Home Rule Agitated by Women Tennis Players

Fair Experts Want Own National Association--Roused by Case of Miss Cassel and U. S. N. L. T. A. Rejection of Amateur Amendments.

Investigation of stories that women tennis players are on the verge of revolt from the national association proved the reports to have substantial foundation.

It is suggested that a body similar to the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, affiliation with U. S. N. L. T. A. be formed, and that the women have full jurisdiction over the eligibility of their players and their championship tournaments.

It remains to be seen what good that protest has done. Miss Ina Kissel was chief among the protesters.

It is doubtful if the U. S. N. L. T. A. would make any complaint if the women got together and ran their own association.

KNOLLWOOD PLANS BANQUET OF GOLF

Annual Feast to Have Many Novelties and Important Guests.

Being barred from participation in their favorite pastime by the whims of the weather man does not prevent New York golfers from getting some amusement from the game, even if it is indirectly.

There is no more attractive putting green than surrounds the nineteenth hole, and shots of unusual brilliance made about for the cup of the honor.

At times when Bloom was not hugging, Cline was speering him in the face and body with stinging blows.

Jack Asher, manager of Bloom, created some merriment by protesting to the referee that the referee was not in the ferdid embrace of Bloom.

When Willie Hoppe recently accomplished fifty points of three cushion billiards in thirty-one minutes, playing with Jake Schaefer at Cleveland, his manner rushed to the telegraph wires and claimed all sorts of records for the balking king.

Billiards will be a subject of extended psychological research at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, if a scheme devised by Dr. Knight Dunlap of the department of psychology of that institution is carried out.

The object of the tests will be to ascertain whether the student or the member of the faculty will be more apt with relation to the comprehension and solution of the problems of billiards.

Good Eight Will Go Any Distance Just a Little Faster Than Opponents.

There is no doubt whatever that the change in the distance of the varsity eight crew race at the intercollegiate regatta this year from four miles to three is a good thing.
