

JOHN SLOANE WEDS MISS ELSIE NICOLL

Marriage Ceremony Performed in St. Peter's Church at Morristown, N. J.

MANY AT THE RECEPTION

Special Train Takes Guests to Merrywood—Couple Start on Motor Trip.

Miss Elsie Nicoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Nicoll of New York and Morristown, N. J., was married to John Sloan, a cousin of the bride, at noon in the chapel of St. Peter's Church, Morristown, by the Rev. Philemon P. Sturges, rector of Grace Church, Providence, R. I., a cousin of the bride.

The bride was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Courland Nicoll, as matron of honor, and two flower girls, the Misses Adela and Margaret Sloane. William Sloan was her brother's best man, and the ushers were Courtland Nicoll, William S. Coffin, Joseph W. Burden, D. Raymond Noyes, Chalmers Wood, Jr., and Edmund P. Rogers of New York.

The bride's gown was of white satin covered with tulle and her veil of point lace had been worn by her maternal grandmother. The matron of honor wore a gown of pink satin covered with gold lace and embroidery. Her brown straw hat was trimmed with pink roses and she carried roses. Mrs. Nicoll, mother of the bride, wore a gray scholastic dress over gray silk. Mr. and Mrs. Sloan will live in New York.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents and some of the guests arriving on a special train from New York and others by automobile from adjoining country estates. A breakfast was served by Sherry at small tables placed under the trees on the lawn of the estate. Some of the tables were shaded by gay colored umbrellas, and for the bridal party and some of their young friends there was a large horseshoe table, the guests being seated at the outer side.

Conrad's Orchestra played during the reception and breakfast. Among those at the church and reception were Mrs. Cornelius C. Cuyler, De Lancey Nicoll, Mrs. William M. Hoes, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Potter Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Page, Henry T. Sloane, Mrs. George D. Widener, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Coffin, the Rev. and Mrs. Henry Sloane Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Osgood Field, Mr. and Mrs. William E. S. Griswold, Mrs. William Sloane, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm D. Sloane, Mr. and Mrs. W. Thorn Kiesel, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. James Brown Potter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kennedy Tod, Miss Grace Potter, Mr. and Mrs. James Couper Lord, William Brown Lord, Miss Lord, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Wood, Richard Newton, Miss Maria de Barril, Mrs. Arthur Henry, Mrs. Emil Varet, the Misses Varet, Mrs. Charles H. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Orme Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Messervy, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hermann Kinnicutt and Francis H. Kinnicutt.

Mr. and Mrs. Sloan started on an automobile trip. They will spend the summer and autumn in Peapack, N. J., and next winter will live at 183 Fifth avenue.

AYRES-BURGESS.

Miss Jean Burgess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Burgess of 144 South Mountain avenue, Montclair, became the bride of Russell Hoeyryn Ayres of Wallingford, Conn., yesterday afternoon in St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Montclair. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Wilson H. Stearly, assisted by the Rev. Luke Matthew White, rector.

Miss Elizabeth Burgess was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses Lois Page of Summit, Kathryn Cottrell of Westley, R. Catherine Hooper, Elsie Comstock, Dorothy Brown and Charlotte Eaton of Montclair. The best man was C. Leverett Hooper of Montclair and the ushers were Edwin Hemmway of New York, Mark Gould of Montclair, Warren Mansfield of Portland, Me.; Charles Edward Burgess, Jr., and Thomas Russell Burgess, brothers of the bride-elect, and Edwin Sloum of Montclair.

A reception was held in the home of the bride. The bride is a graduate of the Dobbs Ferry School and the bridegroom is a graduate of Harvard.

OBITUARIES.

PROF. LEVERETT MEARS.

Prof. Leverett Mears, head of the chemistry department at Williams College, who had been in ill health since his notes and records of thirty years work were destroyed in the burning of the college laboratory several months ago, died in Williamstown, Mass., yesterday. Death came soon after he had officiated at the annual chimes ringing contest, one of the commencement week features. Prof. Mears was born sixty-seven years ago in Essex, Mass. He was graduated in 1874 from Amherst College and later studied in Germany, receiving the degree of Ph. D. from Göttingen University in 1876. He became instructor of chemistry at Amherst and in 1881 was appointed professor of chemistry and physics at Williams College. He was a member of the United States Assay Commission in 1898, 1907 and 1908. He wrote several text books on chemistry.

DR. CHARLES B. PATTERSON.

Dr. Charles Brodie Patterson, metaphysician, author and lecturer on comparative religions and founder of the "New Thought" movement in this country, died Friday night at his home, 210 Fifth avenue. He was 64 years old. Among Dr. Patterson's books were "The Rhythm of Life," "Advancing a New Theory of Healing through Color and Sound Vibrations," "Seeking the Kingdom," "Dominion and Power" and "A New Heaven and a New Earth." He was formerly editor of the "Mind" and "Aeon."

BARTON D. SKINNER.

Barton Dwight Skinner, M. D., 74, one of the best known physicians on Long Island, died suddenly Friday night in the Eastern Long Island Hospital in Greenvale, L. I. He had been suffering from an intestinal malady for a few days and expected to be able to return to his practice after a brief stay at the hospital.

Dr. Skinner's career was more varied than that of most physicians. The son of Dr. Ezekiel E. D. Skinner, also a well known doctor of Greenvale, he became a telegraph operator at 14. He enlisted as a private in Company H, 127th New York State Volunteers, on October 21, 1862, and saw active service until he was discharged, June 30, 1865, at Charleston. His father was Surgeon of the Port at Greenvale when the youth finished his civil war career, and he assisted for a time, then entered the Berkshire Medical College and later Bellevue Medical College. In 1870 he began practice in Orient, returning to this place to succeed his father when the latter died.

Dr. Skinner was treasurer of the Suffolk County Medical Society for thirty-two years, a member for forty-eight years and acted as president one term. He was president of Greenvale village two terms, Supervisor of Southold town for thirteen years, a Coroner of Suffolk, president of the Greenvale Board of Education and a member of many societies. One daughter survives him. Funeral services will be held this afternoon.

RICHARD PALMER BRUFF.

Richard Palmer Bruff, for more than seventy-five years an importer and manufacturer of hardware in this city, died at his home, 11 Schermerhorn street, Brooklyn, yesterday. He was born in the old vestry ward in 1827 at 12 Howery, the son of Charles Bruff, a hardware merchant. Mr. Bruff organized the hardware firm of Bruff Bros. & Seaver, but his business was largely with the South and ended with the civil war. Later he became general manager for the Russell & Erwin Manufacturing Company. Some years ago he relinquished active business but almost until his death went daily from his Brooklyn home to an office in the hardware merchants' district.

Although founder of the Merchants Club Mr. Bruff was not a club man and was devoted to church and charity interests. For fifty-five years he was a member of Holy Trinity Church, Brooklyn, and a vestryman of the Church of the Redeemer. He is survived by one son, William J. Bruff, who for many years was president of the Remington Arms-Union Metallic Cartridge Company.

MRS. JULIA McNAIR HENRY.

Mrs. Julia McNair Henry died yesterday in her apartments at the Lorraine, Fifth avenue and Forty-fifth street. She was the widow of Major-Gen. Guy V. Henry, who served throughout the civil war and in the Indian wars and was Major-General of volunteers in the Spanish-American war. Gen. Henry was Military Governor of Porto Rico.

JOHN BARTLETT PIERCE.

Boston, June 23.—John Bartlett Pierce of Lynnfield, a founder and first vice-president of the American Radiator Company, died here to-day. The Pierce Steam Heating Company of Buffalo, N. Y., of which he was the owner, was consolidated with other interests to form the American Radiator Company in 1892.
