Will of the Former Mayor Is Filed for Probate at White Plains.

BULK GOES TO WIDOW Church, Charity and Educational Institutions Are Remembered.

The will of Seth Low, who died on September 17, was filed for probate yesterday at White Plains. Through for years Mr. Low had lived in New York and had taken pride in his work in politics in this city he felt compelled upon taking up his residence on his farm in Bedford Hills, because of his illness, to change his will, and for that reason the will was filed in Westchester.

CONVICT FAILS TO AID BAMBRICK DEFENCE

Frank Meehan, Star Witness, Discredited—Woman to Testify To-day.

Justice Weeks in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court yesterday heard the application of Thomas Bambrick, under sentence to be electrocuted this week for the murder of Policeman George Dapping at the "McManus picnic" a year ago, for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

After Bambrick's star witness, on whom he depended for his new evidence, had failed miserably, according to Justice Weeks, an adjournment was taken until this morning, when another witness, a woman, will try to bolster up Bambrick's defence.

Alexander Karlin, Bambrick's counsel, argued at length upon the legal aspects of the situation, whereupon the new witness, Frank Meehan, a King King convict, was put on the stand. Meehan collapsed a week ago while preparing the electric chair for Bambrick's execution, and when he was asked to testify he said he had been at the "McManus picnic" and that the murderer was Dapping, and that the murderer was Bambrick.

He repeated this yesterday. Justice Weeks had arranged a test for him, and after Meehan had described explicitly that the man he said had shot and killed Dapping was Bambrick, Justice Weeks said that those men be brought into court.

In came John J. Carroll and Richard Gibbs, two court attendants, with civilian clothes on. After some constancy Meehan said he "thought" Gibbs was Dapping's murderer. Justice Weeks said that this, with several discrepancies "entirely discredited" Meehan, who was sent back to Sing Sing.

The woman witness who will be called in Bambrick's behalf is Mrs. Anna Sylvander of 85 Park avenue, Guttenberg. She has stated to Bambrick's counsel that she was at the picnic, that Bambrick sat at a table with her, that the row in which Dapping was killed was fifty feet away and that when the shot was fired Bambrick was with her and did not do the shooting. Assistant District Attorney Mancuso said Mrs. Sylvander has repudiated these statements.

LABOR UNREST HURTS TRADE. Otherwise Business Booms, Says Federal Reserve Board.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Unsettled labor conditions and the shortage of workers constitute to a large extent the only cloud upon the business horizon, according to a summary of reports from the twelve Federal districts to the Federal Reserve Board. Business is reported to be good in practically all districts, and in some it is described as most satisfactory and expanding. One disturbing element has been the crop shortage, not only of grains but of cotton. The prices of food products are constantly mounting.

C. H. SCHRADER LEAVES CHARITY $2,000,000

Bulk of Brooklyn Man's Estate Goes to Home for Mothers and Babies.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 3.—The will of the late George H. Schrader of Brooklyn, who left the bulk of his $2,000,000 estate to Caroline Rest, a home for convalescing mothers and babies at Harsidale, N. Y., and who disappeared from a sailing vessel while travelling between Iceland and Norway last year, was admitted to probate to-day by Surrogate Sawyer of Westchester county.

Mr. Schrader went to Iceland to found homes for ponies found wandering in and about the ice barrens. At the time he was drowned he was on his way back to the United States to make improvements to the Harsidale institution. For some time it was a question as to whether Mr. Schrader was actually dead, but the captain of the vessel made an affidavit that Mr. Schrader was found missing after a terrific storm had subsided.

A sister of the testator, who resides in Finland, will inherit part of her brother's estate.

AN UNUSUAL FEATURE. A special feature of the English course is phonetic training, which enables each student to speak her mother tongue with distinct and fluent articulation, combined with purity of vowel production, thus making a happy contrast to the slovenly speech and tendency to nasality prevalent among young girls. This is simply one of the many unusual features to be found in the academic and domestic training at Oaksmere. All the mental and physical activities of woman, inside and outside of the home—whether it be the home of her parents or her own establishment—are visioned in the training at Oaksmere.
