

CLUBWOMEN LISTEN TO BILLY SUNDAY

City Federation Convention Hears Non-Slangy Talk by Evangelist.

MEETING IS WARLIKE ONE

Prohibition and Universal Training Favored—Dr. Brady Speaker of Day.

Billy Sunday took the cream of the milk committee at the convention of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, at the Hotel Astor yesterday.

Mrs. A. M. Palmer's report and receiving such a rattling reception from the women in the grand ballroom that the milk report faded and those clubwomen will never know what Mrs. Palmer had to tell about King Baby's favorite food.

Billy was on his best behavior—serious, subdued, highly proper. All his picturesque slang was left in the Tabernacle, and he didn't try to climb on the speaker's table once. He came mighty near it two or three times when he got warmed up about women's virtues and her faults, but then he'd take a look at the frail structure covered with flowers, and he'd restrain himself and go quietly on.

At the Dartmouth dinner Charles G. Du Bois, president of the New York Alumni Association, read the following telegram from the Secretary of War: "Say to the forty-four Dartmouth men who are about to sail for France that the country takes pride in the work that they are about to do for America."

His speech celebrated the new era of woman. The time had passed, he said, when all she could do was to "bake bread, patch pants and darn socks, run bazaars and rummage sales and keep the church steeples from falling off."

Most of the resolutions related to war. One, introduced by Mrs. Ella Boole for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, appeared to prohibit the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors during the war.

HONOR COLLEGIANS OFF FOR WAR FRONT

Dartmouth and Princeton Alumni Entertain Boys Who Go to France.

Dartmouth and Princeton alumni gathered yesterday to do honor to the young men of their respective colleges who are about to take up the burden of work with the forces of the Entente Allies in France. Twenty Princeton men who are about to sail for France, there to work in the Y. M. C. A. rest huts behind the British lines, were entertained at the Princeton Club in the afternoon, while 300 Dartmouth alumni gave a dinner at the Hotel McAlpin last night to the forty-four undergraduates who have formed two complete units of the American Ambulance Field Service.

At the Dartmouth dinner Charles G. Du Bois, president of the New York Alumni Association, read the following telegram from the Secretary of War: "Say to the forty-four Dartmouth men who are about to sail for France that the country takes pride in the work that they are about to do for America."

SATO MOVIE GUEST OF JAPAN SOCIETY

Ambassador and Many Guests See Views on Screen at Aeolian Hall.

"The Land of the Rising Sun," a motion picture melange, was privately presented last night in Aeolian Hall by the Japan Society. The exhibition indicated that the Japanese entertain the most cordial feelings toward the United States.

The Japanese entertain the most cordial feelings toward the United States. The applause of the native born sons and daughters of Nippon when Premier Terauchi's now famous pledge of Japanese-American friendship was flashed on the screen—in its original characters, then—in plain New York—gave ample proof of that sentiment. And up in a box bedecked with the national colors of the two nations Altmaro Sato, Japanese Ambassador to Washington, in whose honor the society's fête was given, nodded approval.

But the present and former subjects of the Mikado who attended last evening—and they constituted a good fifth of an audience of 1,000—did not confine their appreciation of their new ally to that one demonstration. They applauded the screen sight of the American flag flying from the Japanese Embassy in Tokyo. They banquished Old Glory as it streamed from the Empress of Asia as she ploughed her way, movie-wise, over the Pacific. They applauded the "Spangled Banner," most enthusiastically at the Aeolian organ.

An informal and spontaneous reception followed the picture. The venerable Count Okuma, former Premier, one obliging young Nipponese from Columbia explaining to an interested audience what the picture meant, called the Chauncey Dewey of Japan.

Judge Elbert H. Gary, who not so long ago was royally received in Japan, was able to be present, as he had become suddenly indisposed. His fellow members of last night's reception committee of the society included Union S. Bethel, Henry C. Foster, who presided, Robert W. De Forest, William North Duane, Gilbert H. Grosvenor, I. Hananaka, A. Barton Hepburn, Herbert H. Hooper, Charles J. Van Dine, Dwight MacDonald, J. B. Millet, Jacob H. Schiff, Willard D. Straight, Dr. Jokichi Takamine, Frank A. Vanderlip and Consul General Yada.

SEEKS TO PROVE VAWTER SANE.

Prosecution Introduces Expert Testimony at Murder Trial.

CHRISTIANBURG, Va., May 4.—The prosecution in the trial of Prof. Charles E. Vawter for the murder of Stockton Heth, Jr., devoted itself largely today to the introduction of expert testimony. When he wrote Heth asking that a whiskey bill be paid and telling him that he "now could love Mrs. Vawter with less love than I do for you," the expert testimony apparently intended to show insanity.

Dr. J. A. Knoblin of Radford, in answer to a question by the prosecution, said he considered Vawter sane when he wrote to Heth. Dr. J. C. Downman of East Radford, also declared the writer of the letter sane. Dr. W. A. Willits, who had examined Vawter at the time he wrote Heth asking that a whiskey bill be paid and telling him that he "now could love Mrs. Vawter with less love than I do for you," the expert testimony apparently intended to show insanity.

REAR ADMIRAL WILLITS.

WOODSTOCK, N. Y., May 4.—Rear Admiral George Willits, U. S. N., retired, died at the home of relatives here last night after a long illness. He was 64 years old and a native of Philadelphia, where he married a home. Following his graduation in 1871 from Rutgers College, Admiral Willits entered the United States Naval Academy and was graduated four years later. He achieved the rank of Rear Admiral March 26, 1915. On February 21, 1915, he was retired from active service and since then made his home in Philadelphia.

He served at sea aboard the Hartford, Vandallia, Huron, Tallapoosa, Enterprise, Matison, Boston, Trenton, Baltimore and Key West. He was in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war in 1898, and on the Solace during the Boxer uprising in China.

He was a member of the American Society of Naval Engineers, the American Society of Testing Materials and the holder of service medals won during the Cuban and China expeditions in which he participated.

$14,330 RAISED FOR FRENCH ARTISTS

J. Francis Murphy's Picture Brings $1,500, Highest Price of Sale.

The concluding session of the sale at the American Art Association of American work of art, conducted by the artists for the relief of the families of soldier artists in France was a great success. There was much enthusiasm for the work of the American artists for France, of which the sale is a symbol, was commented upon both by William A. Coffin, chairman of the committee, and by Thomas E. Kirby of the American Art Association in speeches that were greatly applauded.

The leading price of the sale was $1,500, paid by W. Knicker & Co. for No. 95, a small but characteristic autumn landscape by J. Francis Murphy. The total realized for the evening was $14,330, making a grand total for the sale of $143,850.

The list of the principal sales follows: 87—Portrait by Thomas W. Dewing, $125; 88—"Anna" by I. G. Olinick; to M. Knicker, $100; 89—"The Old Mill" by J. G. Olinick; to M. "Secret Bread" Wins Pablicity by English Government Action. Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

LONDON, May 4.—William Heinesmann, the English publisher, and by saying "Rush secret bread, urgent." The censor was scandalized and summoned Heinesmann, confident of developing a German plot to tamper with the nation's food supply.

"Did you send that?" asked the censor. Heinesmann, unperturbed, admitted that he had. The censor and a special agent of the food controller said he had better tell the whole truth instantly or he would suffer most severe penalties.

"I will willingly tell all," replied Heinesmann. "Secret Bread" is the name of a new novel my publishing house is just bringing out. My telegram was addressed to the printer, urging him to hurry the proofs. Here is a set of proofs. Glad to have had you gentlemen advertise it."

The case was dismissed.

BARON ASTOR'S PLEA REFUSED.

Barred From Erecting Business Building in Madison Avenue.

The Board of Estimate by unanimous vote yesterday refused the petition of Baron Astor, Waldorf Astor of Englewood, N. J., to remove the residential restrictions placed on Astor's property on the west side of Madison Avenue between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Streets. Mr. Astor's attorney, Henry W. Taft, wanted the block designated as a business district so business buildings could be constructed there. The residential restrictions were made by the city plan committee.

The residences of Herbert L. Satterlee, brother-in-law of J. P. Morgan; the St. George Hotel, and the Morgan Library are close to the Astor property.

BREBARE ARGUES FOR BEER.

Would Prohibit Use of Grain, However for Whiskey.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Prohibition of the use of grain in the manufacture of whiskey but not for beer was urged today as an emergency measure by Senate Republican Senator Frank B. Rowan of New York before the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Mr. Rowan said prohibition in the use of grain for beer making might drive workers to whiskey, as the supply of beer would be cut off. He said that only a few months if production stopped, he said, and the supply of whiskey is sufficient for several years.
