QUADRUPLE SHEET.

NEW YORK, SUNDAY, JUNE 17, 1877.

From our reports this morning the probabilities are that the weather in New York to-day will be warm and partly cloudy or hazy, with rain at intervals, and a thunder storm toward night.

WALL STREET YESTERDAY.—The stock market was dull and speculation was comparatively spiritless.

THE TWELVE REVELATIONS are promised this week by Mr. Townsend. He can best serve his client by telling the whole story.

THE USUAL HORRIBLE TRAGEDY comes from Illinois this morning. A man shot his wife and then very appropriately shot himself.

THE HACKMEN have become alarmed at the progress of the new cab company and asked the Comptroller to reduce the rate of fare.

YACHTING.—The Corinthian regatta of the Seawanhaka Yacht Club, which was sailed yesterday day, was exceedingly creditable to those who participated in it.

AT WASHINGTON YESTERDAY the Register of the Treasury tried to buy a thousand dollar bond of the new loan, but found that he could not do so under an old statute.

TEN OF THE MOLLIE MAGUIRE PRISONERS will be executed next Thursday. A piteous appeal for mercy was made yesterday by the wives, friends and counsel of the doomed men.

FOR SOME DAYS PAST there have been vague rumors in regard to the withdrawing of the fast trains. It is intimated that the cars cannot long stand a rate of speed higher than twenty-five or thirty miles an hour.

FOURTEEN PRISONERS are confined in the Tombs awaiting trial for homicide. Justice is proverbially slow—slower in New York than in perhaps any other part of the world.

SECRETARY SHERMAN was in doubt as to whether he could lawfully issue silver subsidiary coins to replace the fractional currency lost or destroyed, and has been informed by the Attorney General that it is his duty to do so.

THE AFFECTION in which Senator Conkling is held by his friends was shown by the farewell they gave him yesterday on the occasion of his departure for Europe.

RAPID TRANSIT cannot be delayed long if our citizens will go to work as energetically and earnestly as the gentlemen who met last night to discuss the subject.

THE WEATHER.—The disturbed condition of the atmosphere along the Atlantic coast yesterday was attended by frequent rains and gusts of wind, which made the weather very disagreeable.

Events in France—Dissolution of the Chamber.

Our despatches show in what storm and heat of passion the conflict in France progresses. In the history of no other nation can be found a parallel to the scene we chronicle to-day.

Conflict was thus averted by the decree of May 16, and the President escaped thereby the mortification of seeing his Ministry voted down immediately, as well as the painful responsibility of deciding whether he should quietly accept what he would certainly regard as a humiliation, or should resort to extra constitutional measures.

At the end of the thirty days, however, the President is forced upon one more constitutional nostrum. He is in the same dilemma with which he began. His Ministry will fall if it faces a vote unless he declares his indifference to votes and all other facts of that nature.

These are the considerations that will affect a body in which enthusiasm does not exist, and in which age and experience have rather cultivated time-serving shrewdness than broad political wisdom.

than the republicans now are in France; nor was there ever a party with better reason for such confidence. In proportion as the republicans have had the opportunity to exhibit a wise moderation in the application of theories in which the people have faith the country has rallied to their support, and opposing parties have contributed to the growth of this strength by their folly and bad temper.

Our Cable Garland. In our cable despatches to-day will be found a continuation of the lofty interchange of courtesies between the two great poets, Tennyson and Hugo, as well as a graceful and touching tribute to the memory of the late Fletcher Harper.

New York in the Summer. A city which has for its threshold one of the finest bays in the world, almost as beautiful as that of Naples itself; which has on one side a river which has been called the Rhine of America, the rival of the Rhine in scenery, although happily without its legends of war.

A calamity averted. A tenement house on East Twenty-third street fell yesterday evening at seven o'clock. It was a miserably old, unsafe, condemned building, and the Building Department has been doing its best for some time to compel its removal.

Our London Cable Letter. There is certainly a wide variety in the topics which come to us from London this week. The great popularity which General Grant enjoys will surely be pleasing to Americans who watch his itinerary with interest, and his invitations from the Queen of England and Emperor of Germany but serve to show the esteem with which the nation he served, as well as the man himself is regarded by the Great Powers.

literary, art and social gossip will be found grouped in the letter, to which for further information we beg to refer our readers.

A Call for Protection. The Treasury Department at Washington is in receipt of a letter from the Collector of Customs for the county of El Paso, Texas, dated May 29, which conveys the information that on the previous day the city of El Paso, Mexico, surrendered to the partisans of Lerdo under an officer of a Mexican infantry regiment acting under the authority and instructions of General Escobedo.

Mrs. Stewart's Gift. When the will of the late Mr. A. T. Stewart was read it was understood that some of the plans uncompleted by him were to be finished according to the judgment and under the direction of his wife, who, more than any other person, was familiar with his wishes.

A Calamity Averted. A tenement house on East Twenty-third street fell yesterday evening at seven o'clock. It was a miserably old, unsafe, condemned building, and the Building Department has been doing its best for some time to compel its removal.

England and Russia. Our despatch from St. Petersburg exhibits that much irritation is felt in official circles there at the attitude of England, which cannot venture to openly sustain the policy of the Ottoman government, yet morally supports that government and embarrasses Russia by its scarcely disguised hostility.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE. Mr. Theodore M. Davis and wife, of New York, registered their arrival in London this week at the New York Herald Bureau.

A Week at Ascot. The Herald special cable despatch from London to-day gives a graphic and brilliantly colored sketch of the scenes at Ascot on the Cup day and during the racing week this year. The description carries us on to the ground, and we see before us on one side of the track the grand stand, with its magnificent pyramid of beauty and fashion, and beyond it the betting booths, where one can stake his money on his favorite horse, and on the other side the sacred reserved enclosure and the hundreds of handsome drags and carriages drawn up in line six or seven deep, each with its load of handsomely dressed ladies to ornament its seats or roof.

A POLO PICTURE. Mr. Bispham, whose picture of Colonel Kane's coach, the "Tally Ho," is well known in sporting and art circles, has just finished a painting called "The Polo Game."

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC NOTES. Mr. Frank Glider, the pianist, will give a concert at Newark to-morrow night.

[BY CABLE TO THE HERALD.] LONDON, June 16—Midnight.

The weather throughout England has been wonderfully beautiful during the latter half of this week, and Londoners, who have endured all the miseries of an unusually backward season, are rejoicing.

The two features of the past week have been the war excitement growing out of the Derby-Gortschakoff correspondence and General Grant's movements. The relations between England and Russia have given rise to a great deal of talk throughout the United Kingdom.

GRANT'S POPULARITY. The London journals congratulate General Grant on the the citizenship ceremonies of Guildhall. The Court Journal announces that the Queen has invited General Grant and Mrs. Grant to Windsor.

GRANT INVITED TO GERMANY. General Grant will receive a personal invitation from the German military authorities to attend the autumn manoeuvres of the army. This will undoubtedly be a great treat to the General, as he must naturally take a great interest in the condition of an army which is admittedly the first in the world in discipline and efficiency.

EMPEROR WILHELM HONORS MR. WASHBURNE. The Herald correspondent at Berlin telegraphs that Emperor William of Germany, hearing a report that Mr. Washburne had resigned as United States Minister to France, has ordered the painting of a life sized portrait of himself for the purpose of presenting it to the Minister in recognition of the distinguished services he rendered to Germany during the Franco-German war.

MARSHAL VON WRANGLER ILL. The Herald correspondent at Berlin announces that the veteran Field Marshal Von Wrangel is dangerously ill. The aged General cannot be expected to live much longer, as he is now one of the oldest military men in Europe.

THE GRAND DUCHY OF SAZE-COBURG-GOTHA. The rumor which has been recently circulated to the effect that the Duke of Edinburgh had surrendered his right to the Grand Duchy of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha is denied in Berlin.
