is made by the Russians in Armenia. By to-day's despatches it will be seen that they have carried some portion of the Turkish lines constructed for the defence of Kars.

LITERARY CHIT-CHAT. Mrs. Florence Berger, who writes "A Winter in the City of Pleasure," which city is Bucharest in Romania, describes the wickedness of that place, where, however, she seems to have had a very good time of it.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS. From All Parts of the World. GENERAL GRANT. An Introduction to the Heir Apparent of England. OFF TO EPSOM. Invited by the Prince of Wales to Witness the Races.

THE MORMONS AND THE HERALD.

Two attempts within the last six days to assassinate our correspondent at Salt Lake City will be thought by the public to justify some plainness of speech from the HERALD to the Mormon hierarchy. On Saturday evening last, as Mr. Stillson was returning to the Lion House from a drive, he was shot at by a stealthy miscreant who had concealed himself behind a tree at a distance of fifty feet from the point where the buggy was passing.

The Mormons are not deficient in shrewdness, and they know too well that the assassination of a newspaper correspondent, who is exciting the attention of the country by exposing them, would inevitably be ascribed to their instigation and raise a universal cry for justice and vengeance.

The OAKS.—Yesterday the ninety-ninth anniversary of what is called the Ladies' Day in England was celebrated at Epsom. Placidia was the victor, but the pleasure of the day was marred, as our despatches say, by a storm which blew down some of the stands, and was unfortunately attended by loss of life.

THE BOSTON SCANDAL.—The notorious Coolidge-Rice suit is not to be tried in the courts, but is referred to three lawyers, who will decide it privately. While the public will lose the flavor of a new scandal, the judicious portion will be glad to be spared the weariness of a long trial.

FLEETWOOD PARK.—The races yesterday at this popular track were attended by a large number of ladies and gentlemen, and the sport was full of interest and excitement.

FLOWERS FOR THE SICK.—We have not heard much this year of the society which makes it a pleasant duty to distribute flowers to the sick poor, but do not doubt that the ladies who direct this true charity are not neglecting the work.

THE RETIREMENT OF ERASTUS BROOKS from the editorship of the Evening Express after more than forty years' service on that journal is an event in the newspaper history of this city.

THE WEATHER.—The northwestern storm centre is gradually moving northward over the upper lake region, followed by rising barometer and falling temperature.

THE INVASION OF NEW JERSEY.—New Jersey awoke yesterday morning with a startling din in its ears and found itself invaded by millions of seventeen year locusts, whose busy hum filled the groves.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE. Charles Francis Adams expects to freeze several tons of cream this year.

THE MILITARY OPERATIONS. Steady if not rapid progress is made by the Russians in Armenia. By to-day's despatches it will be seen that they have carried some portion of the Turkish lines constructed for the defence of Kars.

LITERARY CHIT-CHAT. Mrs. Florence Berger, who writes "A Winter in the City of Pleasure," which city is Bucharest in Romania, describes the wickedness of that place, where, however, she seems to have had a very good time of it.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS. From All Parts of the World. GENERAL GRANT. An Introduction to the Heir Apparent of England. OFF TO EPSOM. Invited by the Prince of Wales to Witness the Races.

GAMBETTA AND THIERS. What May Happen Should MacMahon Resign. GLAUSTON'S BIRMINGHAM TRIUMPH.

General Grant was formally introduced to the Prince of Wales yesterday, it being his first visit of importance after reaching this city. He was invited to go to Epsom by the heir apparent. At a few minutes to one o'clock the royal equipage containing the Prince of Wales drove up to the Victoria station at Pimlico, followed by the carriages of the American Minister and others containing General Grant, Lord Dudley, Lord Eitch, the Duke of Hamilton, the German Ambassador, Count Munster; the Duke of Cambridge and a number of peers.

ALL ABOARD FOR JEROME PARK.

A few days ago London poured out her tens of thousands on the Epsom road, to celebrate the great English national event, the race for the Derby stakes. No other metropolis in the world could produce such a motley crowd as covers the downs and throngs the highways on that eventful occasion. To-day the people of New York will flock through the Central Park and up the Harlem Railroad to Fordham, on their way to the great racetrack of the American metropolis, Jerome Park.

The American turf has made such rapid strides within a few years that it will not be surprising if we soon take the lead of England in the sport which has been so essentially a British nationality. When we see such names as Belmont, Lorillard, Jerome and Astor among the "stables," we have a right to predict such a future for the American turf as must place it on a par with the English turf in the latter's palmiest days.

The CORRECT POLICY TOWARD MEXICO. The new policy toward Mexico, which was sanctioned by the Cabinet yesterday in the absence of Secretary Evarts, is well known to be Mr. Evarts' policy.

THE MILITARY OPERATIONS. Steady if not rapid progress is made by the Russians in Armenia. By to-day's despatches it will be seen that they have carried some portion of the Turkish lines constructed for the defence of Kars.

LITERARY CHIT-CHAT. Mrs. Florence Berger, who writes "A Winter in the City of Pleasure," which city is Bucharest in Romania, describes the wickedness of that place, where, however, she seems to have had a very good time of it.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS. From All Parts of the World. GENERAL GRANT. An Introduction to the Heir Apparent of England. OFF TO EPSOM. Invited by the Prince of Wales to Witness the Races.

GAMBETTA AND THIERS. What May Happen Should MacMahon Resign. GLAUSTON'S BIRMINGHAM TRIUMPH.

General Grant was formally introduced to the Prince of Wales yesterday, it being his first visit of importance after reaching this city. He was invited to go to Epsom by the heir apparent. At a few minutes to one o'clock the royal equipage containing the Prince of Wales drove up to the Victoria station at Pimlico, followed by the carriages of the American Minister and others containing General Grant, Lord Dudley, Lord Eitch, the Duke of Hamilton, the German Ambassador, Count Munster; the Duke of Cambridge and a number of peers.

The Anglo-American Times states that a dinner to General Grant has been arranged at the United Service Club, which is the representative of the British army and navy. This honor is only tendered to officers of the highest distinction. The other military clubs have followed the example of the United Service in inviting the General to become an honorary member.

M. Gambetta has evidently made up his mind to use every effort for the purpose of bringing M. Thiers forward again to take a commanding position in regard to the left. We are told that the aged statesman has advised the Chamber of Deputies not to vote the budget while De Broglie remains at the head of the Cabinet. This statement, coming from the newspaper controlled by Gambetta, refutes the judgment which his wishes communicated to France. It also corroborates what Gambetta said immediately after the crisis, "It is useless for the President to demand of the Chamber that they vote the budget at the end of the month's suspension. You have used the law to hurt the Republic as much as you can. You aimed to have the right to do it. We must, then, use the law against you. We have the legal power to stop the supplies you ask for. We shall not vote the budget." Another proof of his desire to aid the cause of Thiers is shown in his reply to the students of Paris. These somewhat erratic representatives of the colleges sent an address to Gambetta on Thursday congratulating him on his recent speech at Versailles and thanking him for his able defence of the republican constitution.

Meanwhile, the Ministry continues a policy of repression. The Minister of the Interior, M. de Forcade, has decided to arrest all political agitators who may meet together to the number of twenty and upward, on the ground that they may secure publication of sentiments in opposition to the views of the administration. In a speech made by the President of the Paris Municipal Council at St. Denis the other evening, an allusion was made to President MacMahon's decline and bad temper, hinting that he was administering the affairs of State in about the same spirit as would deal with a corps d'armee. This has been deemed an insulting, and so M. de Forcade is to be prosecuted for treason, or something to that effect.

The editors of the Radical have been sentenced for three months' imprisonment and to pay $1,000 fine for insulting President MacMahon and defaming the Commune, and the publication of the Radical is suspended for six months. At Perpignan the editors of the two republican newspapers have been sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment and $400 fine and two years' suspension and $400 fine respectively for similar offences. Prosecution has also been instituted against the Algerian newspaper, Courrier d'Oran.

The Monteur states that the Count de Chambord has advised his adherents in the Senate to vote in favor of the dissolution of the Chamber, so as not to render the legitimist party responsible for the grave consequences which might ensue if dissolution was refused.

A SECOND PRODIGATION TALKED OF. The Government has not yet taken any definite resolution about reprobating the Chamber. The Left appears resolved to oppose a second prorogation as unconstitutional.

MR. GLAUSTON AGAIN IN THE FRONT. Mr. Gladstone seems to be a natural leader, and his speech at Birmingham on Thursday will, undoubtedly, create a strong feeling against the Eastern policy of the conservative government. His great experience, breadth of conception and oratorical ability command for him an attention even greater than that given to the present Premier. Moreover, he carries with him that wonderful lever in British politics—the working-man. He believes that England should unite with the other Powers and enforce for Turkey a guarantee of reforms and better government for her Christian subjects. He has no suspicion that Russia can or will interfere with English interests in India. In case she should make the attempt, after her explicit declarations to the contrary, he appears to think the case would be plain, and England could soon bring the Czar to an accounting in a manner that would secure the approbation of the world. The liberal and independent metropolitan journals seem to regard his Birmingham address as an indication that the liberal party in general rely on him instead of the Marquis of Hartington. Half 20,000 persons greeted him at Bingley Hall. Many persons paid as much as $125 for reserved seats. All the liberal associations of any importance were represented, including those of this city, Birmingham, Leeds, Sheffield, Manchester and other provincial towns. Mayor Baker, of Birmingham, gave a banquet last evening, at which Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Bright and members of the City Council were present, and again briefly referred to the necessity of watching carefully the course of Her Majesty's advisers. He said there was much political lethargy. The proper

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

From All Parts of the World.

GENERAL GRANT.

An Introduction to the Heir Apparent of England.

OFF TO EPSOM.

Invited by the Prince of Wales to Witness the Races.

GAMBETTA AND THIERS.

What May Happen Should MacMahon Resign.

GLAUSTON'S BIRMINGHAM TRIUMPH.

General Grant was formally introduced to the Prince of Wales yesterday, it being his first visit of importance after reaching this city.

He was invited to go to Epsom by the heir apparent. At a few minutes to one o'clock the royal equipage containing the Prince of Wales drove up to the Victoria station at Pimlico, followed by the carriages of the American Minister and others containing General Grant, Lord Dudley, Lord Eitch, the Duke of Hamilton, the German Ambassador, Count Munster; the Duke of Cambridge and a number of peers.

The distinguished company passed into the station amid the most enthusiastic cheering. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Cambridge entered the same compartment with our ex-President, and all three were in earnest conversation as the train moved off as one o'clock. It was expected that ex-President Grant would go to Windsor and pay a visit to Her Majesty.

CLUB DINNERS ARRANGED FOR. The Anglo-American Times states that a dinner to General Grant has been arranged at the United Service Club, which is the representative of the British army and navy. This honor is only tendered to officers of the highest distinction. The other military clubs have followed the example of the United Service in inviting the General to become an honorary member.

Among the political clubs the way has been led by the Reform. FRENCH POLITICAL DIFFICULTIES. M. Gambetta has evidently made up his mind to use every effort for the purpose of bringing M. Thiers forward again to take a commanding position in regard to the left.

We are told that the aged statesman has advised the Chamber of Deputies not to vote the budget while De Broglie remains at the head of the Cabinet. This statement, coming from the newspaper controlled by Gambetta, refutes the judgment which his wishes communicated to France. It also corroborates what Gambetta said immediately after the crisis, "It is useless for the President to demand of the Chamber that they vote the budget at the end of the month's suspension. You have used the law to hurt the Republic as much as you can. You aimed to have the right to do it. We must, then, use the law against you. We have the legal power to stop the supplies you ask for. We shall not vote the budget." Another proof of his desire to aid the cause of Thiers is shown in his reply to the students of Paris. These somewhat erratic representatives of the colleges sent an address to Gambetta on Thursday congratulating him on his recent speech at Versailles and thanking him for his able defence of the republican constitution.

In return Gambetta congratulated the students on their firm and patient attitude. He expressed the conviction that the bounds of legality would not be overpassed, and that the question must be referred to the judgment of the country. In the possible contingency of President MacMahon's resignation, he said M. Thiers is a statesman well fitted to become again a perfectly constitutional President.

MINISTERIAL TALKING. Meanwhile, the Ministry continues a policy of repression. The Minister of the Interior, M. de Forcade, has decided to arrest all political agitators who may meet together to the number of twenty and upward, on the ground that they may secure publication of sentiments in opposition to the views of the administration. In a speech made by the President of the Paris Municipal Council at St. Denis the other evening, an allusion was made to President MacMahon's decline and bad temper, hinting that he was administering the affairs of State in about the same spirit as would deal with a corps d'armee. This has been deemed an insulting, and so M. de Forcade is to be prosecuted for treason, or something to that effect.

MORNING PROSECUTIONS. The editors of the Radical have been sentenced for three months' imprisonment and to pay $1,000 fine for insulting President MacMahon and defaming the Commune, and the publication of the Radical is suspended for six months. At Perpignan the editors of the two republican newspapers have been sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment and $400 fine and two years' suspension and $400 fine respectively for similar offences. Prosecution has also been instituted against the Algerian newspaper, Courrier d'Oran.

HENRI QUATRE FAVORS DISSOLUTION. The Monteur states that the Count de Chambord has advised his adherents in the Senate to vote in favor of the dissolution of the Chamber, so as not to render the legitimist party responsible for the grave consequences which might ensue if dissolution was refused.

A SECOND PRODIGATION TALKED OF. The Government has not yet taken any definite resolution about reprobating the Chamber. The Left appears resolved to oppose a second prorogation as unconstitutional.

MR. GLAUSTON AGAIN IN THE FRONT. Mr. Gladstone seems to be a natural leader, and his speech at Birmingham on Thursday will, undoubtedly, create a strong feeling against the Eastern policy of the conservative government. His great experience, breadth of conception and oratorical ability command for him an attention even greater than that given to the present Premier. Moreover, he carries with him that wonderful lever in British politics—the working-man. He believes that England should unite with the other Powers and enforce for Turkey a guarantee of reforms and better government for her Christian subjects. He has no suspicion that Russia can or will interfere with English interests in India. In case she should make the attempt, after her explicit declarations to the contrary, he appears to think the case would be plain, and England could soon bring the Czar to an accounting in a manner that would secure the approbation of the world. The liberal and independent metropolitan journals seem to regard his Birmingham address as an indication that the liberal party in general rely on him instead of the Marquis of Hartington. Half 20,000 persons greeted him at Bingley Hall. Many persons paid as much as $125 for reserved seats. All the liberal associations of any importance were represented, including those of this city, Birmingham, Leeds, Sheffield, Manchester and other provincial towns. Mayor Baker, of Birmingham, gave a banquet last evening, at which Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Bright and members of the City Council were present, and again briefly referred to the necessity of watching carefully the course of Her Majesty's advisers. He said there was much political lethargy. The proper

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

From All Parts of the World.

GENERAL GRANT.

An Introduction to the Heir Apparent of England.

OFF TO EPSOM.

Invited by the Prince of Wales to Witness the Races.

GAMBETTA AND THIERS.

What May Happen Should MacMahon Resign.

GLAUSTON'S BIRMINGHAM TRIUMPH.

General Grant was formally introduced to the Prince of Wales yesterday, it being his first visit of importance after reaching this city.

He was invited to go to Epsom by the heir apparent. At a few minutes to one o'clock the royal equipage containing the Prince of Wales drove up to the Victoria station at Pimlico, followed by the carriages of the American Minister and others containing General Grant, Lord Dudley, Lord Eitch, the Duke of Hamilton, the German Ambassador, Count Munster; the Duke of Cambridge and a number of peers.

The distinguished company passed into the station amid the most enthusiastic cheering. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Cambridge entered the same compartment with our ex-President, and all three were in earnest conversation as the train moved off as one o'clock. It was expected that ex-President Grant would go to Windsor and pay a visit to Her Majesty.

CLUB DINNERS ARRANGED FOR. The Anglo-American Times states that a dinner to General Grant has been arranged at the United Service Club, which is the representative of the British army and navy. This honor is only tendered to officers of the highest distinction. The other military clubs have followed the example of the United Service in inviting the General to become an honorary member.

Among the political clubs the way has been led by the Reform. FRENCH POLITICAL DIFFICULTIES. M. Gambetta has evidently made up his mind to use every effort for the purpose of bringing M. Thiers forward again to take a commanding position in regard to the left.

We are told that the aged statesman has advised the Chamber of Deputies not to vote the budget while De Broglie remains at the head of the Cabinet. This statement, coming from the newspaper controlled by Gambetta, refutes the judgment which his wishes communicated to France. It also corroborates what Gambetta said immediately after the crisis, "It is useless for the President to demand of the Chamber that they vote the budget at the end of the month's suspension. You have used the law to hurt the Republic as much as you can. You aimed to have the right to do it. We must, then, use the law against you. We have the legal power to stop the supplies you ask for. We shall not vote the budget." Another proof of his desire to aid the cause of Thiers is shown in his reply to the students of Paris. These somewhat erratic representatives of the colleges sent an address to Gambetta on Thursday congratulating him on his recent speech at Versailles and thanking him for his able defence of the republican constitution.

In return Gambetta congratulated the students on their firm and patient attitude. He expressed the conviction that the bounds of legality would not be overpassed, and that the question must be referred to the judgment of the country. In the possible contingency of President MacMahon's resignation, he said M. Thiers is a statesman well fitted to become again a perfectly constitutional President.

MINISTERIAL TALKING. Meanwhile, the Ministry continues a policy of repression. The Minister of the Interior, M. de Forcade, has decided to arrest all political agitators who may meet together to the number of twenty and upward, on the ground that they may secure publication of sentiments in opposition to the views of the administration. In a speech made by the President of the Paris Municipal Council at St. Denis the other evening, an allusion was made to President MacMahon's decline and bad temper, hinting that he was administering the affairs of State in about the same spirit as would deal with a corps d'armee. This has been deemed an insulting, and so M. de Forcade is to be prosecuted for treason, or something to that effect.

MORNING PROSECUTIONS. The editors of the Radical have been sentenced for three months' imprisonment and to pay $1,000 fine for insulting President MacMahon and defaming the Commune, and the publication of the Radical is suspended for six months. At Perpignan the editors of the two republican newspapers have been sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment and $400 fine and two years' suspension and $400 fine respectively for similar offences. Prosecution has also been instituted against the Algerian newspaper, Courrier d'Oran.

HENRI QUATRE FAVORS DISSOLUTION. The Monteur states that the Count de Chambord has advised his adherents in the Senate to vote in favor of the dissolution of the Chamber, so as not to render the legitimist party responsible for the grave consequences which might ensue if dissolution was refused.

A SECOND PRODIGATION TALKED OF. The Government has not yet taken any definite resolution about reprobating the Chamber. The Left appears resolved to oppose a second prorogation as unconstitutional.

MR. GLAUSTON AGAIN IN THE FRONT. Mr. Gladstone seems to be a natural leader, and his speech at Birmingham on Thursday will, undoubtedly, create a strong feeling against the Eastern policy of the conservative government. His great experience, breadth of conception and oratorical ability command for him an attention even greater than that given to the present Premier. Moreover, he carries with him that wonderful lever in British politics—the working-man. He believes that England should unite with the other Powers and enforce for Turkey a guarantee of reforms and better government for her Christian subjects. He has no suspicion that Russia can or will interfere with English interests in India. In case she should make the attempt, after her explicit declarations to the contrary, he appears to think the case would be plain, and England could soon bring the Czar to an accounting in a manner that would secure the approbation of the world. The liberal and independent metropolitan journals seem to regard his Birmingham address as an indication that the liberal party in general rely on him instead of the Marquis of Hartington. Half 20,000 persons greeted him at Bingley Hall. Many persons paid as much as $125 for reserved seats. All the liberal associations of any importance were represented, including those of this city, Birmingham, Leeds, Sheffield, Manchester and other provincial towns. Mayor Baker, of Birmingham, gave a banquet last evening, at which Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Bright and members of the City Council were present, and again briefly referred to the necessity of watching carefully the course of Her Majesty's advisers. He said there was much political lethargy. The proper

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

From All Parts of the World.

GENERAL GRANT.

An Introduction to the Heir Apparent of England.

OFF TO EPSOM.

Invited by the Prince of Wales to Witness the Races.

GAMBETTA AND THIERS.

What May Happen Should MacMahon Resign.

GLAUSTON'S BIRMINGHAM TRIUMPH.

General Grant was formally introduced to the Prince of Wales yesterday, it being his first visit of importance after reaching this city.

He was invited to go to Epsom by the heir apparent. At a few minutes to one o'clock the royal equipage containing the Prince of Wales drove up to the Victoria station at Pimlico, followed by the carriages of the American Minister and others containing General Grant, Lord Dudley, Lord Eitch, the Duke of Hamilton, the German Ambassador, Count Munster; the Duke of Cambridge and a number of peers.

The distinguished company passed into the station amid the most enthusiastic cheering. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Cambridge entered the same compartment with our ex-President, and all three were in earnest conversation as the train moved off as one o'clock. It was expected that ex-President Grant would go to Windsor and pay a visit to Her Majesty.

CLUB DINNERS ARRANGED FOR. The Anglo-American Times states that a dinner to General Grant has been arranged at the United Service Club, which is the representative of the British army and navy. This honor is only tendered to officers of the highest distinction. The other military clubs have followed the example of the United Service in inviting the General to become an honorary member.

Among the political clubs the way has been led by the Reform. FRENCH POLITICAL DIFFICULTIES. M. Gambetta has evidently made up his mind to use every effort for the purpose of bringing M. Thiers forward again to take a commanding position in regard to the left.

We are told that the aged statesman has advised the Chamber of Deputies not to vote the budget while De Broglie remains at the head of the Cabinet. This statement, coming from the newspaper controlled by Gambetta, refutes the judgment which his wishes communicated to France. It also corroborates what Gambetta said immediately after the crisis, "It is useless for the President to demand of the Chamber that they vote the budget at the end of the month's suspension. You have used the law to hurt the Republic as much as you can. You aimed to have the right to do it. We must, then, use the law against you. We have the legal power to stop the supplies you ask for. We shall not vote the budget." Another proof of his desire to aid the cause of Thiers is shown in his reply to the students of Paris. These somewhat erratic representatives of the colleges sent an address to Gambetta on Thursday congratulating him on his recent speech at Versailles and thanking him for his able defence of the republican constitution.

In return Gambetta congratulated the students on their firm and patient attitude. He expressed the conviction that the bounds of legality would not be overpassed, and that the question must be referred to the judgment of the country. In the possible contingency of President MacMahon's resignation, he said M. Thiers is a statesman well fitted to become again a perfectly constitutional President.

MINISTERIAL TALKING. Meanwhile, the Ministry continues a policy of repression. The Minister of the Interior, M. de Forcade, has decided to arrest all political agitators who may meet together to the number of twenty and upward, on the ground that they may secure publication of sentiments in opposition to the views of the administration. In a speech made by the President of the Paris Municipal Council at St. Denis the other evening, an allusion was made to President MacMahon's decline and bad temper, hinting that he was administering the affairs of State in about the same spirit as would deal with a corps d'armee. This has been deemed an insulting, and so M. de Forcade is to be prosecuted for treason, or something to that effect.

MORNING PROSECUTIONS. The editors of the Radical have been sentenced for three months' imprisonment and to pay $1,000 fine for insulting President MacMahon and defaming the Commune, and the publication of the Radical is suspended for six months. At Perpignan the editors of the two republican newspapers have been sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment and $400 fine and two years' suspension and $400 fine respectively for similar offences. Prosecution has also been instituted against the Algerian newspaper, Courrier d'Oran.

HENRI QUATRE FAVORS DISSOLUTION. The Monteur states that the Count de Chambord has advised his adherents in the Senate to vote in favor of the dissolution of the Chamber, so as not to render the legitimist party responsible for the grave consequences which might ensue if dissolution was refused.

A SECOND PRODIGATION TALKED OF. The Government has not yet taken any definite resolution about reprobating the Chamber. The Left appears resolved to oppose a second prorogation as unconstitutional.

MR. GLAUSTON AGAIN IN THE FRONT. Mr. Gladstone seems to be a natural leader, and his speech at Birmingham on Thursday will, undoubtedly, create a strong feeling against the Eastern policy of the conservative government. His great experience, breadth of conception and oratorical ability command for him an attention even greater than that given to the present Premier. Moreover, he carries with him that wonderful lever in British politics—the working-man. He believes that England should unite with the other Powers and enforce for Turkey a guarantee of reforms and better government for her Christian subjects. He has no suspicion that Russia can or will interfere with English interests in India. In case she should make the attempt, after her explicit declarations to the contrary, he appears to think the case would be plain, and England could soon bring the Czar to an accounting in a manner that would secure the approbation of the world. The liberal and independent metropolitan journals seem to regard his Birmingham address as an indication that the liberal party in general rely on him instead of the Marquis of Hartington. Half 20,000 persons greeted him at Bingley Hall. Many persons paid as much as $125 for reserved seats. All the liberal associations of any importance were represented, including those of this city, Birmingham, Leeds, Sheffield, Manchester and other provincial towns. Mayor Baker, of Birmingham, gave a banquet last evening, at which Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Bright and members of the City Council were present, and again briefly referred to the necessity of watching carefully the course of Her Majesty's advisers. He said there was much political lethargy. The proper

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

From All Parts of the World.

GENERAL GRANT.

An Introduction to the Heir Apparent of England.

OFF TO EPSOM.

Invited by the Prince of Wales to Witness the Races.

GAMBETTA AND THIERS.

What May Happen Should MacMahon Resign.

GLAUSTON'S BIRMINGHAM TRIUMPH.