AMUSEMENTS TO-NIGHT. IRVING HALL—THE PHONOGRAPH. STANDARD THEATRE—OUR NEW PRIZE.

WITH SUPPLEMENT. NEW YORK, SATURDAY, JUNE 22, 1878. THE HERALD will be sent to the address of persons going into the country during the summer at the rate of one dollar per month, postage paid.

COMMUNISM RAMPANT IN CALIFORNIA. The news published in the HERALD yesterday of the surprising result of Wednesday's election in California is calculated to arouse the country from its apathy on the menacing Communism which has been transplanted to this country.

THE MURDER AT GRAVENSOD. An attempt is made to cover the traces of the murderer of Mrs. Hubbard by the theory that the beer taken by her contained, as it came from the brewery, the poison which proved fatal.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE. Chief Judge Sanford E. Church is at the Metropolitan Hotel. Senator Francis Kernan arrived at the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday from Washington.

AMATEUR OARSMEN. The Harlem regatta takes place to-day and will attract a large number of spectators. The action of the association in rejecting the protests made against the Nautilus pair, on the ground that they have been disqualified by the so-called National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, and in condemning the action of that association as unworthy of amateurs is universally approved.

OBITUARY. LOUIS ANTOINE LEON HESSELER, PAINTER. The death of M. Louis Antoine Leon Hesseler is announced by mail from Paris.

CAPTAIN GEORGE BURDICK. Captain George Burdick died at his residence in Newport, R. I., Thursday afternoon.

NATIONAL GUARD ACTIVITY. The members of the Fifth and Twenty-second regiments were exercised in the movement known as "street firing" last evening.

STEAM TRANSIT IN BROOKLYN. The construction of the railroad between Brooklyn and Coney Island, along the Conny Island Hook, is being carried forward, but only a few workmen are employed on it at present.

PLANET MILLS ROBBERY. The Planet Mills robbery case occupied the attention of the Kings County Court of Sessions yesterday.

COMMUNISM RAMPANT IN CALIFORNIA. (Continued) It is announced that Kearney, "with his blushing honors thick upon him," with the prestige of what he has done in California as a claim to attention, is coming East to propagate the movement here.

HOODWINKING JOHN BULL. Readers of the HERALD will scarcely be surprised to learn that the conservative party in England is "generally hostile" to the agreement that the British government has made with Russia by the Schouvaloff-Salisbury memorandum.

COLLEGE DEGREE—A NEW DEPARTURE. Dr. McCosh in conferring the degrees of his excellent institution this week announced that the faculty had determined that in future Princeton would adopt the European plan and bestow its honors only upon those who really deserve them.

Mrs. Tilton. At last an important stage has been reached in the undying scandal of Plymouth Church. Mrs. Tilton is excommunicated, and the sisters who cackled pretty freely over her famous last confession are doubtless happier.

NATIVE PERFORMERS. From precisely what point an unpleasant odor may arise is not easily settled. Ordinary noises, it is true, may determine in a general way the line of its advance, but this being given, to declare whether it proceeds from an ammonia factory a quarter of a mile in that direction or from a factory for the making of fertilizers half a mile beyond in the same direction, transcends the capacity of a board of health and a whole committee of chemists or other professional sniffers.

RACING IN ENGLAND.

Fourth and Last Day of the Meeting at Ascot Heath.

VERNEUIL WINS THE ALEXANDRA PLATE.

The Ascot Plate Won by Glendale.

[BY CABLE TO THE HERALD.]

London, June 21, 1878. This was the fourth and last day of the June meeting at Ascot Heath.

Four horses only faced the starter for the Alexandra Plate, the owner of the w. Verneuil and St. Christophe. The other two starters, belonged to Mr. Jardine and Mr. Jennings, the first named gentleman running the brown colt Hilarious, by Brown Broad, dam Hygea, 3 years old; and the other was the bay filly Queen of Cyprus, by King Tom, dam Cyprina, 4 years old.

Verneuil was a very great favorite in the betting, being rated at 4 against 1 by the bookmakers. The expectations on the French colt were well founded, for Verneuil took the lead at the fall of the flag and kept in front to the finish, winning the race by two lengths, his stable companion, St. Christophe, running second, Queen of Cyprus finishing third and Hilarious fourth.

This is the third victory that Verneuil has scored at this meeting, he having also won the Gold Cup and the Gold Vase. The following is a SUMMARY.

THE ALEXANDRA PLATE OF 1,000 SOVS. added to a sweepstake of 25 sovs. each, 15 forist, for four-year-olds and upward; winning penalties and maiden races, the owner of the second horse to receive 500 sovs. out of the three-year-olds and upward; to save his stake; to start at the new mile post and go over around, about three miles; twenty subscribers, 100 sovs. each, for three-year-olds and upward; 1 year, by Mortimer, dam Regalia, 5 years, by Count F. de Lagrange's ch. c. St. Christophe, 4 years, by Mortimer, dam Regalia, 5 years, by Mr. T. Jennings, ch. c. Queen of Cyprus, 4 years, by King Tom, dam Cyprina, 4 years, by Mr. H. Jardine's ch. c. Hilarious, 4 years, by Brown Broad, dam Hygea, 3 years.

A field of eight ran for the Ascot Plate. The Duke of Westminster's aged horse Dalham was the most fancied of the lot by the betting men, who laid against him the short odds of 1 to 2. Dalham, however, was not able to keep up with the running of Lord Durham's chestnut colt Glendale, against whom 100 to 15 was laid, and who won the race, Glor, who was quoted at 9 to 2, being second, and the favorite, Dalham, third.

THE WINNER. Glendale, chestnut horse, by Blair Athol, dam Pet, by Daniel O'Rourke, born racing at two years old. During the year 1875 he ran six races, winning four. He made his first appearance at the Newcastle summer meeting in the Tenth Stephenson Biennial Stakes, three-quarters of a mile, and won by three lengths, beating a field of five. Glendale's next appearance was at the York August meeting, when he had a walk over for the Glasgow Stakes, 1 furlong 44 yards. And the next day at the same place he started for the Gimerac Stakes, three-quarters of a mile, but was beaten by Springfield and Twice the Plaiden. At Doncaster, September 14, Glendale won the Glasgow Stakes of £200, 5 furlong 152 yards, after a dead heat with Glendon. The next appearance of the colt was at the Newmarket second October, when he won a sweepstake of £150, half a mile. Glendale closed his two-year-old campaign for the Durham Plate, seven furlong, by running third, Kiber and Springfield being in front of him. Glendale began his three-year-old engagements at Durham on April 15, 1876, for the Lambton Stakes of £251, a mile and a quarter, which he won easily by a length and a half, with five beaten him. His second appearance was at the Doncaster spring meeting, April 22, for the Fitzwilliam Stakes of £100, 1 furlong 152 yards, which he won in a canter by six lengths, with 131 pounds on his back. At the Newmarket first spring meeting Glendale ran in the Post Sweepstakes of £30, 7 furlong, 210 yards, the race was won by Gavran in a canter, Humbold second, Glendale pulling up. At York, May 23, Glendale won the Knavevire Plate of £100, 5 furlong 44 yards, by a length; and at Beverley, June 15, he won the Wattle Memorial Plate of £100, a mile and a half. At the Newcastle Summer meeting, June 21, he won the North Derby of £243, a mile and a half; and the next day, at the same place, he won the Tenth Stephenson Biennial Stakes of £180, one mile and a half. This closed his three-year-old campaign. As a four-year-old Glendale ran ten races, but was successful only in one. He began at Durham, April 2, and ran fourth for the Durham Handicap, a mile and a half, which he won by a length; but at Beverley, June 21, for the Wattle Memorial Plate, three-quarters of a mile, and a half, Glendale turned the tables on him at one mile and a half and 110 yards. After this Glendale had a succession of bad luck, being beaten eight times without a win before the year closed. At Newcastle-upon-Tyne, for the Northumberland Plate, two miles, he was second to Hampton, with thirteen behind him. At Carlisle, June 3, Cheveley beat him three lengths for the Cumberland Plate, one mile and three-quarters. At York, August 22, Glendale was sixth in the Great Ebor Handicap Stakes, which was won by G. Glendower. At Richmond, September 5, he ran second to Thorn for Her Majesty's Plate, two miles; and at Doncaster, September 11, he ran fourth for the Great Yorkshire Handicap, a mile and three-quarters, which was won by Albert Edward. At Kelso, October 1, Glendale ran for the Kelso Gold Cup, a mile and a half, and was beaten by Hampton and Strathmore. At the Royal C. Gordonian Hunt, Lathams and Edinburgh, October 1, Glendale ran fourth for the Edinburgh Gold Cup, a mile and a half, and the next day he was beaten by Pasceval for the Lathams Handicap, a mile and a half. And this closed his career for 1877. Glendale's race to-day was a good beginning, and as he is now in fine condition his chances are good for more winnings.

TAKING THEIR VOWS. In the chapel attached to the convent of the Good Shepherd yesterday morning six postulants took the white veil and six novices took the black veil of the Order. The chapel was filled with a large and interested throng of spectators, many of whom were relatives of the young religious. The ceremony began by the officiating priest giving a lighted candle to each of the candidates as she knelt before the altar, and addressing them in appropriate terms upon the step they were about to take. The six novices were dressed in white matron dresses of a modern pattern, with stiletto veils, couched to their heads by wreaths of orange flowers. In reply to the celebrant's question of "What do you demand?" they said they desired to be clothed in the habit of the "Daughters of Charity of Our Lady of the Good Shepherd." They then retired from the chapel to change the secular dress for that of the cloister, and in their absence the celebrant blessed the various garments of religious attire. Presently they reentered the chapel, all kneeling before the altar, received the black veil, which was placed upon them by the celebrant. The six postulants were then invested with the black veil.

The names of the newly professed are Miss Helen Walsh, to be known in religion as Sister Mary of St. Elizabeth; Miss Eliza Fairway as Sister Mary of St. Paul; Miss Mary Kelly as Sister Mary of St. Beatrice; Miss Mary Gordon as Sister Mary of St. Cecilia; Miss Eliza Wilson as Sister Mary of St. Barbara; and Miss Anne Kierman as Sister Mary of St. Regina. Those who received the white veil are Miss Annie Roberts, who will be known in religion as Sister Mary of St. Dennis; Miss Rose Anna McEwan as Sister Mary of St. Modeste; Miss Louisa Campbell as Sister Mary of St. Ann; Miss Mary Jane Quinn as Sister Mary of St. John; Miss Rose Anna McEwan as Sister Mary of St. Modeste; Miss Louisa Campbell as Sister Mary of St. Ann; Miss Mary Jane Quinn as Sister Mary of St. John; Miss Rose Anna McEwan as Sister Mary of St. Modeste; Miss Louisa Campbell as Sister Mary of St. Ann; Miss Mary Jane Quinn as Sister Mary of St. John.
